WE ARE GLAD TO OBLIGE

Because a pharmacy is intimately involved with health, the service it must provide goes much beyond any possible profit motive or advantage over a competitor. The best example of this pharmacy ethic is the cooperation between ordinarily competing pharmacies when time is an urgent factor.

Although we usually have most prescribed drugs in stock, or can get a medicine delivered to us the same day, we occasionally must have it that same hour. When this happens we will ask another pharmacy to "oblige" us and let us borrow from him the needed drug until we can replace it. Other pharmacies will follow the same procedure in getting an urgently needed medicine from us. The health of the customer must always be the primary concern of every pharmacist.

A boy and his dog – It has been written about over and over again...because it is such a wonderful relationship. It runs the gamut of emotions. It also has a far deeper significance.

In having a dog of his own, a boy learns a great deal. He discovers what trust and dependence really mean. He cares for a living creature that can't go it entirely on its own.

Having a dog is an important part of a boy's life. It's like having a buddy to talk to as they skate across a frozen pond or dangle a fishhook in the river beneath the summer sun. Like having a mother to tuck him in at night. Like having a father, for those heart-to-heart talks. Most of all, like having a church or synagogue to turn to.

MORE TO FOLLOW

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 40:1-11
Devotional Reading:
II Corinthians 4:1-7

When life is going well for us, we tend to forget that suffering and sorrow are also part of the human experience–for all of us. Seasons of prosperity and well-being are followed or even interrupted by seasons of pain and suffering. For some of us, it is when we are in the midst of such a season that we are most likely to encounter and recognize the reality of God and His grace.

This is the background to Isaiah 40:1-11. Fifty years before these words were first spoken, the people of Judah had been carried off into captivity by the Assyrians. Jerusalem and the kingdom were left destitute and in ruins. Those who survived the forced march were compelled to start life all over again in a strange land.

In the midst of this suffering and despair Isaiah brings a new message: "Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem and cry to her that her warfare is ended, that her iniquity is pardoned..." (40:1, 2). It is a wonderful message of comfort that the prophet brings.

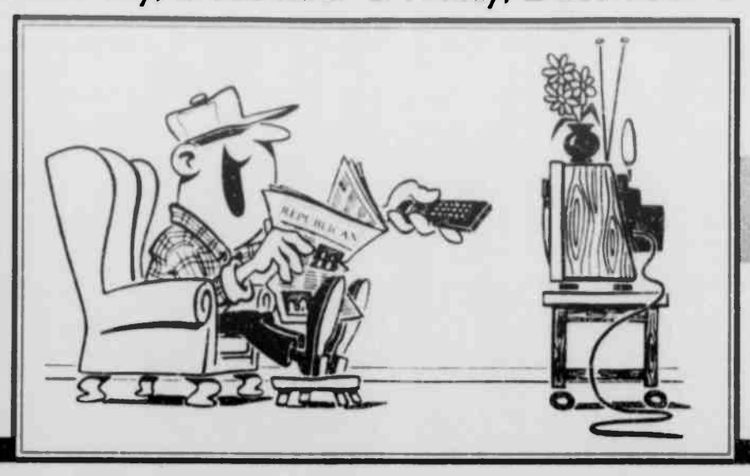
GOOD NEWS!

But after the message of comfort there is also one of challenge: "In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord." God is offering redemption, but if they are to receive it they must respond to the good news of his grace. If they do, then "the glory of the Lord shall be revealed and all flesh see it together..." (40:5).

The message of Isaiah 40 was written to a particular people at a particular time and place. But early Christians saw in it a prophecy of the Good News of Jesus Christ. So to all of us, whether as nations or as individuals, when we are hurting and despairing, this message is still relevant to our situations. That is why Isaiah 40:1-11 is read every year in Advent. As Advent is symbolic of the dark night of our human yearning for redemption, so the prophecy of Isaiah is linked with the incarnation of God's grace in the birth of Jesus Christ.

In the midst of whatever brokenness that has overcome us we are comforted with his promise of redemption, that his light will shine and prevail in our darkness, whatever it may be: personal or family crisises, community strife, national danger. There is no misfortune or just desserts that we cannot see through if we are willing to accept the grace of God. As Eugene O'Neill has one of his characters say, "Man is born broken. He lives by mending. The grace of God is glue!"

GLUE TO MEND



When we have fallen apart or been run over by adversity, the grace of God is the glue that fixes our brokenness. What a promise to remember whenever we are about to give up! God comes to us ultimately as a shepherd who tenderly carries his lost sheep. This is a promise that endures when all else–including other people–fails.

But, if we get the message, we need also to give the message. As the people of Judah were redeemed they were expected to pass on that message: "Get you up to a high mountain, O Zion, herald of good tidings; lift up your voice with strength..." (40:9). Advent comes upon us with the good news of God's grace and a call for us to share the good news: "Comfort, comfort my people."

An affluent man sent a sum of money to another man who had fallen on hard times. With the money was a simple note: "This is yours. Use it wisely. There is more to follow." Later, the destitute man got another envelope, more money, and a note that said, "More to follow." Again and again the money arrived with he same assurance. Dwight Moody comments on the story, saying, "So it is with the wonderful grace of God. There is always 'more to follow.'"

Cover Story

Period details make a charming new Birdie

BY SUZANNE GILL

Vanessa Williams and Jason Alexander

It was a time of bobby socks and Bromo Seltzer, princess phones and plastic slip covers.

Bye Bye Birdie, airing Sunday, Dec. 3, on ABC, is strong on these details, if a little weak on casting.

Birdie began on Broadway in 1960, a hit musical inspired by Elvis Presley's induction into the armed forces – an event of cosmic importance, at least to teen-age girls.

A movie version starring Dick Van Dyke and Ann-Margret appeared in 1963, with significant alterations.

Director Gene Saks, whose TV production of Gypsy, starring Bette Midler, was a must-see event two years ago, returns now with Birdie.

Jason Alexander stars as manager Albert Peterson, whose meal ticket, rock 'n' roll heartthrob Conrad Birdie, is about to start a two-year hitch in the Army. Adding insult to injury, Albert's secretary, Rosie Alvarez (Vanessa Williams), thinks she has waited long enough for him to make her Mrs. Peterson and threatens to quit.

Coming to Albert's aid one last time, Rosie pulls a card from her file and announces that Kim McAfee (Chynna Phillips), president of the Conrad Birdie fan club in Sweet Apple, Ohio, is the lucky girl Conrad will kiss – on national television, if possible – as a farewell to civilian life. After that, Albert promises, he will marry Rosie.

The only fly in the ointment is Albert's Mamma (Tyne Daly), who hates to think of her son in another woman's arms. Daly is deliciously domineering in the role, and walks away with some of the best lines.

The score is freshened up with two new songs by the original composer and lyricist, Charles Strouse and Lee Adams: "Let's Settle Down," sung by Williams, and "A Mother Doesn't Matter Anymore," written for Daly.

A third song, "A Giant Step," was written for Tommy Tune's recent touring production. And new lyrics have been written for "Spanish Rose."

The well-known hits are all intact, from the title song and "A Lot of Livin' to Do" to "Kids" and "Put on a Happy Face," in which Alexander, sporting a wayward spit curl, shows off a Gene Kelly side Seinfeld viewers probably never suspected.

Williams is a strong, smart Rosie. Phillips, as star-struck Kim, is several years too old for the part, a fact which might be overlooked on stage, since her singing and acting are fine. Regrettably, though, there is no chemistry between her and Jason Gassney, who plays her hapless steady, Hugo.

Brigitta Dau, as No. 2 Birdie fan Ursula, bubbles irresistibly. Marc Kudisch, late of Broadway's Beauty and the Beast, fills the bill as swivel-hipped Birdie, and George Wendt is good as Kim's exasperated dad.

Saks has wisely resisted any temptation to update the script, which percolates with period witticisms. The choreography, by Ann Reinking, fails to capitalize on a few possibilities, but the production design, by Charles Bennett, is a continual delight.

Prior to his success in films, Tommy Lee Jones appeared for four years in the daytime drama "One Life to Live."

Keanu Reeves plays the Indian prince Siddhartha in Bernardo Bertolucci's upcoming film "Little Buddha."

The 1940 film "Roxie Hart," starring Ginger Rogers, is based on the play "Chicago," about an actual murder case.

Paul Newman made his film debut in 1954's "The Silver Chalice." He later took out an ad apologizing for the film.

The three highest-rated series of the 1990s are all comedies: Cheers, Roseanne and Home Improvement.

I Love Lucy and The Andy Griffith Show each went off the air when they were No. 1 in the ratings.

Together, the miniseries The Winds of War and War and Remembrance have a running time of 48 hours.

John Larroquette is the unbilled narrator of the original Texas Chainsaw Massacre, released in 1974.

The Bozo Show, a fixture on Chicago's WGN for 35 years, boasts the longest-running contract on broadcast TV.

Harold Lloyd married his longtime leading lady, Mildred Davis, in 1924. She retired from the screen.

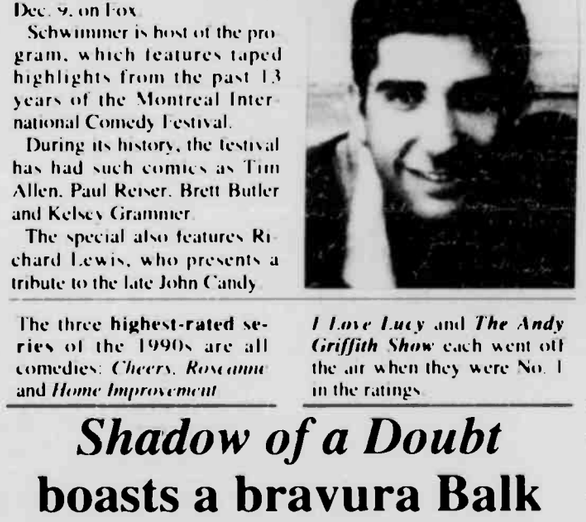
Shadow of a Doubt boasts a bravura Balk

BY JOHN CROOK

She may have gotten her first big break as Dorothy in Return to Oz, but make no mistake about it: Fairuza Balk is not in Kansas anymore.

Anyone who doubts that should watch Shadow of a Doubt (Sunday, Dec. 3, on NBC), in which the former child actress gives a disturbing performance as a nymphet accused of brutally murdering her wealthy father.



The TV movie stars Brian Dennehy (who directed, co-wrote and served as an executive producer as well) as defense attorney Charley Sloan. Sloan, a recovering alcoholic, is more than a little down on his luck until he takes the case of ex-girlfriend Robin Harwell (Bonnie Bedelia), whose nubile stepdaughter, Angel (Balk), has been accused of murder.

All three stars are in representative (read: first-rate) form here, yet it is the enigmatic Angel, who changes personalities as easily as wigs, who drives the film. While Balk has long been appreciated by serious film buffs for her work in small, independent films such as the acclaimed Gas Food Lodging, she is not a "money name" to most producers.

Still, when he got ready to cast the role of Angel, Dennehy, who had worked with Balk in 1989 on the TV movie Murder in the Heartland, had no doubt whom he wanted.

"When this came up, she was the first person I wanted to play that part, and I was lucky enough to get her," he says. "I had to fight for her, quite honestly, to get her.

"I knew that she was an extraordinary actress and that it was going to take an extraordinary actress to play this part. ... Boy, she delivers the goods!"

Brian Dennehy plays a lawyer whose ex-girlfriend's stepdaughter (Fairuza Balk) is accused of murder in Shadow of a Doubt. The thriller airs Sunday on NBC.

John Ingle of GH is living the good life

BY CANDACE HAVENS

There are at least a few men in America who might think a job that required kissing Cindy Crawford wouldn't be all that bad. John Ingle, who plays Edward Quartermaine on General Hospital, is inclined to agree with them.

Ingle, who has a new commercial coming out with Crawford, says those ads can help bridge generation gaps.

"Those lipstick commercials have made me quite popular with my grandson and his friends," he says with a laugh. "In fact, he called me to come to his school and talk on career day about acting. He told me that if I wanted to bring Cindy Crawford with me it would be OK with him."

While his commercial work is a nice financial bonus, Ingle is absolutely delighted with his duties as the patriarch of the Quartermaine clan on GH.

"Daytime is, I think, one of the best places for an actor to work," he says. "The constant pace and learning the dialogue alone make it quite challenging."

GH producers spotted Ingle on The Young and the Restless. He took over the role of Edward when David Lewis, who created the character, decided to retire.

"Edward is this great, bellowing man who is passionate about business and his family," Ingle says. "But he gets no respect. In a scene recently, Edward was making his opinion known and doing it rather loudly. The entire Quartermaine clan turned around and shouted 'Shut up, Edward!' and, being Edward, he was totally unaffected."

John Ingle

For more than 30 years Ingle taught acting, first at Hollywood High School and then at Beverly Hills High School. Richard Dreyfuss, Julie Kavner, Albert Brooks, Nicolas Cage, Barbara Hershey, Stefanie Powers, Swoosie Kurtz, Mike Farrell, Meredith Baxter, Linda Evans, David Schwimmer and Tuesday Weld are some of his former students.

"It is gratifying to know that I helped these people," he says.

With a large family to support, it wasn't until he had retired from teaching that Ingle decided to pursue acting full time.

He says he plans to work on GH for as long as the producers will let him. "It is such a wonderful place to work. I can't imagine leaving."

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Did Lisa Hartman ever play Tabitha on Bewitched? If not, who did? –J.D.M., Danville, Ky.

A: Hartman (Black) played Tabitha Stephens in a spin-off of Bewitched called Tabitha, which ran on ABC briefly during the 1977-78 season. On Bewitched, Tabitha as an infant was played by twins Erin and Diane Murphy. Erin later played the role on her own.

Q: Is it true George Clooney of ER starred in a sitcom called ER in the early '80s? –Gary Garcas, Long Beach, Calif.

A: ER, which ran on CBS during the 1984-85 season, starred Elliott Gould and Mary McDonnell (High Society). Clooney played an inexperienced young physician named Ace, but was only a featured player in the ensemble cast.

Q: Whatever happened to that fine actress, Nancy Marchand, from Lou Grant? –Maurice Steeves, Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada.

A: Since Grant, Marchand has appeared in several plays and diverse films such as Regarding Henry and the original Naked Gun. She is in the new big screen remake of Sabrina.

Q: Why was Highlander taken off the air? Where can I write to the show's production offices? –Hanna Taeckel, Bridgeport, Conn.

A: Evidently your local channel dumped it, because new episodes are still airing. The address is Highlander, c/o Rysher Entertainment, 3400 Riverside Drive, Suite 600, Burbank, Calif. 91505.

Q: During what years did Gunsmoke air? How long was Dennis Weaver on the show? Was Amanda Blake on it from the first? –Mrs. Opal Blakeman, Ashland, Ill.

Lisa Hartman Black

A: Gunsmoke premiered on Sept. 10, 1955, and ran on CBS through Sept. 1, 1975. Weaver played loyal deputy Chester Goode until he left the series in 1964. Blake played Kitty Russell until she left in 1974, after which Miss Hannah (played by Fran Ryan) took over the Long Branch.

Q: Please tell me the name (and singer) of the Cheers theme song? Was it released commercially? –R.M.L., Burlington, N.C.

A: "Where Everybody Knows Your Name," written by Judy Hart Angelo and Gary Portnoy (who also sang it), was released as a single during the show's run. A record store that handles special orders can help you find it.

Q: Who sang the theme song from TV's In the Heat of the Night? I say B.B. King, but my friends say Quincy Jones. A dinner is riding on this. –E.L.H., Holly Hills, Fla.

A: Looks as if everyone goes Dutch treat. It was Bill Champlin.

Local Therapist To Teach Special Workshop At GCC

Christine Felker, licensed massage therapist, will present a workshop titled "A Holiday Present Just For You" on Monday, Dec. 11 at 1 p.m. in Room 307 at Garrett Community College. This workshop, sponsored by the New Dimensions program, is free and open to the public.

Included in the presentation will be a demonstration of ways individuals can use touch to reduce their own stress and to be helpful in reducing the stress of others in their environment. This workshop is sponsored by the New Dimensions Program, the New Horizons Program, and The Caring Connection Program of Garrett Community College under the direction of Barbara Frey. For additional information or to register, interested persons may contact Virginia Jeffrey, Intake counselor specialist for the New Dimensions and The Caring Connection Programs at 387-3103 or 387-3071.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the New Horizons Program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is approximately 89.6% of the total program budget, with GCC contributing an additional $5,200 which is 10.4% of the total budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education in the amount of $20,000. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources, Community Services Administration, Women's Services Division in the amount of $20,000.

Smith Becomes First Female St. Police Major

A former commander of the Maryland State Police detachment at LaVale has been promoted to the rank of major, and has taken command of the Western Region of the Field Operations Bureau at the Hagerstown state police barrack.

Cynthia Smith, 36, who was LaVale detachment commander from July 1993 until August 1994, became the first female major in the history of the state police. She assumed her post on Nov. 22, and succeeds Capt. Ray Presley who recently retired.

County Native Among Honorees Of VFW Post

Reid A. Ross, a native of Jennings and now a resident of Massachusetts, was among 11 World War II veterans who were recently honored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 639.

Ross joined the U.S. Navy in November of 1942 at the age of 17. He served on the USS Pinto in Europe and was involved in the invasion of Normandy on D Day, after which he received a presidential citation for helping to keep a troop ship afloat after it hit a mine during the invasion. He also participated in the invasion of southern France and was among the troops who liberated the Philippines. He served on board an ammunition transport ship that provided ammunition for the invasion of Okinawa and to the USS Missouri just off shore of Tokyo when the peace treaty with Japan was signed.

He was honorably discharged in February of 1946. He was awarded two battle stars for his service in Europe and two for his Asiatic tour of duty.

Ross is retired from the Malden, Mass., Police Department.

Election Board Notes Important Dates For Voters

The Board of Supervisors of Elections for Garrett County this week issued a schedule of events leading up to the March 5, 1996, primary election.

The last day to register to vote in the March 5 primary is Feb. 5, 1996, at 9 p.m.

Garrett County voters interested in changing party affiliation for the primary election must do so no later than Dec. 11 at 9 p.m. As of October 31, Garrett County voter rolls listed a total of 13,525 registered voters, including 8,644 Republicans, 4,332 Democrats, and 549 others.

Registered voters may file for office until Dec. 26 at 9 p.m., except Democratic National Convention delegate candidates who must file between Jan 2 and Jan. 9 at 9 p.m.

KITZMILLER HIGH SCHOOL graduates and their guests met recently at the American Legion Victory Post 155, Westernport, for their 15th annual reunion. Master of ceremonies Gerald Iman offered the welcome. Members of the class of 1945 were recognized on their 50th year after graduation. Above, members of that class present are pictured from left to right, back row: Dewey Keller, Dale Evans, and Glenn Barton; and front row: Verna (Hamilton) Davis, Leota (Ellifritz) Fisher, Geraldine (Evans) Sharpless, Anna Jane (Wilson) Sharpless, and Betty (Jackson) Cramer. Highlights of the evening included a presentation of the current Kitzmiller Elementary School's goals and achievements, given by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools. Tom Strah reminisced about growing up in the small Kitzmiller community. Following the distribution of gifts, the evening concluded with a dance featuring music by "4 on the Floor." Pictured below is a representation of earlier graduating classes, shown left to right, back row: Tom Strah, class of 1940, Charles Mosser, class of 1936, and Joe Strah, class of 1934; and in the front row: Dixie Wilson, class of 1925, and a former teacher at the school, and Russell Keller, class of 1935.

The election board will host an open house on Dec. 5 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the county courthouse to demonstrate the county's new voting machines. These machines will be used for the first time at the March 5 primary.

Any group or organization interested in hosting a demonstration may call the board at 334-1962.

The following offices will appear on the 1996 election year ballot: President and vice-president of the United States, U.S. Congress, delegates to the national Democratic and Republican conventions, and at-large members of the Garrett county Board of Education.

For more information on registering to vote or filing for office, persons may call or visit the board office, located in the county courthouse.

Rent Assistance Funds Available

The Garrett County Community Action Housing Department has funds available to help those in need of rental assistance. This new money is available through the Rental Assistance Program (RAP) and is now available to Garrett County residents who qualify, according to a program spokesman.

Those in need of help with their rent should contact the Community Action Housing Department at 334-9431. Those interested must pick up an application at Community Action, and return the completed application along with a written reason for the need. When the application and written reason are returned, the applicant will be put on a waiting list. The applicant will be contacted when his or her name reaches the top of the waiting list. "At the present time, the waiting list is not very long and those returning their application quickly will be processed almost at once," the spokesman said.

The program works on a first-come, first-served basis. Those who have questions should call 334-9431, ext. 165.

Ecumenical Youth Group Events Slated

The Ecumenical Youth Ministry, sponsored by St. Peter's Catholic, St. Mark's Lutheran, St. Paul's United Methodist, and St. Matthew's and St. John's Episcopal churches, has scheduled several events for the next two-week period, according to Lynn Broderick, director.

The four Oakland parishes will host youth this Friday, Dec. 1, during the Fresh Air Christmas celebration in downtown Oakland. All youth are invited to meet at St. Paul's United Methodist Church at 5:30 p.m. for a quick business meeting, sandwiches, and juice; walk downtown at about 6 p.m.; visit St. Matthew's Episcopal Church at 6:20 for some of Pastor Chip Lee's homemade chili; move on to St. Mark's Lutheran Church at about 6:40 for desserts and cocoa; go back downtown at 6:55; and then walk to St. Peter's at about 7:15 to make caramel apples.

The high school ecumenical group will meet Sunday, Dec. 3, from noon to 1:30 at St. Peter's. Youth are invited to bring a lunch, if desired.

The middle school group will meet Saturday, Dec. 9, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at St. Mark's.

All members are encouraged by Mrs. Broderick to participate in a bus trip to Cumberland on Sunday, Dec. 10, to attend a presentation of the Broadway musical, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, an Andrew Lloyd Webber play that Mrs. Broderick will direct with the ministry sometime in 1996. The play is slated for 2 p.m. at Fort Hill High School. A bus will leave from St. Peter's at noon and return by 5:30 p.m. Persons may call the Youth Ministry Hotline at 334-6300 for information on this and all other events slated by the ministry.

Reeves Home To Be Part Of Holiday Tour

THE SHEILA REEVES RESIDENCE

The home of local decorator Sheila Reeves and her three daughters, located at 4 East Liberty Street, Oakland, is scheduled to be part of this year's Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross Home for the Holidays house tours. The tours of several local homes will be held on Dec. 1 and 2, with the proceeds benefitting the local organization.

Built in approximately 1880 by C.F. White as a summer place, this large Victorian-style house was once a very common style in the area. The last of its kind in Oakland, it features board and batter structure. From 1881 until 1884, the house was occupied by John Grant, grandfather of the Rev. John Grant and Dr. Lin Grant, after he returned from California where he had gone to "seek his fortune." He moved from the house when White returned from Crellin to occupy it.

The house remained in the family until Reeves purchased it in 1989, after it had stood empty for several years. She gutted and rebuilt the ramshackle back porch to add a laundry room-bath combination to the four large rooms already downstairs. The house features three bedrooms and another bathroom on the second floor, and a walk-around attic that has been converted into two additional bedrooms.

The indoor decor lends itself to Victorian style, but the current owner has also introduced a blend of whimsical styles and furnishings, and added a lot of color and "treasures" including a variety of angels.

Outdoors, the many oak trees provide diffused light during the growing season, which offers a perfect atmosphere for a variety of flowers, ground covers, rose bushes, and shrubs. Each spring the hillside facing Liberty Street (which before years of grading was actually at street level) is banked solid with flowers.

Tours will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 1, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 2. Tickets are $5 each.

Savage River Manager To Speak At FSU

Ranger Lieutenant Michael Gregory, Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) manager for the Savage River Complex, will speak to the student chapter of The Wildlife Society on Thursday, Dec. 7, beginning at 7 p.m. in Lane Center, Room 201, of Frostburg State University, Frostburg.

The meeting is free and open to all students and the public.

Comprised of four DNR units in Garrett County, the Savage River Complex includes New Germany and Big Run state parks, the Casselman Bridge State Park Historical Site, and the 53,000-acre Savage River State Forest. The Savage River Complex, Maryland's largest natural resources unit, is headquartered at New Germany.

Ranger Gregory, a who holds a degree in wildlife management from the University of Maine at Orono, began his career with the DNR in 1979 as the resident naturalist at New Germany State Park. Later he took part in the DNR's Forest and Parks Ranger Program and then accepted a transfer to Southern Maryland, where he directed several park and wildlife management areas.

Gregory returned to Western Maryland in November of 1994 as manager of the recently combined park and forest units making up the Savage River Complex.

The Dec. 7 Wildlife Society meeting will include a "round-table discussion" centering on multiple-use issues and contemporary challenges in the management of forest and park resources.

New Locations Added To Local Blanket Drive

Three additional locations have been added to the list of drop-off sites for a blanket drive, sponsored locally by the AmeriCorps team in the Community and Emergency (C&E) Services Department of Garrett County Community Action (GCCAC).

The West Marva District Office of the Church of the Brethren, along with Oakland Southern States, and Manor Home Center are now official sites for the public to take new and used blankets that will be donated to various charities throughout the county. Any blankets not distributed will be stored in the C&E Services Department of GCCAC where they will be used for families with heating crisis, or those who have been burned out of their homes, as well as other emergency situations, according to Linda Green, director of C&E Services.

"We are excited to report that in the last week we have already collected several boxes of blankets," said AmeriCorps member Tina Sumpter, "but we are still in need of many more to supply the needs which we are anticipating this winter season."

The drive began Nov. 21, and will conclude Monday, Dec. 4.

Addison Group To Hold Tour

The Old Petersburg-Addison (Pa.) Historical Society, Inc., will hold its first Christmas House Tour in the village of Addison this Sunday, Dec. 3, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Included in the tour will be a log house, a Queen Anne style house, a stable that has been converted into a house, and an 1840s Federal style brick mansion. The Old Petersburg Museum will also be open for touring. Refreshments and a door prize drawing will follow the tour.

Various shops in the village will be open during the tour hours. The Christmas greenery sale of the Society that has been underway since Nov. 1 will conclude on Sunday.

PSI Ordered For W.Va. Woman On Various Charges

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett for a Gormania, W.Va., woman found guilty last week in Garrett County District Court of one count of battery, and several motor vehicle violations, including DWI (driving while intoxicated), failure to display a registration card on demand, and failure to notify the administration of a change of name within 30 days.

Patsy E. Perry, 42, who pleaded not guilty to all of the charges, will be sentenced following the completion of the investigation.

Perry was charged with those offenses on Aug. 16, by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy C.H. Warnick, who stated he was assaulted by the defendant while he was assisting fire personnel with a structure fire in Deer Park. Perry's vehicle was parked sideways between several fire trucks, and was hindering the volunteers' efforts, according to the report.

When the deputy attempted to have the defendant move her vehicle, he noted an odor of alcohol. As Perry exited her vehicle, the deputy noticed her fall against it, and also noticed her speech was slurred, and her eyes were red and glassy. When the defendant refused a field sobriety test, Warnick placed her under arrest, and walked her to the police car. The deputy noted her balance was unsteady, and she tried to jerk away from him. He also stated that as he conducted a search, Perry kicked him. She then had to be forced into the police car, according to the report.

In other district court news, an Oakland man was sentenced to serve one year in jail after being found guilty of one count of malicious destruction of property.

Johnny J. Thomas, 34, was initially sentenced to 18 months in jail, but Judge Burnett suspended all but one year of that term. He also ordered Thomas to make $500 restitution to the victim, Mason Madigan, and placed the defendant on three years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration. Thomas was additionally ordered to submit to alcohol and drug evaluation, testing, and treatment as directed by his supervisor.

The charges against the defendant stemmed from an Oct. 19 incident at a storage building belonging to Madigan. His unlocked building had been broken into, and extensive damage done to the inside. It was later learned that Thomas and a co-defendant admitted to Garrett County sheriff's deputies that they spread roof tar on the walls, floor, and ceiling, knocked holes in the walls and ceiling, tore insulation from the walls, broke windows, and threw trash around. A total of $1,670 in damages resulted from the incident.

Rex A. Guthrie, 35, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to one count of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) in Judge Burnett's court. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail, but all of that sentence was suspended except for 48 hours. He was also fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of Guthrie's probation state he must complete 30 hours of community service, and submit to alcohol and drug evaluation, testing, and treatment as directed by his supervisor.

Guthrie was arrested for the offense on May 31 by sheriff's deputies after they received word he and a co-defendant had gone to Westernport to purchase marijuana. The deputies later stopped the men's vehicle because of an equipment violation. A subsequent search of the vehicle revealed a small quantity of marijuana. Additional quantities, which Guthrie had thrown from the vehicle, were found in a ditch, according to the report.

Terry J. Shope, 18, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of CDS possession. He was fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation for the offense. Conditions of his probation state he must also complete 20 hours of community service.

According to the charging statement, Shope was arrested by officers from the Maryland State Police Drug Enforcement Division, and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force who were working in a covert capacity, Aug. 17, at the Garrett County Fair. The officers reportedly saw a known drug dealer approach Shope and a co-defendant, who later walked into a wooded area with several other people. A K-9 unit had scanned the defendants' vehicle and alerted the officers to the possibility of drugs. When the defendants returned, the officers searched the vehicle, and found marijuana and its related drug paraphernalia, resulting in their arrest.

During a sentence revision hearing for Heather R. Ryan, 19, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., she was granted probation before judgment on an earlier guilty verdict for CDS possession. Ryan had been arrested in April by sheriff's deputies, while she was at a residence in Friendsville. She was found to be in possession of marijuana at that time.

David E. Liller, 34, Oakland, was sentenced in last week's court proceedings to two years in jail, after being found guilty in September of one count of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. All of the sentence was suspended except for one year, which will be served in the Garrett County Jail. Liller was also ordered to make $55 restitution to Gary Powell, Terra Alta, W.Va., and continue to attend addictions counseling. He was placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration.

Liller was arrested for the offense on Feb. 27, after he stole Powell's vehicle from where it was parked at the Hutton Exxon station. He later wrecked the vehicle in Preston County, according to district court records.

Paul E. Sharp, 53, Marrelton, Alaska, was granted probation before judgment on a guilty verdict for possession of a loaded handgun in his vehicle. He was fined $50 in court costs, and forfeited the gun. He was also placed on one day of probation.

Sharp was charged with the offense on Aug. 15, when officers at the Finzel Scale House found a loaded .22 caliber handgun in the sleeper section of his tractor-trailer. It was learned Sharp possessed no permit for the weapon, and he told the officers he kept it for personal protection.

Randolph L. Harvey, 37, Swanton, pleaded guilty to one count each of DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs), and possession of CDS paraphernalia. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, and fined $100. Additional charges of possession of CDS, and failure to drive right of center were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

The charges against Harvey were filed on May 27, after a Garrett County sheriff's deputy stopped his vehicle for repeatedly crossing the center line. The deputy reportedly detected an odor of alcohol on the defendant, and arrested him for DUI. A search of the vehicle revealed a pipe containing marijuana residue, located in Harvey's pocket.

Two Frostburg residents were not prosecuted on two counts each of trespassing. William Raynor Jr., 40, and Carla McRobie, 30, had been charged with trespassing on Aug. 4, by Stanley G. McRobie, Oakland, who stated the two trespassed on his posted property after being told not to do so.

During a sentence revision hearing for Russell A. Mullenix, 35, Dayton, Ohio, the judge granted him probation before judgment on an earlier guilty verdict for CDS possession. The terms of his probation will remain as originally imposed. Mullenix's arrest occurred on July 1, during a drug checkpoint located at Swallow Falls State Park.

Charges of reckless driving, assault, felony theft, harassment, and stalking, filed against Bryan L. Atwood, 32, Germantown, were not prosecuted in last week's district court proceedings. The charges had been filed on June 2, by Glenetta S. Atwood, Frostburg, who stated the defendant had followed her as she left a bar, then tried to pass her vehicle, and run her off the road. The charging statement indicated he later took the car she was operating, which was registered to his father, but contained her personal belongings.

William Thomas Sr., 49, and Barbara Thomas, 47, both of Oakland, were not prosecuted on battery charges because the complainant, Robin E. Moats, Terra Alta, W.Va., would not testify. According to district court records, Moats filed the charges after an Oct. 8 altercation that also involved Charlie Moats, at the VFW in Deer Park.

Megan S. Murray, 21, Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty in last week's court proceedings of one count of CDS possession. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), fined $150, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. She was also ordered to complete 20 hours of community service in compliance with the conditions of her probation.

Murray was charged with the offense on Aug. 5, after a state police officer who responded to a domestic dispute at the Wisp, found marijuana seeds and hand-rolled marijuana cigarette butts in the ashtray of a vehicle operated by co-defendant Donald M. Carpenter, 27, also of Pittsburgh.

Murray told the officer that Carpenter had taken her driver's license, and during a search of the vehicle, the drugs were located in plain view, according to the report.

In a related case, Carpenter was not prosecuted on CDS charges because Murray admitted the drugs belonged to her.

Teresa L. Welch, 26, Deer Park, was granted

Is Farmland Important?

by Stu Truelson,
director of broadcasting for AFBF

Dearborn County, Indiana, is mentioned as a site for a Toyota truck factory. The county is so eager to have the factory that it's trying to secure 1,000 acres of farmland to offer free to Toyota. Maybe a thousand acres of farmland in Indiana doesn't seem like much. There are broad, flat expanses of farmland in the state, and the factory will employ a couple thousand people. But it does raise a question, "What do we lose when we lose farmland, farms and farmers?

Recently, members of Congress from 16 states urged the House Agriculture Committee to make state and local farmland protection programs a priority in the 1995 Farm Bill. They are clearly concerned about urban sprawl.

Farmland preservation programs are not entirely the solution, however. "You can save the land, but if you don't save the farmer to go with it, I think you are just kind of spinning your wheels," says dairy farmer Harold Lenhart of Thurmont, Md. Lenhart's dairy farm is right in the flight path of jets landing 30 miles away at Baltimore/-Washington International Airport. However, he's more worried about the rapid development of homes in the area, and the highway expansion that brings even more people to roost here.

In Maryland, it is difficult for commercial farms to get big enough to withstand today's economic pressures, and only so much land can be tucked away in preservation programs. So what happens if we lose farms, farmland and farmers?

In most states, agriculture contributes more to the economy than most people realize. Oftentimes, it is one of the top three industries in the state. American agriculture is not a declining industry. Exports are setting records, and many alternative markets exist today for farm products. We run the risk, however, that urban sprawl will force farms to remote areas of the nation, and there will be even less diversity in production.

Robert Black's Catoctin Mountain Orchard in Maryland is a big hit with local folks. They like his particular kind of red delicious apples, and they like picking their own berries in the spring. If he's ever forced to quit, people can still buy apples and berries at the supermarket, but the taste and the experience won't be the same.

One of the strengths of American agriculture is that it is spread across the whole country. If we lose that strength, we are more vulnerable to weather disasters or disease problems.

People like having farms in the community. It's kind of nice to know where your food comes from. It's open space with a purpose. Farms show up on the tax rolls, but they don't require a lot of tax-supported improvements that go with development. Farms are friendly to the environment and they provide much needed wildlife habitat.

There's nothing wrong with people wanting to move out to the country, or with factories wanting to locate there. But farming and ranching are a big part of what makes country life appealing. If we lose the farms in our communities, we've lost a lot.

USDA Reminds Producers Of Elections Of Farm Service Agency Committees

Garrett County FSA (formerly ASCS) Committee Chairperson Kenneth R. Bachtel, reminds Garrett County producers of elections to be held November 24 to December 4 by mail ballot to elect the new Garrett County Farm Service Agency Committee.

The committee, consisting of three members and two alternates, administers farm programs such as commodity price support loans and payments, conservation programs, crop insurance and farm ownership and operating loans.

Nationwide elections for new committee members are necessary because of the extensive reorganization of the US Department of Agriculture by the Clinton administration. The new Farm Service Agency has been created, combining duties and responsibilities previously carried out by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Farm owners, operators, tenants and sharecroppers of legal voting age eligible to participate in any FSA program are eligible to take part in the election process. Ballots have been mailed and must be returned by December 4 to be counted.

Nominees for the 1996 committee are: Kenneth R. Bachtel, Garrett Hwy., Oakland, dairy farmer; Carolyn J. Ganoe, Gravel Hill Rd., Frostburg, dairy farmer; Dorsey R. Guard, Friendsville Addison Rd., Friendsville, dairy farmer; Dennis W. Margroff, Cove Rd., Accident, beef and vegetable farmer; and Randall Steyer, Gorman Rd., Oakland, dairy farmer.

Producers with questions about the election process should contact the Garrett County FSA Office at 334-1901.

Tillage Event Sets Two-Night Program Topics

Participants in this year's 22nd annual Mid-Atlantic Conservation Tillage Conference will not have to drive far thanks to television satellite technology. The conference is being downlinked on December 6 and 13, from 7 to 9 p.m., at nearly 40 known locations in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia. Downlink sites also are a probability in New Jersey, New York, and Ohio.

In fact, anyplace in the United States with a satellite dish capable of picking up the KU band could be a downlink site, notes Milt Nelson, Extension agricultural editor for the University of Maryland at College Park. Nelson chaired the planning committee for this year's conference, which has departed from a 21-year tradition of a single meeting site that rotated on an annual basis between Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Telephone and fax machine hookups will permit live question-and-answer sessions following each televised presentation. Penn State University is the originating uplink site. Part of the December 13 program will feature a live feed from Ohio State University.

Other program segments will present professional workers from Penn State, Virginia Tech, the University of Maryland and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, plus two West Virginia farmers.

To help provide financial support, interested agribusiness organizations have been invited to submit two-minute "infomercial" film clips that will be included in the satellite broadcast each night.

The schedule of topics and speakers for December 6 is:

*"No-Till Forage/Pasture Renovation" -- Dr. Harlan E. White, Extension forage specialist at Virginia Tech, and Lynn D. Hoffman, agronomy superintendent at Penn State's Russell E. Larson Research Center near Rock Springs, Pa.;

*"New Herbicides: What Worked and What Didn't Work in 1995" -- Dr. William S. Curran, Extension weed science specialist at Penn State;

*"Planter and Drill Adjustment Maintenance" -- Lynn D. Hoffman;

*"What's New in Conservation Tillage This Year" -- Joel C. Myers, state agronomist in Pennsylvania for the USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service;

*"Precision Farming: Here Now?" -- USDA film.

The following topics and speakers are set for December 13:

*"Row Cleaners and Strip Tillage" -- Dr. Gregory W. Roth, Extension corn management specialist, and Lynn D. Hoffman, agronomy farm superintendent, both from Penn State, plus two West Virginia farmers with practical experience;

*"Soil Compaction: Causes and Remedies" -- Randall C. Reeder, Extension agricultural engineer, Ohio State University;

*"Effects of High-Residue Farming on Plant Diseases" -- Dr. Patrick E. Lipps, Extension plant pathology specialist at Ohio State;

*"Herbicide Resistance and New Herbicides for 1996" -- Dr. Ronald L. Ritter, Extension weed control specialist, University of Maryland at College Park.

The technical details for downlinking the conference are:

Test pattern: 6:45 p.m. EST; program: 7 to 9 p.m.; KU band (horizontal polarity); Telstar 401, Transponder 12A; frequency: 12033 mhz. To question speakers, call, (800) PSU-1010 or send fax message to (814) 863-9877.

The program will be downlinked to Garrett Community College's Tech Center, Room 254, McHenry. Jim Simms, Garrett County Extension agent, and Willie Lantz, agricultural instructor, will be the site coordinators. Simms can be reached for more information at 334-1990, and Lantz can be reached at 387-3021.

State Soybean Yield Declines

According to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service, soybean production, forecast at 13.5 million bushels, will be down 31 percent from 1994 if November 1 expectations are realized. Soybean yield is expected to average 25 bushels per acre on the 540,000 acres forecast for harvest statewide.

Corn for grain in Maryland is expected to average 100 bushels per acre compared to the 118 bushels in 1994. If November 1 expectations are realized, farmers will harvest 380,000 acres of corn, and production will total 38.0 million bushels, 17 percent less than the 46.0 million bushels harvested in the state during 1994.

The hot and dry conditions, particularly during the month of August, had an adverse affect on the corn and soybean crops. Soybeans, especially double cropped acreage, was hardest hit as August was a critical month for development.

Based on conditions as of November 1, United States corn for grain production is forecast at 7.37 billion bushels, 27 percent below the record high 1994 total. Yield is forecast at 113.7 bushels per acre, 24.9 bushels below last year. Planted acreage is revised to 71.4 million acres, up 100,000 acres from the previous estimate. Acreage for harvest as grain is estimated at 64.8 million acres, up 150,000 acres from the October estimate. Soybean production is forecast at 2.18 billion bushels as of November 1.13 percent below 1994. Yield is forecast at 35.4 bushels per acre, 6.0 bushels below 1994. Harvested acreage is estimated at 61.7 million acres, down 60,000 acres from the October estimate. Planted acreage is estimated at 62.6 million acres, down 10,000 acres from the previous estimate.

Preston County Farm Bureau Reorganizing

Members of the Preston County Farm Bureau will soon be asking other landowners in the county to join their organization. Preston County Farm Bureau President Ted Gregg said, "Recent developments make it crucial to expand membership in the organization. What happens in this next year or so will have a huge effect on West Virginia's future."

A reorganization meeting is being held Saturday, December 9, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora beginning at 6:30 p.m. The cost of the dinner will be $2 per person. Reservations can be sent to Becky Montgomery at Rt. 1, Box 230, Masontown, WV 26542 or calling 864-5462.

Change is indeed on the way -- far ranging and deep change. Debate in Washington on what federal program will survive and how they will be altered makes it clearer every day just how drastic these changes could be.

Many of the changes being contemplated involve giving control of how funds are spent back to the states (and in the process reducing the amount of that funding). According to some analysts, West Virginia will be one of the big losers in this process.

Other major programs being rewritten include the Endangered Species Act, the Clean Water Act (which includes the wetlands provision), and the Farm Bill. These bills and others like them have much greater impact on people living in the country than those in our cities.

"It is very important that the voice of West Virginia's rural citizens be heard during this process of change. Your legislators in Charleston and Washington must be made to understand how their decisions will affect you," says Fred Butler, president of the West Virginia Farm Bureau.

For more than 75 years the West Virginia Farm Bureau and the county Farm Bureaus of which it is comprised, have been the "Voice of Agriculture in the Mountain State." The Farm Bureau has made the needs of its members heard by those who have the power to bring about change.

Politics is a game of numbers. As America's cities continue to grow, it becomes easier for politicians to ignore the needs of their rural constituents. This is why it is so important that all rural residents, farmers, businessmen, and those who believe in the value of rural communities, work together to remain a strong influence on the decision making of our state.

Thirteen thousand families strong, the West Virginia Farm Bureau is made up of farmers, rural residents, and business owners who value and believe in our state's rural traditions.

Anyone interested in learning more about Farm Bureau's legislative efforts or the many other benefits of membership should contact Ted Gregg at 864-5839 or the West Virginia Farm Bureau at 472-2080.

As the motto of West Virginia Farm Bureau says, "We pull the most, when we pull together."

Farm Meeting Announced By County FSA

The Garrett County Farm Service Agency (formerly the ASCS Office) will be holding two producer meetings on Wednesday, December 6, 1995, at the County Extension Office. One meeting is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. and the other at 7 p.m. Various USDA programs will be discussed, including crop insurance, dairy refund, production adjustment, crop reporting, conservation practices and others. This is a good opportunity for producers and landowners to learn about different programs and requirements.

All farmers, landowners, and others are invited to attend. For additional information about the meeting, those interested should call the Garrett County Farm Service Agency at 334-1901.

Soybean Harvest Continues

For the week ending November 26, soybean harvest continued at a below average pace. Wet fields were still creating problems with harvest in some areas. Small grain seedings were nearing completion. Barley, wheat, and rye conditions ranged from very poor to excellent with the majority of each crop in good condition. Pastures were one percent very poor, three percent poor, 30 percent fair, 56 percent good, and 10 percent excellent. Fifth cuttings of alfalfa hay continue at a slightly below average pace. Hay supplies were mostly adequate.

Topsoil moisture was one percent short, 68 percent adequate, and 31 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was 10 percent short, 76 percent adequate, and 14 percent surplus. Conditions allowed for an average of 4.4 days suitable for fieldwork.

This is the final weekly issue of the Crop Weather Report for the 1995 season. Reports will resume in April 1996. We would like to thank our reporters for their assistance with the survey during the year. We also wish to convey our best wishes for a safe and joyful holiday season to the families of our reporters, readers, and farmers.

Maryland's progress for the week ending November 26 was as follows, listing the item, this week's percentage, last week's percentage, last year's percentage, and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Crop progress: Soybeans, harvested, 83, 76, 89, 87.

Agency Helping Seniors Through "Medicare Maze"

With information about the changes and proposed changes in Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security programs being reported on almost a daily basis, many senior citizens are getting more and more confused about these programs and what they can expect in the way of benefits. Finding the answers to their questions is also difficult.

Thus the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging of the Community Action Committee is providing services specifically aimed at reducing this confusion concerning medical insurance and policies for seniors. The Senior Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) provides counselors to meet with senior citizens and their families to review medical claims, policies, physican and hospital bills, etc. In addition, assistance and advocacy is provided in interpreting Medicare information and appealing insurance claim rejections.

Peggy Santamaria, a member of the AmeriCorps service organization and coordinator of the HICAP program for the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, said, "We can provide seniors with up-to-date information on changes in medical benefits and thereby reduce some of the stress that can result from uncertainty. The literature available that is supposed to clarify some of these medical benefit issues is very complicated. The volume of words currently printed about insurance coverage for seniors is overwhelming.

"I would like to be able to reach all seniors who need some support in dealing with these problems," she said.

Santamaria said that she is available for telephone conferences and appointments on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident (746-8824) and on Wednesdays and Friday at the Community Action offices in Oakland (334-9431).

She returned to the field of education and worked for the Preston County Board of Education in a variety of positions prior to her move in 1994 to the Union Educational Complex in Mt. Storm, where she served as school guidance counselor for grades K-12.

A native of West Virginia, Mrs. Bolyard currently resides in Oakland with her husband, Donald. She is the parent of two children. Her son, Seth, will graduate from West Virginia University this spring with a degree in chemical engineering, and her daughter, Fae, is a Second Lt. in the Air Force based in Texas, working in the field of intelligence. She also has three step-children and four grandchildren. Her hobbies include camping, traveling, sewing, keyboarding, and use of computers.

In Loving Memory of Joy Ann Fulmer
who passed away December 1, 1991

It has been four years since that day when God called our beloved Joy away.
Like a mighty trumpet blast, all of a sudden,
Joy was home at last!
Our heart aches as if pierced by a sword,
Comfort we find in God's holy word,
And in a dream God sent from above,
Praise God! I've seen Joy received by the Master's love.
In the words of the Bible the meaning is clear
The coming of Jesus is drawing near!
Help me, Lord, to do what is right
So when Jesus returns, I'll be on that heavenly flight.
Joy will meet us in a robe of pure white
A blessed reunion, oh what a sight!
Joy we love you and miss you.

PVH Celebrates Home Care Week

Potomac Valley Hospital Home Care Services of Keyser joins the West Virginia Council of Home Health Agencies and the National Association for Home Care in celebrating World Home Care Week November 27 through December 3.

Home Care Services consists of professional health care delivered to individuals at their place of residence. This may include a nurse, physical therapist, speech therapist, occupational therapist, social worker, or home health aide. Home care can help patients to return to a healthy state or may assist individuals or their families in obtaining the skills or knowledge needed to remain at home with a disability or illness. Services provided by home care may include wound care, administering IV or IM medications, catheter care, instructing and supervising exercises and therapy, or teaching patients and their families regarding new conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure, or heart disease.

To qualify for home health services, individuals must be under the care of a physician, usually confined to their home because of illness or injury, and require the skilled professional care of a nurse, physical therapist, or speech therapist. The cost of home care may be covered by Medicare, Medicaid, Workman's Compensation, and most private insurance.

"Home care offers many advantages to patients and their families," stated Cathy Chapman, RN, director of Home Care Services. "Patients often are able to leave the hospital or nursing home quicker and recover in their own homes surrounded by their families and friends. For the elderly homebound patient, home health can be a bridge between the patient and physician by updating the physician on the patient's condition and obtaining necessary lab work at home.

"PVH Home Care can provide nursing, social work, aide, maternal child nursing as well as physical, speech, and occupational therapies. We can provide services to residents of Mineral County irregardless of where their primary care physician is located or where they may have been hospitalized," she said.

Potomac Valley Hospital Home Care Services is Medicare certified and accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. The agency currently employs 20 people and made nearly 12,000 visits to Mineral County residents last year.

HOLIDAY BAKING

Now that Thanksgiving is past, most people turn to thoughts of all that shopping, decorating and baking. With careful planning, we can accomplish our holiday chores ahead of time and have time to enjoy family and friends.

Holiday baking is a tradition for many families, whether it has been handed down from generation to generation, or it just feels good to bake something to give as gifts or enjoy at a special meal. Many recipes can be made ahead of time and put in the freezer, giving us time to do our decorating and shopping.

When baking ahead, we must thoughtfully check our recipes and be sure we are getting the right ingredients to make them turn out. It can be very discouraging when a recipe made year after year suddenly flops. Of course it must be the cook . . . or maybe not.

Groceries in the market place may quietly change and we only become aware of it if the baked product is not as good as we expected. In the recent past, we have found sugar and margarine to create potential problems. Sugar generally is 100% cane sugar. However, there is a sugar blend on the market for less money and in a similar bag. The sugar blend contains sugars other than those made from cane sugar. Dextrose, a corn derived sweetener is added. This type has only 70% of the sweetening power of the sugar we are accustomed to and draws and holds moisture (hygroscopic) in the baked goods. This sugar blend is not suitable for making jelly or for use in making fudge or moisture sensitive recipes. If unsure, try the recipe once well before, to forestall any problem.

Margarine has undergone many changes over the past years. Lower-fat spreads have become the product to use for vegetables, breads, and rolls. Instead of 80% fat, as in the case with butter and traditional margarine, the spreads may contain anywhere from 60% to 80% fat with the difference made up in water and other ingredients. Lately the stick-margarine have quietly changed to spreads but still come in the familiar four to one pound stick form. Experienced cooks can readily see that this large difference in fat can reduce the moisture, but the proportions need to be figured carefully, and, again, try the adjusted recipe before needed.

Not changing, but confusing, are the differences between condensed milk and evaporated milk. These are not interchangeable. Sweetened condensed milk is fresh whole milk with 60% of water removed and 45% cane sugar added. Evaporated milk is whole milk from which water is removed but no sugar is added. Sweetened condensed milk has a thick consistency and will get sugary when heated and will not form ice crystals when frozen. It thickens without heat when combined with acid such as lemon, orange, pineapple or apple juices.

Some other helpful suggestions for holiday baking are:

*Plan ahead - list ingredients, utensils, pans needed, etc.

*Set specific and realistic time goals for baking.

*Stick to your plans and goals.

*Stick to you budget.

Happy baking! May your creations be scrumptious and tasty.

da, Chris and Ryan Channel, David, Lois, and Aaron Layman.

The former Russel Feather farm and home in Eglon has been purchased by Greg and Nancy Fletcher and their sons, Christopher and Donald, who are moving here from the Uniontown, Pa., area.

Saturday guests of Brad and Chris Shaffer, Michelle and Alicia, at Eglon were Chris's family; her step-father, Ralph Evick, brothers Steve Stefan and family of Terra Alta, Mike Stefan and family of Virginia Beach, Va., and Randy Evick of Parsons, and her sisters, Melinda Evick and son and Diana Evick, all Parsons.

Larry Knotts of Cresaptown, his son, Greg Knotts of near Frostburg and his son, David, were all guests last week of Kirk and Anita Lantz and family at Aurora.

Tommy Parsons of Aurora underwent surgery Monday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Keith Douglas was a Tuesday surgical patient at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Thursday evening dinner guests of Wilda and Frank Stemple were Paul Stemple, Adrain and Pat Stemple, local, Tom Wotring of Fairview, Mich., David Harvey of Lambertville, Mich., John and Patricia Stemple and children of Morgantown, Jack and Debbie Kimble and family of Kitzmiller, and Dan and Elaine Stemple of Arnettsville.

Phra and Betty Paugh of Leesburg, Va., were holiday visitors at their Eglon home.

Tom and Carolyn Wotring and their daughters, Elizabeth and Rebecca, of Aurora spent the Thanksgiving holiday week with their son and his family, Kenny and Melissa Wotring and their new daughter, Amy Joy, at Shawnee, Okla. The latter Mrs. Wotring has been ill, first having gall bladder surgery which was followed by complications involving the pancreas since the birth of their daughter. She is now recuperating at their home.

TO PRESENT CANTATA

A Christmas cantata titled Where Love Leads will be presented by the choir of the Aurora United Methodist charge at the Aurora U.M. Church on Sunday, December 17, at 2:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

"Household Pest Control." was the subject addressed by Virginia Martin at the November 27 meeting of the Aurora Extension Homemakers. A quiz concerning the identification of certain insects was followed by a discussion of control methods for each.

Mrs. Martin was also hostess of the 1 p.m. meeting and used a reading from "A Rainbow of Hope," plus scripture quotes read by each member, as devotions. Nine were present for the meeting.

It was reported that 44 pounds of candy had been made for the Christmas bazaar. The Christmas dinner for members and families is planned for December 2 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church with each member asked to bring canned foods for Food for Preston distribution.

County Craft Day was attended by Martha Bolyard, Delores Douglas, and Opal Myers, the latter of whom displayed an apron, a Christmas swag, and Love Knot door decoration which she had made.

Martha Bolyard reported that two books had been purchased for the Aurora School. Ressie Conrad talked to fourth, fifth, and sixth graders about being latch key children, and Opel Myers talked with the same group about nutritious snacks, and Dolores Douglas and Martha Bolyard addressed the subject of Look Alikes, Poison or Household Aid?, with grades 1-3 during National Education Week.

Preston County Achievement Day is November 30 at Kingwood Community Building and five members are planning to attend. If the puppet show is to be presented to Aurora students, three or four people are needed to train for that. Names of needy are on the Santa Tree at the Extension Office and the club is taking 10 of those. The countywide Christmas party will be held at the Kingwood Community Building on December 10. New Self-Guided Driving Tour brochures are available at the Extension Office or the Chamber of Commerce.

There was a request for the club to make breads and cookies for the Preston Memorial Hospital "sweets trays" which they sell for fund-raising.

The pig-in-the-poke was won by Dorothy Spaid. The special feature was a footed glass compote which had belonged to Daisy Shillingburg, aunt of the hostess, and had come from her great-grandmother to her grandmother in 1920.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Ressie Conrad on January 16, at 7 p.m., with "Growing Older, the Younger-Older Years" being addressed by Opal Myers and Fern Jamison in charge of devotions.

probation before judgment on a guilty verdict for battery. She was placed on six months of unsupervised probation for the offense. Additional charges of reckless driving and negligent driving were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Conditions of Welch's probation state she must have no contact with Tanya Stump, Mtn. Lake Park.

According to district court records, Stump filed the charge on May 14, claiming Welch came at her with her vehicle, and later struck her in the face.

In an unrelated case, one count of harassment, filed against Welch by Michael Madigan, Deer Park, was placed on the stet docket. The charge, filed on April 25, stemmed from an ongoing dispute between the two.

Stephen M. Jones, 16, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on one count of first degree burglary, because of insufficient evidence, and one count of petty theft, at the request of the complainant, Michelle D. Burns, also of Mtn. Lake Park. In her charging statement, Burns claimed the defendant, who had a key to her apartment, stole her VCR. The charge was filed on July 9.

Michael A. DeWitt, 22, Oakland, entered a not guilty plea, and was found not guilty of providing alcohol to persons under the age of 21. The charge stemmed from his July 8 arrest for the offense by Garrett County sheriff's deputies, following an incident at his residence on the Fingerboard Road.

During a sentencing hearing for Jason A. Skipper, 18, Oakland, who was found guilty in September of CDS possession, the judge granted him probation before judgment on that verdict. Skipper was also placed on a one day probation.

Fifteen counts of automobile trailer camp violations, filed against Rodney D. Youmans, 37, Grantsville, were placed on the stet docket, on the condition he continues to pay his trailer park taxes. The charges stemmed from May 1, 1994 until August of this year, according to Youmans' file, when he reportedly failed to file a report with the Supervisor of Assessments of Garrett County, showing the amount of tax due.

LWV Publishes Handbook About State Government

To answer questions about how state government works and to know what's going on in Annapolis before and during the Legislative Session, citizens need facts. With that in mind, the League of Women Voters of Maryland has published two concise handbooks which are quick and factual reference tools for citizens. Handbook on Maryland State Government deals with the organization of state government and describes the committee of the legislature, as well as the courts, and executive branch. Local governments and their powers and functions are also explained.

The "how to" booklet, Lobbying the Maryland General Assembly, is directed to citizens who want to advocate more effectively. Both these booklets cost $3.50 plus 17 cents tax and $1 postage each and are available from the LWVMD office for pick-up or mailing.

During the General Assembly session, which convenes January 10, 1996, the LWVMD will publish Report from State Circle, which will be mailed to subscribers at a cost of $25 for seven issues. The report will deal with many subjects, including firearms control, children's issues, environment, courts, women's issues, financing education, and others that will be before the assembly, according to Joan Paik, LWVMD president.

To order either booklets or subscribe to the Report from State Circle, persons may call 410-269-0232 (fax 410-268-7301).

USDA's AmeriCorps Program Begins Recruitment For Team

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announced that it has begun recruitment for the AmeriCorps national service project based in Beltsville. The project will begin in January 1996.

AmeriCorps, President Clinton's national service program passed with bipartisan support by Congress, engages Americans of diverse backgrounds in performing service to meet critical community needs. In return for approximately 1800 hours full-time service, members receive a $4,275 award which may be used for college, job training, or to pay back student loans. Members also earn a stipend of at least $7,900.

AmeriCorps members will work in partnerships with federal, state, and local governments, and nonprofit organizations in Washington D.C. and surrounding Maryland counties. The seven participants in the Beltsville program will renovate public recreation centers, plan and develop outdoor education facilities, assist with watershed protection projects, and assist with conservation projects with the NRCS National Plant Materials Center.

Any citizen age 17 or older is eligible to apply. There is no minimum or maximum family income required to apply. Applications will be accepted until December 7. To apply for the program or obtain more information, those interested should call John Englert at 301-504-8175.

LIBRARY RECEIVES DONATION - Members of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, recently donated $500 to the Ruth Enlow Library for the purpose of buying books about World War II. The donation was presented in recognition of the end of the 50th anniversary commemoration of WWII at Garrett Community College. Inside each book cover will be a plate containing the names the 90 Garrett County residents killed during the war. Pictured above, from left to right, are Paul Shogren, chairman of the WWII committee at GCC, Emily Ferren, head librarian at the Ruth Enlow Library; Moses "Moe" Miller, Post 71 commander; and Jim Seeders, Americanism chairman at Post 71. "The post thanks Paul Shogren and GCC for honoring our WWII vets, and maintaining a high standard in this matter," Seeders said.

Arts Council Grant Application Deadline Noted

The Garrett County Arts Council has announced that December 21 is the application deadline for non-profit organizations and schools seeking Arts Council grant funding for programs and projects scheduled for spring 1996. The December 21 deadline applies to sponsors of arts activities taking place in Garrett County between March 21 and June 20.

The purpose of the Garrett County Arts Council is "to aid, encourage, and coordinate activities dedicated to the promotion of cultural arts in Garrett County and to integrate such activities into the life of the community."

During the past fiscal year, the Council allocated nearly $50,000 in grant funding made available through the Maryland State Arts Council and local fund-raising efforts to Garrett County organizations and schools sponsoring arts activities in the community.

Recipients of Garrett County Arts Council grant funding include the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the Garrett Choral Society, the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, Garrett Community College, the Garrett County Board of Education, the Accident Cultural and Historical Society, the Oakland Civic Club, the Spruce Forest Artisan Village, and the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery.

Arts Council funding has supported local productions of Broadway Show Tunes, the Old Time Music Festival, Enjoy Yesteryear, the McHenry Highland Festival, the Autumn Glory Fiddle and Banjo Championships, the Independence Day Art Exhibit in Accident, Imagimime in the schools, the annual American Indian Pow-Wow in McHenry, the Spruce Forest Summerfest and Quilt Show, and many other local arts productions.

All programs supported by Council administered grant funds must be open to the public and accessible to persons with disabilities. Only programs or projects held in Garrett County for the benefit of Garrett County citizens are eligible for funding consideration. Applications must be postmarked or hand-delivered to the Garrett County Arts Council office at Garrett Community College on or before posted deadlines.

Most Council grants require matching funds from the sponsoring organization. A one-to-one cash match is generally required with a two-to-one match encouraged. The Council occasionally provides the required match from discretionary funds for sponsoring or presenting organizations demonstrating special need.

Organizations, schools, and individuals affiliated with non-profit organizations are encouraged to apply.

The Garrett County Arts Council was organized in 1976 to promote local arts including visual arts and sculpture, dance, and music. The organization was formally recognized as "the official arts agency for the county" by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners in 1993.

Grant details and application packets are available by writing the Arts Council at P.O. Box 930, McHenry, MD 21541 or by calling (301) 387-3121.

Child Seats To Be Distributed To Needy Families

A program to distribute more than 900 child safety seats, free of charge, to low-income families throughout Maryland was launched last week at Martin's State Airport. The program, which is part of a nationwide child safety seat distribution and educational effort, will be conducted in each of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City. The first phase of this effort is expected to be complete by the end of the year.

Maryland SAFE KIDS Coalition partners -- the Maryland State Highway Administration, the Maryland State Police, and the Safety Council of Maryland -- were awarded a total of 950 child safety seats as a result of an effective distribution plan which they developed with support and assistance from the Maryland Kids in Safety Seats (KISS) and the Maryland Child Passenger Safety Association. Statewide distribution site representatives, who were identified and trained by MD KISS, also participated in the event and received the seats which were allocated for their counties.

Distributing the seats locally is the Garrett County Health Department, under the direction of Diane Lee (telephone 334-8111, Ext. 350).

"At this time of year, when travel increases as people visit their families and friends, we are grateful that hundreds of additional Maryland children will be properly secured in child safety seats because of this program," said Barbara W. Beckett, coordinator of the Maryland SAFE KIDS Coalition. "We give thanks to each of our partners for their dedicated efforts to make safe travel a reality for all families throughout the state."

During the event at Martin's State Airport, several qualifying families received their child safety seats and were given a brief lesson, followed by a demonstration on how to properly install the seats in their vehicles. The 950 child safety seats were delivered and temporarily housed in the State Police facility at the airport because of the enormous amount of space which was required for accepting and securing this quantity of seats.

The Maryland SAFE KIDS Coalition is a statewide, umbrella organization whose members work as partners in order to reduce childhood disabilities and deaths because of unintentional injuries.

Thanks

We extend our thanks and appreciation to our friends and relatives for the acts of kindness and all the beautiful cards we received on our 65th wedding anniversary, November 12, 1995. We have seen many changes during our years together, but one thing has never changed -- the love of friends. Thank you for being there over the years, and also for remembering us now.

Oakland House Sustains Major Damage By Fire

An Oakland house sustained an estimated $250,000 in damages Monday afternoon when a fire erupted in the basement of the structure and apparently burned for some time before being discovered.

Fire fighters from Oakland, Deer Park, and Terra Alta were summoned to the Robert Hesson residence along Sam Snead Circle, Country Club Acres, at 1:15 p.m. after passers-by noticed smoke coming from the one-story ranch-style structure. Intense heat and dense smoke made locating the blaze difficult; however, fire fighters eventually traced the blaze to the finished basement ot the house.

The fire was confined to the basement and brought under control in about 40 minutes. While most of the actual fire damage was also confined to the basement, heat, smoke, and water damage was extreme throughout the entire house. Fire units and personnel remained on the scene for about three hours.

Investigating the cause of the fire was Deputy Fire Marshal Steve Wendling, who determined Tuesday that the fire originated in a couch in the basement, with the most probable cause being the "discarding smoking materials in the basement."

No one was home at the time of the fire, except two pet bull dogs and an iguana. The bull dogs, which were in the attached garage, were rescued by firemen, received oxygen from members of the Southern Rescue Squad, and are reportedly in good condition. The iguana did not survive.

Also responding to the incident was the county air cascade unit, presently being housed at the Bloomington VFD. Some 35 volunteers responded. There were no injuries reported.

W.Va. Supreme Court Of Appeals Will Hear Paul W. Ferrell Case

The West Virginai Supreme Court of Appeals has ordered a hearing in the case of a former Grant County (W.Va.) deputy sheriff convicted in 1989 of murder, kidnapping, and arson.

No date has been set for the hearing for Paul William Ferrell, 38, Gormania, W.Va., who appealed his conviction in the 1988 disappearance of Catherine D. Ford, Gorman, and the high court last week ordered the case back to the judge for clarification of his ruling denying a new trial.

Judge C. Reeves Taylor presided over the original trial during which substantial circumstantial evidence was presented by FBI agents and law enforcement officials from Maryland and West Virginia, indicating that Ferrell caused Ford's disappearance.

Ford was last seen driving away from her family's restaurant in Gorman on Feb. 17, 1988. She was reported missing to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office early that evening, and a search was launched in the area. It continued until her burned Bronco was found on March 10, 1988, not far from a mobile home rented by Ferrell.

Though Ford's body has never been recovered, Ferrell was convicted of second degree murder, kidnapping, and third degree arson as a result of her disappearance.

Defense attorneys Dan James, Keyser, W.Va., and Lonnie Simmons, Charleston, W.Va., appealed the conviction last year on the basis of new DNA blood evidence and alleged prosecutorial misconduct.

Judge Taylor conducted

MS Police Arrest Indiana Woman On Theft Charges

An Indiana woman was arrested Saturday afternoon and charged with theft after it was learned she was in possession of a pair of stolen Maryland registration plates.

According to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Helen L. Baird, 47, Crawfordsville, was also charged with operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle following the 2:50 p.m. incident.

The investigating officer, Tfc. G.S. Becker, was reportedly on patrol on Interstate 68 at the Old Frostburg Road, when he observed a disabled vehicle on the shoulder. He stopped to offer assistance, conducted a routine check through the Motor Vehicles Administration, and it was learned the plates had been reported stolen on Oct. 28 by Vincent J. Green, Oxon Hill.

Baird was initially held on $500 bond, but has since been released.

Friendsville Area Man Sentenced In Circuit Court

Among the cases heard last week in Garrett County Circuit Court was one involving a Friendsville area man who was sentenced to six years and 30 days in the Department of Corrections for DWI (driving while intoxicated), theft, and burglary. The convictions stemmed from three separate incidents.

Bradley Kent Lewis, 21, received the sentence from Judge Fred A. Thayer, who suspended all but 18 months of that sentence, with the balance to be served in the Garrett County Jail. The judge also placed Lewis on three years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration, and ordered him to undergo random drug/alcohol testing, and to attend and successfully complete a substance abuse program.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered by the judge on Aug. 10, after Lewis entered a plea of guilt to the above charges. According to circuit court records, the theft charge stemmed from a July 4, 1994, incident when he stole a cordless drill, jigsaw, and sander from a vehicle belonging to Forrest Hinton. The DWI charge was incurred by Lewis on March 15 after he was involved in a car wreck investigated by the Maryland State Police. The burglary charge stemmed from the July 1994 theft of a stereo from the Richard Lawrence summer residence at Deep Creek Lake.

During a hearing before Judge Thayer, Gary Michael Young, 39, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia, and possession of CDS with intent to manufacture and produce, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Young, and ordered bail to be continued, according to the report.

Young was arrested for the offenses on June 16, after the Garrett County Sheriff's Office received information that the defendant was growing marijuana on his property on the Ashby Cemetery Road. When deputies arrived at Young's residence, they reportedly found a cage containing 16 growing marijuana plants near the yard. During a sur-

County Agencies Provide Reports

Representatives of several county agencies came before the Garrett County board of Commissioners recently to provide updates on their November activities.

County Schools

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Jerome Ryscavage informed the commissioners that the county board of education has approved architectural drawings for the proposed southern area elementary school. These plans will now be sent to state officials for approval, and construction bids for the project may be solicited in early 1996.

Ryscavage added that the first item of business at the Dec. 12 school board meeting will be the local scores for the 1994-1995 school performance program. The public portion of this meeting will begin at 5 p.m.

Health Department

Garrett County Health Officer Rex Archer was accompanied to the county staff meeting by Fred Harath, a counselor with the local health department's addictions program.

Harath briefed the commissioners on the health department's intensive drug treatment program for prisoners in the county jail.

The eight-week program, which aims to reduce recidivism, is open to male and female prisoners who have

Rig Overturns, Blocks Traffic On Interstate 68

Both lanes of Interstate 68, near the 19 mile marker were blocked to traffic for a short time early Tuesday morning, after a tractor-trailer overturned and spilled its cargo onto the roadway.

According to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, Phillip C. Snyder Sr., Phillipsburg, N.J., was operating a 1993 Freightliner tractor with a flatbed trailer, and apparently swerved to miss hitting a deer that had entered the highway. The load shifted as the rig swerved, causing the vehicle to overturn across both lanes of the interstate.

Snyder was reportedly uninjured in the 12:40 a.m. mishap, police said, but he was charged in the incident.

LOSES CONTROL

A 16-year-old Morgantown, W.Va., youth was charged with failure to maintain control of his vehicle following a single-vehicle accident Saturday morning on the Mattingly Hill Road, near the intersection with Rt. 219.

State police said the juvenile was operating a 1995 Subaru stationwagon south on the Mattingly Hill Road, and he apparently aditted to traveling approximately 10-20 miles per hour over the 50 mph posted speed limit. He lost control of the vehicle on a curve, ran off the roadway, and struck an electric pole.

The teen was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, following the 8:14 a.m. accident, where he was treated for his injuries, police said.

TREATED, RELEASED

A Grantsville woman was treated and released at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, following a two-vehicle accident on I-68, near the Garrett-Allegany County line.

Police said Jennifer M. Arnold, 23, was injured when the 1994 Geo Metro she was operating west on I-68 collided with a 1995 Nissan pickup truck operated by Roy H. Guidry Jr., 28, Presque Isle, Maine.

According to the police report, Arnold approached a line of slower moving traffic and served to the left in an attempt to go around it. After the car traveled into the fast lane, the wheels on her vehicle apparently hit the median, causing the Metro to swerve back onto the road and skid sideways, where it was struck by Guidry's pickup.

Charges were filed against Arnold following the 5:35 p.m. accident, police said. Guidry was reportedly uninjured.

DWI MISHAP

A Grafton, W.Va., man was arrested and charged with DWI (driving while in-

Budget Cuts Possible For All County Agencies In '96

Following the Garrett County commissioners' return from a recent meeting of the Maryland Association of Counties (MACo), Commissioner John Braskey has predicted that no county agencies will be safe from the budget axe when proposed federal and state cutbacks take effect next year.

"I don't think any department or agency is going to be exempted from possible cuts," Braskey stated in an interview yesterday as he speculated about the upcoming fiscal year. "I think we have to look at all the departments, which would include the board of education and some of our other major departments."

Braskey stated that within county government he sees "a real budget crisis" on the horizon.

However, in an effort to boost the Maryland economy, state officials may move to cut personal state income tax, Braskey said.

"I guess the bottom line for the counties is that once again, as we've said over the past couple months, there is going to be a very tough budget year for us," Braskey remarked. "I personally believe that most departments and agencies funded by the county will

Police Seize Suspected "Pot" In Monday Bust

Following the search of a motel room and vehicle on Dec. 4 at Wisp resort, McHenry, personnel of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Garrett County Narcotics Task Force confiscated approximately 14 and one-quarter pounds of suspected marijuana and arrested two Baltimore residents, a sheriff's press release indicated.

Robert L. Brownings Jr., 30, was charged with possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Christine L. Vicerski, 21, was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Brownings was released the same day on $50,000 bond, and Vicerski was released on her own recognizance.

The sheriff's office and drug task force took action after a security guard reported that persons were allegedly smoking marijuana at the resort.

CIVIC CLUB DONATES TO SHELTER PROJECT - The GFWC Civic Club Of Oakland, Inc., recently donated $1,650 towards the purchase of a building in Garrett County to serve as a shelter for victims of domestic violence and their children. Phyllis Trickett, chair of the Garrett County Commission for Women, pictured center, accepted the donation this week from civic club Co-presidents Helen Earlee, right, and Dorothy Leighton. In an effort to drum up more support for the shelter project, club members Martha Jechowski and Bobby Andersen plan to contact the 52 local organizations that assisted with the Year of the Garrett County Woman project in 1993. Organizations and individuals interested in assisting the civic club in the shelter effort may call Jechowski at 387-6659 or Andersen at 334-4459.

Tree Falls, Hits Vehicle

An Oakland man's vehicle was damaged recently when a tree fell across Rt. 135, Sheriff's office records indicate.

According to the police report, Oakland resident Gordon N. House, 25, was traveling west along Rt. 135 in a 1988 GMC when a tree fell from the bank on the east-bound side of the roadway and struck House's vehicle causing damage to the windshield, grill, hood, and driver's side window.

Mailbox Damage

In an unrelated incident, sheriff's records indicate that four mailboxes were damaged between Dec. 2 and 4.

Two of the damaged boxes were located along White Church/Steyer Road and two were on Wilson Corona Road.

Sludge Slurry Spill Meeting Tonight At SMS

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) will conduct a public meeting tonight, Dec. 7, to address citizens' concerns regarding the Sept. 18 coal sludge slurry spill at Mettiki Coal Corporation, Oakland.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Southern Middle School cafeteria.

The event will be attended by state officials and Mettiki representatives.

GCSO Executes Arrest Warrants

Garrett County Sheriff's Office (GCSO) personnel recently carried out several arrest and bench warrants for local persons charged with a variety of violations.

Oakland resident Nathan T. Bendler, 21, was arrested on Nov. 27 on three counts of alleged theft. Bendler is charged with taking a stereo from a parked car at the Rt. 135 Amoco station, a felony, and taking gasoline and food from the station, a misdemeanor. The incidents allegedly occurred on July 22.

Deputies also executed an arrest warrant for Mtn. Lake Park resident Dennis M. Warnick, 22, on Nov. 29. According to sheriff's office records, Warnick is charged with one count of felony theft and two counts of misdemeanor theft.

An arrest warrant for Darl M. Friend, 21, Oakland, was carried out by GCSO personnel on Nov. 30. Friend is charged with harassment.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Dewayne E. Ashby, 42, Oakland, on Dec. 3, on a bench warrant for allegedly failing to pay a deferred payment.

A bench warrant for Angela S. Friend, 23, McHenry, was served on Nov. 29. She is charged with failure to appear. David L. Rounds, 44, Md. Highway, was arrested on Nov. 30 on the strength of a bench warrant. Rounds is also charged with failure to appear.

W.Va. Teen Convicted On Theft Charge

A West Virginia teenager was sentenced in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings, after being found guilty of one count of felony theft. That sentence was pronounced by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

Lamont A. Laprade, 19, Scarbro, was initially sentenced to serve one year in jail, but all of the sentence was suspended except for time served as of Dec. 1. Laprade served a total of 46 days in jail following his arrest on Oct. 17 by Maryland State Police.

According to district court records, Laprade was arrested for the offense after he wrecked the 1996 Ford Mustang he had stolen from a car dealership in Oak Hill, W.Va. After the accident, which occurred on the Hoyes Run Road, the defendant apparently fled the scene on foot, but was later apprehended in that vicinity.

In other district court news, Gordon L. Noble, 28, Kitzmiller, was ordered to serve 30 days in the Garrett County Jail after being convicted on nine worthless check charges. Initially sentenced to 90 days in jail, all of Noble's sentence was suspended except for the 30-day term. He was also fined $500, and placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration. Conditions of his probation state he must also complete 40 hours of community service, and must not be found near Arrowhead, Cellular One, Short Stop, Southern Auto, Steve's Auto Repair, Treasure Island, IGA, Battery Warehouse, or Slopeside Market. Seven additional worthless check charges were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

The charges against Noble were filed after he wrote numerous worthless checks within Garrett County, over a several month period.

Two out-of-state men pleaded guilty in last week's district court proceedings to one count each of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). Randy L. Mitlo, 36, North Huntington, Pa., and Francis R. Browne Jr., Buena Vista, Pa., were sentenced to 30 days in jail, with all of the sentence suspended except for 48 hours. Each was also fined $300, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia were not prosecuted against the pair.

The charges were filed on July 16, after rangers on patrol at Swallow Falls State Park came upon the defendants' campsite, and observed them smoking marijuana around the campfire. Confiscated at the scene was a 16-inch tall smoking device, and a small quantity of marijuana.

Two co-defendants in the case, Stacey R. Powell, 24, Buena Vista, and Ruth Anne Ferrand, 35, Irwin, Pa., were not prosecuted on one count each of CDS possession, and possession of CDS paraphernalia, because of the pleas entered by Mitlo and Browne.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Sandra L. Moreland, 33, Oakland, who failed to appear in court to face 14 worthless check charges.

Harry L. White, 76, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count each of malicious destruction of property, and trespassing. The charges were filed on July 29 by Robert A. Tasker, Oakland, who claimed White felled several trees on his property.

Kenneth D. Landis, 19, Frostburg, pleaded guilty to one count of possession of CDS paraphernalia. He was fined $150, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of CDS possession was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

The charges against Landis were filed on May 7, after a Maryland State Police officer stopped him for speeding on Interstate 68. Landis was initially arrested for DWI (driving while intoxicated), and a subsequent search revealed a smoking pipe with marijuana residue, found in his pocket.

Two counts each of telephone abuse, and harassment filed against James D. Oliver, 46, Mtn. Lake Park, were placed on the stet docket at the request of the victim. The charges were filed on May 23 by Maryland State Police, after Oliver reportedly made repeated calls to Barbara Dalton and Melanie C. Snyder.

Danny T. Gaither, 28, Swanton, paid a $120 fine after being found guilty of one count of possession of a loaded weapon in a motor vehicle. He was cited for the offense on Oct. 25 by Natural Resources Police Officer J. Milbourne.

Garden Tractor Mishap Results In DWI Arrest

Oakland resident James E. Maule, 56, was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving on a revoked license on the evening of Dec. 2 after the garden tractor he was operating along the berm of Route 39 at Crellin collided with a truck, Garrett County Sheriff's Office documents indicate.

The tractor apparently traveled into the path of a 1986 Ford pickup truck driven by Donald Kisner, Oakland, as Kisner attempted to make a wide turn from a garage to proceed east, a sheriff's report stated. The tractor was struck by the pickup and Maule was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and released, the report indicates.

Following the collision, Maule was charged and incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail. He was released on his own recognizance Dec. 3.

Sheriff's records indicate that there was no street lighting where the mishap occurred and that the tractor was operating with no lights. Maule was wearing dark clothing, which also reportedly contributed to the accident.

McHenry Man Charged With Game Violations

A McHenry man accused of luring wild animals to his home and illegally killing them faces more than $5,000 in fines and a mandated court appearance.

Kurt Hermann Meyr, 36, Hoyes Run Road, was formally charged Sunday with numerous game violations involving the illegal hunting of turkeys, deer, and bears. He allegedly lured animals to his home with feed corn, shot them, and burned the carcasses.

According to written reports, Meyr can avoid trial by paying fines for all but one of the violations. He must appear in Garrett County District Court to face a charge of illegally hunting black bear. His court appearance is scheduled for March 20, 1996.

Meyr faces $5,480 fines for 14 other violations, including four counts of deer possession in closed season, which carry $520 fines for each count; two counts of exceeding the bag limit for wild turkeys, $350 fines for each count; and four counts of turkey possession in closed season, $520 for each count.

Additional charges are pending against others involved in the case.

GCC Network Offers Internet Browsing Service

An opportunity to travel the world without leaving home now awaits Garrett Countians with the new World-Wide Web (Internet) graphical browsing service being offered to subscribers of the Garrett Community Network (GCNET) as part of the basic services.

GCNET users can now "surf the net" world wide, enabling them to take a tour of the White House, travel to an exotic island or arrange their next vacation, check the weather at 8,000 sites around the country, do research in thousands of libraries throughout the world, all without leaving the comfort of their homes or places of business. By simply pointing and clicking on their computers, subscribers can receive wide-ranging information and services.

"This opens up a whole new and exciting world of access to residential and business account users without any additional cost for these services," stated Steve Herman, chairperson of the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC). This value added service available for the same basic subscription rates is another step taken by GRIC to fulfill its mission for providing affordable access to information and telecommunication services for all segments of the community, Herman added. Additional enhancements to basic services are planned for the future.

Individuals or organizations interested in obtaining additional information on or subscribing to the Garrett Community Network should call the GCNET Help Desk at 301-387-3048.

toxicated) and negligent driving, following a weekend mishap.

State police said William A. Moran, 22, fell asleep at the wheel as he drove along eastbound I-68. His vehicle traveled onto the shoulder of the road, where it struck the rear of a parked tractor-trailer.

The rig's operator, Elwood H. Blackwell, 38, Baltimore, was reportedly uninjured in the accident. Moran was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was reportedly treated and released.

DWI ARRESTS

Three additional DWI arrests were logged at the local state police barrack during the past week. The police were unable to provide the addresses for any of the arrests.

Kenneth Moskey, 49, was arrested and charged with DWI by Tfc. G.A. Seaman on Nov. 30.

Cecil J. Raley, 74, was charged with DWI by Tfc. T.D. Sivic on Nov. 30.

Charles F. Stinson, 40, was arrested for DWI by Tfc. J.T. Bentlejewski on Dec. 2.

Cuts Possible

have to work on probably the same level as last year or perhaps even look at less money than they received last year.

"At the state level, Governor Glendening talked about the cutting back of a lot of his departments, and there was also talk about the elimination of entire programs within some of the departments," Braskey commented. "Although they weren't specific in naming those programs, he did say that all departments were being looked at as to be either cut back, or as I said, [undergoing the] elimination of programs. The only two that probably will receive an increase would be in the higher education field and also public education."

Tax Cut Discussed

Despite these impending government cuts, state officials hope to implement a personal state income tax break next year.

"The governor also said, as did some of the other speakers, that they would be pushing for a personal state income tax reduction this year of about five percent, which would affect, of course, the money that the state receives, but they feel that a five percent tax break is needed to stimulate economic development," Braskey said.

Maryland House Speaker Cas Taylor also predicted that such a tax cut is on the way, Braskey said.

HOUSE GUTTED BY BLAZE - A house located in Country Club Acres was virtually destroyed by a slow-burning fire Monday, as the loss has been estimated to be approximately one quarter of a million dollars. Thirty-five volunteer fire fighters from Oakland, Deer Park, and Terra Alta responded to the 1:15 incident after passers-by saw smoke coming from the one-story, ranch-style house. No members of the Robert Hesson family were at home at the time. The fire originated in a couch in the basement most likely from a cigarette, according to fire investigators. There were no injuries reported. See story.

Brown Boondoggle?...

While many football fans, some business people, and other citizens in general have expressed great pleasure at the fact that Baltimore will once again be the home of a professional NFL team, there are others who have equally strong negative feelings about the arrival of the former Cleveland Browns.

Among those in the political ranks who is adamantly opposed to the deal is, as expected, Ellen Sauerbrey, who was narrowly defeated by Governor Glendening in last year's governor's race. We believe Ms. Sauerbrey makes many good points in substantiating her argument.

Maryland taxpayers will pay over $200 million to build a new stadium, and millions more will go to Browns owner Art Modell to move the team. The Baltimore Orioles pay $6 million per year in rent at Camden Yards, Modell will pay nothing in rent. Season tickets for the Browns will cost over $3,000, prohibitive for the average family, meaning that most of the season tickets will go to businesses and lobbyists, who can write it off as a business expense; another loss of tax revenue that will have to be covered by, guess who, us. Besides not having to pay rent on the new stadium, the agreement says Modell will receive all revenues generated from any other event held there, such as concerts and the like.

The 1,400 new jobs that Governor Glendening says will be generated are generated at a cost of about $140,000 each, based on just the $200 million stadium construction cost, and most of them will be part-time jobs.

The governor says a lot of people will come into the area for games, stay at local motels, and eat at local diners, but in fact the great majority of ticket holders are local and simply drive in for the games and then drive home.

Studies have shown that professional sports teams generally have no significant impact on a metropolitan economy, according to Professor Robert Baade of Lake Forest College.

We certainly do not see any gain in terms of economic development in Western Maryland because of the arrival of the Browns in Baltimore. On the contrary, we see more of our tax money being used to subsidize the deal.

Finally, the Browns lost a total of $21 million over the past two years. With the Baltimore deal, they will make an annual profit of $30 million, again "courtesy of the taxpayers of Maryland," Sauerbrey said.

She concluded her op-ed piece with: "Maryland's overburdened taxpayers are getting a team, bought and paid for by the most ridiculously generous taxpayer-financed stadium deal offered by any state, ever."

Yay, team.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

For a number of years, a darkening cloud has loomed ominously over the office of the Garrett County Commissioners. The continued presence of this cloud has only served to heighten and intensify the anger and apathy that citizens feel compelled to direct towards elected officials and bureaucrats alike. I am referring of course to the ongoing situation involving the county administrator and the recent incident involving the lease/purchase of county roads equipment.

It was hoped that the new Board of Commissioners would be more understanding of the publics desire to have this matter put firmly to rest once and for all. Instead, all we got was the extravagant squandering of many thousands of taxpayers dollars in an effort to fumigate an odious situation. This was not money well spent. The odor remains. The public deserves an at length explanation of these events both past and present. I would challenge both the Commissioners and any other parties involved to face the public in a special forum dedicated solely to the answering of questions and providing insight into how this situation involving the Hinebaugh lawsuit, the lease/purchase incident and the reassignment of the County Administrator has reached the point it is now at.

Respectfully,
Douglas R. Railey
Oakland

To the Editor:

I think it is about time someone blows the whistle on some of the fuel haulers supplying wood and coal to their customers, particularly those of Community Action. Not only is the state being ripped off but the recipients are being shorted of needed fuel, as well.

When the state is charged $125 for a ton of coal delivered, it is being overcharged. One can purchase 3 tons of coal at that price if he hauls it himself. At this rate, the recipient is being charged twice the cost of a ton of coal for the delivery alone. This is gross overcharge against Community Action and a shorting of the customer. Nor is the recipient always being apprised of the amount of coal he has received on his delivery ticket.

A ton of coal contains 25 bushels, by measure, at 80 lbs. per bushel. Anything less than this is shortage. Anytime it costs more than the cost of a ton for delivery, the recipient is being ripped off.

Likewise, a cord of wood contains 128 cubic feet, no more, no less. This is equal to a rick of wood 4 ft. high, 8 ft. long, and 4 ft. wide. If the wood is 24" long a cord is 4 ft. high, 16 ft. long and 2 ft. wide. If the wood is 16" long, a cord is 4 ft. high and 24 ft. long. A cord means ricked wood, not loosely thrown into a truck and estimated.

Unfortunately, we have unscrupulous wood and coal suppliers who prey upon the ignorance of their customers. For some reason, this seems to be particularly true of some of the suppliers in the Deep Creek area. We cannot, as citizens, condone this dishonesty.

Sincerely
Wayne Wolfe

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Betty Swart's letter about bears.

I don't think the solution of low-voltage fencing would work very well. It seems to me that the only way the fence might affect a bear is if his nose touches it.

The "so-called" culprits -- tree growers, farmers, and beekeepers -- are trying to make a living. In case you didn't know it, milk and meat do not grow in the grocery store.

I would much rather have my tax money go to help someone trying to make a living than to deadbeats who are too lazy to work.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

To be able to pay the property tax in two installments proves three things: 1) Property assessments are too high; 2) Wages are too low; 3) Tourist industry is not what it is cracked up to be.

Mrs. Glover should be worried about county projects not being funded. I witnessed first hand the new technology in roadway paving this summer and would be saddened to see the loss of this latest achievement. The Fingerboard Road had a dump truck drop the asphalt, then smoothed out by a road grader and then rolled. The county evidently did not have the monies to paint travel lanes to assist the driver during periods of dense fog. Travelers have to carry a tow rope or chain to be freed from the anti-tank entrenchments (drainage ditch) because of uneven road edges.

Maybe retirees can pay their property taxes quarterly sometime in the future.

Are your U.S. Congressman and two senators owned body and soul by the bankers or do they have a plank in their platform that would take the power to coin and regulate money out of the hands of the Federal Reserve and place it back in the hands of congress as demanded by the Constitution? This is the only remedy that will extricate our beloved country from the abyss and it should be the first item on the agenda of every voter.

To the Editor:

As we do our local shopping and general taking care of business, please remember not to park in handicapped-designated spaces. Even if such spaces are not clearly marked or they become snow-covered, keep in mind that they are usually the widest, closest, or otherwise most accessible parking places available.

It is tempting to rationalize that we don't plan to park in a handicapped space very long, but to someone who is ill or handicapped it could cause undo anxiety. Do they wait until the non-handicapped party leaves or do they forsake the designated parking and choose a spot farther away?

Store and business owners/managers could also do a better job of marking handicapped-accessible spaces. In addition to repainting the pavement more often with the logo, it would help tremendously if perpendicular signs were erected that would directly face drivers when they pull into those particular spaces. That way, no one could plead ignorance.

It is, of course, illegal to park in handicapped spaces without a special license plate or permit that hangs from the rear view mirror.

Please, let's all be more considerate of those who really need to park in these specially marked spaces. Who knows, it could be our turn some day.

Happy and Safe Holidays,

To the Editor:

After reading letters to the Editor in the 30 November Republican, I observed a trend towards wordiness, hyperbole (exaggeration), and obfuscation (murkiness). Examples:

1. Wordiness 5 of 6 letters of opinion, not counting the letter of gratitude, each occupied 10" of column of more. Surely on be should be able to opine in 250 words. That is a 7½" column @ 3" = 100 words.

2. Hyperbole -- Hohl claims "the New World Economic Order is virtually a fait accompli." Really? Is that the Republican or Democrat Budget Plan? Welch states "I am personally acquainted with government workers whose salaries exceed $50,000-60,000 a year for work which the private sector routinely pays $22,000-30,000 a year." Hmmm? The discerning reader would like to know exactly what those government workers did in comparison to exactly what those private sector workers did.

3. Obfuscation -- Hohl writes about "New World Order, New World Economic Order and New World Political Order." Wow! Does "New World" include Russia, the Middle East and China? McClure, chair of a yet-to-be-identified coalition, applauds Congressman Bartlett. What coalition ask I? Rowan cites dates of 1787 and 1801 discussing "Strict Construction." Interesting, but one could ask if the 1801 court ruling was the last ruling on the subject. It is A.D. 1995.

The point I make is that I discussed three subjects in about 250 words. Surely, writers are able to clearly and succinctly state their position on one subject in 250 words. What think ye?

To the Editor:

It is disheartening and difficult to understand what taciturn process is taking place at the Commissioners' office. But one thing is clear: real damage is being done only for the purpose of benefit to Mr. Fousek.

As we all know, the prior board of commissioners (Mr. Braskey being the only holdover) bought $1.5 million in roads equipment without following the bid law. Mr. Fousek, who was both Clerk and head of county roads, handled the transaction. It was bungled. He gave various conflicting versions of the legal authority he relied on, none of which was correct. No proper procedure was used. There was certainly inadequate documentation. For example, the equipment delivery started before contracts were signed. Fousek negotiated with the company selected to supply the equipment before the contract was awarded. There was never an official contract award. The county's trade-in were delivered before the contracts were signed. And the proposals submitted to the county were not followed in that the lease part of the agreement was given to another company without further bidding.

When John Hinebaugh tried to get information about this he wound up going to court to get it. He then filed another suit attacking the illegality of the equipment deal.

He offered to settle this suit if someone would take responsibility. He would have been satisfied with a mild letter of reprimand to Fousek. The commissioners refused with John Braskey and Wayne Wilt leading the way. What, criticize Mr. Fousek? Perish the thought.

On the eve of the repossession of the equipment by the finance company, which would have cost the county hundreds of thousands of dollars, the commissioners came up with a plan. Fousek would retire.

Here is what they did:

Firstly, they had gone to the retirement board and gotten the Clerk's position reclassified so that Mr. Fousek could get an early retirement. Retirement for Clerk to the County Commissioners had always required 20 years of service. The commissioners convinced the retirement board, with some effort, that Mr. Fousek, and all future clerks, should be allowed to retire after only 16 years. This, apparently was done on the basis that Fousek had many official duties different from regular classified service.

So on October 1, he retired. The Hinebaugh suit was settled. He began receiving retirement benefits. But did he actually retire? As we shall see, he basically kept his same position.

Next, the commissioners hired Monty Pagenhardt as the new Clerk. Under the terms of the court order settling the Hinebaugh suit they were required to appoint a new Clerk. But they stripped him of many of the traditional duties of the job, thus altering for the worse the entire management scheme the county has worked under for a century. Most of the Clerk's duties, except for personnel functions and legislative liaison, were given back to Fousek. It is not clear to me whether Mr. Pagenhardt agreed to this ahead of time or whether it was dropped on him after he was hired.

They then gave Mr. Fousek a salary of $55,000 per year and Mr. Pagenhardt reportedly gets $40,000.

Now the position of Clerk to the Commissioners is not just another job. It is an official position required under Section 20-7 of the County Charter, which provides in part that "The clerk shall be in charge of the office of the County Commissioners, shall perform the duties pertaining to his office and such other duties as may be prescribed by the County Commissioners or imposed by law.." Because the clerk has always been the budget and finance officer, he is required by the charter to be bonded and to take an oath of office. But Mr. Fousek is apparently now the budget and finance officer.

Thus after getting the Clerk's position reclassified by showing that it was a Charter position and included many official duties, to give Fousek an early retirement, the commissioners then stripped the job of most of those officials duties. Of course, the county had earlier created a position of personnel director. Mr. Fousek also occupied that position.

Next, they advertised for a new boss of the county roads department. This was a campaign promise of at least one of the commissioners, Wayne Wilt. A panel reviewed the applications and recommended three names to the commissioners. Fousek was not among them. Without further ado, they then appointed Mr. Fousek to this job, which he has held since Paul Shockey left. Why was the job advertised? Who were the finalists? Was Mr. Fousek the best qualified person under the criteria advertised? Was he qualified at all?

So now we have a new Clerk in a truncated position. Mr. Fousek is retired and receives a retirement benefit. But he still holds basically the same position he had before he retired. He is head of county roads and controls most of the important duties of the former Clerk's position as well, receiving $55,000 per year in his new job.

It's nice to be loved.

Meanwhile, a new case from the Court of Appeals MD. RETIREMENT VS. HUGHES, 340 Md 597, has held that former Governor Harry Hughes could not receive his state pension while governor under state law. The law was designed to prevent double dipping. In my opinion this case applies to Mr. Fousek as well and I have requested Gorman E. Getty III, county attorney, to give me an informal opinion regarding this matter. I have also contacted the retirement board.

It is incomprehensible to me that this could happen here in Garrett County.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Watson

To the Editor:

In a symbolic nationwide observance to focus attention on the impaired driving issue, the Garrett County Health Department is joining law enforcement, businesses, government agencies, and private citizens throughout the country in keeping their vehicle headlights on as they drive during the day next Friday, December 15.

The observance is dubbed "Lights On For Life" in remembrance of persons killed and injured in alcohol-related crashes and serves as a reminder of law enforcement's watchful eye on impaired drivers. The event is part of National Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month activities continuing throughout December.

Locally the Garrett County Transportation and Traffic Advisory Committee members have agreed that this time of the year is a particularly dangerous one for motorists in the county. As a result, local law enforcement agencies, have joined forces to intercept impaired drivers before they can cause problems. With the help of funding through the Highway Safety Program from the Garrett County Health Department, the Maryland State Police, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the Department of Natural Resources, the Natural Resources Police, and the Oakland City Police have increased road patrols to stop impaired drivers.

This special enforcement activity covers the high traffic times of Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's, as well as deer hunting season. The local law enforcement officers are putting in many hours of overtime to help ensure that the highways are safe for everyone.

This observance is important because with all the parties and celebrations during the holidays, impaired drivers are an increased problem. I encourage everyone to join us, take a stand against impaired driving and show your support for local law enforcement's efforts by turning on your "Lights for Life" on Friday, December 15.

Sincerely,
Diane Lee
Director of Highway Safety
Garrett County Health Department

To the Editor:

Recent events in the county have presented a peculiar irony concerning your editorials of late. There have been more than a few stories, and editorials, in your paper concerning some of the Board of Education members, Mr. Riley in particular, and their stance on certain issues. As well as challenging their authority to look into, and ask questions, regarding school activities.

Since these were "hot issues" to some people and germane to all parents with school age children, it deserved the light cast upon it. My consternation isn't that you covered the stories and put the Board under the microscope of public scrutiny. Nor is it the fact that one Board member, that I've mentioned above, chose to make a stand on the issues and did not waffle under the heat of criticism on what he believes is in the best interest of his children, mine, and the county. (I hasten to add that it is the same platform and issues that he campaigned on, and which I supported in most part, in the last election.) Or the fact that the new board members were not just going to rubber stamp the administration's dictates and say "well that's good enough for me" but rather, "is it good enough for our children?"

The irony is simply this: Why has there not been any scathing editorials, save one, in regards to the recent and past activities of the County Commissioners concerning the County

A State Of Grace

Having seen my son onto the school bus, I headed for the garage that does the maintenance and repair work on our vehicles. The day before they had changed the oil, and tuned up my wife's car. Now it was my pick-up's turn.

Because the front tires on my Ford F-250 had begun looking a little bare, on the way to the garage I stopped where I buy tires. I had talked to the tire-man two months ago, and asked him to look out for something. He sometimes can find me something almost as good as new that does not have the price-tag of new. He hadn't called back, and we have already had as much snow as we had all last winter. The time had come to do something.

The tire-man came outside, agreed I needed something better on the front than what I had, said the rear mud-and-snow tires looked too good to move up. "I'll take care of it," he said.

"What are you going to put on it?" I asked -- with a curiosity which was not too unnatural, I think. He smiled. "I don't know, but I will before this afternoon." He has taken care of me for years. I drove to the nearby garage confident that sometime that afternoon I would have the tires I needed.

The garageman reminded me to leave the keys. The last time I had been there I had carried them along. He had to send out a mechanic to find me and my keys. "Your finger just doesn't work in the ignition the way it used too, does it?" I jibed. We both chuckled. "By the way," I asked, "could you run my truck over to the tire place when you're finished?" "Sure thing," came the reply.

Then I had to figure out how to get home. "Could I use the phone?" He handed me the receiver, "Dial away," he instructed. I listened, and there was no dial tone. "Do you have to hit a button?" I asked. "No, just go ahead and dial," he said. I had reached one of those moments when stupidity overcame me. "Don't you have to have dial tone?" I asked him in all earnestness. "Yeah," he said, "Isn't there a dial tone?" He took the phone, discovered there wasn't, played with it, went to the other phone, found it dead, and said to me. "I guess you can't use the phone."

We joked for a minute with his two mechanics, and I left. I went across the street to the farm supply store to get a tick and flea collar for one of our dogs (Mabes) who must think there's money in ticks by the number she has brought home lately. "Where's the nearest pay phone," I asked. They told me, and it wasn't next door. "Is it a local call?" one young man asked. I admitted it was. There was a veritable chorus of people offering me the company phone (all in the presence of the owner).

So I called my mother who graciously agreed to come get me. I knew I had most of a half hour before she could arrive, so I wandered over to the local trash company to get some new bags (we use the fee-per-bag service). I had forgotten my checkbook. That was all right. They gave me the roll of bags, and told me to send them a check. The owner came out from the back, and we jawed awhile. I headed the street, and saw mom coming toward me. The timing was perfect.

When I got home I felt myself to be in a state of grace. I had done very different kinds of business at four different places. Characteristic of each transaction were friendliness and mutual trust. There was a swift trade underway at all four businesses, and yet nobody was to busy to share a joke or news about family.

There is nothing very exciting about any of this, but in 1995 the age of anonymity in the superstore, doing business that way is news. "Customer Trusts Businessman," "Mechanic and Pick-up Owner Share Joke" won't ever make the front page, buy maybe they should.

Ferrell Case

hearings in Petersburg, W.Va., in December 1994, taking testimony on the new blood evidence and about the alleged misconduct.

Several witnesses testified to being coerced to testify against Ferrell in the original trial. One witness, Kimberly Nelson, recanted her original testimony, saying she was told what to say by then Garrett County Assistant State's Attorney James Sherbin and then Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans.

Sherbin, who assisted Grant Count Prosecutor Dennis DiBenedetto in the original trial, and Evans both testified in the hearings last year. DiBenedetto also testified, and each denied coercing witnesses.

Sherbin and Evans testified that Nelson's testimony came to them in May 1987 when they stopped by her residence, located near Ferrell's mobile home, after attending a trial strategy meeting with DiBenedetto. Both said they were shocked when Nelson said she had heard screaming and what sounded like shots fired at the trailer next door the day Ford disappeared.

Nelson, however, said the officials suggested what she should say and wrote it down for her to sign. Evans and Sherbin reportedly told Nelson she would not have to testify at the trial if she signed the statement. When she found out later that she would have to testify, Nelson said the men told her she would be arrested if she didn't testify to what was in the statement.

In August of this year, the judge ruled against a new trial, indicating the new blood evidence was insufficient, and a there was a lack of prosecutorial misconduct.

It is on the prosecutorial misconduct issue that the Supreme Court of Appeals is asking Taylor for more specific findings concerning Ferrell's claims "involving conflicting evidence regarding the manipulation of witnesses and the use of perjured testimony," according to the order issued by the court on Nov. 28.

MAN HOSPITALIZED AFTER DWI MISHAP

An Oakland man was listed in "stable" condition this morning at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, following a single-vehicle accident Wednesday evening on Rt. 42, near the Kisner Road.

State police said David Roy Sisler, 23, was traveling south on Rt. 42 when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel, causing his 1993 Ford Festiva to travel off the road and strike a tree.

Sisler was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, following the 7:45 p.m. accident, where he was admitted for his injuries. He was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) after a blood test was administered at the hospital, according to a state police spokesperson.

Local Income Tax Distributions Are Up 4.5%

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says his office has distributed $579.3 million in local income tax revenue to the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City since fiscal year 1996 began July 1, 1995. In a letter to Maryland Association of Counties executive director David Bliden, the comptroller noted that current fiscal year distributions are running 4.5% ahead of the amount returned to the local governments last year at this time.

"On a tax year basis, we have distributed nearly $1.1 billion to the 23 counties and Baltimore City for tax year 1995 to date," Goldstein said. "That is 4.8% more than we had distributed for tax year 1994 through this date."

Goldstein said that, in an effort to help local officials understand the impact of the economy and other changes on the income tax distributions, a working group in the Comptroller's Office provides regular information to finance officers.

"Beyond that effort, however, we have actively searched for ways to change the timing of payments to provide some distributions more quickly than ever before. In fact, between February and October 1995, the local governments received $64 million in accelerated revenue, some of it 11 months earlier than in prior years," the comptroller said.

Here's how to utilize the nutrients that potatoes lose when you boil them: save some of the cooking water, mix it with dry milk, and mash it into the potatoes!

America's favorite ice cream toppings are hot fudge, chocolate fudge caramel, butterscotch and strawberry, in that order. Two tablespoons—just right on a sundae—add about 140 calories.

WM Symphony Soloist Named Artist Of Year

Amy Van Roekel, who will appear Dec. 16 with the Western Maryland Symphony, has been named "Artist of the Year" for 1995-96 by the Opera Theater of Northern Virginia.

The company is under the direction of John Edward Niles and is touted by Opera News as one of the rising companies in the United States. The company is noted for mounting operas of merit that rarely gain a hearing at the larger (and more expensive) opera houses in the musical world.

Van Roekel will perform the title roles of The Secrets of Susanna by Ermanno Wolf-Ferrari and Madeline by Victor Herbert. The two operas are being presented in March by the Opera Theater.

Van Roekel is well known to Western Maryland music lovers for her singing in The Messiah, presented by the Western Maryland Symphony last December. On Dec. 16 Van Roekel will sing the soprano role in the Gloria by Antonio Vivaldi. The mezzo-soprano role will be sung by Molly Fillmore of the Washington Opera Company. The Cumberland Choral Society will also sing with the WMS.

Van Roekel has been the featured soloist with the Fairfax Symphony, Annapolis Opera, Columbia Pro Cantare, the Alexandria Chorale, the New Dominion Chorale of Fairfax, the Arts Club of Washington, the Friday Morning Music Club, and the Bach Society of Baltimore. She was also with the Central City Opera in Colorado the summer of 1994.

In 1993, she was finalist in the Mid-Atlantic Regional Metropolitan Opera National Council Competition. Van Roekel holds a master of music degree from the University of Maryland and a BMA from the University of Michigan.

The Western Maryland Symphony's Christmas concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Fort Hill High School in Cumberland. Tickets are on sale in Frostburg at Main Street Books and the Lane Center of Frostburg State University, at Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville, Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake, the Book Mark'et in Oakland, and Main Street Books in Keyser, W.Va. For more information, persons may call 301-724-1WMS.

GCC Happy Tots Committee Asks For Donations

The Garrett Community College Happy Tots Committee is seeking donations of toys and money to benefit needy families during the holiday season.

Persons interested in donating to the program are asked to purchase a new gift worth at least $5 for a child between the ages of infant and 16-years-old. The gift, or a monetary donation, may be dropped off at the GCC business office, library, or continuing education department until Dec. 15.

Items collected by the Happy Tots Committee will be divided between two local philanthropic programs, the Toys for Happiness Campaign and the Oakland Rotary Toy Campaign, which will deliver the toys to local families in need. Families may receive assistance from either the Toys for Happiness Campaign or the Rotary Toy Campaign.

Persons interested in applying for assistance through the Toys for Happiness program may pick up applications at the locations listed above. These applications must be submitted by Dec. 13.

"We have been very fortunate with the amount of support we have received in the past," commented Ann Wellham, committee coordinator. "Many children have benefited from the efforts of both these campaigns.

"The number of families in need is increasing. We are hoping that community support will also increase," she added.

Happy Tots Committee members include Linda Fike, Linda Tomblin, Beth Doerr, Jean Tressler, and Rosanne Susi.

THE PATRIOTIC PETS CLUB has once again taken on the mission of filling in for "Santa's elves" as they help "Santa" Lou Stouffer collect toys for needy children in Garrett and Preston (W.Va.) counties. Also participating in this project, by donating fuel for Santa's "sleigh," are Accident Amoco, Arrowhead Deli, Slopeside Citgo, and Lakeview Exxon. Above, shown left to right, club members Rachael Gosnell, Stephenie Gosnell, and Wesley Spiker accept a $100 donation from Rick Hartman, on behalf of those businesses. A toy collection box has been placed at Accident Elementary School, and parents are encouraged to donate any new or used toys, books, clothing, etc., at this site. The toys will be collected until Dec. 22. Below, Accident Elementary's principal, Sandra Nesline, standing left, is pictured with Stephenie, Rachael, and Wesley as they put the collection box in place at the school. The Patriotic Pets Club is an authorized community service organization, and for more information about how to assist in this project, persons may call Rachael or Stephenie Gosnell at 746-8623, or Stouffer at (304) 789-6743. Meet Garrett County's NEW TEACHERS

Despite federal budget cuts, a new case manager has been hired to serve in the career employability program at Northern High School.

Mike Friend will replace Beverly Sincell in this position. She will now be working as the case manager in local elementary schools which are piloting a new discipline program.

Friend, a graduate of Southern High School, Garrett Community College, and Frostburg State University, holds an undergraduate degree in psychology and a master's degree in counseling psychology.

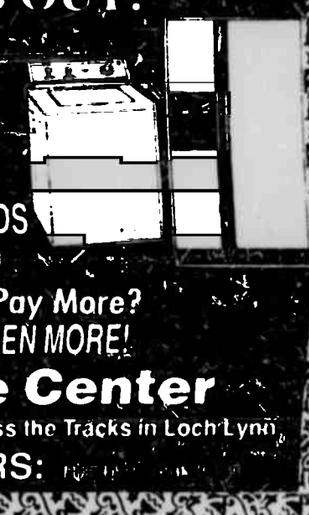
For over 10 years Friend was associated with Youth for Christ International, an organization in which he served in several roles in the tri-state area. For the past five years he has been pastor of the Ferndale Baptist Church.

Friend has worked as a substitute teacher in Garrett County as well as in Preston and Grant counties, W.Va, and is active as a coach in several sports at Garrett Community College. He has also served at GCC as an instructor and as Director of Student Services.

Friend has also worked as a basketball coach, teacher, and counselor at Bishop Walsh High School, Cumberland.

For the past several years he has served as an assistant basketball coach at both Northern and Southern high schools, and he is currently head coach for the NHS varsity boys' basketball team.

The new case manager currently resides in the Oakland area with his wife Ruth and six children.



MIKE FRIEND

"I am very enthusiastic about the intervention provided by this program for students in need of assistance and extra guidance toward graduation," Friend commented

Tying Conversion Pass Picked Off

Rams Just Miss In Bid For First-Ever State Championship

The fullfillment of a dream to win a state championship in football fell just a few points short for the Southern High Rams at Byrd Stadium in College Park on Saturday, as Andy Woods' two-point conversion pass sailed over the out-stretched arms of Dave Stephens and into the hands of Cambridge-South Dorchester defenseman Gabe Butler.

The score was 14-12 at that point with just 1:22 left in the game, and that's how the contest ended, marking the third time the Rams have made it to the state title game and come home with the runner-up trophy.

The Rams won nearly every other statistic of the game - 13-10 in first downs; 127-115 in rushing yardage; 82-74 in passing yardage - but could do nothing in the final moments of the game except watch the Cambridge offense take a couple ol delay-of-game penalties and kneel with the ball to let the time expire. It was the second state championship for the Vikings, who have reached the title game on six occasions.

S--Aaron Newcomb 1 run (run failed)

The Rams had to play catch-up the entire afternoon, as the Vikings put the first points on the board and never trailed. The Rams had a golden opportunity to tie or go ahead just before halftime, but saw their drive stopped on downs just inside the Vikings' 10-yard line.

The first scoring drive by Cambridge was kept alive by a highly controversial pass interference call by one official, a call that films confirmed was incorrect. The drive was capped by a 27-yard touchdown pass from Ryan Fleetwood to James Savage on the first play of the second quarter, followed by a successful conversion kick by James White.

The Rams' ensuing drive was halted and the Vikings nearly doubled their score; however Woods, from his secondary position, picked off a Fleetwood pass in the corner of the end zone to halt the threat and give Southern new life.

The Rams answered with a 70-yard, 14-play drive, mostly featuring the power running of junior back Aaron Newcomb, who recorded 45 of the yards on 11 carries. But the drive ended just before halftime when the Rams came up about eight inches short on a fourth-down-and-less-than-one play at about the Viking nine-yard line.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Rams cut the Vikings' lead to a single point when a tough, 20-play, 95-yard drive was culminated by a one-yard scoring dive by Newcomb with 9:53 left in the game.

Newcomb, who finished with 96 yards on 26 carries, also attempted to run for the two-point conversion, but the officials ruled that he was just short of breaking the plane of the goal line, leaving the score at 7-6.

The ensuing kickoff by the Rams came off the side of Newcomb's foot and was fielded at the Viking 36 by Butler, who returned it to the Ram 40. It took just four plays for Cambridge to score, as Tyquon Murry broke through a hole in the right side of the line and raced 24 yards to the end zone with 8:21 left in the game. White's kick gave the Vikings a 14-6 lead.

After each team was forced to punt and it appeared the game might end that way, Woods engineered another scoring drive from his own 39 with 4:04 left on the clock. The march, unlike every other drive this season by the run-oriented Southern offense, included five passes by Woods, despite the fact that he had dislocated his thumb on his throwing hand (left) on the third play of the game. He completed an 11-yarder to Joel Uphold and a 16-yard gainer to tight end Dave Stephens. After an incompletion, he hit Stephens again, this time for 24 yards, which put the ball at the Cambridge 12.

Then with a third-and-eight from the 10-yard line, Woods found Stephens open again on the left side of the end zone, and he connected with him for the touchdown with 1:22 remaining.

During a time-out Coach Tom Woods, Andy's father, decided to go back to the same play one more time for the two-point conversion, knowing that the Vikings would stack the middle and anticipate a run by Newcomb. Woods took the snap and fired quickly toward Stephens, but the pass was just too high and Butler, who was just ahead of Stephens and near the end line, hauled in the aerial to preserve the victory for his team.

Murry led the Vikings' rushing game with 92 yards on 19 carries.

It was the third loss in 11 games for the Rams, while the Vikings finished with an overall mark of 12-1, having lost only to Kent County during the regular season and then avenging that loss in the semifinals, 27-0.

"We were concerned about the high caliber of some of their athletes, and they performed very well for them, but I have never been more proud of a Southern team," Coach Woods stated. "Our kids just never quit, even when we were down 14-6 with less than five minutes to play. This has been characteristic of this team all season long."

THERE WERE MANY EMPTY SEATS in Byrd Stadium on Saturday for the Maryland Stats 1A high school championship game between the Southern High Rams and Cambridge-Spouth Dorchester Vikings, but approximately 500 of them were filled with loud, enthusiastic Ram fans, led by the Southern cheerleaders and the members of the Southern Garrett Marching Band. Even though Cambridge is considerably closer to College Park, there were only about half that many fans for the Vikings on the opposite side of the field. The game was played under chilly, but sunny, conditions, and ended in a tough 14-12 loss for Southern.

When asked if he regretted not having Joel Uphold kick the touchdown conversions, Woods said, "We worked very hard on extra-point kicks in practice the week prior to the game, but we just didn't do well at all. I didn't think it was fair to Joel to put him in that position."

Woods added, "The only play of the whole game that I would change if it were possible would be the fourth down play at their 10-yard line just before halftime when we were stopped."

Woods said that lineman Seth Tressler, prior to sustaining a groin injury and later a knee injury, was able to kick field goals from 40 yards. "Kicking is a skill that just about anyone can develop, if they start at a young age and go out an do it, every day," he said. "There's bound to be someone out there who is willing to do that and join our program."

"Southern's a good football team that took us right down to the wire," stated Doug Fleetwood, coach of the Vikings and, like Woods, the father of his starting quarterback. "They are well coached, and we were lucky to stop them on both of their two-point tries."

With his son's senior season now behind him, Woods decided to talk about how proud he was of Andy's efforts, on both sides of the ball.

"It was amazing to me that Andy was able to play as well as he did after dislocating the thumb on his throwing hand," he said. "He said he couldn't pitch the ball to his left on the option play, but he thought he could grip it well enough to throw it; and he did.

"On the conversion play, Andy saw the defender jump in the air in front of Dave (Stephens), so he had to arc the ball to get it over him, and he just threw it too high," he said.

Woods was also pleased with Andy's defensive play, noting that his son suggested to secondary coach Mike Wilburn early in the game that they change the coverage from zone to man-to-man. "Andy said they were running the exact same pattern every time, and his suggestion was an excellent one that really made a difference.

"I know that I'll miss Andy next year just because he's my son," he said. "But strictly as a coach, I will really miss his wisdom and his reading abilities that most people in the stands don't have an opportunity to see and appreciate.'

Rams Just Miss

Woods didn't hesitate to note the efforts of many of his players, such as Newcomb, Howard Crosco, Tressler, Stephens, Uphold, Danny Compitello, and Shawn Strawser.

"Aaron (Newcomb) has become one of the hardest runners that has ever played at Southern," he said. "He plays with tremendous will power, and he'll be almost unstoppable after we add 10 or 15 pounds to him for next year. With Joel and Howard Crosco also back, along with Nathan Rickman, we should have a super backfield.

"I am very proud of Howard. Whenever he had to leave the field when we put in our big-back offense, he never once complained," Woods said. "When Danny (Compitello) would go in, Howard cheered for him and wanted him to do just as well as he hoped for himself.

"Dave Stephens has only been playing football for two years, and it's just remarkable how well he performed, not only as a receiver, but also as a blocker," Woods said.

"Seth Tressler did so much for this team on both sides of the ball," he said. "He's an outstanding player who has a very bright future." Tressler, who was sidelined from the semi-final game against Havre de Grace, was cleared to play in Saturday's game, but was to have undergone knee surgery yesterday.

"Probably our best success story this season has been Shawn Strawser," Woods said. "He has been a fantastic leader on this team all season long, both in practices and in the games. After kind of playing in the shadow of his brother (Pete) for the past couple of years, he worked his way up to become a two-way starter and, more importantly, he has really blossomed as a student. He has become a fine young man.

"Danny Compitello has had just an outstanding year," Woods said. "Not only has he played well offensively, but he was our leading tackler this year, with well over 100 tackles. He provided quiet, but excellent, team leadership."

Woods credited each and every player on his team for the success of the 1995 season.

"There are so many, it's impossible for me to name each of them," he said, "but each one of our 27 juniors and seniors played a specific role in our success, whether they were just on the kickoff team or on the field for every play.

"I think it was our outstanding team chemistry that really led to our success," he said. "There was just never any bickering, and each one of the kids took the attitude, 'I'll do the best I can when I'm out there, and I'll cheer and support my teammates when I'm on the sidelines.'

Woods said that the locker room scene immediately following the game was the most difficult, most emotional of his career. "We've had a lot of great teams, but none quite like this one," he said. "These kids, especially the 14 seniors, are just like part of the Woods family, and we were really hurting at that moment."

But the coach quickly added that finishing second in the state is certainly nothing to be ashamed of. "We had a great season and are proud of our accomplishments," he said.

He then proceeded to extend his appreciation to the many other people involved in the Rams' success.

His wife, Debbie: "There can't be a coach's wife anywhere who does as great a job in supporting me and our program. She works literally all year helping raise money, and I spend it! She's as much a part of the team as anyone."

Cheerleaders: "They are also a big part of our team. Their support and the support of Lisa Bender and Linda Garris (advisors) has been just fantastic."

The band: "The band is always there for us, all season long, even with their own competitive schedule. We really appreciated their presence and support at the state championships."

Coaching staff: "The success of our program would not be possible without the

SCORING FOR THE RAMS were tight end Dave Stephens, #42, pictured above just after receiving a pass from Andy Woods, and running back Aaron Newcomb (#29), pictured below being wrapped up by a Viking defender. Stephens had three key receptions on the day, one for a touchdown, while Newcomb rushed for the Rams' other touchdown and finished with a game-high 96 yards on 26 carries. Woods completed four of five passes, despite the fact that he dislocated his thumb on his throwing hand (left) on the third play of the game. Also identifiable above are Cambridge Vikings DeAdrein Jones, #42, and Gabe Butler, #14, who also scored a touchdown. Other Rams identifiable below are #58 (far left) Seth Tressler and #59 Shawn Durst.

Local Soccer Players Named Area All-Stars

Two Garrett County high school soccer players, one from Southern High School and one from Northern High School, were among players selected recently to the All-Area team.

Joey DiSimone, a senior forward for the Southern Rams, and Matt Fritz, sophomore goalkeeper for the Northern Huskies, were among the 15 players selected to the team by area coaches, while nine others received honorable mention status.

DiSimone finished the 1995 season as the fifth leading scorer in the area, having recorded eight goals and four assists in 13 games. In the Western Maryland Interscholastic League he finished third in scoring with four goals and four assists in seven games.

The Rams, only in their third year of soccer, finished the 1995 season with a 3-9-1 mark; however most of their losses were close and to area powers. They were topped by Mt. Savage, 2-0; Westmar, 5-3; Bishop Walsh, 4-3; Beall, 5-4; and played Flintstone to a 5-5 tie.

Southern coach Tom Powers described DiSimone as "the most naturally gifted athlete I've ever worked with."

As a member of Tom Ables' team at Northern, Fritz was kept extremely busy in goal, where he led the area with 264 saves for an average of over 20 per game.

Fifty goals were scored against the Huskies this year, down considerably from the 93 scored against them last year. They were winless on the season (0-13), but held Mount Savage to just one goal and Hyndman to two goals.

Ables called Fritz "one of the most talented, all-around athletes I've ever coached," calling him an "inspirational leader both on and off the field." Fritz carries a 3.8 grade point average.

Westmar's Eric Johnson was named the area Player of the Year, while Jeremy Hoover of Salisbury was named the Offensive Player of the Year and Brad Thomas of Beall won the Defensive Player of the Year award.

Others named to the Area All-Star squad were: Joe Malloy and Andy Brehm of Mt. Savage, Todd Kilduff and T.J. Smith of Fort Hill, Tim Shriver and David Stickley of Flintstone, Sean Lutmer of Allegany, Chris Young of Beall, Adam Wolfe of Bishop Walsh, and Lenny Phillips of Hyndman.

Newcomb Begins Second Season At Wesleyan

West Virginia Wesleyan College basketball player Carrie Newcomb, daughter of Gary and Beth Newcomb, Oakland, is set to begin the 1995-96 season with the Bobcats.

A sophomore guard and a 1994 graduate of Southern High School, Newcomb is studying elementary education at Wesleyan.

Wesleyan's women's basketball team posted a 19-6 regular-season record last year before bowing out in the first round of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (WVIAC) Tournament. The Bobcats finished for the second consecutive year as the WVIAC's No. 2 team in regular-season conference play.

The Bobcats are led by third-year coach Lori Flaherty, who posted a 36-14 record in two seasons. Beginning this year, Wesleyan drops its affiliation with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) and joins Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA II).

West Virginia Wesleyan College offers more than 50 academic majors in the liberal arts and career-related fields of study, including four bachelor degrees and the master of business administration degree. Affiliated with the United Methodist Church, Wesleyan has an enrollment of approximately 1,680 students.

UM SCOREBOARD TOUTS RAMS - The scoreboard at Byrd Stadium in College Park gave Southern High School fans an extra boost during Saturday's 1A state championship game by repeatedly displaying the champions in various other fall sports. All were reminded that the Southern Runnin' Rams boys' cross country team had captured the 1995 championship, while neighboring Fort Hill won the 2A title. The Southern football team's bid for a first-ever state title fell just a few points short, as the Rams were edged by Cambridge-South Dorchester in Saturday's game, 14-12.

experience, dedication, and abilities of my staff. Dave Bosley (defensive coordinator) has been coaching for 22 years. I can't say enough about his coaching talent, plus he spends every single Friday night during the season copying all of the game films, usually working until about 2 o'clock in the morning.

"Dave and Jay Stewart (defensive line coach) do all of the taping (players ankles, etc.) for every game, and Jay always keeps our spirits up. Tom Bosley (offensive line) stuck with us all the way, even though his basketball season had already started. Scott Harvey (offensive backs, junior varsity) does a great job with our jayvees and with our offensive backs, and is going to make a great head coach. Mike Wilburn (defensive backs and receivers) brings a wealth of talent and experience to our staff, and Lew Marks and James Bateman are doing a super job with our freshmen.

Other staff: "I've said that I wouldn't trade Roger Uber (team manager) for six good players, and I mean that. We are so proud of him for his dedication and hard work. In some ways, he's smarter than all of us; he really has his act together.

"Dan Miller (team physician) is the epitome of a team doctor. I think he missed being at only one game this season, and would even close his office early in order to be there. He provides instant access to care, and he always follows up on our injured players, even if they aren't his patients.

"Tom and Deb Swiger (statisticians) are there at every game. Because they have always taken their job seriously, our program has a detailed, accurate history of stats, which is very important.

"Doug Oxford and Dave Bender did a great job taping all of our games, which obviously helps a lot with our coaching.

The media: "You (The Republican) provide the best coverage of any weekly newspaper I've seen anywhere, and I look at a lot of them. And WKHJ Radio did a great job covering our playoff games and helping with fund-raising."

The community: "There are just too many people behind the scenes who do so much...parents, SGAA, fans, business people like Greig Johnson (Uno's Restaurant)... The entire community responded within just a few days with thousands of dollars to help with travel expenses. Plus there were about 500 people in the stands at College Park. This shows once again what a wonder community we live in. People just have no idea how great this kind of support makes us feel."

When asked about a rumor that Woods would not be coaching next year, he said, "If we had won the title Saturday, then it probably would have been my last year. With Andy as quarterback it would have been a perfect ending. But we didn't win, so I've already decided that I will definitely be back next year.

"Our season was so long this year, it's going to take a while to adjust to it finally being over!"

Southern Girls Ranked Number One; Open With A Victory

Opening with a win last night over Mt. Savage (see separate story) and anticipating another outstanding season are the members of the Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team, a squad that advanced all the way to the state 1A finals last season and returns this season completely intact and ranked number one in the state of Maryland.

Coach Don Stemple says he enters the 1995-96 season with "cautious optimism."

"We can't live on last year's accomplishments," he said. "This is a brand new season and our goals are high. We must be willing to work harder than our opponents or we will fall short."

The Rams posted a 19-6 record last year and won the Williamsport Christmas Tournament and Region 1 Class 1A championship before advancing to the state finals. They were topped in the title game by Wilde Lake, 56-46.

Leading the returnees and anchoring the Rams' inside game is 5-11 senior forward Emily Friend, who led the team in scoring, rebounding, and shooting percentage last season and was named to both the All-Area and All-State teams.

Also back are seniors Alisa Rugg, Angela Shafer, Kristi Stemple, and Miranda Marple. Rugg, a Student Athlete of the Month last season, led the team in foul shooting last year and was third in scoring. Shafer, also a Student Athlete of the Month, led the team in assists and was fifth in scoring. Marple, primarily a defensive player with outstanding quickness, and Stemple, who is versatile at both guard and forward, are expected to see some starting assignments this season.

Returning juniors who also saw considerable action last year are Keri Cannon, Sylvia Paesani, Lauren Newcomb, Autumn Newcomb, and Meghan Dabney.

Cannon and Paesani, both good rebounders and inside players with the potential to reach double figures on any given night, will share starting positions at forward.

Dabney, an all-state runner and tennis player who has excellent quickness on both ends of the floor and led the team in steals last season, will be the starting point guard for most of the games.

Lauren Newcomb is showing that she can contribute significantly at the forward position and is expected to see lots of action, while her cousin, Autumn Newcomb, is making a comeback from a torn ligament sustained on the second day of practice and is expected to be ready to play soon, according to Coach Stemple.

The only newcomers to the varsity this year are Natalie Carlson and Rachel Robinette, who could see action once they learn the system, Stemple said.

"Our biggest obstacles could be complacency, the health of our players, and team chemistry," Stemple said. "We've made our schedule more difficult with the addition of Tucker County, Martinsburg, and the Annapolis Christmas Tournament."

Southern Girls Top Indians In Season Opener

The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team, completely intact after finishing second in the state last year and ranked number one in Maryland this year, opened its season last night with a 66-48 victory over visiting Mount Savage.

The Rams, coached by Don Stemple, led from the opening tip-off, with 18-10, 33-21, and 52-29 advantages at the quarters.

Senior forward Emily Friend paced the Rams with a 24-point, nine-rebound effort, with 11 of those points being recorded in the second quarter. Angela Shafer finished with 16 points, five assists, and five steals, while Miranda Marple and Sylvia Paesani each scored eight points. Marple also had six steals.

The Indians, who were also opening their 1995-96 campaign, were led by Amy Stafford with 24 points and Heather Abucevicz netted 16.

"Both teams had a lot of turnovers," Stemple said. "It was a typical first game for both sides."

The Rams will play again this Friday at Martinsburg and then host Westmar next Wednesday.

Huskies Drop First Games To Fort Hill And Salisbury

The season opener for the Northern High School varsity boys' basketball team Tuesday evening at the Cove was not a pleasant one for Northern fans, as the Huskies were whipped by Fort Hill, 72-42, in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match-up.

The Huskies dropped to 0-2 last night when they were topped by host Salisbury, 61-34.

Tuesday's game was also the opener for the Sentinels and the debut for their new coach, Dave Hobel.

The Sentinels were basically in control of the game from the opening tip-off and were up 16-7 at the end of the first quarter. The Huskies cut the lead to seven points before the visitors went up by 13 (33-20) at halftime.

The big quarter for the Sentinels was the third, when they out-scored the Huskies by a 24-8 margin and built a commanding 57-28 advantage going into the final period.

None of the Huskies reached double figures. Mark Hinebaugh and Andy Brenneman each finished with eight points, while Aaron Blocher scored seven.

Beaner McKinley paced the Sentinels in scoring with 14 points, while Brandon Davis, Jason McCoy, and Jonathan Stubbs each finished with 12.

The Huskies were outrebounded by a 38-26 margin.

The Northern junior varsity boys were also defeated in the preliminary game, 59-36. Matt Alkire and Gary Noel led the Fort Hill jayvees with 14 and 13 points, respectively, while Matt Fletcher and Matt Fritz scored 12 and 10 for the Huskies.

Andy Brenneman did reach double figures last night for the Huskies with 13 points, but it was not nearly enough, as Dan McKenzie scored 18 for the Elks, R.C. Deer finished with 16, and Jason Benning added 13.

Salisbury, 3-0 on the young season, never trailed in the game, holding quarter leads of 21-6, 28-14, and 43-25.

The Northern junior varsity evened its record at 1-1 by winning the preliminary game, 48-31.

The Huskies will attempt to record their first win this Friday evening at Mt. Savage.

STRUGGLING IN THE EARLY SEASON is the Garrett Community College women's basketball team, which has dropped its first three games. The Lakers will not return to action until after the holiday break. Team members include, seated, from left: Michele McCarty, Amanda Tikey, Amy Hartsell, and Misty Howdershelt; and standing: Abbie Shaffer, Jennifer Wilson, Klarissa Wiles, Crystal Wagner, and Missy Larew.

Laker Women Still Seeking First Victory

The women's team of Garrett Community College is still looking for its first win of the young season, as the Lakers were soundly defeated twice this past week, falling to CCAC-Allegheny last Thursday in Pittsburgh, 75-36, and losing to visiting Washington and Jefferson last night, 63-36.

Sue Walter led CCAC in scoring last Thursday by finishing with 17 points, while Erica Merrell contributed 14 points and grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds.

Klarissa Wiles paced the Lakers in scoring and rebounding with 12 points and nine boards. Crystal Wagner also reached double figures with 10 points.

The Lakers were never really in the game, trailing 39-20 at halftime.

Wagner finished with 19 points last night against W&J, but was the only Laker to reach double figures.

A 29-point performance by Dixon highlighted W&J's effort, while LeViere finished with 16.

Garrett's game with Dundalk CC slated for this Saturday has been cancelled. The Lakers, coached by Dennis Gibson, will take a long holiday break and not play again until January 6.

Lakers Top Catonsville In OT Before Falling To Anne Arundel

A 93-85 overtime win by the Garrett Community College Lakers on Saturday in McHenry over Catonsville CC was the highlight of the week for GCC fans, but the Lakers then faltered last night and dropped an 88-73 contest to visiting Anne Arundel. The split left Garrett with a 5-4 mark for the season, which they will attempt to improve this Friday night at Potomac State College.

Antoine Stokes was the big offensive player for the Lakers against Catonsville, as he finished with 28 points, while VaShawne Gross was right behind with 25 points and four assists and Gunnell Hickman recorded 18 points.

The contest was close from the opening tip-off, as the Lakers held a 32-31 edge at halftime. Catonsville's Jason Johnson had an opportunity to win the game when he was at the foul line with just one second left in regulation time when the score was tied, but he missed both of his opportunities.

Stokes hit four free throws in the overtime period to help build the eight-point winning margin.

Roderick Harris and Bryan Scott led Catonsville's offense with 21 and 17 points, respectively.

The Lakers played flatly last night against Anne Arundel, as Coach Dennis Gibson described the defeat as "embarrassing."

Hickman and Stokes led the scoring for the Lakers with 17 and 16 points, respectively, while Damian Cosby recorded seven rebounds and five assists.

The Lakers were down by just one point at halftime, 41-40, but were never able to take the lead in the second half.

Each member of the team was presented a special plaque in commemoration of the team's accomplishments. Pictured from left, seated, are: Councilpersons Peggy Jamison and Mary Lou Stemple, Mayor Asa McCain, and Councilpersons Art Naylor and Willard Ringer. Standing in the front row are: Mike Shahan, Nathaniel Panther, Todd Tasker, Jordan Uphold, Keith Parka, and Derrick Nelson. In the back row are: Manager Craig Bosley, Toby Upton, T.J. Riley, Jason Hinebaugh, Josh Bosley, Christian Warfield, Michael Browning, and Coach Dave Duckett. A team member not present for the photo was Juatin Liller.

A NICE BUCK was taken last Thursday morning in the Roman Nose Mountain area by Charlie Craver, Bray School Road. Although Craver has shot a number of deer in his life, he said this 137-pound 10-point was by far his best ever. Craver shot the animal from a tree stand.

Husky Grapplers Ranked Fifth In Maryland 1A/2A Standings

After recording a 14-1 record last season and with the return of several key squad members this year, the Northern High School wrestling team is ranked fifth among all of Maryland's 1A and 2A high schools coming into the 1995-96 season.

The Huskies, coached by Scott Stough, will open their season this evening with a home match against Berlin High School.

Northern placed second in the individual regional tournament last year and 11th in the state among the 1A and 2A schools.

The top returnee on the Northern team is junior Cody Brenneman, who holds a 25-6 personal record in the 145-pound division, won a Bi-County title, and placed fourth in the regional tournament last season. He is ranked fourth in the state among all 1A and 2A grapplers in the 145-pound class.

Also expected to have good seasons for the Huskies are seniors Aaron Hordubay and Matt Wolf. Hordubay, who finished last season with a 30-7 mark with 20 pins in the 103-pound division, holds a career record of 49-15. He was a Bi-County and regional champion last season. Wolf is a three-time Bi-County champion in the 119-pound class, finished second in regionals last year, and has a career record of 49-23 (20-7 last year).

The Garrett Woods Chapter of Whitetails Unlimited will have their annual dinner and membership banquet at Point View Inn on Monday, Dec. 11. Social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m., with a special dinner buffet at 7 p.m.

A variety of items geared towards the whitetail hunting enthusiast, including rifles, shotguns, commemorative knives, collector plates, and numerous signed and numbered lithographs from some of the most notable wildlife artists in the country, will be offered during an auction, according to Wendell Beitzel, chapter president.

Northern Girls Record 50-39 Opening Win

The girls' varsity basketball team of Northern High School, coached by Harv Speicher, opened its 1995-96 campaign on a winning note last night by topping host Hancock, 50-39.

Mindy McCarty and Kristin Heslop led the Huskies in scoring with 16 and 15 points, respectively, while Lea Stanton pulled down 10 rebounds and scored four points during a fourth quarter rally.

The contest was close until the fourth quarter when the Huskies gradually pulled away. Northern was on top 14-9 at the end of the first quarter, led 19-16 at halftime, and was up by only one point, 32-31, after three quarters. The Panthers took a brief 38-36 lead in the fourth quarter before the Huskies rallied and took the game away down the stretch.

Leading the balanced scoring effort for the Panthers were Amanda Fleming, Jenny Spade, and Liz Crouse with 12, 11, and 10 points, respectively.

The Northern junior varsity was also victorious in the preliminary game as the Huskies crushed the Hancock jayvees, 32-7. Brooke Brenneman scored nine points and grabbed eight rebounds to lead the Huskies.

Northern will go after win number two this Friday at home against Fort Hill.

The Huskies have only one full-time starter back from last season's 10-13 squad: McCarty, who is a 5-9 guard. She averaged eight points per game last season and netted 31 points in a game against Beall.

Part-time starters back this year are Nicole Elliott, a 5-7 senior, and Danelle Fike, a 5-8 senior. Others with varsity experience are Chris Umbel, Stacy Dolan, and Kista Thomas, while newcomers from last season's undefeated junior varsity squad are Stanton, Heslop, and Jamie Jo Vent.

Lost to graduation were three-year starter Ellida Schofield and two-year starter Stephanie Kamp.

"We don't have a lot of size, but we do have quickness," stated Coach Speicher, "so we will rely heavily on strong defensive play to force turnovers. We should at least be competitive with most of the teams on our schedule."

The Huskies joined the Western Maryland Interscholastic League this year.

been incarcerated for alcohol or other drug-related offenses and who have been sentenced to at least 90 days in jail.

In addition to providing evaluation and treatment services, the program also refers participants to other local and state agencies which may be of assistance in addressing family relationship, medical, and educational issues.

The court will consider a sentence revision for prisoners who successfully complete the program.

Harath commented that he has received "unprecedented cooperation" from Garrett County Sheriff Randy Sines and the county parole board and added that District Judge Ralph Burnett has been "100 percent cooperative."

The $79,910 program is funded through $59,933 in federal grants and $19,977 in local matching funds.

Following Harath's presentation, Dr. Archer noted that Washington County officials have documented a reduction in recidivism after establishing a similar program.

RAMS ATTEND CLINIC - In preparation for the 1995-96 wrestling season, members of the Southern High School team participated in a pre-season clinic recently, along with younger youth from the Southern Mat Club. The clinicians for the training were Rob Waller, coach at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., High School, and his son, Robbie, who was undefeated as a freshman at Mt. Pleasant last season. Above, Coach Waller demonstrates the bar arm series on Ram grappler Eric Bendler. Over 30 participated in the clinic, according to Southern High coach, Kurt Lear.

Promotion Council

Diane Wolfe, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, informed the commissioners that her office has produced four 30-second television commercials advertising local tourism. These ads will be shown on cable television networks in the Washington, D.C., area.

She noted that this is the first time that her office has advertised on television.

Community Action

Duane Yoder, executive-director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, noted that construction of the new senior citizen and family housing units at the Bradley Manor site is on schedule despite some delays caused by recent snow. The housing projects are half complete, he said.

However, construction work the senior citizen center and an eight-house subdivision in Grantsville has been delayed by problems with storm water management. These difficulties may increase the project costs and delay initial construction work until spring, Yoder said.

Sanitary District

Wendel Beitzel, director of the Garrett County Sanitary District, told the commissioners that his office has received a $375,000 grant from the Maryland Department of the Environment for construction of a community water system in Gorman.

In carrying out this project, Beitzel's office will develop a local water supply for the community, construct storage tanks, and extend water supply lines to the top of Backbone Mountain.

Beitzel added that Mettiki Coal Corporation is providing "significant resources' toward this project.

Environmental Health

A representative of the Garrett County Office of Environmental Health informed the commissioners that a survey of septic systems will soon be conducted in the Jennings area. A total of 50 homes will be included in this survey, he said.

Commissioner John Braskey commented that he has been contacted by five or six families residing near Route 495 who have complained that their septic systems will be included in this survey. The callers stated that their septic systems are not failing and wanted to know why they are being included in the Jennings survey, Braskey added.

"If you go to their doors again, they're going to come to my door again," Braskey said.

Braskey also commented that when the county board approved a Community Development Block Grant for this project, it was his understanding that the survey would only include Jennings proper.

Archer replied that Edgar Harmon, director of the Garrett County Office of Environment Health, will be briefed on this situation.

Solid Waste

Rodney Glotfelty, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, commented that Christmas tree recycling will again be offered at sites in northern and southern Garrett County after the holiday. Timberjax Tree Service, Bel Air, will convert the trees to wood chips.

Glotfelty also noted that his office's new oil recycling tanks in northern Garrett County have been "a great success." A total of 750 gallons of used oil has been collected during the project's first six weeks, he said. Collection tanks for used antifreeze will now be installed in Grantsville and at the landfill on Sang Run Road.

Administrator's blatant refusal to give a county citizen public information, which resulted in a lawsuit? The ethics surrounding the purchase of roads equipment. Advertising a job opening and then scraping the whole process and hiring in-house. Hiring and misleading a job applicant for a position to perform certain duties and then changing those duties after he was hired. And other pertinent questions.

Why not throw the light of public scrutiny on the Commissioner's, especially the one Commissioner from my district that ran a campaign and platform that I, and the majority of others supported, and he has since abandoned. (Not only has he not kept one campaign promise since taking office, but he appears to be at a dead run in the opposite direction.)

Sometimes it is easier to bend the knee than to stretch the mind, but questions need to be asked. Even if the answers are not forthcoming. Some of the first questions that need to be asked the commissioners: Is this in the best interest of the county and the citizens? Is this the type of leadership that the people expect from them? Please, shine your light on these worthwhile issues for a while.

Sincerely,
David C. Insley

To the Editor:

It was with much interest that I sat amidst a very responsive audience (11-27) hearing the words of Jim Trelease, as he very cleverly and skillfully related the time-tested value of reading to our children, even from the month of birth, in the effort to help them become interested in and capable of reading. Obviously Mr. Trelease is being handsomely rewarded for his lecturing and authoring of numerous books. There can be no quarrel with the suggestion that parents must read to their children even though it can hardly be termed a universal practice.

It was difficult to know if he deliberately down-played the value of the use of phonics in the teaching of reading, but his brief reference to phonics was certainly negative in effect. It is my belief that Mr. Trelease, the Federal Trade Commission and the National Education Association all are guilty of a significant disservice to the education of children. Are we to assume that all the child needs is a desire to read well? Is there not a difference between instilling a desire to read and acquainting the child with the benefits of familiarity with syllabication; (syllable accent, division of words at the end of a line, number of vowels in a syllable, dictionary skills, etc.) Surely when a given child is well on the way to the joy of reading, he/she still needs to be taught the mechanics of reading.

Phonics skills are useful throughout our lives. For example, because of a developing hearing problem of mine, a cousin retired from N.I.H., sent me copies of information on hearing loss. The material was not written in layman's terms. I found myself determining the syllables in words new to me of eight to 15 or 20 letters.

Let us read to our children! But also, let's get real! Let's remind them through many years of learning to read well that there is value in an acquaintance with the details involved.

To me it is indeed a sad situation if Mr. Trelease in all his authoring of books on reading has failed to give the phonics issue its deserved attention. That question should also be addressed to the National Educational Association and the Federal Trade Commission. It would be well if someone from Mr. Trelease's Garrett County audience would write the three of them in that regard.

Sincerely,
Paul A. Fary

To the Editor:

Every four years beginning at about this time, it is appropriate to examine the elements of the election process leading to the election of a president in November. These elements--getting on the ballot, the state primary process, selection of the candidates by the Republican and Democratic conventions, and ultimate election by popular vote nationally--are our fundamental freedoms which have not only made our republic strong, but also work longer than any ever before in history.

A case in point is the recent controversy over the New York State presidential primary, to be held March 7, 1996, which chooses 102 delegates to the convention, about a 10th of the number needed to win the Republican nomination. For presidential candidates to get on the ballot, the party's rules required them to obtain 1,250 signatures in 25 of the state's 31 Congressional districts and a lesser number in six districts with small Republican enrollment. In addition, insurgents are knocked off the ballot over small infractions, like using wrong-colored ink or using paper clips rather than staples to attach petitions.

On November 20, Patrick J. Buchanan, a Republican presidential candidate lashed out against Senator Alfonse M. D'Amato and Governor George E. Pataki for keeping the primary closed to all rivals of the contender they support, Senator Bob Dole. ("It stinks.") The signature requirement is not daunting to the candidate backed by the state organization which has hundreds of experienced foot soldiers to collect valid signatures. On November 22, Federal Judge Edward R. Korman, heard two and one-half hours of debate on Larry Rockefeller's request, supported by about 10 Republican voters to suspend the Republican primary rules. (The rules are "Draconian," i.e., severe).

On November 27, Judge Korman struck down the Republican Party's rules, "they set unfair hurdles for candidates to gather enough signatures on petitions to put their names on ballots in some areas of the state." The party's rules make it more difficult for voters in areas with relatively few registered Republicans to get their favored candidates on the ballot than it is for voters in areas with higher numbers of Republicans. "The state is magnifying the difficulty in districts where it is already difficult and minimizing the difficulty in districts where it is not as difficult." As a remedy the judge said each candidate should collect signatures from 1.41 percent of registered Republicans in all 31 Congressional districts.

Judge Korman spent nearly an hour explaining his ruling as nearly 10 lawyers for both sides stood in a line before the bench.

To the Editor:

Two recent articles in The Republican discussed the possibility of Penelec selling Deep Creek Lake in order to put the long-term stability of the lake in the hands of a local group. Certainly this would be a desirable outcome, since Garrett County's economy is heavily influenced by the lake. Your articles have described a number of steps being considered to make a sale possible, but so far have not mentioned four basic principles that should apply to a transaction like this:

1) If Penelec is going to sell the land around and under the lake (the so-called buffer strip), Garrett County should buy it. This asset is too important to the county's future to do otherwise. (The dam, power plant, and facilities associated with power generation should remain with Penelec since they have no recreational value.) Under county ownership, management of the buffer strip would vest in a commission of local citizens similar to the Sanitary Commission, which owns and manages the county's assets associated with water and sewer systems.

2) The sale and purchase of the buffer strip should be a business decision. Penelec owns the asset and should either be able to realize a reasonable return for its shareholders on the asset value, or sell it while continuing to generate power under a water use permit with the State. The current assessed full value of the buffer strip is $480,000. If the true costs (read: headaches) of owning and managing the buffer strip are fairly considered, Penelec probably nets close to zero return on this asset, and maybe even loses money. Would they be willing to part with this headache for something like the assessed full value? (A buyer would have to consider the same economics, so the purchase price can hardly climb into the multi-millions.)

3) If the county buys the buffer strip, it should immediately recoup the costs by re-deeding this land, down to a given elevation above the lake, to each adjacent landowner, while assessing a one-time payment from each landowner pro-rated to the value of the adjacent lake-front property. (Our county lawyers should be able to figure out a simple way to do this, something which would cost Penelec untold legal fees and administrative red tape to do.) Some restrictions on buffer strip use would still be appropriate, but the landowners who were assessed a payment would receive value (i.e., land) in return. Theoretically, if there were 2,500 adjacent lake-front properties to be assessed, the county would be able to recoup $500,000 by assessing an average payment of $200 from each owner. If this presented a problem, payments could be made in annual installments, as was done when the sewer system was constructed.

4) Finally, and most importantly, fees for using the lake (i.e., using the State's water which is on the county's land) would be set by the county, in co-ordination with the State, and these should include both dock and boat fees. Power boats create the need for safety regulations and policing, bring erosion and pollution in their wake, cover many square miles of water every hour they are in operation, and alert us to their presence with characteristic noises. By contrast, rowboats, canoes, sailboats, and all other unpowered craft including docks bring none of these costly-to-manage features to the lake. It stands to reason that a separate fee should be charged for each power boat to defray the majority of costs for lake management. The county, as owner of the buffer strip, could resolve this issue fairly for all users of the lake while generating more total revenues and heading off the much-discussed issue of potential overcrowding: experience elsewhere shows that, the higher the fee, the fewer the power boats. Long-term stability would be improved by providing a better economic base for lake revenues: power boats are far more numerous than docks, and dock owners already pay higher "fees" in the form of lake-front property taxes. Finally, because the cost of a power boat is quite a bit more than the cost of a dock, it should not be an unfair financial burden to set power boat fees higher than dock fees for those who want the privilege of putting a power boat on the lake.

As the question of "the sale of the lake" is debated in the months ahead, these principles should help to focus the thinking of those who will be involved in the decisions. Along with your readers, the decision-makers should also keep one other fact in mind: Penelec is a private landowner in Garrett County, just like many of your subscribers. For over 70 years, Penelec has been a good corporate citizen, caring for its properties and responding to its neighbors' wishes to control lake water levels for boating, river water temperatures for fishing, and white-water flows for rafting, all the while protecting the esthetic value of the lake and its surroundings. For the great asset that Deep Creek Lake has become we owe Penelec a large measure of thanks. Arguably, no Federal or State oversight could have produced the value that Penelec has produced for the lake, and at far less cost than a distant government agency would have charged. (Remember what happened to our dock fees when the FPC/FERC "took over" the lake many years ago?) In considering where we go from here, this fact should not be overlooked. We could do a lot worse than having Penelec as our neighbor. Let's keep our eye on Principle Number I.

WRONG TURN: I have just scrapped my scheduled column after discussing with a colleague a situation that has opened up here in New York.

The MTA, which runs the New York public transportation system, is raising fares for all buses, subways, and commuter railroads. Granted, this will be a hardship for many, and there are areas where economies could have been taken (including cutting back on the perks enjoyed by MTA board members) that might have made it possible for the MTA to meet its mandated self supporting status without asking riders for more money.

However, a lawsuit was filed in behalf of subway and bus riders who said the fare hikes should have been set at a higher percentage for the commuters than for the New York bus and subway riders since the latter group is represented by more blacks and Latinos than is found among the commuters.

I was especially stunned to learn that some unions might join in as friends of the court to support the suit.

What bothers me is that if this story is true — and as you probably have surmised by now, I have strong regard for the importance of unions in a free economy — these unions will have chosen to act on a race-based situation that may not be valid. The fact is, blacks and Latinos also ride the much more expensive commuter trains and would be hard hit by the rise in their fares as well.

If people feel they're being unfairly treated by their public transportation authorities because fare hikes can be shown to be unnecessary or not as high, then that's the basis on which to fight in the courts, not on some specious ground that only serves to divide the country even deeper along racial lines.

A suit like this might sound as if it's rooted in justice for the underprivileged. If it were, I'd support it. However, what it tells us, without any regard to supporting facts, is that members of minority groups are to be assumed as being underprivileged. That's a vile assumption.

Dollars & Sense
by Bryon Elson

Contrary to what many Americans think, some experts believe that baby boomers can rely on Social Security benefits when they retire. The amount of your Social Security benefit depends on how much you earn during your career. For an estimate of your future benefits, call the Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213 and request a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement."

Generally, the more you earn, the more you can collect. However, baby boomers should supplement their benefits with other sources of income to help maintain their pre-retirement lifestyle.

Another traditional source of retirement income is pension plans. While pensions are a helpful tool in retirement planning, as a result of job-hopping and corporate downsizing, some people may not qualify for a generous pension. If you are entitled to retirement benefits from a current or former employer, you should determine exactly how much you will receive during your retirement years and plan accordingly.

You will need about 70 percent to 90 percent of your pre-retirement income to live comfortably during retirement. Currently, Social Security pays the average retiree only about 40 percent of pre-retirement earnings. You must make up the difference.

Be sure to take advantage of 401 (k) plans or any other employer-sponsored tax-deferred retirement plans. These plans allow you to invest pre-tax money for retirement directly from your paycheck. Some companies match a portion of your 401 (k) contributions.

If you are self-employed, set up a Keogh plan and make tax-deductible contributions. Your annual contributions cannot exceed the lesser of $30,000 or 20 percent of your annual taxable compensation up to $150,000. Earnings from all Keogh plans are tax-deferred.

You should also consider investing in Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). All taxpayers can deposit up to $2,000 in an IRA each year. Under certain circumstances, for example, if you are not covered by a retirement plan or if you have a modest income, your IRA contributions may also qualify for a tax deduction. When making a non-deductible IRA contribution, earnings accumulate tax-free.

Home Tips

ORGANIZER — Here is a simple way to keep jewelry neat and organized. Cut the tops off plastic egg cartons. Line dresser drawers with them — they fit together perfectly.

Each compartment is just right for pairs of earrings, rings or pins. Rita K., Baltimore, Md.

BREAD WRAPPERS — Put your hand into an empty bread wrapper and make like a puppet. It's great for picking up dog doo while walking your pet. Pick up and just tie to carry home to put into your trash. Louise W., Bronx, N.Y.

FILL IT UP — To save money, I pump gas for my car myself. After each fill-up, my hands were dirty and smelled of gasoline.

One day, about a year ago, I purchased a pair of cotton garden gloves to use at the pumps. Now my hands stay clean, there is no smell of gas fumes on them, and I can fill up and go on my way without the usual restroom hand-washing. Laura P., Bethlehem, Pa.

SHOE BAG — Our house has just one bathroom, where my husband and I share everything, including shelf space. He is always pushing my personal items, such as hair spray, lotions and powder, aside to get his.

To eliminate the problem, I purchased a plastic shoe bag at a dollar store and hung it on the back of the bathroom door. I put my things in each pocket, and the bag color matches my bathroom.

It's nice knowing where everything is now and not having to look for it. Even my husband thinks it's pretty neat! Sarah N., Bakersfield, Calif.

WINTER GREENERY — Instead of putting artificial flowers in my window-box planters during the winter, I fill them with birdseed.

I also shuck ears of corn and spread the kernels in my empty birdbath. Watching the colorful birds adds as much cheer to my life as do the flowers and bathing birds in spring and summer. Tara C., Roanoke, Va.

Antiques

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder," Margaret Wolfe Hungerford wrote in 1878. It is a sentiment that seems to be especially true for collectors.

A rare and unusual electric lamp was recently offered for sale. It is shaped like a human skull. The 9-inch-high skull is made of white, iridescent or green slag glass. The owner turned down an offer of $800 and decided to gamble on "the eye of a beholder" at a public auction. The lamp was advertised nationally. It had been listed in a 1971 book about Tiffany lamps, and the auction house estimated the value at $4,000. The owner was delighted when the strange lamp sold for $12,375 at the Morton Goldberg auction in New Orleans. It was purchased by a collector from New York City.

Twenty-five years ago, most auction buyers were local dealers. Auction catalogs and advertisements for shops and sales can now be seen by collectors in every state. Some sales attract buyers from around the world.

If you have an unusual antique or collectible, national publicity would add to its sale price.

Q. My old oil painting needs to be cleaned. When we took it out of the frame, we found there was not plain unpainted canvas at the edges on three sides. The picture went to the edge. Someone had folded it to fit the frame. How should we reframe it?

A. Your painting was probably part of a larger picture. It is not easy to sell pictures that are too large to hang over a fireplace or sofa. In the early part of the century, large pictures often were cut into smaller pictures and framed so the alteration would not show.

There is little you can do. Frame it in the old frame or a similar one. There is an added value to any antique painting in an original frame.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Marine Pfc. Jamie C. Strawser, son of Okey J. and Sheilah M. Strawser, Terra Alta, W.V.a, recently graduated from the Marine Corps Basic Combat Engineer Course at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

During the five-week course, Strawser learned the fundamentals of engineering support for combat units, including the procedures for building and repairing bridges, roads, and field fortifications. The private also learned the art of demolition, land mine warfare, and camoullage techniques.

Pfc. Strawser will accompany Marine infantry forces to build roads, set up camp, and fortily living areas.

A 1994 graduate of Preston High School in Kingwood, W.Va., Strawser joined the Marine Corps in August 1994.

Man Sentenced

veillance, they observed the defendant's wife approach the cage and pour what was later determined to be weed killer on the plants. She told the officers she didn't want the marijuana on the property.

When Young was confronted about the CDS, he admitted to possessing the plants, and was arrested. A subsequent search of the residence and the defendant's vehicle revealed a plastic bag containing six grams of marijuana, a small plastic bag containing marijuana seeds, and two packs of rolling papers.

In other circuit court news, a Mountain Lake Park man was sentenced to serve three years in the Department of Corrections for his conviction in September of telephone misuse.

Rodney Gene Guthrie, 29, received that decision from Judge Thayer, who then suspended the sentence, but fined the defendant $500 plus court costs, and placed him on three years of supervised probation. He was also ordered to make no calls to, or have any contact with Anita Fike or her family.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered by Judge Thayer on Sept. 25, after Guthrie entered a plea of guilt to the above charge. Court records indicate that Sarah L. Rhodes, Oakland, filed the complaint on March 10, saying Guthrie called her home several times a week and asked to talk to Anita Fike, after he was told to stop.

An Oakland man who faced two counts each of second degree burglary and felony theft in last week's circuit court proceedings, pleaded guilty to one count of each offense. The additional burglary and theft charges were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Those charges were filed against William Henry Collins, 28, after he broke into the Slopeside Market, McHenry, on two separate occasions. During the first incident which occurred on June 11, he took $3,729.76 in currency from a desk in the office at the establishment. Then, on June 28, Collins again broke into the market and removed 685 instant lottery tickets (a $1,380 value), and $173.50 in cash. According to court records, he was apprehended after he attempted to claim one of the instant tickets later that day.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, and bail was continued.

A Mountain Lake Park man faced various drug and alcohol-related charges in last Thursday's circuit court proceedings. William E. Boyce, 30, entered pleas of guilt to one count each of CDS possession, and DWI/DUI.

Judge Thayer sentenced the defendant to a total of one year and five days in jail, then suspended all but 30 days of that term. He also placed Boyce on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration.

Court records revealed that charges were filed against Boyce on May 21, 1994, after a Maryland State Police trooper observed his vehicle weaving across the roadway along Rt. 219. The trooper initially stopped Boyce's vehicle for an equipment violation, and detected an odor of alcohol. After the DWI arrest, a search of the vehicle also revealed a plastic bag containing a small quantity of marijuana.

MSP Using New Weapon Against Drugged Drivers

• The war against drugged drivers on Maryland roads is gaining momentum as, at a ceremony held at the University of Maryland Schock Trauma Center Friday, Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel David B. Mitchell unveiled the state's front line against drugged drivers -- Drug Recognition Experts (DRE).

• Drug recognition experts are police officers trained to detect the use of prescription and illicit drugs. These officers are called in whenever a driver has shown signs of driving while under the influence, but a blood alcohol exam shows little or no level of alcohol. Through a series of tests an officer cannot only show drug use, but determine the type of drug used. Once a DRE has gathered all necessary data, that officer can order a corroborating blood test for the individual involved.

"Drugged drivers pose a very real threat to those driving Maryland's roads," Colonel Mitchell said. "There was a time when the drugged driver could have walked away from an accident or traffic stop without fear of a successful prosecution in court. This training has given police officers the ability to gather the evidence necessary and to achieve a conviction."

Mitchell said these highly trained officers are capable of detecting the use of illegal drugs, but also the combination of drugs, illicit or prescription, and alcohol. "Many times officers make stops that uncover levels of alcohol too low for arrest. Now officers can show impairment through the combinations of drugs and alcohol that until now, was impossible to show," he said.

The public awareness campaign, designed by the Maryland State Police and produced by Maryland Public Television, is the only one of its kind in the country. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration awarded Maryland the funds for the campaign following a proposal earlier this year. The public awareness campaign will be used as a national model for other law enforcement agencies using drug recognition experts.

Friday's announcement was part of Maryland's participation in National Drunk and Drugged Driver Month or "3-D Month." The Maryland State Police will use DWI saturation patrols and other enforcement efforts throughout the state to help keep highways safe for all those travelling in Maryland this holiday season.

THE GOOD THAT MEN DO LIVES BEYOND THEM

The donation of an organ, such as a kidney or an eye is a prime example of man doing continuing good. Actually it is the last chance for someone to do something for his fellow man. Organ donation knows no economic barriers. It is the great common denominator. Whether a man be prince or pauper, he can make the same wonderful gift, and in doing so a part of him endures.

At this time of year when the spirit of giving is so much in our minds, consider making out a donor card or adding it to your will. The more donors the greater the opportunity for matching ideal donors and thus more chance for success.

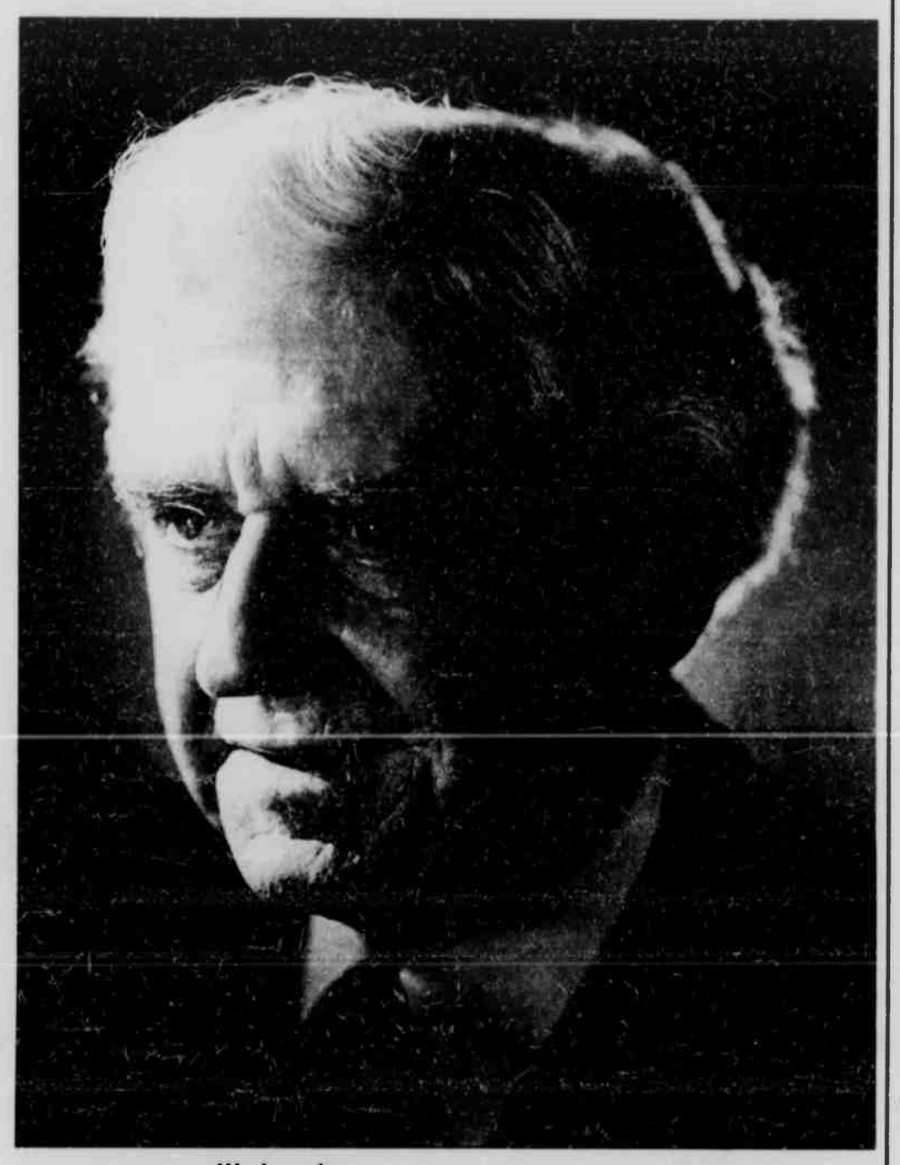
He Helped Me See Life Through... THE EYES OF GOD



I was a little girl, then. The pews at our church were rough wooden benches, and my feet wouldn't reach the floor.

But, as though it were yesterday, I remember his sermon. About a woman who poured oil on the feet of Jesus. Some people said this was a wasteful thing to do. The oil was expensive, the money might have been given to the poor...but Jesus wasn't angry with the woman!

"In the eyes of God," our old minister said, "the most precious treasure is the love in a human heart."

No single thought has influenced my life more than that one. Most of my happiness - all of my strength when sorrows come – have been somehow entwined with that simple truth. I shudder at times to think; what if that day I had not been there?

A sermon, a prayer, a Bible passage does not touch the same chord in every heart. But as you seek each Sunday to see life through the eyes of God, there will come mighty visions stirring the depths of your soul.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE BIG PICTURE
December 10, 1995

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 51:1-8
Devotional Reading:
Acts 27:14-26

Do you ever feel like going back to bed and pulling the covers over your head after you've read the morning paper? Disasters, violence, corruption, and prejudice are what the editors of our local newspaper put on the front page. If anyone anywhere is doing anything that is worthwhile, it is likely to be buried somewhere near the obituaries. Or is your newspaper different from mine?

If you don't read the newspaper, perhaps you watch the news on television or one of those talk shows where everyone washes their dirty laundry in public. Maybe you were one of those who for the better part of a year were glued to the O.J. Simpson trial. Regardless of which category fits you the result may be pretty much the same: a sense of helplessness, frustration and fear.

There are different ways we can choose to regard all the daily bad news. Alternative one is to reason that none of the bad news has anything to do with you and ignore it. The second option is at the other end of the scale: to feel you personally ought to be doing something about each and every problem the world is facing.

"BIG" OF US

The third choice is to be concerned and respond where and when you can, but leave the outcome in God's hands–which is mighty "big" of us considering that it always has been in his hands. That is one of the enduring values of the Bible–it presents us with the big picture against which all our little pictures have to be viewed. When we begin to despair about a situation in our lives or world, we need to look back, as Isaiah says, and "Hearken to me, you who pursue deliverance, you who seek the Lord, look to the rock from which you were hewn, and to the quarry from which you were digged" (51:1).

The stones our Bible tells are reminders to us that, in the long run, God's will and purpose prevail even though it seems a long time coming. "Look to Abraham, your father," Isaiah says, "and to Sarah who bore you, for when he was but one I called him and I blessed him and made him many" (v.2).

The story of Abraham is the saga of God's faithful providence and Abraham's trust in God, even when the fulfillment of the promise seemed a vain hope.

I pray daily for peace in the former Yugoslavia, in Ireland, in Sri Lanka and elsewhere because I am truly concerned. If and when I get a personal opportunity to do something positive to back up my prayers, I do so. For the rest, I leave it in God's hand and trust that his will and purpose will prevail. I do the same with the problems of our own nation: racial divisiveness, political turmoil, unemployment, social security, medicare, rampant materialism, and so forth. When I have prayed and worked the best I can, the rest is in God's hands.

IN GOD'S HANDS

It is good to be reminded of the big picture: "for the heavens will vanish like smoke, the earth will wear out like a garment, and they who dwell in it will die like gnats..." Why? Because God assures me: "but my salvation will be forever, and my deliverance will never be ended" (51:6). That promise is the one thing that I can trust, the one assurance by which I can live.

I won't say that what others say or do doesn't ever disturb me. But I am learning to live a life that is not anchored to the approval and encouragement of others. I can understand Isaiah's admonition: "fear not the reproach of men, and be not dismayed at their revilings. For the moth will eat them up like a garment, and the worm will eat them like wool, but my deliverance will be forever, and my salvation to all generations" (51:7, 8).

Tomorrow morning when I read my newspaper, you may be sure that, regardless of what the headlines scream, I will keep my mind focused on the big picture.

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

COVER STORY

Hallmark presents a Journey worth taking

BY JOHN CROOK

Meg Tilly

A grandfather tries to help a lonely boy recover from the trauma of being abandoned by his mother in Journey, a poignant Hallmark Hall of Fame offering premiering Sunday, Dec. 10, on CBS.

Two-time Oscar winner Jason Robards stars as Marcus, a crusty patriarch whose clashes with his daughter, Min (Meg Tilly, a 1985 Oscar nominee for Agnes of God), drive her from his household.

As the drama opens, the most recent shouting match between the two peaks when Marcus tells Min not to blame him for the fact that her husband walked out on her and their children, Cat (Eliza Dushku) and Journey (Max Pomeranc, Searching for Bobby Fischer).

Enraged, Min destroys all existing photographs of herself and her family before storming out of the house, leaving her children with Marcus and her mother, Lottie (Oscar winner Brenda Fricker, My Left Foot).

Teen-age Cat is able to channel her anger into chores around the house, but Journey is traumatized by his loss and blames Marcus.

That emotional wound festers until Marcus discovers a way to bring his grandson to understanding and healing. A passionate photographer, Marcus is able, through a camera's lens, to give Journey a sense of where he has come from, as well as who he is now.

Inspiration for this poignant story of loss and reconciliation came during a period of crisis for author Patricia MacLachlan (Sarah, Plain and Tall), who adapted her novel for TV.

"This was the hardest book for me to write, I think, because it's about a mother going away," she says, "and I wrote it when my own mother had Alzheimer's disease and was, in a sense, leaving me. I felt very connected to this theme.

"If Sarah, Plain and Tall is about a family coming together, Journey is about a family coming apart – or at least coming to terms with loss. Maybe in the characters of Marcus and Lottie and their relationship with their 'abandoned' grandchildren, I'm telling myself that there's always somebody to care for you."

The role of Min resonated with Tilly, a mother herself.

"Min ... is obsessing me," the actress admits. "I have three children myself, and trying to figure her out has been a real interesting process for me.

"I've become very protective of Min. If somebody criticizes her, I say, 'Hey, wait a minute. You have got to understand where she's coming from.' "

Tilly says she believes Min's chief dilemma is that she is ill-suited for the traditional female role in farm life.

"That's not Min," she says. "As society sees her, all she is is a big failure. And every time she turns around it's thrown in her face – especially by her father – what a failure she is.

"She's suffocating. So she leaves."

The only real choice Min is given, Tilly says, is whether or not to subject her children to a life on the road.

"She doesn't believe she's a good influence in their lives. And she isn't," she says. "So she excuses herself from their lives. She does the right thing."

Uncanny likenesses lift Kissinger and Nixon

BY JOHN CROOK

State-of-the-art makeup and some uncannily accurate performances enliven Kissinger and Nixon, premiering Sunday, Dec. 10, on TNT.

A virtually unrecognizable Ron Silver and Beau Bridges, respectively, give fascinating impersonations of the two principals at a turning point in American history: the winding down of the war in Vietnam.

Writer and executive producer Lionel Chetwynd does a splendid job of distilling the labyrinthine political processes of the August 1972-January 1973 period – a time when then national security adviser Henry Kissinger frequently found himself working at cross-purposes with President Richard Nixon – into a concise teleplay based in part on Walter Isaacson's Kissinger: A Biography.

"If you look at that time very carefully, including the stresses and strains that ran through the White House, you begin to get total insight into Kissinger and Nixon," says Chetwynd.

"You begin to see the confusion between personal ambition, self-perception and national policy."

In preparation for their roles, both Tony Award winner Silver (Speed-the-Plow) and Emmy winner Bridges (Without Warning: The James Brady Story) worked extensively with dialogue coaches and underwent lengthy makeup and hair transformations. It took three hours to turn Silver into Kissinger; Bridges' Nixon took five hours. The results are astonishing.

"They had great respect for each other because they were interested in the same issues," says Silver, "but I can't imagine two more different personalities."

Beau Bridges (left) portrays President Richard Nixon and Ron Silver plays Henry Kissinger in Kissinger and Nixon, premiering Sunday on TNT.

SOAP TALK

New writers for ATWT; GH mourns Cash

BY CANDACE HAVENS

As the World Turns has hired the prime-time writing team of Stephen Black and Henry Stern.

Stern and Black say they have wanted to do daytime for several years. "We've been waiting for the right project to come along, and this is it," says Black. "After all, the genesis for all the nighttime soaps we've done is daytime, and we've always worked (from) the daytime point of view and philosophy," says Stern.

Black and Stern were discovered by veteran writers and producers Oliver Hailey and George Kirgo and put to work writing CBS comedies before joining Norman Lear.

The team later worked on dramatic shows, including Family, Flamingo Road, Dynasty, Falcon Crest, Knots Landing, Matlock and Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman.

"You could call daytime writers novelists of the air," Stern says. "We've done comedy serials, courtroom dramas and movies of the week. Each has a unique way of telling a story.

"In writing a show like ATWT on a sustained basis, we'll be able to stretch some of our other story muscles."

"What really intrigues us," Black says, "is the opportunity to tell lots of stories."

One character the new team won't be writing for is Andy Dixon. Scott DeFreitas, who plays Andy, will leave the show in early January.

"The fact that Scott has grown up on this show added a strong emotional aspect to this decision," says executive producer John Valente. "Our story plans made it necessary to write the character out."

Scott DeFreitas

The cast, crew and fans of General Hospital were saddened by the death of Rosalind Cash, who played Mary Mae. Cash died of cancer on Oct. 31.

"She was a wonderful woman," says John Ingle of his former castmate.

Fans will miss Cash's wonderful singing voice and the down-home advice she gave the other characters.

In other news, Melissa Reeves is leaving her role as Jennifer on Days of Our Lives temporarily for personal reasons.

"Melissa is having immediate personal problems and needs some time to correct the situation," says executive producer Ken Corday. The role will be recast temporarily.

Fillmore To Be Soloist With WM Symphony

Mezzo-soprano Molly Fillmore, who will sing in the Western Maryland Symphony's Christmas concert Saturday, Dec. 16, is now appearing in the Washington Opera Company's performances of Der Rosenkavalier, by Richard Strauss.

Der Rosenkavalier is one of the most popular of all operas, and the Washington staging has been given rave notices by New York and Washington critics. The Kennedy Center Opera House is sold out for the run of the opera. The Washington Opera, one of the nation's most renowned companies, is under the direction of Placido Domingo, considered one of today's greatest artists.

Miss Fillmore sings the role of one of the noble children of the boorish Baron von Ochs, suitor for the hand of the lovely Sophie, who is foiled by the Cavalier of the Rose. Fillmore, a regular with the company, has appeared as soloist in Madame Butterfly, The Marriage of Figaro and The Dream of Valentino.

Miss Fillmore has sung in the Beethoven Ninth Symphony, Handel's Messiah and the Durufle Requiem. This will be her first appearance with the Western Maryland Symphony in the Gloria by Vivaldi.

Tickets for the Dec. 16 performance at Fort Hill High School, Cumberland, are on sale at the Book Center in Cumberland, Main Street Books in Frostburg, the Book Mark 'et in Oakland, and Main Street Books in Keyser, W.Va. For more information, persons may call 301-724-IWMS.

PE Parent Firm To Buy Generating Unit

Alan J. Noia, president and chief operating officer of Allegheny Power System, Inc. (APS), parent firm of The Potomac Edison Company, announced last week that AYP Capital, a subsidiary of APS, has agreed to buy Duquesne Light Company's 50 percent interest in a coal-fired generating unit at the Fort Martin Power Station near Morgantown, W.Va., for about $170 million.

AYP Capital, APS' wholly-owned, unregulated subsidiary, said it plans to sell the 276 megawatts (MW) of generation as an independent power marketer.

Peter J. Skrgic, a senior vice president of APS, said, "This acquisition demonstrates our commitment to the generation market. We believe this investment furthers our business strategy and positions us as the energy supplier of choice in the deregulated market place and marketing the Fort Martin power will be a top priority for the subsidiary. Allegheny Power will establish a power marketing function to aggressively sell this energy and broker other assets. We believe this energy will be very competitive in the wholesale markets and provide us a strategic base as other markets evolve."

Monongahela Power Company and The Potomac Edison Company own the other half of the No. 1 unit, and, along with West Penn Power, own the No. 2 unit at Fort Martin. All three companies are subsidiaries of APS. The two-unit, 1100-MW station, which began generating electricity in the late 1960s, is operated by Monongahela Power.

Regulatory approvals for the sale are expected in 1996.

Farmers' Market Symbol Found On Tourism Map

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that Maryland Department of Agriculture endorsed farmers' markets will now be easier to locate thanks to an identifying logo appearing on the new Maryland tourism map. In recent years, the Maryland Department of Agriculture has helped to open numerous producer only farmers' markets in every region of the state.

"This logo will assist our citizens and visitors to Maryland in finding these markets so they can purchase fresh fruits and vegetables directly from farmers," Riley said.

There are 63 of these markets identified on the map.

More and more consumers are buying fresh produce at these farmers' markets during the summer and fall harvest months.

"We are finding that once a market gets established, it often becomes part of the regular weekly shopping routine for millions of families. The shopping is fun and the quality and prices are excellent. I believe having these logos on our state maps will help more people find these farmers' markets. I also want to thank the State Highway Administration for putting the farmers' market symbols on the state maps," said Riley.

For more information on farmers' markets in Maryland, interested persons should contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman, Annapolis, MD 21401, or telephone (410) 841-5770.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Acquires New Mammography Unit

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Radiology Department has acquired a new mammography unit, continuing to provide area women with the most current mammography services available.

According to Michael Reed, RT(R), director of radiology services at Garrett Memorial, the new unit allows the patient to be positioned more comfortably during the mammography procedure. The new equipment also photographically imprints the patient's name and other technical information directly onto the x-ray film, necessary for keeping an accurate patient history on file for use during any follow-up studies.

"One of our top priorities is to keep current with the most recent advancements being made in technology," said Reed. "In addition, our team of skillful radiologists and mammographers round out the scope of quality breast care available at Garrett Memorial." Garrett Memorial's mammography program is currently accredited by the American College of Radiology (ACR) and approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Rosalee Finch, Mary Norwish, and Dawn Young provide mammography services for the hospital.

According to the ACR, the American Cancer Society (ACS), and the American Medical Association, one in nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Mammography done in conjunction with breast physical examinations reportedly provides the most accurate diagnosis of early breast cancer. It is recommended by these organizations that the breast cancer screening process be initiated by age 40, consisting of annual clinical examinations and with screening mammography performed at one to two year intervals. Beginning at age 50, the clinical examinations and mammography should be performed on an annual basis.

The ACS also recommends monthly breast self-examination as a routine good health habit for women 20 years or older.

Secretary Warns Faulty Chimneys Can Cause Fires

Eugene A. Conti, Jr, secretary of the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR), warns homeowners to be cautious when having chimneys cleaned and repairs done in preparation for using fireplaces and furnaces this winter.

"We want to alert residents to the very serious threat of fire that can result from improper chimney repairs," said Conti. "Using a licensed contractor helps to ensure that chimney work is performed correctly and the risk of fire is greatly reduced."

Several fires reported in Maryland last winter resulted from improper installation and replacement of chimney liners. In order to avoid these misfortunes this year, homeowners are encouraged to carefully check the credentials of people doing their chimney work.

DLLR's Maryland Home improvement Commission (MHIC) administers a guaranty fund to compensate consumers who encounter poor home improvement work by licensed contractors. This is one of several safeguards available to consumers who use licensed contractors, Conti said. However, no coverage is provided by the fund in cases where unlicensed contractors are used. It is illegal in Maryland for home improvement work to be done by an unlicensed contractor. Any business or individual practicing without a license is subject to criminal fines and/or imprisonment, according to Conti.

For protection against poor home improvement work, consumers may contact the MHIC to ensure that contractors working in their homes are currently licensed. They also may obtain information on the contractor's complaint record. For information about the MHIC and Maryland's home improvement industry, persons may call the MHIC at (410) 333-6309.

HAROLD ROTH
Dec. 9, 1992

If I could have a lifetime wish,
One dream that would come true,
I would pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday and you.
A thousand words can't bring you back,
I know because I've tried.
And neither will a million tears,
I know because I've cried.
It broke my heart to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of me went with you,
The day God called you home.

Sadly missed and loved deeply,
Wife Susie, Sons Jason & Jared

Red Cross Bloodmobile Visit Planned

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will host a bloodmobile visit at the Oakland American Legion, Post 71, on Friday, Dec. 15, from noon until 6 p.m.

"This will be a special donor recognition bloodmobile with homemade cookies and holiday cheer to thank all of our donors for their special gift of life," said Elizabeth Huxford, blood services co-chairman of the Garrett County chapter. "Each and every day, holidays included, patients in our country need more than 20,000 people to donate blood. Every 10 seconds someone in our country needs a blood transfusion. Donated blood is given to people in need - in emergency situations and in planned surgical procedures - both in and out of hospital settings.

She added that all blood types are needed, and because of the greater potential for emergencies during the holidays, hospitals typically experience a greater demand for O positive and O negative blood. "In an emergency," Huxford said, "type O negative blood, found in about 7 percent of the population, can be transfused to 100 percent of the population.

"An adequate, readily available blood supply must be on hand at all times. Because of the testing and screening required on every unit of donated blood, it's too late to recruit donors once an emergency happens. The Red Cross and hospitals must be prepared to respond to any and all patient blood needs every day of the year," she said.

To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Individuals can safely give blood every 56 days. Blood donation consists of registration, a check of vital signs (temperature, pulse, blood pressure, and red blood cell level), a series of health history questions to help ensure that giving blood will be safe for donors and any recipient, donation time, and refreshments. Persons with questions about donor eligibility may call the Red Cross toll-free at 1-800-54BLOOD.

Garrett County residents are among those served through American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region. This region directly serves hospitals, patients, and donors in a 63-county area in Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia, and also supports blood needs experienced by patients elsewhere in hospitals served through the American Red Cross Blood Services.

To further ease the blood donation process and help maintain accurate donation records, donors are encouraged to bring their Red Cross donor card, driver's license, or other form of positive identification with them when they give blood.

THE FINEST STORE FACADE in Garrett County was said to be this one on the front of the Leslie Friend Store in Friendsville. The store, built in 1897 by Fred Fox and George Kolb, is the subject of this 1959 photograph, borrowed from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum. It is published here courtesy of the Historical Society and The Republican. The Society offers both memberships and a variety of books as ideas for holiday gifts, information about which appears in this issue of The Republican.

WVSP, Students Collecting Food, Toys For Needy

The Kingwood Detachment of the West Virginia State Police, and students from Kingwood Elementary School are teaming up for a third year to collect food and new toys, through a program titled, "State Troopers for West Virginia's Needy."

The students will ask parents, friends, and relatives to donate food and new toys for the collection, and troopers will visit the school to talk about the project. Donations may be left at the Kingwood detachment from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, until Dec. 12. The office is located on Rt. 26 South, one-quarter mile past the intersection with Rts. 26 and 7.

"The kids learn important lessons in this," said Kristy Ridenour, a detachment spokesperson, "not only in helping the needy, but their teachers combine math and other skills in the program. And the students teach adults valuable lessons in giving."

The Salvation Army will distribute the toys to deserving children, and food donations will be given to the Food for Preston program which will provide approximately 2,800 Preston Countians with a holiday meal, Ridenour added.

Collection boxes for Food for Preston are also located at Alpine Lake Resort, Terra Alta; Arthurdale Heritage (Dec. 3 only); the Bruceton, Kingwood, and Reedsville branches of Bruceton Bank; Kinderhaus, Valley Professional Plaza, Reedsville; One Valley Bank, Terra Alta; Preston Memorial Hospital, in the old lobby, and Bruceton, Kingwood, and Masontown branches of Wesbanco.

Food for Preston organizers are requesting persons donate only canned vegetables, spaghetti, spaghetti sauce, stuffing mix, pie fillings, flour, all-purpose mix, quick bread mix, toilet tissue, and bath soap. An effort is being made this year to provide each family with the same ingredients, according to a committee spokesperson.

Food for Preston is a project of the Preston County Caring Council, a non-profit organization. Cash donations are also welcome, and will be used to buy fresh fruit and items not donated. They may be sent to: Food for Preston, P.O. Box 238, Kingwood, WV 26537.

To volunteer to collect or sort food, persons may call LaRue DeBastiani, or Julie Sanders at 329-4706 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday; or Shirley Young at 789-6912.

Mtn. Top Choir To Perform Dec. 10

The Mountain Top Community Choir will perform "The First Noel," a Christmas musical, at the Presbyterian Church in Mt. Storm on Sunday, Dec. 10, beginning at 4 p.m.

The choir is under the direction of Pearl Watterworth, and Pastor Dave Watterworth will serve as narrator during the musical.

Beef Project Meeting Slated For 4-H/FFA

A Baby Beef Project Meeting sponsored by the Garrett County Livestock Association will be held on Friday, December 8, at 7 p.m., at the Garrett County Extension Office in Oakland.

Dave Burton, area feed sales representative for Southern States and John Folmsbee, manager of the Southern States Oakland Cooperative will present a program on feeding baby beef project animals and discuss a feed buying program.

All 4-H/FFA members interested in having a beef project for the 1996 year and their parents are invited to attend.

Livestock Association Board Members will also be available to answer questions about the 4-H/FFA Baby Beef Project and the Annual Livestock Sale.

Tagging procedures for baby beef will be the same as in past years - complete details and cards are being sent to 4-H club organizational leaders and FFA advisors. Members interested in a baby beef project should contact their leader/advisor or the Extension Office at (301) 334-1990.

Market Animal Ownership Rules For 4-H/FFA Noted

Garrett County youth interested in raising, showing and selling baby beef market animals through the Garrett County 4-H or FFA programs are reminded that the animals must be purchased and eartagged by January 1, 1996. If a youth is not currently enrolled in either program, but interested in participating, they are encouraged to contact the Garrett County Extension Office immediately at 334-1990. Currently enrolled youth should contact their club leader or FFA advisor for details on identification procedures.

If youth are interested in participating in the program with market lambs, market hogs and veal calves, these youth also need to contact the Extension Office about joining 4-H. Deadline for ownership of these animals is later in the spring, but membership in 4-H is required by January 31, 1996.

To participate in the programs, youth must be eight years of age by January 1, 1996, and not over age 19 by January 1, 1996. For additional information about 4-H and the Livestock Programs, those interested should contact the Extension Office at 334-1990.

Grain And Egg Licenses Now Being Accepted

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Maryland Department of Agriculture is now accepting applications for 1996 Grain Dealers Licenses as well as applications for Shell Egg Distributor Licenses.

"Anyone buying, receiving or storing grain from a grain producer is required to obtain a Grain Dealers License each year. Farmers who buy, receive or store grain for use in their farming business are exempt from the licensing requirement," Riley said.

All applicants are required to submit documentation of financial worth and insurance coverage before being issued a license. License fees range from $50 to $300, depending on the volume of grain handled by the licensee.

"As far as the Shell Egg Distributer License is concerned, all producer-packers and wholesalers of shell eggs are required to register annually," said Riley.

The annual registration fee for a Shell Egg Distributor License is $30. Persons with 3,000 or less chickens are exempt from all fees.

For more information and to request either the Grain Dealers or Shell Egg Distributor applications, those interested should contact Deanna Baldwin at the Maryland Department of Agriculture at (410) 841-5769.

MARYLAND FORESTS

by Patrice Jastrzembski

No other tree is scrutinized like a Christmas tree. Most people have a very specific idea of exactly what size, shape, and type of tree is needed to brighten their holidays.

More than 30 species of conifers are used for Christmas trees in the U.S., with the most common being Douglas fir, Scotch pine, and balsam fir. Regardless of the species, the most popular trees are 6-8 feet tall and have a pyramidal shape with the base no wider than 70 percent of the height.

It is a rare tree in the wild that grows to the strict specifications required by the buyer. Because of this, practically all Christmas trees sold commercially are grown on plantations. In the United States more than 30 million trees are harvested from Christmas tree farms annually. Christmas tree farms range from a few acres to many hundreds of acres in size.

While Christmas comes but once a year, growing Christmas trees is a year-round job regardless of the size of the operation.

Harvest time is the busiest time of year for the Christmas tree farmer. If the trees are cut and sent to market, then the farmer must harvest, bale, and transport the trees long before the holiday season begins. If the trees are on a "Chose and Cut" farm, then the farmer must tag the trees and prepare for hundreds of visitors.

Maryland boasts many Christmas tree farms. One popular "Chose and Cut" farm is P&J Tree Farm, located in Delmar, north of Salisbury. The owners, Jay and Pat Bozman, started their tree farm in 1980 when their first child was born. The farm was started as an investment toward their children's education fund.

P&J Tree Farm is a "Chose and Cut" tree farm. They allow their customers to roam the fields to find the perfect tree to cut. Many people enjoy cutting down their own tree. In addition to knowing that the tree is fresh, many claim it adds to the holiday experience.

P&J Tree Farm is a family business. Each weekend in December the Bozman's children, parents, siblings, nieces, and nephews open the farm for business. Jay Bozman proudly states that, "Running the farm has brought his entire family closer together and it's fun."

Located on the opposite side of the state one will find a Christmas tree farm called Pinetum Enterprises, Inc. This 160-acre farm is located in Swanton, north of Oakland. The owners are E. Marshall and Cindy Stacy. Currently there are 140,000 trees growing on their farm. Each year approximately 8,000 trees are harvested and sold at retail lots in the Washington, D.C. area.

In addition to retail sales, Pinetum Enterprises, Inc. specializes in very large Christmas trees. This year alone the farm shipped a 50-foot tree to the Metro Tech Center in New York City; a 45-foot tree to Reston Town Center in Virginia; a 34-foot tree to city hall in Jersey City, N.J.; and a 34-foot tree to Tysons Corners shopping mall in Virginia.

November is extremely busy for the Stacy's, the eight people they employ, and the many teens that do community service on the farm. Thousands of trees must be ready for shipment by December. This year an early snow storm dumped more than two feet of snow on the farm, seriously decreasing the number of trees that will go to market. When the temperature drops below 26 or the trees are snow covered, they cannot be baled or the branches will break off.

Marshall Stacy says he, "tries not to get stressed out at times like this, but it is difficult when payday comes only once a year." Regardless of the surprises Mother Nature has for Stacy, running the farm is a lifestyle he has loved for the past 26 years.

P&J Tree Farm is open every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in December. The address is: P&J Tree Farm, 31315 East Line Rd., Delmar, MD (410) 896-9257.

Christmas trees from Pinetum Enterprise, Inc. Christmas Tree Farm will only be sold at one location this year due to early snow storms. The lot opens the first weekend in December and stays open seven days a week, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. The lot is located at the Howard County YMCA on Rt. 103 in Columbia.

DO YOU NEED A WINTER JOB?

Where is your list of all the service and repairs that are needed on your machinery? Now, I know a lot of you are probably just like me in that the repair was "patch-work" to get through the job and mostly forgotten until the busy time of spring. Winter is a good time to spread-out the repair and maintenance of the machinery. Here are some items that should be checked on all engines:

1) Oil leakage. I have been in many machinery sheds with oil spots all over the floor. Where is all this oil coming from? Check all the lines and external parts to see if they are tight or in need of replacement. Change the oil and the filter.

2) Electrical System. Battery corrosion depletes battery life. Clean off the corrosion with baking soda. Check the cells for water or acid. Clean and tighten down the battery cables. Check the operation of the alternator or generator gauge.

3) Cooling system. With the engine and crankcase oil cold, loosen the crankcase drain plug and carefully turn it out to see if any water seeps out. If water in present, locate the cause of the cooling system leak. Inspect the cooling system for leaks, deteriorated hoses, bent or clogged radiator fins, and slipping fan belts.

4) Air intake system. Check the air intake system for leaks and restrictions. Air filters is a good place to start. This past spring I found a dead mouse with a large nest built in the air filter. I still can't visualize how the mouse got in that small enclosed area. The proper amount of clean air must reach the engine for top performance.

5) Fuel system. Check all lines and the fuel filter. Filters should be changed at least once a year. Tillage equipment should be checked and repaired if needed and then stored out of the weather. Disk harrowed gangs should be tightened and all bearings inspected and replaced if needed. Disks should be replaced if worn excessively.

Hydraulic hoses should be checked for leaks and wear. Nothing is more aggravating than a hose to burst out in the field. Check all the tires on equipment for pressure and wear. Make sure all bolts are tightened down or replaced if worn. Planters should be checked to see that the drive mechanism turns freely and operates properly. Seed hoppers should be cleaned.

Make yourself a checklist of "things-to-do." When everything is checked off as completed, you are assured of a more efficient operation in the spring.

SHS MACHINISTS CONSTRUCT, DONATE REGISTRATION POSTS - Members of the Southern High School machine tool class recently constructed and donated three metal posts for use as camper self-registration stations in Potomac-Garrett State Forest. Park personnel submitted the plans for the posts, Mettiki Coal Corporation donated the materials, and the 13-member class contributed the hours of labor necessary to craft the posts. The students used advanced welding techniques, optical eye flame tracing, a vertical band saw, hand grinders, files, prick punching, and precision geometric layout to manufacture the posts. In the process, a number of precision guides were made to reproduce the posts. During the construction phase, safety was the students' number one priority, a forest spokesperson stated. So far, three registration posts have been completed and installed in the state forest. Participating students, pictured left to right, front row, are Steve Bargy, Kevin Shaffer, Bryan O'Connell, Jason Beachy, Brian Treasler, Jason McCroskey, Robert Sines, and Instructor Delbert Liller. In the back row, same order, are students Royce Moreland, Cody Hardesty, Zendll Bittinger, John Hinebaugh, and Paul Hardyshell. Not pictured is student Shawn Kitzmiller. The class is currently working on two more posts.

Local Audubon Christmas Bird Count Slated

As part of the National Audubon Society's 96th Christmas Bird Count, slated for Dec. 16 to Jan. 2, an event which is expected to include more than 44,000 human volunteers, a group of local bird watchers will conduct the annual Oakland Christmas Bird Count on December 16.

This year marks the 96th anniversary since 27 conservationists decided to protest the traditional bird shoot, and instead of killing birds counted them on Christmas Day, 1900. The event originated as a protest to the traditional holiday 'side hunt' in which teams competed to see who could shoot the most birds and animals in one day.

Today, volunteers from all 50 states, every Canadian province, parts of Central and South America, Bermuda, the West Indies, and Pacific islands will count and record every individual bird and bird species encountered during one calendar day. About 1,700 individual Christmas bird counts will be held during a two and a half week period.

Each count group is designated circle 15 miles in diameter -- about 177 square miles -- and the counters attempt to cover as much of this area as possible within a 24-hour period. The data collected by each count group are then sent to National Audubon Society headquarters in New York and published in a special book-sized edition of National Audubon Society Field Notes magazine.

The center of the Oakland count's 15-mile circle is located at the intersection of Lakeshore Drive and Mayhew Inn Road. The circle includes the Deep Creek Lake area as well as a sliver of Preston County, W.Va.

Apart from its attraction as a social, sporting, and competitive event, the annual count reveals interesting and scientifically useful information on the early-winter distribution patterns of various bird species and the overall health of the environment, an Audubon spokesperson stated.

According to the society, the Audubon Christmas Bird Count is the longest running ornithological database.

"As we approach the count's centennial, it continues to grow in importance as a means to monitor the status of resident and migratory bird populations across the western hemisphere," the spokesperson stated. "The count is 100 percent volunteer-generated data that, over the years, has become a crucial part of the National Biological Service's database.

"It is currently in jeopardy of being eliminated. At this time, Congress is considering banning the inclusion of volunteer generated data from all governmental studies and inventories. For nearly a century, the Christmas Bird count has provided invaluable insight into the past and present status and health of continental bird populations, as well as the general health of our environment," the spokesperson concluded.

All counts are open to bird watchers of all skill levels. For more information about the Oakland count, persons may call Connie Skipper at 387-5227.

FSU To Present "Carmina Burana"

The Music Department at Frostburg State University will present Carmina Burana by Carl Orff under the direction of Dr. Karen Soderberg, on Sun., Dec. 10 at 3 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall in the Performing Arts Center. This performance celebrates the birth year of Carl Orff (1895-1982).

Carmina Burana is considered to be one of the most universally popular works produced in the 20th century. The texts of Carmina Burana (songs from Benedict-Beuern) are taken from a 13th century manuscript found in a secularized monastery at Benedict-Beuern near Munich, in the early 19th century. It is divided into three parts under the titles of "Spring," "In the Tavern" and "Love."

The work will be performed by the Collegium Musicum and University Chorale, FSU Children's Choir, directed by Maria Dolan, the FSU Percussion Ensemble, directed by Ron Horner, and duo-pianists Joan DeVee Dixon and Betty Jane Phillips from Astoria, Oregon. Soloists include Cumberland resident tenor Shannon Lewis, soprano Laura Rushing Raynes of Drake University, and baritone Christopher Raynes from Drake University, and Southwestern School for Music Vocations in DesMoines, Iowa.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 20 Braddock Street, (301) 687-4102, TDD (301) 687-7955.

Galloway To Lead Scandinavia Trip

Friendsville Elementary School Principal Gary Galloway is currently organizing a tour of Denmark, Sweden, and Norway for July, 1996.

The 15-day excursion will depart from Pittsburgh on July 15 and will include visits to Copenhagen, Frederiksborg Castle, Lake Vattern, Stockholm, Sigtuna, Mora, Lillehammer, Borgund's stave church, Bergen, Oslo, Heddal, and Odense as well as a fjord cruise.

Transportation within Europe will be by motorcoach and steamer cruises. The tour package includes airfare, two meals per day, tour guides, lodging, and admission fees.

The tour is being coordinated through Passports, a Massachusetts-based company that arranges trips for students and adults. In the past, Galloway has taken groups to Europe and the South Pacific, a press release stated.

Interested persons may contact Galloway at 334-8103.

ALL JUNIORS AND SENIORS at Northern and Southern high schools will receive a copy of U.S. News and World Report's "America's Best Colleges," thanks to local State Farm Insurance agent Rob Michael. Michael's donation will provide the students with a wide range of information concerning colleges and universities throughout the United States. This information, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, complements one of the high schools' goals: increasing the percentage of students who attend post high school institutions of learning. Pictured above from left to right, seated, are Southern High School students Chad Maroney, Megan Redinger, and Angela Shafer, who agreed to review the publication; and standing, Dr. Ryscavage, Michael, and Beverly Serpone, a SHS guidance counselor.

WHEELCHAIR DONATED TO GCMH -- The Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital has donated a wheelchair with accompanying IV pole to the hospital's obstetrics (OB) unit. The 22-inch, extra wide chair will increase the comfort of obstetrical patients arriving to and departing from the unit, according to Garrett Memorial's OB nurse manager Charlene Bennett, RNC. The wheelchair also has added benefits for the OB nursing staff. "Because the wheelchair is very maneuverable and can be connected to the IV pole, transporting the patient is easier for the nursing staff while providing increased comfort for the patient," said Bennett. "The OB staff is very appreciative of the Loar Auxiliary's generous contribution to our unit." Pictured with the new wheelchair, from left, are: Shirley Rounds, RN; auxiliary volunteer Eleanor Plachta; nursing assistant Ida Durben; and Ms. Bennett.

Raley Will Run For Board Of Ed.

Finzel resident Jim Raley has announced that he will run for a seat on the Garrett County Board of Education in the November, 1996, election.

Raley, who currently works as a teacher in the Allegany County school system, formerly taught for 14 years at Southern Middle School, Oakland, and served as president of the Garrett County Teachers Association for seven years.

"Education is about opportunity, and providing children with that opportunity is the responsibility of every person who touches their lives," Raley commented in a recent press release. "I see the responsibility of the school board to promote opportunity for children and not a bureaucracy and impediment to progress."

He added that he regularly attended local school board meetings during his years as a Garrett county teacher.

Raley is president-elect of the Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association, president of the Eastern Garrett Recreation and Parks Association, and chief of the Eastern Garrett County Fire Company. He has been a resident of Garrett County for 32 years, and lives with his wife and two children.

More Rx Medicines Recommended for OTC

Drug companies are continuing to apply to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to have certain prescription drugs approved for over-the-counter (OTC) use. According to an article in a recent issue of Patient Care, there are more than 600 OTC products with ingredients that were available only by prescription just 20 years ago. The report further indicates that of all the medicines prescribed by physicians today, about 10 percent are OTC.

When these and other prescription-only medicines became OTC, the FDA made certain that manufacturers' labels and package inserts were easy to read and understand. According to the article in Patient Care, the following medicine types may be considered in the future for OTC status: cholesterol-lowering agents, nicotine gum, topical antifungals, muscle relaxants, certain acne medicines, urinary infection fighters.

Revised Blues' Rate Package Is Announced

The Maryland Insurance Administration has approved new rates for the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland Medigap and Over-65 programs covering some 90,000 Maryland citizens The approved rates represent an overall average increase of about 5.5 percent, though particular changes may range from a reduction of 6.5 percent to an increase of 14.4 percent in premium rates.

"The initial rate filing by the Blues requested rate increases averaging about 12 percent. However, after careful examination by our agency's actuarial unit of the voluminous statistical material substantiating the filing, and with the acquiescence of the management of the Blues, a more than 50 percent reduction was achieved," insurance Commissioner Dwight K. Bartlett III said.

"I am extremely concerned about any additional burden placed on our elderly citizens who depend largely on fixed incomes. Much detailed deliberation was involved in rendering the final approval."

The original request was modified in the areas of specific profit loads and projected claims costs. In two prior years, the Maryland Insurance Administration approved an overall 12.9 percent increase, effective January 1, 1994 and an overall four percent reduction, effective January 1, 1995.

VOL NO. 118 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1995 PER COPY 47¢ Printed on RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

DESPITE HIS EXTREMELY BUSY SCHEDULE this time of the year, jolly old St. Nick took some time yesterday to make some special visits to some special people in Mtn. Lake Park, where he delivered hugs, candy, and other gifts. Santa is pictured above on a rather odd looking "sleigh" that was being driven by Kevin Biser. Below, he makes his entrance at Meadows East, a housing complex for some of the town's older citizens. At right, he extends merry Christmas offerings to resident Helen Bowers. Santa was also present at the Mtn. Lake Park town hall last night to meet and greet local children, listen to their requests for Christmas, and then send them on their way with a candy treat. Travel for Santa and all local residents was made both difficult and hazardous last night because of freezing rain conditions that led to a day off from school today for Garrett County students. Temperatures have moderated today and are predicted to remain above freezing for the next few days.

Fire Damages Grantsville Area House

A Grantsville area house sustained major damage from a fire that broke out in the basement of the one-story wood-frame structure Sunday afternoon.

Left homeless by the blaze was the family of Paul Robert Wilt, his wife, Melissa Yvonne Wilt, and their two daughters, ages 6 and 4.

Volunteer fire fighters from Bittinger and Grantsville were summoned to the residence, located at 99 Wilt Road off Bear Hill Road at 2:31 p.m. The blaze was discovered by the family upon their return home.

The 35 firemen who responded got the fire under control in about 30 minutes, but fire, heat, smoke, and water damage was extensive throughout the house. Deputy State Fire Marshal Bruce Shafer estimated the damages to be approximately $30,000.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade unit, currently being housed at the Deer Park Community VFD, and the Northern Rescue Squad. Placed on stand-by were the Accident and Salisbury, Pa., VFDs. There were no injuries reported.

Shafer's investigation into the cause of the fire led to an electric service panel in a utility room in the basement. Flames from that room extended onto the first floor.

According to Shafer, the Wilt family is being assisted by family and friends in the area.

Local Students Make History In School Performance Report

A celebration of the achievements of Garrett County students took place at the start of the monthly Board of Education meeting Tuesday evening, following the release of the state's annual report card on public schools Garrett County was recognized as the first subdivision in Maryland to reach a Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) standard.

According to Paul Harr, coordinator of accountability and assessment for the Board of Education, 71.3 percent of Garrett County's eighth graders tested in the area of science for the 1995 results met a satisfactory level on the tests. An MSPAP satisfactory standard is met when a 70 percent or greater performance is reported. "In addition to meeting the science standard, this group of students was very close to reaching other satisfactory standard levels with a 64.5 percent score in writing, a 68.4 percent score in language usage, and a 65 percent score in mathematics," stated Assistant Superintendent of Curriculum Al Coviello. "These eighth graders, who are now in their ninth grade year, had the highest percentage in the state in five of the six testing areas."

The 71.3 percent score in the eighth grade science area exceeded the state average by over 25 percent. Garrett County's eighth graders passed state averages in all six tested categories, while third grade scores were higher in four of the six categories, and fifth graders led in one of six categories.

Students are tested through the MSPAP in the areas of reading, writing, language usage, mathematics, science, and social studies, with the goal of reaching percentages of at least 70 percent at the satisfactory level and 25 percent at the excellent level to meet standard by the year 2000.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Garrett County public school system met 12 of the 13 original standards within the program. With a 1995 dropout rate of 3.85 percent, a satisfactory standard has not yet been met in this area.

County Woman Hospitalized After Two-Car Mishap

A Friendsville woman was injured Monday morning in a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 42, near the Kisner Road, according to Maryland State Police at Barrack W, McHenry.

Tammy S. Lawson, 28, was reportedly traveling south on Rt. 42 when she lost control of her vehicle on a curve in the road after it struck a patch of ice. The car began to spin and crossed into the northbound lane, directly into the path of a dump truck driven by 36-year-old Richard Allan Capan, Oakland.

According to the police report, Capan's truck struck Lawson's vehicle near the front right tire, and the impact sent her car off the southbound lane and into a wooded area, where it struck a tree.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Capan truck, 56-year-old Richard L. Tasker, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern and Southern rescue squads. Lawson was admitted and remains listed in "guarded but stable condition" in the intensive care unit. Capan and Tasker were reportedly treated and released.

Volunteers from the Friendsville fire department also responded to the 8:15 a.m. accident. Lawson was charged with failure to keep right of center.

YOUTH INJURED IN MONDAY MISHAP

Following Spill, MDE Announces It Will Review Public Notice Policies

As a result of concerns stemming from the Maryland Department of the Environment's decision not to publicize a Mettiki coal slurry spill that blackened water in the Potomac River, an MDE official has announced that the department will review it's public notice policies.

At the same time, MDE officials credited Mettiki Coal Corporation for promptly informing local and state MDE personnel about the spill and acting swiftly to clean up the mess. According to a MDE chronology, Mettiki notified the department of the spill 35 minutes after mine employees discovered the source of the leak.

The September 18 spill caused some 70,000 gallons of coal slurry to flow free, with some of the material entering Laurel Run, causing the water to appear black. The spill was the subject of a well-attended public informational meeting held in the Southern Middle School cafeteria last week.

"The department was notified on the night of the spill by Mettiki Mine Corporation, who immediately shut off the flow of sludge from the water treatment plant to the area where it was discharging to Laurel Run," stated J.L. Hearn, head of the MDE Water Management Administration, at the meeting. "They, the following day, hired a contractor to come in and do whatever was possible to contain the spill."

As a result of run-off from past mining operations, Laurel Run is currently devoid of fish life. However, the stream has been undergoing lime treatments to raise the water's Ph level and make the stream habitable by fish.

Hearn stressed that the spill did not pose a health threat to humans, but conceded that the MDE erred in not immediately notifying the public of the spill.

"I just want to say, on behalf of the department, that in hindsight, in this particular case, given the magnitude of the spill, we should have provided public notice . . .," Hearn stated. "I will say that whenever there is any threat whatsoever to public health, such as drinking water, we do issue a public notice . . .

"On spill events we have not routinely issued notice, but certainly we are going to reexamine our policies, and in the future, a spill of this magnitude will be put out on public notice," Hearn added.

House Of Hope Food Drive Set For Saturday

The 18th Annual WKHJ House of Hope Food Drive will get underway Saturday, Dec. 16, in front of Proudfoot's Pharmacy, Oakland.

According to Chuck Nolan, organizer for the event, canned and frozen food, as well as cash donations will be accepted from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Collected items will be used to supply House of Hope's pantries located in Oakland, Deer Park, and Bittinger. The three locations are staffed by nuns and volunteers.

During the past year, House of Hope has fed 376 families, including 623 adults and 554 children, Nolan said. Other services offered by the non-profit organization include aiding stranded travelers, helping fire victims, and offering emergency electrical assistance.

Garrett County high school students can earn community service hours by offering their assistance during Saturday's food drive, according to Nolan, and a special visit by Santa Claus is planned.

Md. State Police Arrest Juveniles For Theft, DOP

Three juveniles who reportedly escaped from the Backbone Mountain Youth Center on Dec. 8 were taken into custody Saturday evening and released to the juvenile intake officer with Juvenile Services, but not before they stole a vehicle, broke into a shed, and caused destruction of property in the Grantsville area, according to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

The juveniles reportedly hitchhiked to Grantsville, where they allegedly stole a 1985 Plymouth belonging to Gary L. Yoder, and then wrecked it. The report indicated the three then broke into a car owned by Richard A. Towers, where they broke a window and damaged a door. After that, they apparently broke into a shed belonging to John J. Braskey, and damaged the steering column on his van that was parked inside.

Ifc. Timothy Sivic, the investigating officer, reported the juveniles were apprehended at approximately 8 p.m. on Interstate 68, west of Grantsville, after they reportedly caught a ride. They have been charged with breaking and entering, theft, destruction of property, and escape.

County Receives Shelter Grant For Homeless

Garrett County has been awarded a $10,000 grant from Maryland's Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) to help prevent individuals and families from becoming homeless, Governor Parris N. Glendening announced last week. The Garrett County Community Action Committee will use the funds county-wide for one-time cash assistance to eligible persons and families facing eviction or mortgage foreclosure because of emergency circumstances.

"This grant will help us in the continuance of this important program to aid families facing homelessness through eviction," said Duane Yoder, executive director of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc.

The award is part of a $509,000 Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) federal grant allocated to the state for use in up to 19 eligible, non-entitlement jurisdictions. Five entitlement jurisdictions receive separate allocations directly from HUD: Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties.

Sheets, Peterson, Clever To Be Accompanists For Choral Society

There will be three instrumental accompanists for this weekend's presentation of Bach's Christmas Oratorio by the Garrett Choral Society, according to Nancy Learey, Society director.

Organist for the concerts, which will be presented at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland, will be Oakland dentist, Dr. David Sheets, while accompanying on flute will be Susan Peterson and Marjorie Clever, both local music educators.

Dr. Sheets, a native of Meadville, Pa., has been a practicing dentist in Garrett County since 1979. He holds a bachelor of arts degree in music history and composition from the University of Pittsburgh and a doctor of dental medicine degree from the University of Pittsburgh School of Dentistry.

Prior to moving to Garrett County, Dr. Sheets was a pianist with the Lawrence Welk Orchestra, as well as for various rock groups in the 1950s. He is a veteran of the United States Army, in which he toured and performed with USO shows while achieving the rank of sergeant.

Since residing in Garrett County he has been a pianist/organist accompanist for numerous concerts and musicals for the Garrett Choral Society and other vocal groups. He served as the organist at St. Paul's United Methodist Church for 14 years.

Susan Peterson, who moved to Oakland with her family eight years ago, has a wide range of musical experience, from playing flute with community bands and orchestras, to acting and singing in musicals and operas, to traveling and playing in rock bands in the 1970s and '80s, to performing for parties and weddings with her husband, Tom.

She holds a bachelor of music education degree from the College of Woos-

The concerts, slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, will be presented at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland, and the instrument Sheets will be playing is one he is certainly familiar with, as he served as St. Paul's organist for 14 years. Providing flute accompaniment will be Susan Peterson and Marjorie Clever. See story for details.

Board To Meet With Legislators

The Garrett County Board of Education will be meeting with Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards at the Board of Education Office in Oakland on Monday, December 18. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss legislation having to do with the operation of public schools.

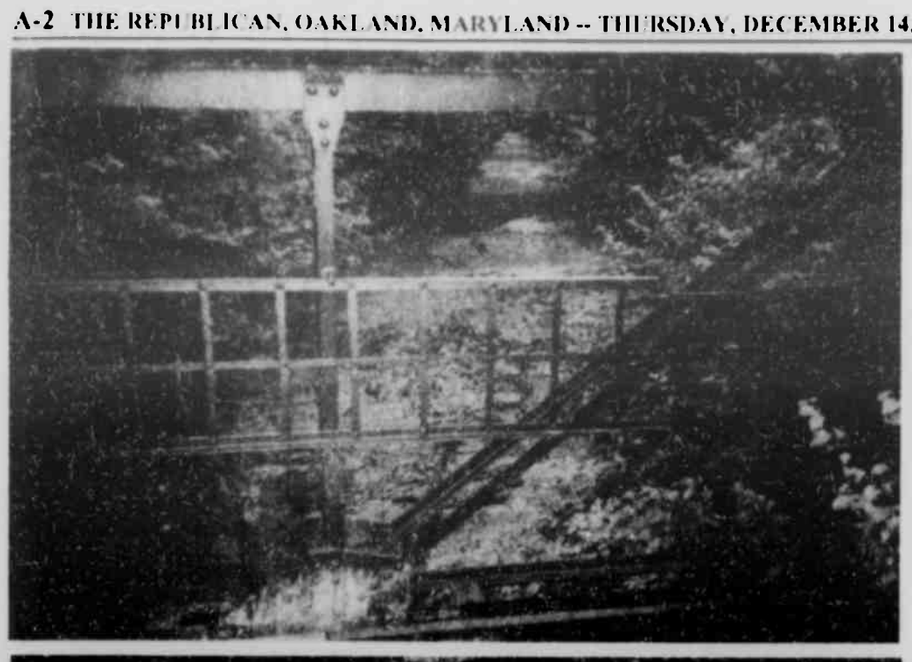
The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. and the public is welcome to attend, according to Dr. Jerome J. Ryscavage, superintendent of schools.

Bear Case Leads To Second Arrest

A second person has been arrested in connection with a recent investigation by the Natural Resources Police (NRP) that led to the recent arrest of a McHenry man.

James Theodore Conner, 34, Ashton, has been charged with possession of a black bear during closed season, which is a must appear violation, according to a spokesperson for the NRP.

NRP Officer John Milbourne made the arrest in connection with a search and seizure warrant served on Kurt Meyr, Hoves Run Road, on Nov. 26. The charges against Conner state that he assisted Meyr in disposing of the bear carcass.



A trial date for the suspect has been set for March 20, 1996, in Garrett County District Court.

THE TOWN OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK recently began a major sewer repair program throughout the corporate limits. The project will replace approximately 17,000 lineal feet of deteriorated pipe and will involve the replacement/repair of approximately 39 manholes and clean-outs, according to project manager Wendell Keaton. In addition to removing ground water from the collection system (which ultimately flows into the Trout Run Treatment Plant), these repairs will eliminate raw sewage overflows and residential back-ups. Funding for the project is being provided by a $300,000 grant from the Maryland Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program, a $130,000 grant from the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE), $340,000 in low interest loan funds from MDE, and $55,000 in local funds. Alvarez Contractors of Oakland is the low bidder for the project. Shown above during a recent groundbreaking ceremony for the project, shown left to right, are Vaughn Winters, subcontractor; Cecil Jackson, council member; Morgan France, engineer; David Turney, meyor; Kevin Biser, sewer foreman; Robert Demon, council member; Wendell Keaton, project manager; Randolph Reichard, council member; and Charles McIntyre, council member. Not present for the photo was council member Becky Williams.

STICKY SITUATION - At a recent public meeting in Oakland, an official with the Maryland Department of the Environment stated that the public should have been officially notified when approximately 70,000 gallons of coal slurry spilled in Southern Garrett County on Sept. 18. The accident was not publicized, the MDE representative explained, because the spill posed no health threat to humans. The slurry leaked from a Mettiki Coal Corporation well head into Laurel Run. Pictured left, top, is how the stream looked from the Dobbin Road bridge the day after the spill. Above, contractors hired by Mettiki used vacuum trucks to suck up the sludge. Pictured left, bottom, on Oct. 29 the stream flowed with a more natural color. At last week's public meeting, the MDE official praised Mettiki for quickly reporting and cleaning up the spill.

Following Spill

Later in the meeting, Hearn asserted that it was never the intent of the department to keep information regarding the spill from the public.

"It [the spill] should have involved notice to the public. It did not. I said at the very outset [of the meeting], in hindsight, we made a mistake. We're here to acknowledge that tonight," Hearn remarked. "The department is reassessing its policies overall in respect to spill notification.

"I can assure you . . . we do not cover up anything," Hearn added. "We made a mistake. We should have notified the public and we didn't. It's that simple . . . Our files are open to inspection to anyone who cares to look at them at any time."

Although the MDE has reported receiving only four calls from the public concerning the spill, Hearn remarked that an editorial printed in the Nov. 29 issue of the Cumberland Times-News spurred the department to convene last week's public meeting. The editorial questioned the state's decision not to publicize the spill when it occurred.

Hearn also commented that most of the approximately 800 industrial spills that the MDE responds to each year occur in populated areas, thus making public notice unnecessary.

"The majority of those spills are on areas that are public access, for example, a tanker truck turning over . . .," Hearn told the crowd, composed mostly of Mettiki employees and their families, at the Oakland meeting. "The department, as a matter of routine, does not provide public notice when there is a spill, because 99 times out of 100 the public knows about it and is inconvenienced by the fact that it is disrupting major transportation."

The Sept. 18 spill originated at an injection well head in a relatively unpopulated, wooded area near the Mettiki mine.

Scott Boylan, the MDE's regional chief of enforcement for Western Maryland, also spoke at last week's meeting and chronicled the events following the spill.

At 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 18, Mettiki was informed by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Services that a 911 caller had reported seeing discolored water in a stream near the mine, Boylan reported. Mettiki employees found the source of the leak at 7:50 p.m. and shut off the pump supplying slurry to the well head at 8:08 p.m., Boylan added.

Mettiki called local MDE inspectors at their residences with news of the accident at 8:25 p.m., and MDE offices in Baltimore were notified by Mettiki at 10:20 a.m. the following morning.

The informational meeting was also attended by Jack Bowen, state-wide supervisor of inspection and compliance for the MDE; Bowen's deputy Tom Boone; Scott Boylan, the MDE's regional chief of enforcement for Western Maryland; Boylan's deputy Bill Limpert; Ray Karlstrand, the inspector assigned to the site; and representatives of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Administration.

Glen Besa, a representative of the Sierra Club, was also present, along with Mettiki managers and approximately 50 Mettiki employees.

While showing slides depicting the spill site and clean-up effort, Boylan stated that on Sept. 19 at 6:45 a.m., MDE inspectors arrived at the scene of the spill. Fifteen minutes later, contractors hired by Mettiki arrived and began scooping and vacuuming up the black sludge, he said.

Inspectors reported that the sludge leaked from a bore hole, used to pump refuse coal into old mines, and flowed along Dobbin Road for approximately 1,000 feet, at which point the slurry entered Laurel Run.

Vacuum trucks were used to collect sludge for a distance of approximately 500 feet downstream from where the sludge entered Laurel Run, Boylan stated, adding that by 4 p.m. on Sept. 19, 90 percent of the surface spillage had been cleaned up.

However, on Oct. 11, an adjacent landowner reported seeing pockets of sludge in remote areas of the stream. The MDE dispatched an inspector to the scene, and some pockets of sludge were recorded.

Near the end of October, after obtaining permission from landowners, Mettiki began a two-person boat operation in which workers traveled downstream to clean up these remaining pockets, Boylan said.

Also at the end of October, the MDE first received calls from citizens complaining of discolored water in the Potomac River, Boylan commented. This discoloration, Boylan stated, was "directly attributed" to the boat operation, which apparently dislodged some of the remaining sludge in Laurel Run.

Mettiki continued its clean-up efforts until Nov. 15 when almost three feet of snow blanked the area. The resulting thaw and high stream waters washed the remainder of the sludge solids away, Boylan said.

He commented that another instance of high water may wash more residual sludge down river, but added that he believes the majority of the sludge is gone.

On Dec. 3, MDE inspectors walked down stream from the spill site and spotted some residual sludge in isolated pockets. However, Boylan commented that cleaning up these pockets would require the construction of a new access road, an undertaking that the MDE believes would have a greater negative effect on the stream than the remaining sludge.

Jim Ashby, Mettiki environmental coordinator, spoke at the meeting and stated that the slurry line and the well head was equipped

Our Saviour

When the fullness of time was come,
God sent forth His well beloved Son,
Though heaven and earth He had made,
Twas in a manger He was laid.

Into the world He came to live,
Not for Himself, He came to give
His life a ranson for us all.
To redeem us from Adam's fall.

He healed the lame and raised the dead,
As by the Spirit He was led.
He did not sin. He could not sin,
As He was God as well as man.

On the cross He suffered and died,
Then back to heaven to abide,
To give salvation by His grace
To whom by faith will seek His face.
(II Corinthians 9:15)

ATVs Seized By DNR Police

Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) seized a Honda three-wheeler all terrain vehicle (ATV) and a Suzuki four-wheeler ATV on Saturday from Robert Edward Shaffer, 51, of Jennings Rd., Grantsville, and Robert Edward Shaffer, Jr., 29, Bear Hill Rd., Jennings, as a result of alleged trespassing on private property and poaching south of Maple Grove Rd., and west of Route 495 and Casselman River.

The two were issued citations for: failure to field tag deer before removing it from place of kill ($70 fine each); and hunting deer on private property without written permission ($110 fine each). A trial date of March 21 has been set for both individuals if they choose to stand trial.

If individuals are allegedly trespassing and poaching on an ATV, the NRP will seize the vehicle.

Battery, DWI Arrests Made

Garrett County sheriff's deputies recently arrested local persons on charges of battery and driving while intoxicated (DWI).

After responding to an apparent domestic dispute at the Kitzmiller residence of Tim and Amy Tichinel in the early morning hours of Dec. 7, a sheriff's office deputy arrested Mr. Tichinel, age 25, for alleged battery.

According to police documents, the couple was reportedly arguing about Mr. Tichinel going hunting when Mr. Tichinel allegedly struck Mrs. Tichinel, age 19, in the face with his hand. The deputy also reported that he saw a red mark on the woman's left cheek.

A 22-year-old Oakland woman was arrested for DWI at 1:30 a.m. on Dec. 2 following a traffic stop. Police records indicate that Nina M. Ryan was driving a 1985 Honda west-bound on Md. Highway when a deputy followed her and allegedly paced her car at 72 miles per hour. The deputy turned on his emergency lights and Ryan pulled off the road on Hillcrest Drive, the deputy's report indicates.

The deputy reported that he detected the odor of an alcoholic beverage on Ryan. Police records indicate that Ryan failed a field sobriety test, and she was arrested for DWI.

Oakland resident Don W. Matthews, age 48, was arrested on Dec. 2 for alleged battery. According to police records, the offense allegedly occurred on Nov. 19 in front of the Old Mill Restaurant.

Garrett Deputies Execute Warrants

Personnel with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office executed several arrest and bench warrants in recent days, including warrants for aiding an escape, forgery, and battery.

Mtn. Lake Park resident David W. Eddington Sr., age 39, was arrested on Dec. 12 on a warrant charging him with allegedly aiding in an escape of three juveniles from the Backbone Mtn. Youth Center on Dec. 8, sheriff's office records indicate.

Oakland resident David L. Rounds, age 44, was arrested on Dec. 12 for allegedly stealing checks from a woman, writing 16 of these checks to local businesses for merchandise, and forging these checks and presenting them as payable. He was charged with theft of less than $300, forgery, and uttering.

On the strength of an arrest warrant issued in March of 1993, deputies arrested Mt. Storm resident Charles W. Bow, age 26, on Dec. 6. Bow was charged with battery and trespassing. Bow was also served on Dec. 6 with another arrest warrant, this one dated May of 1993, charging him with harassment, telephone misuse, and trespassing.

Oakland resident Charles A. Brown, age 50, was arrested on Dec. 8 on the strength of a bench warrant charging him with violation of probation.

Mtn. Lake Park resident James Ptomey, age 26, was arrested on Dec. 11 on a bench warrant for allegedly failing to appear.

Two Garrett County deputies allegedly got into an altercation with Oakland resident Randall E. King, age 43, when the deputies attempted to serve a bench warrant to him at his residence on Dec. 11.

According to police records, Deputies Clark Warnick and Jeff Green were attempting to serve the warrant, which charged King with allegedly failing to appear on another charge, when King reportedly resisted arrest. King was soon handcuffed, the report indicates, and then transported to the Garrett County jail, where the bench warrant was served and he was charged with two counts of resisting arrest.

We Should Be Proud...

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, we can't help but to once again comment on the quality of the Garrett County school system in light of the recent release of the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) results.

As one can see by reading our front-page story about the results, Garrett County is the first of all Maryland counties to reach a satisfactory standard in any of the third, fifth, and eighth grade subjects that are being measured. Our eighth grade students are the only eighth graders in the entire state who have exceeded the standard set in science. They also scored the highest percentage in the state in five of the six testing areas.

In the overall averages of six subjects in three grade levels, Garrett County's third, fifth, and eighth graders rank well above the state averages, and nave for the past three years.

In Maryland functional testing, the county's ninth and 11th graders rank satisfactory or excellent in all four areas: reading, mathematics, writing, and citizenship.

We should all be pleased and extremely proud of our teachers and administrators for instructing and guiding our students to such an outstanding level of success. It is our hope that our elected board of education members will, in some way, extend their congratulations and thanks to our educators for this achievement. Further, we hope they will stop spending so much time, effort, and money trying to micromanage our school system, second-guessing and being suspicious of every single move by our educators, and attempting to incorporate their own personal set of values into the system.

Of course there is always room for improvement; we realize that, and we know it would be a mistake to simply rest on these laurels. But the great majority of our educators have never done that. It is obvious, though, that what is happening in our classrooms is positive and on track, and that our teachers know what they are doing. These test results show that, out of all of the students in the state of Maryland, our kids are among the best educated, best prepared to be successful following their high school graduation. It is no wonder that the Garrett County system is the envy of the rest of the state.

On behalf of the entire community, we extend our sincere appreciation to our local educators for doing such a great job with our children. Keep up the good work!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Something at last night's Board of Education meeting concerned me. It has to do with the board's new policy concerning public comment at the meetings. The public may sign up to comment at 3 and 7 p.m. It is also stated in the policy book that the president of the board may call on someone when he chooses.

Last night it was my understanding that our board has decided to make it their policy that the only time anyone will be heard is at 3 or 7 p.m. In the past year, they have called on people in the audience usually when someone raised a hand. I believe this all changed when Mr. Green, the principal from Northern High, was called to the board and about 150 people showed up to "comment."

This board rewrote the goals of the board to "encourage parental involvement" and "respect the rights of parents." Their main theme was, parents should have the final say in their children's education (in my opinion to the point of trying to tie the hands of teachers and administrators to do their jobs effectively; but that's another issue). And now, it seems one month after adopting their goals, they do not want to hear from us!

When they were discussing this last night I forgot myself and raised my hand to say that frequently, things are discussed after 7 p.m. that you might want to comment on, or simply ask a question. And by the following month you will probably have forgotten what you wanted to say, or it would be voted on without your concerns being heard.

Could it be that this particular board only wants the input of those who share their narrow points of view?

Sincerely,
Susan Bell

To the Editor:

I enjoyed your editorial about the proposed Baltimore football stadium. I would like to add some additional and relevant facts about the proposed Redskins football stadium in Prince Georges County (40 miles distance from the other stadium).

Mr. Cooke, the owner of the Redskins, has offered to build his own stadium in P.G. County just off the Washington Beltway with his own money. This is very commendable, but the public should be aware that an additional 78 million dollars will be needed for associated infrastructure such as new road systems, new utility runs, sewer and water systems and parking lots.

What is interesting is that Mr. Wayne Curry, the Prince Georges County executive, has told the state that P.G. County cannot afford to split the cost of 78 million dollars because of the horrible shape of their finances.

As I understand it, the governor, Mr. Parris Glendening, who was the last county executive and who put the county in their fiscal quagmire, has told Mr. Cooke that the state would come up with the 78 million. The P.G. County Council has not formally approved the entire plan, but some sources say it is probably a "done deal."

Maybe the governor will be able to influence the Maryland Public Broadcasting System to televise these games to Western Maryland so we can recoup some of our tax funds and benefit the same as the 1% (or less) Maryland population who will be privileged to attend these sporting events.

Yeah, team, and "Hail to the Redskins."

To the Editor:

I write this missive concerning the criminal cases I see week after week in your newspaper.

Time and time again I see criminal cases on drugs and child molestation, only to wonder what type of judges do we have sitting on the bench that would treat a child molester with such respect? Doesn't it have you wondering, too?

Are the judges saying drug charges are more important than sexual abuse? I can understand that up to a point, if it comes to selling drugs to children, but even then the child can still recover. But being molested, they never fully recover.

Please don't get me wrong - I am not trying to justify the use of drugs. It's a crime, but you don't have to tell the judges that. They seem to be laying the user and/or dealer down. But get real, what crime you the community think is more harmful? You don't have to ask me.

The child molester has very damaging impact on his victims. the child is scarred for life. So you have to ask yourself, "Where do the judges get off being so lenient to one who is so cruel to children?"

Sexual abuse to a child is a felony. The maximum sentence for the crime is 15 years. Most drug charges are misdemeanors. So, I ask the court, "Why so lenient on a child molester? Surely you don't think the child molester is an up-standing citizen, do you?"

I've said it once and I'll say it again, I am not justifying for the user and/or the dealer. But they are being incarcerated for their crime.

I guess I shouldn't put all the blame on the judges. Some of the blame needs to go to legislature. If they would set a minimum guide-line sentence, then the judges wouldn't be able to be so lenient to the child molester.

Before I end this letter, I would like to stress to you, the community, anyone convicted of child molestation has to go door to door and inform his or her neighbors that he or she has been convicted of child molestation. This is being done nation wide. So, please, people of Garrett County, make sure the sheriff's department is enforcing this.

If you have anything you would like to say to me, feel free to write at address below. Thank you for your time and concern.

Sincerely,
R.L. Strawser

To the Editor:

What's the posted speed limit? What's the legal speed limit? What's the "informal" speed limit? How fast is it safe to drive? All good questions in a changing world.

At the height of the oil embargo in 1974, the U.S. Congress set the national speed limit at 55 miles per hour; in 1987 the law was relaxed to 65 mph on interstate highways outside urban areas. On November 8, 1995, President Clinton signed a bill, to be effective in 10 days, that would, among other things, allow each state to set any speed limit it wanted or no speed limit at all on all vehicles, including heavy trucks. Today, both Maryland and Virginia limit highway travel to 55 mph in urban areas and 65 mph in less developed regions. While Virginia is considering increasing the speed limit on most interstate highways to 70 mph, Governor Parris N. Glendening (D) has said his administration would oppose anything higher than 65 mph in Maryland. In Montana, drivers have to abide by nighttime restrictions of 65 mph on interstates and 55 on two lane roads, but since December 8, 1995, there has been no daytime speed limit for motorists--daytime drivers go whatever speed they deem "reasonable and proper".

There were substantial lobbying efforts in opposition to this legislation, from members of Congress representing densely populated Northeastern states, Ralph Nader, and national organizations like Mothers Against Drunk Driving and the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety-- the most-cited statistics were that 6,400 more people would die every year and an extra $19 billion would be added in health care costs if the federal speed limit were eliminated. While vehicle miles traveled has increased since 1974 and the fatality rate per 100 million vehicle miles is nearly half what it was in 1974 (3.5 down to less than 2.0), many factors other than lower speeds have contributed to reduced fatalities. In the first instance, posted speeds may have little relationship to the average speeds actually driven. Automobiles are safer with seat belts, air bags and better suspension, and center-mounted rear brake lights that reduce rear-end collisions. In addition, thousands of miles of new highways have been built and the emphasis on getting drunk drivers off the road had clearly had some results.

A major 1984 National Research Council study, recognized as the most comprehensive speed study of the 55 mph era, reported it was "confounded" by the difficulty in separating speed from other factors. The report said determining a specific number of lives saved "is not possible" and

by Patrice Jastrzembski

Maryland is often called "America in Miniature". Just as our country is blessed with many unique ecosystems, so is our state.

Hiking along a nature trail or paddling down a river is a totally different experience on Maryland's Eastern Shore than it is in Western Maryland. Perhaps the first difference to be noticed are the trees native to each region.

Maryland's diversity of trees and forests is due to many factors. Maryland rises gently from sea level in the east, to over 3,000 feet in the west. Elevation is one of many factors which influences forest composition. Other natural factors include soil types, moisture, drainage, sunlight, and temperature. Forests also change due to disturbance or natural succession to other forest species.

Many trees that grow in Maryland are at the northern or southern end of their range. Some species have survived here for centuries; some have moved in on their own; while others were introduced by humans.

Numerous trees that are native to northern climates are found growing as far south as Maryland. It is thought that during the ice ages these species were forced south into Maryland to survive. Isolated pockets of northern species such as larch, spruce, and holly are found throughout central and western Maryland.

Southern species have also migrated northward to our state. Examples of trees that were originally from the South are the magnolia, pawpaw, bald cypress, and tulip tree.

The state of Maryland is divided into three zones of vegetation: the mountain zone, the midland zone, and the coastal zone.

The mountain zone is the area above 1,500 feet sea level. This zone encompasses Garrett and Allegany Counties. The steepness and direction of the mountain slopes in this region greatly influence plant life.

The highest regions of the mountain zone support forests of hemlock, white pine, sugar maple, and red spruce. Most of the forests area mixture of many species yet a few stands of pure hemlock and white pine can be found.

In the lower mountain zone the primary trees found are tulip tree (also known as yellow-poplar), sugar maple, sweet birch, red oak, black walnut and beech.

The midland zone of vegetation stretches from the foothills of the Appalachian Mountain chain to Route 1. This zone supports mostly forests of oak and pine or oak and hickory. Over 15 species of oak are native to Maryland.

The coastal zone of Maryland is made up of all the land east and south of Route 1. This includes both the Eastern and Western Shores of the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic coast. The most abundant trees of this region are pines; these include the loblolly pine, Virginia pine, and pitch pines. The pines are intermixed with sweet gum, willow oak, and pin oak.

Many different types of forests exist within the boundaries of our state. One need only drive a few hours, at most, to enjoy unique outdoor adventures that are possible in the diverse forests of Maryland.

Butcher Day

The day had come. A stretch of clear weather with days in the upper 30's and the nights in the 20's signalled the advent of butchering season. I had determined to butcher the hogs, or to have it done -- within the bounds of reason and the possible -- the old-fashioned way.

My first choice would have been to do it myself at home. Brother Eric said he was too busy to help me butcher. My wife said to let her know when I would do it, and she would arrange to go away for a few days. Butchering anything bigger than a chicken is not a job to be done alone. I discovered someone who still does his own butchering who agreed to help me if I would bring the hogs to his place. And that is what I did.

Because it had always been my intention to kill these pigs here, I had never given much thought about transporting them. My makeshift hogpen did not lend itself to loading animals, and I had no hurdles or other equipment which a hog farmer on a larger scale would have had ready to hand. Eric came over, and we worked up a sweat over the period of an hour before we admitted out loud what both of us had suspected privately: this was not an endeavor in which we would succeed.

That evening I called my oldest friend and fourth cousin, once-removed, and waxed eloquent for some time about the ideals of friendship, kinship, citizenship, fellowship, brotherhood, and other such noble concepts, and then I asked him if he would help me load my hogs. Though his family no longer keeps hogs, his grandfather was in his day one of the great hog farmers east of the Mississippi. My cousin had grown up showing pigs, and has a cupboard full of ribbons to prove it. In a word, he has forgotten more about raising hogs than most of us will ever know.

The next morning he came over with his pick-up and trailer. My two hogs jumped into it as if they had been awaiting its arrival. I followed him to his farm over the knoll where we backed up my pick-up to his trailer, and the pigs leapt from one to the other. It had taken not quite 15 minutes.

The process was reversed when I got the pigs to the farm where their lives would end. They easily went into that farmer's trailer, and patiently awaited the gunshot and knifethrust which would end their lives. They hung over night, and I went back the next morning to learn how to cut up a hog.

Farmer and wife were ready to go when I got there. Had they not been so kind as to wait they would have had the job done by mid-morning. They worked together, hand-in-glove, fussing with each other all the while in the affectionate way of a couple 40 years wed.

I learned about the cuts of meat, the location of the leaf fat and how it encases the kidney. There was plenty of time to talk about our families, the ways in which our relatives know each other, who went to school with whom and what they were doing now. We talked of old times and the days ahead. We acknowledged that times have changed, but in ways we weren't sure we liked.

Life is physically easier. The old hacksaw-shaped butcher saw hung on the wall while the farmer cut easily through the carcass with an electric butcher saw. The electric grinder processed three dozen pounds of sausage in just a few minutes. But for all the putative leisure of our time created by these inventions of convenience and ease, what has it gotten us? We have more time to exercise our selfishness, but less time to plumb the depths of our humanity. The old ways take time.

The homestead hogs lived life, and yielded it so that I can live mine. The realities of life and death have come a little nearer to me. I have renewed friendships and made some new ones, and learned a lesson or two along the way. The old ways are not always the best, but they often are.

Man Sentenced In Garrett Co. Circuit Court

A Grantsville man found guilty of two counts of felony theft was sentenced in Garrett County District Court last week to two one-year sentences in jail, each of which was suspended by Garrett County District Court Judge Fred A. Thayer.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered in October for Duane E. Folk, 33, after he was found guilty of purchasing equipment in the name of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, but not putting any of that equipment on the fire trucks.

Folk, who was apparently in charge of mechanical maintenance at the fire department, reportedly bought numerous tools and equipment from April 1992 through September 1993, charging the purchases to the fire department.

Folk was initially charged with six counts of felony theft, but was acquitted of three counts before the court rendered the verdict in October. In addition to the suspended sentences, he was also placed on two years of supervised probation, and ordered to make $827 restitution to the Grantsville VFD.

In other circuit court news, Carl Edward Schmidt Jr., 25, Friendsville, entered a plea of "no contest" during his violation of probation hearing last week.

Judge Thayer reimposed a two-year jail term in the Garrett County Jail, but suspended one year of that sentence. Schmidt was also placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration.

According to circuit court records, Schmidt was convicted in December 1994 of manufacturing marijuana.

The defendant had been arrested in May 1994, after Maryland State Police and officers from the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force went to his home and found marijuana plants growing in the front window. The officers reportedly confiscated 400 growing marijuana plants, as well as drug paraphernalia.

NRP Warns Of Unsafe Ice Conditions

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) is reminding all citizens of the dangers of ice this season. So far this year, several life threatening incidents involving unsafe ice conditions have been reported.

NRP Superintendent John Rhoads advises that all ice is unsafe at this time. "The NRP is prepared to respond to any incidents or rescues on Maryland waters. However, in order to maximize personal safety, we recommend that people stay off the ice and away from danger," Col. Rhoads said.

Unsafe conditions exist with ice which are not visible. The ice formed over any body of water may appear to be thick enough to support weight, but could have weaker or thinner areas, he said.

NRP points out that fresh water under ice is moving and can cause the ice to thin and crack. Other factors which can affect ice thickness include the movement of fish in schools, submerged vegetation which can produce heat to thin the ice over it, and also naturally occurring springs which may feed warmer water into the larger body of water.

In water with a higher salinity, such as the Chesapeake Bay, ice takes longer to form. The ebb and flow of tides create a weakening effect on any ice which may form. Any vehicle that attempts to move across the ice may create a stress effect on the ice, similar to a boat wake in ice-free water.

Citizens are reminded that if any emergency situations are observed they should quickly call 911. Maryland's NRP is the state's oldest law enforcement agency with legal jurisdiction on all Maryland waters.

Following Spill

with safety measures intended to shut off the pump if the line or well shaft became blocked or ruptured. However, because of the nature of the Sept. 18 leak, the safety system did not detect the escaping sludge.

"We made some changes so that this won't happen again," Ashby said.

Ashby stated that within days after the spill, Mettiki hired a consulting engineer to re-route the slurry line in question away from the Potomac River and Laurel Run. The sludge will now be pumped down a different well into Mettiki's "B mine." At this location, any spills would be on Mettiki property, he said.

Mettiki plans to encase its injection well heads and install a system which will monitor slurry flow at each end of the pipe, from the storage tank to the well head, and shut off the pump if a leak or clog occurs. A new telephone system will automatically call Mettiki employees if a problem occurs, Ashby noted.

Boylan also noted that after the spill, the MDE and Mettiki tested water for a total of 10 days at monitoring stations along Laurel Run and the North Branch of the Potomac to Jennings Randolph Lake. These tests found a low Ph of 6.4 in Laurel Run (except for Dec. 1 when a lime doser broke down) and a low Ph of 6.3 in the North Branch.

"As a result of that, we don't think this chemically, itself, has had a major impact on the river," Boylan commented. "Laurel Run itself is a stream that is still devoid of life."

Boylan added that the MDE plans to ask the University of Maryland's Appalachian Environmental Lab, Frostburg, to conduct a study this winter and spring to assess if the spill has caused any significant impacts to the North Branch.

Police Probe Local Thefts

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating three possible thefts which were recently reported in the county.

A Mtn. Lake Park resident has reported the theft of six new Cooper Weathermaster tires from the bed of her pick up truck. The theft allegedly occurred between Dec. 4 and 9 while the truck was parked in the victim's driveway. Four of the missing tires are size P205-70-R14 and the other two are size P235-75-R15. Two additional tires were left in the truck's bed.

Another Mtn. Lake Park resident has informed police that 48 compact discs (CDs) were stolen from his unlocked truck between Dec. 9 at 5:30 p.m. and Dec. 10 at 7 a.m. The victim stated that his truck was parked in front of his home when the theft occurred.

An Oakland resident has reported that a .22 rifle was stolen from his truck while the vehicle was parked overnight in Loch Lynn. The victim reported to police that the theft occurred between 10 p.m. on Dec. 5 and 11 a.m. the following morning. The vehicle's doors had been left unlocked with the gun inside. The missing firearm is a Winchester .22 semi-automatic rifle with tube feed.

DWI, Hunting While Intoxicated Charges Filed

Maryland National Resources Police (NRP) Corporal Walter May observed on Friday afternoon a hunter entering the woods off Rt. 135 in Altamont without any blaze orange on his clothing. When May approached Wilbert Eugene Cooper, 51, of 85 Maryland Highway, Swanton, he observed that Cooper was allegedly intoxicated. Maryland State Police (MSP) Officer W. L. Mowbrey was called to assist and charged Cooper with driving while intoxicated (DWI).

While at the scene on Rt. 135 in Altamont, another vehicle pulled up and NRP Cpl. May observed that Roger Lee Paugh, 48, of Old Wilson Rd., Swanton, was wearing blaze orange. May checked to be sure Paugh's weapon in the vehicle was unloaded. At that time, May reportedly detected alcohol on Paugh's breath and Paugh was charged with hunting while intoxicated. The MSP charged Paugh with DWI.

Make History

"It will take a systematic approach to improve our dropout rate to the three percent state standard requirement," stated Coviello. "It's not just a high school problem."

"If the past predicts what is to come, our consistency to score well and improve will be built upon and get us to where we are suppose to be," stated Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools.

Garrett County is currently the seventh highest ranking county overall in the state following the 1995 progress report.

School-To-Work Program Update

A Western Maryland consortium will apply for a state grant to support local school-to-work initiatives following the approval of three board members in a Tuesday evening vote. Members Dale Carpenter and Patrick Riley abstained from approving the proposal's submission requesting "additional time to look over the information."

Jo Ann Vent reported for the school-to-work grant committee, explaining that funds received would be used in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties, and would help further the local goals of integrating school-based and work-based activities, and linking secondary and post-secondary education.

"Garrett County is already ahead in many aspects of this project, with our Tech Prep program, its career clusters structure, and our career development model," explained Vent.

"This funding will help us build our structures," stated Luther Parrack, director of secondary education.

Three grants valued at $1.2 million dollars will be awarded among the 12 competing regional consortiums.

Southern Area Elem. School Re-Districting

An ad-hoc committee will be organized to discuss re-districting options for the new southern area elementary school. The new facility is designed for approximately 300-310 elementary school students and 40 pre-kindergarten students. Current enrollment at the two schools that will be consolidated from Loch Lynn and Red House totals 227 students. Committee members, including school principals, parents, and board personnel, will be discussing possibilities involving the movement of students from Dennett Road and/or Broad Ford Elementary schools. The committee will operate under the superintendent's guidelines, but meetings will be announced to the public to invite community participation.

TRUCK STOLEN FROM PIPER SUPPLY

State police are investigating the reported theft of a pickup truck from Piper Building Supply, Hutton Road, Oakland.

According to a report filed by Tfc. J.T. Bentlejewski, a maroon 1993 Ford F-250, 4x4, with a 1995 Western power angle plow, and bearing a sign with the company's name, was taken from in front of the business sometime between 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9.

Anyone with information about this reported theft is asked to call the McHenry barrack at 387-1101.

SKIS STOLEN

The thefts of two pairs of skis from the Wisp Ski Resort were reported to the local state police barrack this past week.

Cpl. G.R. Chaney investigated the first theft, reported at approximately 5:35 p.m. by Lindy Erin Rowe, Mechanicsville, Va., who said she left a pair of Rossignol skis with Tyrolia bindings and ski poles against the outside wall at the lodge, and went inside to purchase lift tickets. When she returned, the skis were gone.

The second theft, reported by Michael J. Haddix, Lumberport, W.Va., said he left an orange pair of size 180, Model CR-21 Blizzard skis unattended against an outside wall at the lodge. He parked the skis at approximately 7:45 p.m., and when he returned at 8:15 p.m., they were gone.

B&E, THEFT REPORTED

A breaking, entering, and theft was reported to the McHenry state police barrack this week.

Andrew Lynerd and Michael Powell, both of the Piney Run Road in the Frostburg area, told police that sometime between 4:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Tuesday, unknown persons broke a window on the main door of their residence, entered, and stole $35 in change from jars in the home.

Tfc. Randy Tarburton is the investigating officer.

DWI ARRESTS

Five DWI (driving while intoxicated) arrests were logged at the local state police barrack during the past week. All but one of the addresses for those arrested were not provided.

Richard Morris Resh, 59, was arrested and charged with DWI on Dec. 7, by Tfc. G.S. Becker.

Wilbert Eugene Cooper, 51, was charged with DWI on Dec. 8 by Tfc. W.L. Mowbray.

Roger Lee Paugh, 48, was arrested on a DWI charge on Dec. 8 by Tfc. Mowbray.

Randal J. Frye, 25, was charged with DWI on Dec. 8 by Tfc. P.R. Brown.

Edward R. Lytle, 25, Friendsville, was arrested on a DWI charge on Dec. 9 by Tfc. T.D. Sivic.

Receives Grant

ernment and various nonprofit groups, we will provide critical services to the citizens of Garrett County," said Governor Glendening. "As we attempt to meet the challenges of federal budget reductions, we must look to creative partnerships to meet the needs of all Marylanders."

The Emergency Shelter Grant Program is administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development. This year, DHCD's allocation was enough to fund 28 programs in 15 jurisdictions throughout Maryland. These grants support homeless services programs operated by non-profit organizations and local government agencies.

Hospitalized

Nathan Johnston was initially listed in "stable" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the 9:22 p.m. accident. He has since been released from that facility, according to a hospital spokesperson.

The investigating officer, Tfc. Randy Tarburton, reported that Johnston was a passenger in a 1981 Buick operated by Tracy J. Frye, 28, Markleysburg, Pa. Frye was operating her vehicle on the Sand Spring Road at the intersection with the Fearer Road, when her brakes reportedly failed, causing the vehicle to strike a Ford Bronco II, operated by Kenneth D. Thomas, Friendsville.

Frye and Thomas reportedly received only minor injuries, and did not require transport. Frye was cited for driving without a license.

Also responding to the scene were emergency units from the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

STRIKES TREE

An Oakland teenager reportedly escaped serious injury last Friday evening after she lost control of her vehicle on the Sand Flat Road, and struck a tree.

Police said 17-year-old Andrea C. Devens, was traveling south on the Sand Flat Road, near the Boy Scout Road, when the passenger side tires went of the roadway as she entered a curve. Devens attempted to steer back onto the road, police said, but the 1993 Pontiac Grand Am she was operating began to "fishtail," causing it to cross the northbound lane, travel off the road, and strike a tree.

Devens apparently did not require transport to the hospital following the 9:22 p.m. mishap.

SLUSHY ROADS CAUSE MISHAP

Slushy roadways were blamed for another Monday mishap, state police said. Diane L. Wampler, 31, Friendsville, was reportedly injured when the 1994 Dodge Caravan she was operating south on Rt. 42, outside of the corporate limits of Friendsville, slid sideways on the road and struck a guardrail.

The police report indicated Wampler was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by volunteers from Northern Rescue Squad. She was apparently transferred to Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va., but hospital officials there had no record of her being seen.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 8:35 a.m. accident.

TREATED, RELEASED

Another Oakland teen was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, following a two-vehicle accident Monday morning on Rt. 135, near the Altamont Tower Road.

Jackie L. Kimble, 17, was injured when the 1990 Geo Tracker she was operating west on Rt. 135, slid on the snowy roadway and traveled into the eastbound lane, striking a 1994 Mercury Cougar operated by Linda C. Paugh, 41, Swanton.

State police said Kimble's vehicle bounced off of Paugh's vehicle and continued to travel through approximately 120 feet of split rail fence.

Paugh was reportedly uninjured in the 6:50 p.m. accident.

VEHICLE STRIKES DITCH, OVERTURNS

A third Garrett County youth was injured this past week when the car she was operating on Rt. 135 struck a ditch and overturned.

Sheryl S. Miller, 17, Swanton, was traveling east on Rt. 135, near King Reis Lane on Monday afternoon, when her 1987 Buick LeSabre slid on the slush-covered roadway. Miller reportedly lost control of the vehicle, causing it to strike a ditch and overturn, according to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater.

She was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where she was treated for her injuries, following the 12:15 p.m. accident.

Rams Open With Losses To Bishop Walsh, Tucker County

The young 1995-96 basketball season for the Southern High School boys' varsity has been disappointing to date for Coach Tom Bosley and Ram fans, as his team opened with a 55-47 loss to Bishop Walsh on Friday and then dropped a 62-58 decision to Tucker County on Tuesday. Both games were played in Oakland.

A 13-for-16 effort at the foul line in the fourth quarter by the BW Spartans sealed the win for them, after the Rams rallied to cut the visitors' lead to just four points. The Rams trailed 13-9 at the end of the first quarter, 29-21 at halftime, and 40-28 after three periods.

Todd Logan led the Spartans in scoring with 16 points, eight of which were recorded on 10 free throws in the fourth quarter. Sean Kelly was right behind with 15 points.

Senior Jason Sweitzer led the Rams' offense with a game-high 19 points and Scott Shahan finished with 14.

It was the first win for the Spartans after three straight losses.

The Southern junior varsity was also defeated in the preliminary game, 44-30, behind a 16-point effort by Nathan Rotruck. Joe Rowan and Brett Blanco also reached double figures for the Spartan jayvees with 10 points each, while Ryan Ewing led the Rams' scoring with nine points.

In Tuesday night's game against Tucker County the Rams again rallied late, but fell short in their effort. The Mountain Lions held quarter leads of 17-7, 29-21, and 41-34 before the Rams cut the lead to just three points on two occasions in the final eight minutes.

The game was riddled with foul calls, as Tucker County had 40 free-throw opportunities and the Rams finished with 22. Southern's Sweitzer, Shahan, and Matt Ruff all fouled out of the game.

Daniel Helmick emerged as the game's top scorer, as he paced the Lions with 21 points. Josh Bunnell and Jeremy Smith added 16 and 11, respectively, to the visitors' total, while Sweitzer finished with 15 to lead the Rams. Ryan Adams scored 12 and Shahan netted 10.

The Southern jayvees also sustained their second straight loss in the first game, falling in overtime to the Tucker County jayvees, 36-35. Danny Lipscomb scored 12 points to lead the Lions, and Mike Bittinger and Josh Helbig each netted 10 points for the Rams.

Both the Southern varsity and junior varsity will attempt to record their first wins of the season this Friday in their first Western Maryland Interscholastic League contests, as they host Mt. Savage. They will play at Westmar next Tuesday.

Huskies Still Looking For First Win; Fall To Indians, Wildcats

The Northern High varsity boys' team is still looking for its first win of the season, after dropping two more games this week. The Huskies fell to host Mt. Savage, 78-53, on Friday and were whipped Tuesday night by Westmar, 69-53, at Westmar Middle School in Westernport.

Mt. Savage's Andy Brehm ran past the Huskies all evening on Friday, as he scored 33 points and pulled down nine rebounds. However, the score remained close through the first three periods before the Indians erupted for 33 fourth quarter points and held the Huskies to 10.

Northern trailed 14-10 at the end of the first period, were down by the same margin, 33-29, at halftime, and were behind by just two points after three quarters, 45-43.

Mike Brailer finished with 16 points and five assists for Mt. Savage, while Josh Cook netted 12 points and Cory Twigg scored 10.

Andy Brenneman was the only Husky to reach double figures, as he recorded 14 points. Mark Hinebaugh contributed nine.

The Indians also finished with 15 steals, with Brehm and Twigg getting five each. It was the second win in as many starts for Mt. Savage.

The Northern junior varsity was victorious in the preliminary game, stopping the Mt. Savage jayvees, 45-38, behind a 14-point effort by Matt Fletcher. Mark Miller scored the same number for Mt. Savage.

The Huskies were never really in the game Tuesday night against Westmar, as the Wildcats built an 18-10 lead by the end of the first quarter, led 41-25 at halftime, and were on top 50-35 after three periods.

Sean McKenzie led the unbeaten Wildcats (3-0) in scoring with 15 points, and also had 11 assists, while Aaron Wilt and Jason Deshong were close behind in scoring with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Deshong and Alex Kinnie also each had 10 rebounds.

Zach Leverenz paced the Huskies in scoring with 15 points.

The Northern junior varsity was also defeated in the first game, 66-47, as Seth Glass scored 23 points for the Westmar jayvees. Matt Fritz netted 16 to lead the Husky offense.

Coach Mike Friend's varsity team will go for its first win this Friday evening when the Huskies will host Allegany.

Southern Girls Earning Ranking; Defeat Bulldogs And Wildcats

The girls' varsity basketball team of Southern High School is so far living up to its pre-season number one ranking in the state, as the Rams topped a strong Martinsburg team on Friday, 68-64, in Martinsburg and then edged defending Western Maryland Interscholastic League champion Westmar last night, 53-51, on the Wildcats' floor. The victories upped Southern's record to 3-0.

Emily Friend led the way for the Rams against Martinsburg, as she finished with a game-high 24 points, even though she had to sit out for several minutes in the second half because of foul trouble.

Keri Cannon also provided an outstanding performance for the Rams, as she recorded 20 points and seven rebounds, while Alisa Rugg contributed nine points and six assists.

The Rams held a 17-12 lead at the end of the first quarter, were up 36-32 at halftime, and led 53-47 after three periods. Martinsburg closed the gap to just one point while Friend and Sylvia Paesani, also in foul trouble, were on the bench. Friend's return to the game helped the Rams secure the win.

Monica Kerr and Sonya Yancy led a balanced offensive effort by Martinsburg, as each scored 16 points. Brianne Hamilton netted 13 and Marla Spurgeon finished with 10.

A pair of free throws by Cannon with just 11 seconds left in last night's game against Westmar iced the victory for the Rams, as the score was knotted at 51-51 when she went to the line.

The victory snapped an incredible multiple-year WMIL winning streak of the Wildcats, a mark that goes back perhaps as long as eight years, according to Southern Coach Don Stemple.

The game was tight from the opening tip-off, as the Rams trailed 13-10 at the end of the first quarter, were down by one, 29-28, at halftime, and led by one, 38-37, at the end of the third quarter.

The lead continued to change hands throughout the fourth period. A key steal and lay-up by Meghan Dabney with less than a minute to play gave the Rams a 51-49 lead. Westmar's Evie Morris then tied it at 51 with a pair of free throws with about 30 seconds remaining.

After each side missed shots, Cannon went up for an offensive rebound and was fouled in the process, sending her to the line with 11 seconds left to score what would be the winning points.

Westmar's Jill McGowan then tried to go the length of the floor to tie the score once again, but the defensive duo of Cannon and Dabney stole the ball from her and ran out the clock.

Friend again paced the Rams in scoring with 14 points, while Cannon was close behind with 12 points and Dabney netted 10.

McGowan led all scorers with a total of 23 points and Julie Johnson scored 12.

While Coach Stemple was pleased with the victory, he was not pleased with the play of his team.

"We played terrible ball," he said. "I know we're capable of playing much better. We were just lucky to still get the win, especially down there."

Stemple said one of the keys to the victory was a defensive adjustment against McGowan, the outstanding junior for the Wildcats. "She scored 17 of her 23 points in the second half," he said. "We doubled up on her in the second half, and it obviously made a difference."

The Rams out-gunned the Wildcats from the floor by a 21-19 margin and connected on 11 of 19 free throws, while Westmar made good on 12 of 16 foul shots. Paesani and Rugg fouled out of the game.

The Rams will not play again until next Wednesday at home against Beall.

The Golf Club At Wisp Rated Among Top 500

The largest and most preferred golf publication in the world, Golf Digest, in its recently released January 1996 issue, has named The Golf Club at Wisp as one of the top 500 public and resort courses in the United States.

Golf Digest ranked the top 10 public access courses in all 50 states, with Wisp being named seventh in the state of Maryland. The ranking system is based on both the evaluations of a panel of design experts and star ratings based upon evaluations by Golf Digest's 1.5 million subscribers. Subscribers gave Wisp three starts in the 1994-95 "Places to Play" guide.

According to Golf Digest, "These are the best public and resort courses in the U.S., reviewed both in terms of our latest design rankings and star ratings, then reshuffled into the order in which we feel you'd want to play them. You'll encounter design quality and a good time just by playing all 10 in your state."

Northern Girls Defeated By Fort Hill, Edged by Allegany

After opening the season with a victory, the Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team watched its mark dip to 1-2 this past week, as the Huskies dropped a 55-32 contest to visiting Fort Hill on Friday and then lost a heart-breaker last night to host Allegany, 54-52.

The Huskies played Fort Hill evenly in the first and fourth quarters, but the Sentinels out-scored the home team by a 29-7 margin in the second and third periods to secure the victory.

Northern trailed by just one, 11-10, after one period, but were down 22-14 at halftime and 40-17 at the end of the third stanza.

Amber Waltz paced the Sentinels offensively with 18 points, while Debee Jo York finished with 12. Danelle Fike was the Huskies' scoring leader with 12 points.

The Northern junior varsity team won the first game, 46-29, behind 12-point efforts by Rachel Leverenz and Brooke Brenneman. Chelsea Frickey was right behind with 11 points for the Huskies, while Sara Custer led the Sentinel jayvees with 11 points.

The details of last night's games with Allegany were unavailable this morning since school was called off and all of the statistics were at the school. They will be published next week.

Coach Harv Speicher said that the score was close all the way. "We played a very defensive game in the second half," he said, "and we got into foul trouble."

Speicher said the Northern junior varsity kept its record perfect (3-0) by winning the preliminary game.

The Huskies will play again on Monday at Westmar.

Strong Defensive Effort Leads Lakers To Easy Win Over CCAC

An outstanding defensive performance highlighted an 81-46 victory by the Garrett Community College Lakers last night over visiting CCAC-South.

Chad Reese led four Lakers in double figures, as he pumped in 20 points on four three-point shots and four two-pointers. Gunnell Hickman finished with 16 points and nine rebounds, while Vashawn Gross and Antoine Stokes each netted 11.

The visitors took a 1-0 lead in the contest before the clock even started, as the Lakers were slapped with a technical foul for dunking the ball during warm-ups. But that would be CCAC's only lead of the entire evening, as the Lakers quickly jumped out to a 4-1 lead and never looked back. They had twice the number of CCAC's points at the 8:00 mark (22-11) and at halftime (40-20).

"It was by far the best defensive game we've played so far," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson. "It was a total team effort; everyone played and everyone scored."

The Lakers also hammered the visitors on the boards, pulling down 45 rebounds, with Hickman leading the way. Kanda Gray grabbed eight rebounds and was also credited with six assists.

CCAC recorded 30 rebounds, with C. McCutcheon grabbing seven.

Leading South's scoring was K. Lee with 20 points, with McCutcheon getting nine.

The Lakers, now 7-4, will play one more game before the Christmas break. It will be this Saturday at home against Montgomery-Germantown, with the tip-off set for 7:30 p.m.

Maryland's First Youth Firearms Hunt A Success

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced that 1,028 deer were harvested during Maryland's first youth firearms deer hunt which was held on Nov. 18.

Of that total, 102 deer were killed by young hunters in Garrett County, 81 with antlers and 21 without.

"All of these young deer hunters, including the many who did not take a deer, had the opportunity to spend a day in the woods with a parent or other adult, learning the many lessons that hunting teaches," Griffin said. "For the first year of this one day hunt, the total take was exceptional."

The successful young hunters took 683 bucks and 345 antlerless deer (does and button bucks). In three counties, Washington (119), Frederick (109) and Garrett, the youngsters harvested more than 100 deer. Allegany County reported a total kill of 94.

Each successful young deer hunter will receive by mail a specially designed shoulder patch. These Youth Deer Hunt patches were purchased with funds donated by the Chesapeake Chapter of the Safari Club International. Each successful young hunter will also receive in the same mailing, a certificate of accomplishment provided by the Maryland Deer Hunters Association Inc.

Griffin said this youth deer hunt is one of many recent efforts by the DNR's Wildlife Division to increase hunting by Maryland's young people, which offers them the opportunity to learn about the habits and lives of wildlife.

This year the Maryland General Assembly passed legislation which entitles a free one-year hunting license to all junior hunters who graduate from Maryland's Hunter Safety Education Course after Aug. 1, 1995.

In recent years the Wildlife Division has held Junior Hunter Days across Maryland in cooperation with local sportsmen's groups. These one-day events provide instruction on hunting safety and ethics, wildlife conservation, and marksmanship.

"Maryland's deer population is managed so that the total numbers remain in balance with the habitats. More than 50 years of wildlife management research have demonstrated that deer hunting is the most efficient and economical method of managing the deer herds. At the same time deer hunting contributes over $200 million annually to Maryland's economy while providing nutritious food for the hunters family and friends," Griffin said.

For additional information on deer and deer hunting, persons may contact a local DNR wildlife officer.

WHAT A RACK! One of the largest bucks, perhaps th largest of the season in Garrett County, was this 163-pound animal taken by Steve Reese, Foster Road, in th Oakland area on opening day of the regular firearms season. The deer's rack contained 10 points and measured 26 inches across. Reese said its the largest buck he has ever seen in Garrett County during his many years of hunting.

STAYING QUIT FOR THE HOLIDAYS: The stretch between Christmas and New Year's Day can be the most difficult period for you if you're an ex smoker. This is especially true if you quit the habit relatively recently. There are all the holiday pressures that used to give you an excuse to take a so-called relaxing puff. There are parties and get togethers where someone is bound to light up and send temptation coiling around your nose. But you don't have to give in. The American Cancer Society has several tips that can help you stay off the weed.

First, take things one day at a time. Each morning, wake up with a positive attitude and a promise you won't smoke that day.

Second, picture success. Think about stressful situations you might have and imagine dealing with them without lighting up.

Third, take a breather. Relaxation exercises help relieve urges to smoke. Take a deep breath, hold it a second, then release it very slowly. (Remember, urges to smoke are temporary.) Work out. Exercise, such as swimming, running, and racket sports help relieve tension and your urge to smoke. (P.S. Exercising before eating a typical holiday meal will help you metabolize those calories more efficiently.)

Remember, the best Christmas present you can give yourself and your loved ones is good health. Staying off cigarettes is a quantum leap in that direction for you and them.

Added Note: To Ellin M. from Baltimore who wrote to complain that people like me interfere in her — and I quote — "God-given and American protected right to smoke ..."

Well, all I can say is, you're correct on that point. You do have the right to court cancer and heart disease; but you don't have the right to inflict those problems on us. Second hand smoke is deadly. Even if it weren't, it's uncomfortable to those of us who believe we have a God-given and American protected right to breathe air that isn't fouled by smoke.

STARVING SENIORS? It may be difficult for most people to believe, but the facts are that many seniors in this country are, quite literally, starving. And not because of poverty either. Indeed, some of the worst cases include people who have an adequate income. However, these older folks have simply stopped eating properly and as a result, they have starved their bodies of nutrients often to the point where they become seriously ill.

There are many reasons for this unfortunate situation. One is a simple fact of aging: as we get older, we tend to lose some of our sense of taste as well as smell. The inability to taste and smell foods can lead to loss of appetite.

Another factor is that many seniors live alone and have little interest in preparing adequate meals just for themselves. A woman in my building who lost her husband recently put it sadly, but succinctly. "Why bother when Jack's not around anymore to tell me what a good cook I am."

Health is another factor in this insidious "starving" of many of America's seniors. Some older folks can no longer provide even the most basic services for themselves, which includes preparing meals. Some forget to eat. Some are not strong enough to shop for the foods they need.

It's ironic, but if these people were destitute and on the public welfare rolls, someone would be looking in on them to make sure they eat properly and can take care of their own needs. But these folks are simply slipping through the cracks because no one seems to be aware of what is happening to them.

What can we do for them? One suggestion would be to expand community services for the elderly wherever possible. That would include expanding the Meals on Wheels programs. And if someone says this costs too much, let's remind that naysayer that it's far cheaper to prevent problems than to have to deal with them later, often in some government funded facility.

What do you suggest? Please share your thoughts on this increasingly serious situation. Write me c/o King Features Weekly Service, 235 East 45 Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Q. What kind of American Indians made Nemadji pottery, and when?

A. The Nemadji Earth Pottery Co. of Kettle River, Minn., sometimes marks its pottery with an Indian profile and its name. The Indian-style pottery is made of natural clay and hand-painted colors swirled together. It is still sold at gift shops. It is not authentic American Indian craft work. The company has been in business since 1922.

Q. The label on my old four-poster bed reads, "Wheller-Okell." Is it an antique?

A. The Wheller-Okell Co. was known for its reproduction four-poster beds. The company worked in Nashville, Tenn., at the turn of the century.

The existence of a label on a piece of reproduction furniture, rather than an incised mark, is a big clue to the fact that the furniture isn't as old as it looks.

Q. I have a mulberry-colored transfer plate with three marks on the back. One says "Wedgwood." Another says "Sole Importers, Jones McDuffee & Stratton Co." The third says "Westtown School 1935." The design in the center of the plate pictures young people roller-skating in the country.

A. You have a commemorative plate from what was probably a New England high school.

Starting about 1820, such souvenirs were popular, because high school was the highest educational level for most people. Plates picturing scenic locations and college buildings also became popular.

Jones, McDuffee & Stratton was a New England company dating back to 1810. Between 1880 and the 1940s, it imported many pictorial souvenirs, especially plates. It was the sole U.S. agent for Josiah Wedgwood & Sons for a few years. There are at least 1,100 different views with the Wedgwood and Jones, McDuffee & Stratton marks. Most have floral borders.

Home Tips

STOP THE RUST — Most of us keep aerosol cans under the bathroom and kitchen sinks. Some of the cans rust on the bottom (from the dampness of the faucets) and make marks on the shelf paper.

I have found that the cans with the flat plastic tops can be turned upside-down. For the ones that don't have a flat top, I simply wrap the bottom with a piece of plastic wrap secured with a rubber band.

No more marks. Chris V., Boca Raton, Fla.

PENCIL CADDY — I broke one of my favorite cups so I glued it together and used it for a pencil caddy. Lisa C., Fairfax, Va.

DOG TAGS — I always had a hard time getting my dog's new license and rabies tags on his collar. They always come with a small ring to attach them.

I discovered that it is much easier to slip them onto a plain key ring, and it goes onto the collar easily, too. Edith J., Indiana, Pa.

PASS IT ON — Since we get so many catalogs in the mail, after looking through them, I give them to nursing homes and senior-citizen centers.

Many of the people there are unable to get to the malls and this way, they are able to shop through these catalogs. Michele P., Hammond, Ind.

COMPUTER SAVVY — My tips concern computers and primarily involve saving energy for the benefit of the environment as well as saving money.

Keep the printer turned off. Most people have a system set up so that one switch turns everything on, as a result, the printer sits idle 90 percent of the time that the computer is on. This is especially important with a laser printer, which operates by heat and is quite expensive.

Further, if one considers all the printers sitting idle in all the offices and homes of this nation, it is possible to imagine the size of the savings. When ready to print, simply flip the switch on the printer — quick and easy. Laura D., Lancaster, N.Y.

WHAT IS A "WANT BOOK"

Did you ever wonder how a pharmacy is able to keep up with the thousands of different items it must keep on hand for its customers? We have a special book, called the want book, and any time someone sells a product and sees that the stock of that product is running low they enter it in a daily "want book."

At least once a day we contact the drug wholesaler, and have the products we need delivered immediately, usually on that same day. In this way we are rarely out-of-stock of any item, whether it be a prescription drug or one of the many other health aids we carry.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?

MIRAGE

We had to put the last bauble on the tree and hung the children's stockings by the mantle. We had even remembered our newly acquired kitten. Her catnip mouse was adorned with a red ribbon and a small gold bell.

Then suddenly I found myself staring at the wreath in the window. In the center of it, I could see the white church I'd gone to as a child. More often than not at Christmas there was snow on the ground when we went to the services, crisp and crunchy beneath our feet.

I blinked...and, when I looked again, the church was gone. But memory's message still remained. I turned to my husband. "There's something else to do," I told him, "if next week is really going to be Christmas."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

LIGHT FOR A DARK NIGHT

December 17, 1995

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 9:1-7

Devotional Reading:
Luke 1:46-55

Last March my wife and I landed in Bangkok, Thailand to board a cruise ship bound for Vietnam and Hong Kong. We knew that the ship was docked outside the city and engaged a taxi to take us there. We thought we'd be there in at least 30 minutes, but two hours later and our taxi was still hurtling south from Bangkok and night had fallen swiftly.

When, at last, we reached the port where our ship was docked, it was too dark to read the street signs and our taxi driver drove in circles for another 30 or more minutes. Finally, just when we were beginning to think we could not find our ship, we saw it gleaming like a Christmas tree in the darkness. Eventually, following its light, our driver delivered us to the ship in safety.

That experience, we later acknowledged to each other, is symbolic of life itself. How often we grope our way through life in darkness -unaware of where we are and not able to see where we re going. How often I have had to make choices without a clue as to what the outcome might be. I'm sure you have too. Then there have been some "dark nights of the soul" as St. John of the Cross described them, when, no matter what I did, my spirituality seemed to have dried up. So, I can personally identify with Isaiah's description of "The people who walked in darkness...those who dwelt in a land of deep darkness" (9:2)

LIGHT RETURNS

Although we do not know what time of the year Jesus was actually born, Christians have traditionally celebrated his birth at the time of the winter solstice, the time of the year when the days become longer once again and light begins its slow but sure return to earth.

When you've stumbled around in the darkness, nothing is so welcome as light. You don't have to see everything by that light, just enough to find your way. So Isaiah's prophecy, given to the people of Israel at a time of grave national and personal darkness is something that brings hope to anyone in darkness: "The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light."

It would appear that this "light" Isaiah saw was a king to rule Israel- whether already arrived or to come, we can't tell. When a person became king of Israel, he was anointed with oil in a religious ceremony. The term "Messiah," means "the anointed one." Isaiah gives a glowing description of this ideal king whom God has anointed to rule over them: "For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be upon his shoulder, and his name will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

THE ANOINTED ONE

It is not difficult to understand why early Christians saw this prophecy fulfilled in the birth of Jesus. All that Isaiah prophesied concerning the "anointed one" is applicable to Jesus. Note, that while Isaiah's contemporaries may have looked for a mighty ruler to lead a victorious army, extend Israel's borders and restore its secular power, the prophet sees the "anointed one" as accomplishing something quite different: "Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end...and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from this time forth and forevermore" (9:7).

Peace, justice and righteousness were to be the hallmarks of the ideal king, the very role that Jesus fulfilled and still fulfills today. To put it in symbolic terms, Jesus came to bring divine light into the darkness of human existence. Christ was born almost two thousand years ago, but every year at this time we acknowledge that Christ is reborn among us wherever and whenever people walk in darkness.

COVER STORY

Best-selling Christmas Box becomes a TV movie

BY SUZANNE GILL

Richard Thomas

Beloved as Christmas is, there aren't very many real-life paradigms of Christmas stories.

Of course there are the biblical Nativity story, Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, Clement Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas" and O. Henry's "The Gift of the Magi."

To judge from the many film versions of A Christmas Carol, plus the countless celluloid variations on the conversion theme, such as It's a Wonderful Life and Miracle on 34th Street, audiences (those foot-weary shoppers who flop nightly in front of the television) are hungry for reminders of the season's purer motives.

This year's rendition of the old theme comes in The Christmas Box, an adaptation of the current New York Times best seller by Richard Paul Evans. It airs Sunday, Dec. 17, on CBS. Richard Thomas and Maureen O'Hara (Miracle on 34th Street) star, along with Annette O'Toole and Kelsey Mulrooney.

"Of course we hope this will become a twin to Miracle on 34th Street," O'Hara says, "and that you'll get this movie and Miracle every Christmas from now on."

In fact, as conversion stories go, The Christmas Box sits one shelf above 34th Street.

Box is the story of a struggling Salt Lake City couple (Thomas and O'Toole) who answer a classified ad placed by a wealthy, elderly woman (O'Hara) looking for live-in companions to do light work around her house. After living in two cramped rooms with their growing daughter (Mulrooney), Richard and Keri jump at the chance.

In a house filled with treasures, Mary's most prized possession is an antique Bible, from which she reads every day.

Shortly after moving into the house, Richard begins to dream of an angel that turns to stone as it descends to earth, and during the night he thinks he hears music coming from a carved wooden box in the attic. But his small business in town clamors for his attention, and Richard tries to brush aside his nocturnal experiences.

O'Hara decided to play Mary as a kind of gadfly to Richard's complacency, rather than as the benign friend the book describes her to be.

"Well, in the book, she's very sweet and nice," the actress acknowledges. "But she's not, in the movie. She's lonely – not nasty, but tough – and has instant likes and dislikes.

"And instantly I dislike Richard Thomas, in the story. And we have a great ongoing animosity between us."

That tension is resolved in the climactic scene, which O'Hara promises is a tearjerker.

"We tease everybody and tell them that when they see the movie they should have a box of tissue, too.

"The wonderful thing is," she says, "there's no rape, there's no murder, there's no incest, there's no killing, there's no wrecked cars. It's just a wonderful, warm, family story about love, love of each other and the acceptance of God. After all, Christmas is the celebration of the birth of Christ."

And that, in a roasted chestnut shell, is the message of The Christmas Box.

Festive TV abounds during Yule countdown

BY JOHN CROOK

Prime-time television is filled with holiday programming during the last full week before Christmas. Here's an overview:

Maureen O'Hara plays a widow who — that's right - teaches a family the meaning of Christmas in The Christmas Box, a CBS movie premiering Sunday, Dec. 17. NBC goes with low comedy in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation, and A&E Network presents Holiday at Pops', a live holiday concert by the Boston Pops Orchestra.

Beginning Monday, Dec. 18, The Family Channel airs Jesus of Nazareth over four consecutive nights, while Nick at Nite offers vintage holiday episodes in its special weeknight Nick at Night Before Christmas programming. TBS offers a double bill of A Christmas Story and the 1992 remake of Christmas in Connecticut.

Kathie Lee: Home for the Holidays makes its CBS debut Wednesday, Dec. 20, the same night that TNT gives another airing to How the Grinch Stole Christmas.

On Thursday, Dec. 21, A&E airs A Christmas Reunion starring James Coburn and Edward Woodward, preceded by a Biography profiling Mel Torme, co-writer of "The Christmas Song." Winnie the Pooh and Christmas Too airs on CBS, while the Royal College of Music Chamber Choir performs Carols for Christmas on PBS (check local listings).

NBC gives The Sound of Music another airing on Friday, Dec. 22, and A&E serves up a Charles Dickens Biography.

USA Network offers an afternoon of holiday movies on Saturday, Dec. 23, while The Family Channel airs Holiday Greetings From The Ed Sullivan Show.

Santa Claus (James Coburn) changes a boy's life in A Christmas Reunion. The movie, airing Thursday on A&E, also stars Edward Woodward and Gweirydd Gwyndaf.

SOAP TALK

Sorel stays on Days; Knotts never did Egg

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Santa must not have checked his list very carefully this year because bad girl Vivian is getting a very nice present. Louise Sorel, who plays Vivian, has signed a third contract term with Days of Our Lives.

The Days writers just can't seem to let Vivian go. Each time it looks as if they have backed her into a corner with no hope of redemption, they bring her back.

"Louise brings a very special ingredient to Days with her sophisticated, romantic comedy leading lady talent," says executive producer Ken Corday. "We look forward to many, many more story beats with Louise and the residents of Salem on whom she spins her devious webs."

Sorel has said several times in the past few years that she would like to return to the East Coast, but it looks as if this deal was too good to pass up. So for at least a few more years, Vivian will be making the lives of Salemites a little more miserable each day.

Dear Candace: Can you help me find out if Don Knotts was ever in a soap called The Egg and I? I believe the time would have been about 1951 or 1952. He played the sickly brother of Rose. He wasn't a comic actor at that time.

I also watched Search for Tomorrow after that with Mary Stuart in the lead role as Joanne Barron, so I may have them mixed up. — Miriam Ellsworth, Albany, N.Y.

Dear Reader: Knotts did not appear in The Egg and I. He was on Search for Tomorrow as Wilbur Peabody. Wilbur was Rose's brother from 1953 to 1955. You may have been confused because during Knotts' time on the show there were three different women who played Rose: Lee Grant (1953-54), Nita Talbot (1954-55) and Constance Ford (1955-56).

The Egg and I was television's first serial comedy. It was based on the book by Betty MacDonald. Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray played the leading characters in the movie.

The Egg and I was one of the first soaps to bring up social issues. The cast of the TV serial included Pat Kirkland, John Craven, Doris Rich, Frank Tweedy, Grady Sutton, Ingeborg Dueck and Karen Hale.

The show appeared daily and was followed by Love of Life and Search for Tomorrow.

TV-PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Why is Heather Locklear listed as "Special Guest Star" in the Melrose Place credits? –Mandi Sheehy, Santa Maria, Calif.

A: A publicist for the show says when Locklear initially joined the show, the length of her commitment was uncertain. Her special billing has been retained ever since.

Q: Was Eric Braeden of The Young and the Restless formerly known as Hans Gudegast on The Rat Patrol? When did the latter series con't? –J.M.P., no address.

A: Yes. Gudegast changed his name shortly after completing his run on Rat, which aired from 1966 to 1968 on ABC.

Q: I have loved Zane Grey books since the 1920s. A few weeks ago I saw an article that said his Riders of the Purple Sage will be shown on TV, but I foolishly did not save it. Can you tell me when it will air? –V.J. Moran, Menlo Park, Calif.

A: The new TV movie starring Ed Harris and Amy Madigan is set to premiere Jan. 21, 1996, on TNT.

Q: Please help me remember the name of the actor who played Schneider on One Day at a Time. –Terry Cwiok, Gravois Mills, Mo.

A: OK. Pat Harrington Jr. played Dwayne Schneider.

Q: Several years ago Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn did a play for TV called The Gin Game. Any chance it will be rerun? –Ruth S. Jarrett, Milton, Pa.

A: Sadly, videotaped stage plays have proved a best-seller outside of PBS and other cultural outlets, so HBO and Showtime discovered (they've virtually abandoned that format after a flashy start). Also, you may recall that the comic punch line of the play involved a beside-herself Tandy screaming the ultimate four-letter word.

The Gin Game is available on video from Turner Home Entertainment Company, 1 CNN Center, N. Tower, 12th Floor, Atlanta, Ga. 30348.

Q: Is the Henry Winkler version of A Christmas Carol available on video? –Gina M. O'Bryant, Fairbanks, Alaska.

A: Yes. An American Christmas Carol is available from Vestron Video. Check with any video dealer.

Q: My mother insists Regis Philbin is Kathie Lee Gifford's brother-in-law. I say no. Who is correct? –Donna Ankley, Leesburg, Fla.

A: For the time being, You are.

Q: My husband doesn't believe Eartha Kitt played Catwoman on the Batman TV show. Please set him straight. –Erma Holcomb, Downey, Calif.

A: Kitt was one of three TV Catwomen. The other two were Julie Newmar and Lee Meriwether.

St. John's U.C.C. To Commemorate 100th Anniversary

St. John's United Church of Christ, Salisbury, Pa., will wrap up a year of events on Sunday, Dec. 17, celebrating the church building's 100th anniversary during the 9:30 a.m. worship service.

A Litany of Dedication for Centennial Memorials was written specially for this event. Among the items to be dedicated are the church's recently restored chimes, a lectern Bible, book of worship, paraments, Christian flag, sanctuary ceiling fans, memorial register, celebration candles, guest book, window lights, chair lift, the recently restored kitchen, and the chancel rail. Love offerings, ceramic heaters for the kindergarten class and office, and the serving of the first joint consistorial banquet will also be dedicated.

A time of refreshments and fellowship will follow the service. The Rev. Raymond L. Brown and the church's congregation invite the public to attend.

The United Church of Christ was formed in 1957 by the merger of the evangelical and reformed with the congregational Christian denominations. Since 1993, the Rev. Brown has served as pastor of St. John's and its sister congregation, Trinity U.C.C. in nearby New Germany.

Holiday Dinner Held By JWCC

The Junior Woman's Civic Club met December 7 at the Silver Tree Inn for its annual Christmas dinner and gift exchange. Guests at the dinner were Brenda Arnold, Mariel Pazourek, Kimberly Shomo and Betty Sisler.

Along with the gift exchange the club will distribute a food basket to a needy Garrett County family, according to a club spokesperson.

The evening concluded with the drawing for the door prize, a bath and body works basket, which was won by Joell Simmons.

NEW DEPARTMENTS ADDED - As part of an ongoing program of renovation and expansion, the Casselman Lumber Do-It Center, Rt. 495, Grantsville, will soon add three new departments: a Do-It Best rental center, Do-It Best home decor center, and Do-It Best garden center. The new departments will offer additional products and services to local handy-persons and contractors. Set to open in March, 1996, the rental center will maintain a $250,000 inventory of equipment for construction, gardening, automotive work, painting, cleaning, and other projects. The garden center will feature bedding plants, Jackson and Perkins roses, ornamental and fruit trees, soils, mulches, planters, and Henri Studios fountains. Also in March, the Casselman store will offer "Do-It Yourself Clinics" on such topics as wall paper installation and basic plumbing. The 12,000-square-foot Casselman Lumber Do-It Center, opened as Casselman Valley Number nearly 25 years ago, officially re-opened as a Do-It Center Sept. 1 and sells a full line of building materials. The facility also includes a custom cabinet shop and, across the street, a saw mill, dry kiln, and moulding shop. As a bonus, Saturday customers can receive free popcorn. To be included on Casselman Do-It Center's mailing list for sale circulars and clinic announcements, interested persons may call 895-3271 or 746-8164.

Jennings ELCA Women Convene

Women of the ELCA of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on December 5. Four members and one visitor, Frances Durst, attended.

The study theme, "Getting to know Jesus the Messiah Among Us," was led by Leota Baker. The study explained how worship life reflects changes in the seasons of the church year, as each focused on the life of Christ.

The worship center featured a cross on which symbols of Advent, Christmas, Epiphany, Lent, Easter, and Pentecost were placed as each season was studied. Scripture readings, hymns, and briel meditations accompanied each of the liturgical seasons. Devotions closed with the group singing," God Tell It On The Mountain.

Ruthella Resh, presided over the business meeting, and expressed her thanks for the gift she received from the church women on her 65th wedding anniversary.

It was resolved to use the birthday offerings received during the year for social ministry.

A gift offering was received from Viola Meyers, former member of Zion's unit.

All collections of canceled postage stamps for the stamp club at the National Lutheran Home should be brought to the church by early January, at which time they will be packed for shipment.

Officers for next year will be: president, Judy Stanton; vice president, Ruthella Resh; secretary, Lucretia Stanton; and treasurer, Leota Baker.

Refreshments were served by Judy Stanton.

The next meeting will be held January 2.

State, County Jobless Rates Fall In October

Maryland's unemployment rate fell slightly, from 5.0 percent in September to 4.9 percent in October. The total labor force continued to shrink from its summer levels, helping to keep Maryland's unemployment rate lower than the national rate.

Garrett County's jobless rate also dropped slightly, from 7.5 percent in September to 7.3 percent in October, two full percentage points below the October 1994 mark.

Nationally, the unemployment rate also was lower in October, falling by 0.2 percentage points over the month to 5.2 percent.

"We are always pleased to see our unemployment rate go down," said Eugene A. Conti Jr., Secretary of Maryland's Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation. "However, we must be cautious in our optimism as we wait for Congress to complete its budget process and we find out the full extent of the effects of the federal budget cuts on employment in our state."

During October, employment receded toward late spring levels, decreasing by 11,540 people to 2,601,449. Even with this decline, nearly 20,000 more people are employed now than at this time last year, representing the highest level on record for the month of October. Seasonal workers leaving the job market compensated for the monthly employment loss and reduced the number of unemployed people by more than 4,400 people to 134,492.

The number of jobs reported by Maryland businesses was higher in October, an increase resulting primarily from staggered recalls in education. Gains in education were supplemented by reported hiring in select trade and services industries, specifically general merchandise/apparel stores and personnel and engineering management service.

Rising employment brought unemployment in the western region of the state down from 6.6 percent in September to 6.3 percent in October. Washington County's unemployment rate was the most improved, falling from 6.0 percent in September to 5.5 percent in October. Recalls in education and manufacturing, coupled with hiring in retail trade, contributed to declining unemployment in the county.

Statewide, unemployment rates in October ranged from a low of 2.8 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 9.2 percent in Baltimore City.

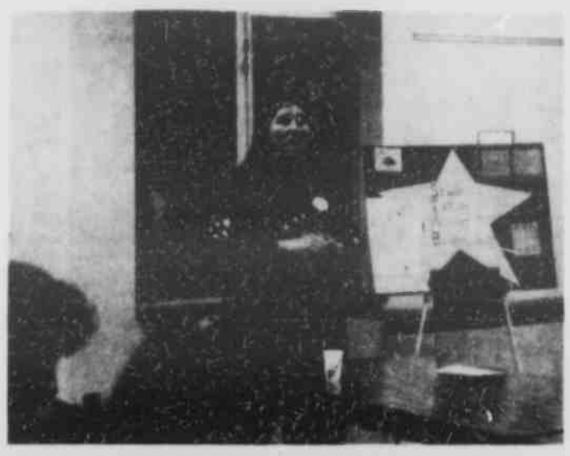
Burlington Group Offers Adoption Services Locally

A total of 39 children were placed in adoptive homes this year through assistance from Burlington United Methodist Family Services, Inc.

Through offices in Keyser, W.Va., and Oakland, the Burlington organization provides adoption services to adoptive and birth parents residing in the Potomac Highlands of West Virginia as well as Allegany and Garrett counties. Burlington, a group which has operated in West Virginia for over 55 years, serves the remainder of the Mountain State with offices in Scott Depot and Grafton.

As a licensed adoption agency in both states, Burlington employs trained adoption consultants to assist birth parents, adoptive and prospective parents, and adoptees. Families interested in learning more about the adoption process are provided an information packet including information on the various types of adoptions, services and fees, agency policies, resources, and the adoption process.

Should a family decide to begin the adoptive process, Burlington provides a variety of workshops on domestic and international adoptions as well as infant and child care. The agency can also link prospective parents to local adoption support groups. Service fees are based on the adoptive parents' income level.



Burlington is also licensed to conduct home studies and provide post placement services for families that are pursuing other adoption arrangements, such as private adoption.

Birth-parent services are provided free of charge to expectant parents "who are experiencing an unplanned pregnancy or who are unsure of their ability to parent a child," a Burlington spokesperson stated. These services can include counseling, referral to other resources, transportation to medical appointments, and child birth education. If an adoption plan is chosen, birth parents may indicate their preferences for certain characteristics in an adoptive family. Birth parents may also receive periodic updates about their child through the agency.

Burlington is a member agency of several adoption advocacy organizations and works cooperatively with other domestic and international adoption agencies.

For more information, persons may contact the Burlington group by mail at Route 4, Box 240-B, Keyser, W.Va., 26726, or by telephone at 1 (304) 788-2342 or 1 (800) 296-2379.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK was celebrated recently with a variety of events at the Accident Elementary School. Early in the week, staff members and bus drivers were recognized, and during "Bagels and Buns for Bus Drivers' Day," a bus safety assembly was led by Ed Bach, a driver trainer. In the above left photo, some of the drivers and personnel honored were, shown left to right, front row: Bryan Lenhart, Principal Sandy Nesline, Wanda Wassell, teacher Maggie Hockman, and Bach; back row: Delmar Yoder, George Wassell, Carroll DeWitt, and Janet Harvey. During Family Night, parents, students, teachers, and staff were treated to a dinner, and activities were provided for the children while the adults attended a PTA (Parent-Teacher Association) meeting and a choice of educational workshops, including a STAR (Students Taking Active Responsibility) behavior program led by Maggie Hockman, behavior support teacher, pictured above right. Other workshops were led by Bill Ack, math resource person; and teacher Lori Otto, who talked about computer reinforcement. School secretary Becky Fike, pictured below left, accompanied herself on the guitar while she entertained the children. Accident area parents Brenda Brosnihan of Brenda's Body Shop, and Skip Carr, a local disc jockey, along with students from Northern High School, were on hand to lead an aerobic sock hop. Other activities during the week included "Grahams for Grands Day," when invitations were extended to grandparents to visit. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, pictured below right with volunteer Marie Coddington, center, and Ruth Uphold, cafeteria manager, also visited the school during the Family Night activities.

Fire Marshal Offers Holiday Safety Tips

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele and Theodore Landskroener, chairman of the State Fire Prevention Commission, are once again reminding Marylanders to use caution and good common sense during the upcoming holiday season.

In conjunction with local fire prevention officials, Gabriele and Landskroener are asking citizens to practice fire safety during the holidays to prevent potential problems that could lead to serious fires, injuries, or deaths.

"Each holiday season, families throughout Maryland are faced with the possibility of a fire occurring because of the improper use of Christmas decorations, faulty light wiring, and carelessness," stated Gabriele.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal and State Fire Prevention Commission have several recommendations which could help Marylanders celebrate a fire-safe holiday season without eliminating the festive atmosphere. The following tips are issued by the State Fire Marshal and State Fire Prevention Commission regarding holiday fire safety:

CHRISTMAS TREES

• Select a Christmas tree that is not dry and is not shedding its needles.

• Live cut Christmas trees should be placed in water immediately after they are brought indoors and should be checked daily for dryness.

• Christmas trees should not be placed near furnace air vents, electric baseboard heaters or any other heating source such as a woodstove or portable space heater.

HOLIDAY LIGHTS & DECORATIONS

• Use only Underwriters Laboratory (UL) or Factory Mutual (FM) labeled lighting on trees or in the home.

• Christmas lights and decorative lighting sets should be examined for cracks or deteriorated conditions before being used.

• If a home is to be unoccupied for any length of time, the Christmas tree lights and decorative lighting throughout the home should be turned off.

COMMERCIAL AND INSTITUTIONAL FIRE SAFETY PROVISIONS

• The Office of the State Fire Marshal and State Fire Prevention Commission will not allow "live" or "fresh-cut" trees in these facilities. Only trees in a "balled" condition with roots protected by an earthen ball or artificial trees will be permitted in these buildings and occupancies.

It should be noted that commercially available fire retardant treatments are not appropriate nor very effective for Christmas trees or other Christmas decorations such as wreaths and garlands.

"If I could make a wish for the holidays, it would be fore every Marylander to enjoy a safe and healthy holiday season without the threat of fire," stated Gabriele.

For further information on holiday fire safety, citizens should contact the Office of thre State Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124 or their local fire prevention bureau.

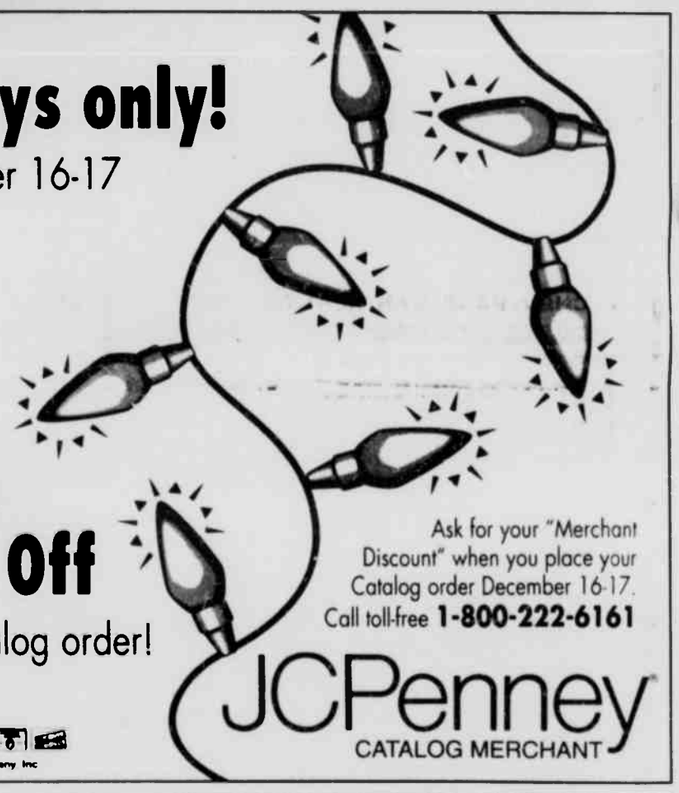
Prevention and Treatment of Ear Infections

Middle ear infections (otitis media) occur in children as young as age 6 months. After age 6 years, the frequency decreases. Many ear infections occur following an upper respiratory infection. The child may experience fever, irritability, sleep disturbances, an aching in the ear, and temporary hearing loss.

Prevention: According to a recent report, parents can help prevent middle ear infections. •Keep children away from cigarette smoke. Children in two-smoker homes are 3 times more likely to have ear infections than children in homes with no smokers. •Keep children away from sick playmates. Children in day care settings are more prone to have ear infections. •Breast feed infants. Bottle-fed children have more ear infections that breast-fed children.



Treatment: Bacteria often associated with children's ear infections are streptococcus pneumoniae and haemophilus influenzae. Antibiotics also may be prescribed as a preventative measure against recurring ear infections. Other preventative measures include the surgical insertion of ear tubes, removal of adenoids in children over age four, and immunization against pneumococci in children over two years of age.

Guide to Better Living

BUDGET CHRISTMAS

Seems like this time of year some people worry about how they are going to make ends meet and be able to afford Christmas. Others happy-go-lucky, spend the money now, charging this and that, and then in January of February when they get the bill, worry about how they will pay for Christmas past.

Living on fixed incomes makes it necessary to keep track of how much money is coming in and how much money is going out of the household. Believe it or not, maintaining a household is much like operating a business. These days, in order to run a financially sound household, budgets and records should be kept to satisfy your knowledge and Uncle Sam as well.

Who will keep track of the income and expenses in the family? A family meeting should be held and a reliable person appointed or elected to keep track of income and expenses. Figures can be recorded in a book purchased from a bookstore or office supply or you can make your own by using a calendar or paper. It is best to include the entire family in the process, especially if you want them to know where the money goes each payday. Children understand simple math and getting them involved could make a difference knowing after bills are paid, there is X amount of dollars left.

Okay, so Christmas is almost here and you only have X amount of dollars to spend. How can you get by?

•Start by telling relatives and friends that you are scaling down and not to expect expensive gifts.

•Make a list of who you have to buy for and only buy what is necessary.

•Buy inexpensive trays or plates and make breads, candy or cookies for giving.

If you sew or are crafty, make something homemade like tablecloths, appliance covers, or Christmas Ornament and Decorations.

•Make a budget and stick to it.

•Pay cash and keep receipts.

•Give gifts of service-house cleaning, hair cuts, babysitting, cleaning the car or whatever talents you may have.

•Make inexpensive wrap and cards with brown or white paper, acrylic paint and sponges or brushes.

If you would like more information, please contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 202 S. Third St., Oakland MD 21550; (301) 334-1990.

Mortgage Funds Available Via Federal Agency

What used to be the Farmers Home Administration mortgage program is now called the Rural Economic and Community Development program, and according to Timothy T. Taylor, manager of the local office, Garrett County is designated as a target area, meaning more funds have been allotted to this county than to most others.

Funds are available for modest priced housing, which for Garrett County has been determined to be up to $85,500. Families designated as low income or very low income are eligible.

As an example, Taylor explained that, for a family of four, an income of up to $19,650 is considered "very low" and income up to $31,450 is considered "low" income.

In order to get specific information and a complete set of guidelines for the mortgage funds, persons may contact Taylor's office, which is located in the Courthouse, at 334-5015.

The Rural Economic and Community Development agency falls under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Coutras Named To WVU Faculty

Steven W. Coutras, M.D., a Cumberland ear, nose, and throat specialist who provides services in Garrett County, has been appointed clinical assistant professor at the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

Clinical visiting faculty are physicians in private practice who voluntarily contribute to the School of Medicines educational programs. To qualify, a physician must demonstrate professional competence, be involved in and contribute to continuing medical education, show active involvement in public service and education, and be board certified.

RED HOUSE
by Marcella Moreland, reporter

The December meeting was called to order by Aliza Green with 19 members and 24 visitors present. Stevie Knepp led pledges.

Audrey Shipe did a demonstration on her cat, Zachary Rhodes did one on a wren box he made, and Shane Rounds did his on a trophy he won in T-ball.

Beef cards and tagging were discussed. Some enrollment and club rules were collected. Zachary and Audrey received birthday gifts from the club.

The following officers were elected, president, Adam Sanders; vice president, Stevie; secretary, Amanda Hinebaugh, treasurer, Aliza; and reporter, Eli Green. During the elections we had a surprise visit from Santa.

After the meeting was adjourned a gift exchange and Christmas party were held.

Six Southern High School students were recently selected as Students of the Month for November in six areas of study.

Senior Ryan Evans, son of Michael and Lois Evans, Oakland, is the Student of the Month for vocational studies. He is currently in his third year of carpentry class and also studies masonry. He enjoys hunting, fishing, and construction. Following high school, Evans plans to enroll in trade school or work in the construction field.

Sophomore Julie Glotfelty, daughter of Harry and Janet Glotfelty, Oakland, was selected for her performance in social studies. She has also been named to Southern's distinguished honor roll as well as Who's Who Among American High School Students. She was chosen as a Success Night student in eighth grade and received two National English Merit awards. She was also October's Student of the Month in math. Glotfelty has volunteered with the Southern Rescue Squad and attends McHenry United Methodist Church. She enjoys swimming, fishing, camping, and horseback riding, and in the future she hopes to study medicine with an emphasis in pediatrics or psychiatry.

Sophomore Sam Sisler, son of Gloria Sisler, Oakland, is Student of the Month for science. He is also an honor roll student and participated in Future Farmers of America in 1994. Sisler attends Crellin United Brethren Church and enjoys mountain biking and building models. He plans to attend college and hopes to pursue work in carpentry and masonry.

Freshman Amanda Spink, daughter of Tony and Linda Spink, Oakland, was chosen in the English category. Reckart was also an honor roll student her freshman and senior years. She was a Fresh Air Christmas volunteer in 1993, she worked as a live-in baby sitter during her sophomore and junior years, and played girls' softball her junior year. After graduation, she hopes to study mathematics at West Virginia University.

Freshman Robert Unger, son of Ronald and Barb Unger, Mtn. Lake Park, is the November student in technology education. In seventh grade Unger was chosen to participate in the Earth Shuttle, and in eighth grade he received a Woodmen of the World award for proficiency in American History as well as a Success in School award. He is a member of the Southern football team and was a player on this year's Battery Warehouse senior league championship baseball team. New Initiative Attacks Holiday Drunk Driving

A public information campaign designed to prevent alcohol abuse throughout the holiday season was launched statewide last week.

On more than 25 billboards statewide, a photograph of a Maryland State Trooper is accompanied by the words, "Please Don't Drink and Drive This Holiday."

The billboard campaign was produced in partnership by the Maryland Troopers Association and Anheuser-Busch.

Proactive efforts such as these to fight drunk driving are having an impact, according to the Association. Since 1982, DWI fatalities have declined 37 percent nationally and 53 percent in Maryland. "We've made tremendous progress in the fight against drunk driving," said Virginia Lewis, president of the Maryland Troopers Association. "Tough enforcement of the DWI laws has contributed to those dechnes -- and the Troopers will continue to do our part to remove drunk drivers from Maryland's highways this holiday season -- but we haven't done it alone. We salute the Maryland citizens who regularly make smart choices: drinking responsibly, volunteering to be a designated driver or calling a cab."

"Hats off, as well, go to Maryland's responsible party hosts, bartenders and other servers of alcohol beverages who encourage everyone to 'Know When To Say When' this holiday season," said John F. Dougherty of Anheuser-Busch's department of Consumer Awareness and Education.

The Maryland Troopers Association, an employee organization of over 2,100 active and retired sworn men and women of the State Police, and over 45,000 associate members is organized for the purpose of supporting its members and contributing to the betterment of the community. The Association is involved in many charitable and public educational efforts such as a scholarship program, the D.A.R.E. program, and several programs for the underprivileged.

Anheuser-Busch, the world's largest brewer, has promoted responsible consumption of its products since the turn of the century. Today, the brewer seeks to combat alcohol abuse through its "Know When To Say When" and "Let's Stop Underage Drinking Before It Starts" campaigns, which run on television, radio, print, and outdoor advertising. Further, the brewer has developed award-winning alcohol awareness programs, more than a dozen of which are in use in communities nationwide.

Broad Ford Elem. Students Complete Jr. Ranger Program

Approximately 60 third graders at Broad Ford Elementary School recently completed the basic Junior Ranger Program offered by park service personnel from the Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, a unit of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources State Forest and Park Service.

Presented by ranger Ken Meyers and park naturalist Diane Miller, students in Barbara Heilig's and Barbara Ponceroff's third grade classes learned about nature and the environment, and were encouraged to protect and conserve the state's natural resources. Each student who completed the three 50-minute sessions received a basic Junior Ranger patch.

Ford Inducted Into Alpha Chi At Mt. Vernon

Melodie Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ford, Accident, was among the Mount Vernon Nazarene College students recently inducted into the Ohio Delta chapter of Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society.

Ford, a psychology/Christian education major, was among the 19 students elected by the college faculty for Alpha Chi induction. Membership into the society is limited to no more than 10 percent of the junior and senior classes and is restricted to students having at least a 3.85 grade point average. Membership in Alpha Chi ia the highest academic honor on the Mount Vernon Nazarene College campus.

Numerous Drug Cases Heard In District Court

A number of drug cases were heard by Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Frank A. Yerace, 40, Freeport, Pa., pleaded guilty to one count of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). He was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail, but all of the term was suspended except for 48 hours. He was also fined $150, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and was ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Yerace had been arrested at a drug check point at Swallow Falls State Park, by Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officers and Garrett County sheriff's deputies, after he reportedly attempted to make a U-turn and leave. After the officers stopped Yerace's vehicle, he consented to a search, and a small amount of CDS and paraphernalia were recovered, according to court records.

In a related case, Elizabeth D. Yerace, 31, also of Freeport, was not prosecuted for those same offenses because of statements made by Frank Yerace.

Four out-of-the-area people had drug charges filed against them placed on the stet docket in last week's court proceedings. Michael P. Bishop, 27, and Dale A. Eisenacher, 25, both of Forest Hill, Chris Greig, 25, Belair, and Ralph E. Jenkins III, 28, Frostburg, had all been charged with possession of CDS and its related paraphernalia after a Sept. 2 drug check point at Swallow Falls State Park.

Drug charges filed against a Pennsylvania couple were also placed on the stet docket, stemming from the same drug check point. Rebecca L. Koller, 27, and Gregory S. Koller, 26, both of Boyers, Pa., had been charged with possession of CDS and CDS paraphernalia. Gregory Koller was, however, convicted on one count of consuming alcohol while driving a motor vehicle. He paid a $70 fine for that offense. Court records indicate he attempted to leave Swallow Falls State Park when he observed the check point, because he was drinking, and didn't want to be arrested. A subsequent search of the Koller vehicle revealed a small quantity of marijuana seeds on the driver's seat, and marijuana and drug paraphernalia in the vehicle and in the couple's clothing.

Joseph A. DeWitt, 20, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of possession of CDS. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail, with all of the sentence suspended except for 48 hours, fined $150, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

District court records indicate DeWitt was arrested after a search and seizure warrant served by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on Sept. 1, resulted in the recovery of three-quarters of an ounce of marijuana, drug paraphernalia in the home, and a live, five-foot plant near the residence.

In a related case, Joseph C. DeWitt, 41, Oakland, was not prosecuted for possession of CDS and CDS paraphernalia because of statements made by the younger DeWitt.

Eric D. Adams, 27, Silver Spring, pleaded guilty to one count of CDS possession in last week's district court proceedings. He was sentenced to a 30-day jail term, with all of the sentence suspended except for 48 hours, fined $150, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Adams had been charged with those offenses on June 11 by a ranger at Swallow Falls State Park. The ranger was reportedly registering occupants at the campsites, and noticed an odor of marijuana as he spoke to the defendant. A subsequent search of Adams' vehicle revealed drug paraphernalia and a film canister containing marijuana leaves.

In other district court news, Michael W. Chalupka Jr., 20, Berkeley Springs, W.Va., was sentenced in last week's district court proceedings, after being found guilty in November of one count each of possession of CDS and its related drug paraphernalia. Judge Burnett imposed a 30-day jail term, but suspended all of the sentence except for 48 hours. Chalupka was also fined $150, placed on six months of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

His arrest occurred on Aug. 7, following a traffic stop by Maryland State Police on Interstate 68. A subsequent search of his vehicle revealed a small quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

During a violation of probation hearing for Donald C. Virts II, 21, Mountain Lake Park, Judge Burnett reimposed one 30-day sentence for a felony theft conviction, one 30-day sentence for a DWI (driving while intoxicated) conviction, both to be served concurrently.

A Mountain Lake Park man was ordered to serve a total of 90 days in jail after his conviction last week of violation of probation, and DWI (driving while intoxicated).

Judge Burnett reimposed two 30-day sentences (to be served concurrently) for Donald C. Virts II, 21, after the defendant was found to be in violation of probation stemming from earlier theft and DWI convictions. Virts was also handed a one-year sentence, with all of the term suspended except for 60 days (to be served consecutively with the 30-day sentence), after his conviction on another DWI charge.

The second DWI charge was filed on Aug. 11, along with one count of speeding, one count of operating an unregistered motor vehicle, one count of operating an uninsured motor vehicle, and one count of driving on a suspended license. Each of the additional charges was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Beverly L. Liston, 34, Terra Alta, W.Va., was not prosecuted on one count each of assault and battery, at the request of the victim, Edward L. White. White filed the charges after a Sept. 2 disturbance between the two.

During a sentence revision hearing for James E. Welsch, 30, Pittsburgh, the judge granted him probation before judgment on an earlier guilty verdict for possession of CDS. Welsch was charged with the offense on July 30, after his arrest at Swallow Falls State Park. A small quantity of marijuana was found in a backpack the defendant was carrying.

Robert B. Gaumer, 74, Frostburg (Garrett County address) pleaded not guilty, and was found not guilty of one count of harassment. The charge was filed by George E. Whitaker, also of Frostburg, after a dispute over a right of way. The dispute reportedly lasted from October 1994, until July 1995.

Local Program Represented At State Conference

Barbara Frey, program director, and Virginia Jeffrey, Intake/counselor specialist, of The Caring Connection, an adolescent pregnant and parenting teen program sponsored by Garrett Community College, were among the 700 participants at the 12th State Conference on Teenage Pregnancy and Parenting titled "Understanding the Mosaic of Adolescent Pregnancy." The conference, which was held at the Hunt Valley Inn on November 21, was sponsored by the interagency efforts of the Governor's office for Children, Youth and Families and the Governor's Council on Adolescent Pregnancy.

The goal of the conference was to foster efforts to prevent teenage pregnancy and to address the needs of pregnant and parenting teenagers by: exploring the issues of adolescent pregnancy from the perspectives of teenagers and professionals; networking with other professionals to identify solutions to common issues and concerns; discovering techniques for implementing and evaluating strategies and programs targeted toward pregnant and parenting adolescents: and learning about the current focus of statewide prevention efforts.

The keynote address was given by Judith Smith Musick, PhD, author of Young, Poor, and Pregnant. Workshops were scheduled throughout the day for participants targeting prevention, improving outcomes for parenting teens and their children, and altering negative impacts associating with teenage parenting. In addition to the scheduled workshops, during the luncheon there was a teen panel presentation moderated by Wiley Hall, journalist, discussing the theme "Teens Speak Out." These youths from around the state discussed what it is like to be a teenager in 1995.

The staff of The Caring Connection works with adolescent pregnant and parenting teens, ages 12 to 19, to assist local pregnant and parenting teens to stay in school and complete their education, research careers, secure financial aid to attend college, and obtain employment.

Anyone interested in teaming more about the program may contact The Caring Connection at 387-3071 or 387-3103 Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Caring Connection is funded by the Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning.

Lori Dominick Becomes Bride Of John Ruff In September Event

Lori A. Dominick and John F. Ruff IV were united in marriage on September 2, 1995. The double-ring ceremony took place at Calvary Bible Church, Ellerslie, with Pastor Ken Korns officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Leonard and Terry (Mary Edith) Donunick, Mt. Savage. The groom is the son of John and Nancy Rulf, Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a full-length gown made of candlelight crepe satin and rosebud lace overlays. The gown was adorned with beaded and sequined appliques, iridescent and ivory beadwork and sequins, and a cathedral-length train. The gown was designed by the bride and made by her great Aunt Kathleen (McKenzie) Jones, her mother, her sister and herself.

The bride wore a pair of 50 year old, hand crocheted gloves from Switzerland, borrowed from her great aunt, and a blue garter her mother-in-law wore in her wedding. She carried a heart shaped bouquet made of champagne tea roses with a cascade of burgundy and navy tea roses and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids carried five of the 12 bouquets caught by the bride over the years.

Judy Miller, bride's friend, Mt. Savage, and Theresa Ludwick, bride's sister, Frostburg, were the matrons of honor. The bridesmaids were Brenda Clark, groom's sister, Keyser, Tammy Ruff, groom's sister, Hagerstown, and Nancy Ruff, groom's sister-in-law, Grantsville.

John Ruff Sr., groom's father, was the best man. The groomsmen were Mike Ruff, groom's brother, Grantsville; Bill Sines, groom's friend, McHenry; Joe Clark, groom's brother-in-law, Keyser; and Roger Ludwick, bride's brother-in-law, Frostburg.

Shane Fravel, friend of the groom, Cumberland, was the ring bearer and Beth Ann Shaffer, bride and groom's friend, Falling Waters, W.Va., was the flowergirl.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Memorial wing of the church. Debbie Dunnivan, Frostburg, provided the catering. Bonnie Goebel, Mt. Savage, made the cake. Balloon decorations were done by Melody Galiher, Klondike. Flowers were done by Annie Goebel, Ellerslie. Entertainment was provided by Greg Staub on piano and a trio of singers including the bride's sister and friends of the bride and groom Bess Nason and Sharon Kline, Cumberland.

For their honeymoon, the bride and groom traveled to the Pocono Mountain of Pennsylvania, Cooperstown, N.Y., the Fingerlakes of New York, to Niagara Falls, Canada, Wellsboro, Pa., and Thurmont. Upon their return the couple established residence in Bel Air.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Indiana, Delaware, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

Winter Camping Course Slated

A winter camping experience in Minnesota awaits students who enroll in Garrett Community College's Adventuresports course AVS 143 scheduled for January 17-21.

The five-day course will be instructed by Clyde S. "Sandy" Bridges, director of the Northern Tier High Adventure Base and National Cold Weather Camping Development Center of the Boy Scouts of America, and Paul Shogren, who will travel with the students to the camp. The course will be taught at the base on Moose Lake, 20 miles from Ely, Minn., and near the Boundary Waters Canoe Area.

Bridges, who studied forestry at Arkansas A & M and attended the Air Force Arctic Training School in Fairbanks, Alaska, has been actively involved with the Boy Scout organization since he joined as a Cub Scout in 1948 and later became an Eagle Scout and member of the Order of the Arrow. He started the winter camping program in 1972 and wrote the manual used throughout the recreational industry.

Shogren has had wide camping experience with scouting organizations and with the Adventuresports program.

Students who enroll in the course will learn to build shelters, cook their food, and survive in a winter climate.

Fire Prevention Code Revised

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele and Theodore Landskroener, chairman of the State Fire Prevention Commission, have announced a revision of the State Fire Prevention Code.

The revision to the Code was enacted by the Commission and became effective December 4. The updated edition brings the code up to the most current referenced codes and standards published by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. (BOCA).

The State Fire Prevention Code is a minimum fire prevention code which applies statewide, except in Baltimore City, where it is only applicable to state owned, operated or licensed facilities such as state offices, hospitals, nursing homes, day care centers, Oriole Park at Camden Yards and similar facilities.

Maryland law allows local jurisdictions to adopt more stringent code requirements, if needed. Additionally, the Code does not apply to one and two-family dwellings unless these residential properties are licensed for the purpose of foster care, alternate living units, or family day care facilities. Existing state laws and regulations of smoke detectors in one and two-family dwellings continues in effect and is not affected by the revised regulations.

State law requires the revised and updated State Fire Prevention Code to allow a "grandfather clause" which indicates that the updated codes and standards adopted by the State Fire Prevention Commission only apply to new buildings and facilities for which a building permit is granted on or after December 4, 1995. Existing buildings and facilities continue to meet the required regulations which were in effect at the time they were built unless extreme conditions exist that present serious life safety hazards to those occupants of those facilities.

Commenting on the code revision, Gabriele remarked, "The revision of the Code will help to keep Maryland's communities as safe as possible from the ravages of fire and explosion." Landskroener added "The Commission was pleased to act on the proposed regulations in an effort to keep Maryland in the forefront of fire safety in the nation."

For further information on the effects of the State Fire Prevention Code revision, persons may contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124, Monday through Friday during normal business hours.

Cultural Diversity Theme At GCC To Continue Next Spring

As Garrett Community College continues the year-long theme of "America's Cultural Diversity," a number of related events have been scheduled for the spring semester.

February activities will focus on the African American culture with an exhibit of African art and musical instruments scheduled in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery. Dr. Philip Allen, Dean of Humanities at Frostburg State University, will speak about the exhibit on February 2. Two free performances are scheduled later in the month. A film about apartheid in South Africa, "Sarafina," will be shown in the Loft February 13, at which time several students from West Virginia University who are natives of Africa will be present to lead a discussion. An African music workshop with Gary Phillips will be held on February 23 in the Laker's Cafe.

The theme for March will be the West Asian culture with a presentation on "The Culture of India" by Pramod Kapoor scheduled for March 27. A field trip to the Smithsonian and National museum in Washington D.C. is scheduled for March 29.

The Hispanic culture will be the focus for events in April and May. A free film "Stand and Deliver" will be shown in the Loft on April 17 with international students from West Virginia University present to lead a discussion. A field trip to the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh is scheduled for April 19, and a Multi-Cultural Symposium for April 29 in the auditorium. From May 6-31, an exhibit of Pre-Columbian and Contemporary Arts of Mexico will be on display in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery.

Culminating the year's events, a 10-day tour to England, France, and Spain is being planned for students and other interested persons. Anyone desiring further information about the tour may contact Lonnie Brewster at 387-3017.

NEW VOTING MACHINES DISPLAYED - During a recent open house event in the Garrett County courthouse, the county commissioners and other local citizens got the chance to try out the new county voting system. With this system, each voter will mark a paper ballot and then feed the completed ballot into an electronic counting machine, one of which will be located at each polling place. When the polls close, a "memory packet" from each counter will be transported to the county courthouse where a computer will compile the election results. The open house was hosted by the Garrett County Board of Supervisors of Elections. Pictured, election board member Alice Ann Ridder looks on as Commissioner Roger Glotfelty inserts a sample ballot into the counting device while new County Clerk Lamont Pagenhardt, left, and Commissioner Wayne Wilt wait their turns to vote. Commissioner John Braskey also participated. Earlier this year, the commissioners voted two-to-one to purchase the new, $175,000 voting system, with Braskey casting the sole dissenting vote. At that time, Braskey stated that he was satisfied with the old county voting machines.

Potomac Edison Seek Reduction Of Overall Rate

The Potomac Edison Company on Dec. 1 filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission requests for three rate adjustments which, when combined, will mean a reduction in customers' electric bills, according to a PE spokesman.

The company's filings, if approved, would place into effect a Rate Adjustment Credit; increase the existing Cogeneration Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act Project Surcharge; and increase the existing Environmental Surcharge. For an average residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month, the overall effect would be a 41-cent-per-month decrease or a drop of one-half of one percent.

Potomac Edison customers will benefit from a Rate Adjustment Credit of about $3 million. This credit is a result of a commission-approved contract with Eastalco, the company's largest customer.

Through a negotiated settlement between AES/Warrior Run (an independent power project in Western Maryland); Potomac Edison; the Public Service Commission of Maryland; and others, the AES/Warrior Run Project has been delayed from 1996 to 1999. Because of the delay, and as part of the settlement, Potomac Edison is obligated to pay certain costs incurred by AES Warrior Run. The increase requested in the Cogeneration Surcharge reflects $4.2 million to be paid during the period 1996 through 1998.

The third filing was made to increase by about $32,000 the Environmental Surcharge. The surcharge collects funds for use by the state to evaluate power generation and environmental issues. Utilities must pay into the fund to support this research.

The filings requested an effective date for bills rendered on and after Jan. 5, 1996, for the Cogeneration Surcharge and Rate Adjustment Credit and Jan. 6, 1996, for the Environmental Surcharge.

Potomac Edison serves more than 189,000 customers in all or parts of seven Maryland counties.

Pre-Concert Info To Be Provided By WMS Director

Audience members of the Western Maryland Symphony's Dec. 16 Christmas concert will receive a pre-concert introduction to the music by the symphony's executive director, Allen C. Emerick.

A teacher of music for 35 years, primarily at the college level, and a musician and vocalist for even longer, Emerick will provide concert-goers with insight and understanding of the music they are about to hear.

The Western Maryland Symphony, under the director of Jon Bauman, will perform Antonio Vivaldi's Gloria, Tchaikovsky's The Nutcracker Suite, and numerous favorite Christmas carols. The Cumberland Choral Society and two soloists from Washington, D.C., will join the symphony in Gloria.

Emerick, who taught at Waynesburg (Pa.) College before returning to his native Cumberland, has been a member of the ACC faculty for nine years, teaching music appreciation and fundamentals of music. He is also coordinator of ACC's Performing Arts and Cultural Event Series, which sponsors varied performances and presentations by local, regional, and national talent.

Emerick holds a bachelor's degree in music from West Virginia University and a master's in music from Duquesne University. He has done doctoral work in music at Northwestern University.

Active in Cumberland music and arts circles in addition to the symphony and ACC, Emerick is president of the Tri-State Community Concert Association. He is music director at Centre United Street United Methodist Church, where he is responsible for the music program and the sanctuary choir. He performs as a soloist and with other vocalists, including the Cumberland Choral Society.

Emerick's orientation, which is to last approximately 30 minutes, is scheduled to start at about 7 p.m. The symphony's performance begins at 8 p.m. in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Tickets are available locally at Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville, at Arrowhead Market on Deep Creek Lake, and at the Book Mark'et in Oakland.

For more information about the symphony and its Dec. 16 Christmas concert, persons may call 301-724-IWMS.

Farming In Maryland.....

State Officers Elected By Farm Bureau Delegates

William Knill, a beef cattle and row crop farmer from Mt. Airy (Carroll County), was reelected to a third two-year term as president of the Maryland Farm Bureau during the organization's 80th annual meeting in Ocean City. Maryland Farm Bureau delegates convened in Ocean City December 3 to 6.

"We have dealt with some tough and touchy issues these past few years," Knill said. "But we've been able to stay the course. It has been my honor serving as your president and working with the Farm Bureau family across the state. And I am honored to continue serving as your president for the next two years."

Stephen Weber of Baltimore County was reelected first vice president. Dan Shortall of Queen Anne's County and Oscar Grimes of Anne Arundel County were reelected vice presidents of the state's largest farm organization.

Knill is eager to get started addressing the issues contronting Maryland's food producers. He issued a challenge to the Maryland Farm Bureau Delegates.

"Let's look ahead because yesterday is history," Knill said. "Tomorrow and the future is where we will need to be focused. It is critical that you, the membership at the county level, become very active. Farm Bureau effectiveness will increase as our motivation involves larger membership numbers at the grass roots."

In addition to the election of officers, Maryland Farm Bureau delegates voted on resolutions for 1996 and recognized county Farm Bureaus for their service to Maryland agriculture.

Milk Production Up Unchanged

Maryland dairy operators produced 110 million pounds of milk during October 1995, unchanged from the same month a year earlier. The number of milk cows increased to 92,000 from the 91,000 a year ago. The yield per cow for the month of October 1995, at 1,195 pounds, declined one percent from a year earlier.

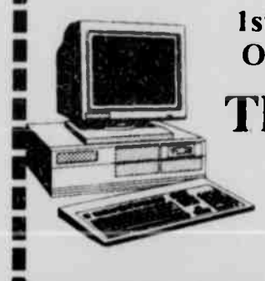
Milk production in the 22 major states during October totaled 11.0 billion pounds, one percent above production in these same states in October 1994. September revised production, at 10.8 billion pounds was one percent more than September 1994. Production per cow in the 22 major states averaged 1,361 pounds for October, seven pounds above October 1994. The number of cows on farms in the 22 major states was 8.11 million head, up 3,000 head from October 1994 but down 2,000 head from September 1995.

Maryland Ag Week Dinner Set For Feb.1

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley has announced that the Annual Maryland Agriculture Dinner will be held Thursday, February 1, 1996. This year the banquet will be held for the first time at Michael's Eighth Avenue, off of Dorsey Road, just east of Routes 3/197. A reception will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by the dinner.

"The Annual Agriculture Dinner is one of the biggest agricultural events held in our state each year. It is a time when members of the agriculture industry have an opportunity to meet with members of Congress, the Maryland General Assembly and the governor's cabinet and executive staff. In addition, a highlight of the evening is when Governor Glendening will induct selected Maryland farm families into the Maryland Agriculture Hall of Fame," Riley said.

The Maryland Agriculture Hall of Fame honors farm families who exemplify high standards of achievement and commitment to the community.



Tickets for the dinner are $75 per person and may be obtained from June Clark, finance chair for the dinner, at (410) 758-1706.

All three companies are working on hybrids that will control rootworm. Probably three or four years down the road.

In Loving Memory of Russell R. "Jock" Wilt at Christmas Time

Each day is filled with loneliness,
Each night the tears still flow,
Each birthday and each holiday,
The harsh winds really blow.
But Christmas——
What is it about Christmas
That makes my heart ache so?
The longing is so great for you,
Only the Lord does know
Somehow the lights are not as bright,
The gifts don't mean as much,
That special, special family deal
Has somehow lost its touch.
The food we always loved to eat,
The music's merry sound,
Those silly little gag gifts are no longer to be found.
What is lost?
All those precious treasures,
All the things I waited for.
I guess the answer, Sweetheart, is
I don't have "YOU" any more.

Merry Christmas, Honey
I'll always love you,
Liz

Powersource Youth Ministries of Crellin Assembly of God will present the musical, "Another Smokey Mountain Christmas--A Change of Heart," on Sunday, Dec. 17, at 7 p.m.

The musical focuses on a couple, John and Mary Ann, after a minor accident leaves them stranded. A Smokey Mountain family then invites the strangers to spend the holidays with them. During the visit, the guests realize once again the true meaning of Christmas.

Cast members and soloists include Jon DeWitt, Brittney Decker, Adam Miller, Annette DeWitt, Jamey DeWitt, Sam Moon, Christy Decker, Melissa Steyer, Justin DeWitt, and Jacob Snodgrass.

The musical is directed by Tim Miller, minister of youth and music. He is assisted by Linda Martin.

The public is invited to attend this holiday event. The Crellin Assembly of God is located four miles west of Oakland on Rt. 39.

Paperless Tax Returns Available Via Telephone

Thousands of taxpayers in Maryland, Delaware, and Washington, D.C., who enjoy the convenience of shopping or banking by phone will also be able to file their federal income taxes simply by making a short telephone call. The Internal Revenue Service's file-by-phone program will expand nationwide in 1996, and, like shopping and banking by phone, TeleFile will now be totally paperless.

About 475,000 area taxpayers who now use the 1040EZ form will be able to use a touch-tone telephone instead. Taxpayers will end their call by using a Personal identification Number that will substitute for the signature required on paper returns.

"Filing taxes doesn't get any easier than this," said IRS District Director Paul M. Harrington, as he announced the expansion and improvements in the program. "TeleFile will not only save taxpayers time and trouble, but will also make the IRS more efficient," he added.

After the taxpayer provides requested income information, TeleFile will compute the tax and announce how large the taxpayer's refund, if any, will be. Such refunds will generally be received within three weeks, or it will tell the taxpayer how much additional tax is due. The call will be completed by a confirmation number which the taxpayer can later use if there are any subsequent questions. The entire telephone transaction will take less than 10 minutes.

To be eligible for TeleFile, a taxpayer must receive a special tax booklet containing their PIN, and meet the following conditions: be single with no dependents, have taxable income of less than $50,000, have filed a tax return previously, and be at the same address as last year.

"This is our latest effort to cut paperwork and make it easier for taxpayers," said Harrington, noting that electronically filed returns contained fewer errors and were easier to process.

TeleFile has been tested in select areas since 1992. This past year, nearly 700,000 taxpayers in ten states filed by phone.

TeleFile access will be available 24 hours daily and taxpayers will have the option of using the system in English or Spanish.

Comptroller Info Available Via Internet

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said this week that "with the final link of Sailor in place, citizens in every county can now obtain free online information from the Comptroller's Office in their home, office, school or local library."

Sailor, a project of the Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Library Development and Services, provides an online information system that connects Marylanders and their libraries to resources across the state and the world. Sailor provides free access to the Internet and a wide range of government, business, health, recreational, and other topics.

In an important innovation, Marylanders wanting to open new businesses can now download the Comptroller's Combined Registration Application from Sailor, complete the application, and tax it to the Comptroller's Office with "just a few clicks of a mouse." Other individual and business tax information is also available on Sailor.

"We were one of the first state agencies to put information on the Sailor system," Goldstein said. "It's a free opportunity to obtain a wealth of information from the State Comptroller's Office as well as other information from throughout state government."

For more information about how to use Sailor, person may call the local library. From home or the office, users with Internet telnet capability can telnet directly into Sailor using one of these addresses: 192.188.199.5 or sailor.lib.md.us injury data is so "sketchy" that "any estimate of the effect of the speed limit on injuries is essentially an educated guess."

Sam Eastman
Mtn. Lake Park

To the Editor:

If only my numbers were hyperbole, Mr. Shogren. No offense, but I'm guessing you are a government worker or retiree, I am guilty of many things, including rampant hyperbole, but not in this case. Most of us are acquainted with government workers who can't hope to match their pay and benefits in the private sector. Those who can't match their pay, Mr. Shogren, are over paid. Only value conscious markets can establish actual value, Sir.

In Garrett County at least six government jobs that pay more than $50,000 /year would lack senior supervisory titles and pay $30,000 or less in the private sector. Two of the jobs involve state and local government and four are at the board of education. Dr. Ryscavage took time to hear my plan for saving $100,000 a year forever while improving board response to the public. He seemed to tell me there were too many burn-outs and well connected hustlers to take care of to implement my plan.

I know people working in federal government, at Labor, Interior, and on Congressional staff with salaries over $50,000. None of these people even recommends final decisions. They organize reports done by others. They hustle data. All but one have advanced degrees, and all have over twenty years in government.

The problem, Mr. Shogren, is that since public salaries escalated no one leaves government. Healthy people retire at 55 years and can expect to collect million dollar pensions. The high pay, the absurd supervisory titles, and the malfeasant pensions are not rewards for excellence, they are rewards for showing up sober long enough and conforming well enough.

I have no wish to single out or to insult overpaid individual government workers. Some are my friends. I am happy my friends made out. What I do want to do is to identify a system out of control, a system that threatens to create an American elite-bourgeois class.

Ask Greyhound the pay range for regional traffic managers. Ask Bell Atlantic the pay range for regional data handlers. Call Mutual of Omaha and ask how much on average it pays ordinary data shufflers. Ask a local bank what a third tier human resource person earns. Be sure and take the time to ask how their pension plans compare to government plans. No position listed above averages over $30,000, pensions average about 25% of salary instead of 50%-67%, and extra credentials don't guarantee extra pay. It's a pretty direct comparison, Mister Shogren.

A final example. Do you think anyone in the state earning $22,000-$30,000 could have made a worse deal than our $125,000 pension schemer did in the Cleveland Browns deal? Not only would he be fired in the private sector, he would likely be prosecuted. Only doctors and lawyers get to blow it that bad in the private sector and keep their jobs.

Oops! I'm over 250 words again. But then I write for the 500 word crowd.

Sincerely,
W. L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

The religious rights seem to be rising. There are many respected leaders claiming recognition. By following current events, and Bible prophecy we can expect a merging of all religions into one.

God's word predicts a one world government, and a one world church under the anti-christ, Rev. 13:3-11, also a one world money system. The great religious leaders of the world are emphasizing the need for revival. That is the answer to all the world's ills, if it is the true Lamb of God (Jesus Christ) who died to save the world, rose from the dead, and ascended into Heaven again. But beware, there are two gods in this world. There is the God of light and there are the gods of darkness. They will deceive the whole world, then be destroyed by the God of light, Rev. 12:9. Religion today may be the worship of anything from animals to the earth, including evolution.

The whole world lieth in wickedness, I John 5:19. The whole creation groaneth under the weight of sin, Rom. 8:22. The kings of the earth shall gather together, Rev.16:14, so be careful what you join.

Watch the merger. The Pope challenges the U.N. to rise more and more above the cold status of an administrative institution and become a moral center where all nations of the world feel at home, and feel as a family of nations. President Clinton urges the N.E.A. to work out religious guidelines to be taught in the public schools.

When the state begins to outline our worship it is reverting back to the 15 and 16 hundreds. When hundreds of thousands were cruelly martyred by order of the Pope and Romans. There has been a big issue of separation of state and church, I should have said separation of state from church. We are approaching a time of deception like never has been. Read Matthew 24:24 & Mark 13:21-23. Beware that you be not deceived read Matthew 24:3-5.

Anyone who would like more information along these lines of occults & their doctrines feel free to contact me. Space will not permit here. May God bless you richly and guide you in his path from earth to glory. Don't compromise with Baal!

Sincerely,
Homer Mellot

To the Editor:

This week I took a number of tests in the cardiopulmonary department at our hospital. It was not an unpleasant experience.

Each person who helped me was kind, friendly and carefully explained what he or she was going to do. I liked that. Even when the impersonal mechanical machine was taking pictures of my heart it was not an unpleasant half hour because I listened to classical music.

When I was told the procedure would take about four and half hours I took and read a book during the waiting periods between tests.

I was very happy I could have the tests made in our Garrett Memorial Hospital because I was able to see many familiar faces and chat for a few minutes with friends who passed through the waiting room.

I find the 1996 calendar about the hospital very informative.

ing to vote in the primary is February 5, 1996. The League of Women Voters of Garrett County (LWVGC) urges citizens to take part in their government by registering and voting in this election.

The league plans to sponsor a demonstration of the new voting machines soon at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland and perhaps at another branch as well. We will also be available for registering voters up until the deadline. Keep watch in this newspaper for more details.

President LWVGD

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter as a taxpayer and former county commissioner, in response to the letter written and signed by Mr. Franklin, in the December 7th edition of The Republican, concerning the sale of Deep Creek Lake. I will make my comments brief and my opposition known in regard to the county government ownership if this Pennsylvania Electric property may be for sale. I live approximately three miles north of Deep Creek Lake on State Route 42.

It would seem to me that all comments would be premature until it is known if this property is for sale. In the letter that appeared in the paper, several stages or degrees were mentioned as to how county ownership may benefit Garrett County. Paper lies still and figures can be deceiving. I know in past years the Pennsylvania Electric Company has been a sizable and dependable taxpayer. I have no doubt they still are. I do believe much of the county tax dollars may be derived from property owners around the lake, but not necessarily 100%. We have taxpayers throughout the county that deserve equal consideration. Individuals who are fortunate enough to live near a hard surface road or fortunate to have access or to enjoy some other type of luxury, (if I may use this word), should be willing to pay for the same.

In the event this property may be for sale, I would think buying an acquisition of this property would be a sizable and complicated purchase. However, I would support a safe, sensible bridge in the Glendale area similar to the bridge that carries the traffic over Route 219, as there is much of the county tax money that is funneled to the county treasurer's Office from this end of the county.

It is the responsibility of the county commissioners to provide any and all services that may be necessary as tax dollars permit, keeping all taxpayers in mind. It does seem in some instances honesty and judgment have been overlooked.

In closing, I am opposed to the county government entering into the purchase of the lake property, if it is for sale. As of today, I can't see that it may benefit the average taxpayer. This is my opinion and some may agree; others may not. It would be good to hear from other taxpayers from various areas in the county. I would doubt the average taxpayer in Garrett County would welcome an additional tax such as the one added on the recent tax bill for the landfill located in the Oakland area.

Respectfully,
Hubert A. Friend

To the Editor:

The time is fast approaching when my family and I will be moving from Garrett County to Houston, Texas, where I will become the chaplain of the Good Samaritan Lutheran Home. We have lived in Garrett County for almost 10 years. I believe it would be very remiss on my part if I did not in some way express the sincere appreciation and gratitude I feel toward the people and organizations who have made our Garrett County years cherished memories.

First and foremost I want to thank the members of the congregation I have served as pastor, St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, in the Cove. When I read the words of joy the apostles write of when they recall congregations they served my experience serving St. John's will give their words meaning. I also want to express my appreciation to the Rev. W. L. Karsten, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church for the many experiences we shared as colleagues in the ministry. I will also always treasure the affection and friendship my family and I received from the members of Zion. I also owe a debt of gratitude to the pastors and members of the Accident Lutheran Parish for being very good, loving neighbors to us.

There are also debts of appreciation and gratitude to the Accident community at large that I want to acknowledge with this letter. For a number of years I have had the privilege of serving as a substitute teacher in Northern High School. I want to thank the assistant principals for their frequent calls to substitute, Miss Wucik, Mr. Martin Green and Mr. Gary Reichenbecher. I also want to thank the many students I met during the years I served as substitute. In all the times I served as substitute I honestly can not remember ever having a bad experience in a class room. If all the young people in our country were of the calibre and character of the young men and women I met in Garrett County there would be no need to be concerned about the future of our country.

This letter is getting long but there are still some folks to whom I want to express words of appreciation. There are the board of directors and members of the Town View Village Corporation for the time we worked together when I was vice-president of the board. Then, there are the members of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society and the groups past directors. I have a sense of satisfaction and fulfillment from the work we did to preserve the Drane House.

Finally a word of thanks to the county commissioners for appointing me to be a trustee of the Ruth Enlow Library.

The list of people and organizations could go on and on to whom I feel a debt of gratitude for enriching the experience my family and I have had while sharing in the Garrett County experience. There is one individual I feel I cannot leave unmentioned-the Rev. William Carlson, pastor emeritus of the Accident Parish. We worked together both as members of the Town View Village Corporation and The Accident Cultural and Historical Society. Pastor Carlson's faithfulness and dedication to serve his community are sources of inspiration tor anyone who has had the joy and privilege of working with him.

We leave Garrett County eager for the ministry that awaits us in Houston, but we know as the time for leaving Garrett County draws ever closer, that Garrett County will not leave our hearts and memories. Thank you, Garrett County.

Pastor Ernest G. Lindner

Editor's note: The writers of the following letter to the Garrett County Commissioners requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Commissioners:

We, the board of directors of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County (LWVGC), support county funding for the Garrett County Commission for Women (GCCW) and urge you to reconsider your decision not to grant the $2,500 for operating costs requested by the commission. After all, the GCCW was established in good faith, with funding being allocated by the previous county commissioners. Why, then, shouldn't this previously granted funding be continued? The need for the Women's Commission has not gone away.

The amount that the GCCW requested is such a small percentage of the overall county budget, we don't understand why it has been denied. Del. Edwards stands ready to support its funding. Surely, it is not fair to expect the volunteers who run the commission to bear the costs of doing so. They have already invested much of their personal funds and time to get the GCCW set up and operating.

As you know, the main project of the GCCW is the establishment of a shelter home in Garrett County for domestic violence victims. According to Frances Callis, director of the Domestic Violence Center in Oakland, over 300 calls and contacts per year are received regarding sexual assault and abuse. Between 180 and 200 persons receive services. An estimated 50-90 per year could use a shelter.

We realize that a portion of the marriage license fee goes to support the shelter, but the GCCW itself has no source of funding. Commissioner Braskey is quoted in The Republican as saying that the commissioners endorse the GCCW efforts to obtain block grant funding. If this is true, why not help the commission pay for its telephone, postage, and other bare operating costs?

House Bill 1543 states that the county commissioners may establish a Women's Commission, and, further, that "the County Commissioners may take any additional action concerning the administration and op-eration of the Women's Commission that the County Commissioners consider appropriate." This clearly tells us that you can do whatever you want, so, of course, you can fund the Women's Commission. Please do so.

To the Editor:

Last year 16,600 Americans lost their lives as a result of alcohol-involved crashes. That's one about every 30 minutes. This is totally unacceptable, as impaired driving deaths and injuries are 100 percent preventable.

This holiday season, hundreds of government agencies, law enforcement officials, community groups, local businesses and major U.S. corporations are banding together to recognize National Drunk & Drugged Driving (3D) Prevention Month and "Take a Stand Against Impaired Driving".

I encourage you to join this national movement by taking your own stand against impaired driving. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has set a national goal of reducing DWI fatalities to 11,000 annually by the year 2005. That's almost 6,000 fewer than last year, and it's a rate that would reduce impaired driving fatalities to 30 percent of the total in a decade. This is an ambitious goal, one that will require all of us doing our part.

Taking a stand is simple, and there are lots of ways to do it. First of all, don't drink and drive. Never serve alcoholic beverages to anyone under 21. If you drink, always plan ahead and designate a non-drinking driver.

If you are having a party this holiday season, be a responsible host. Serve a wide variety of beverages, including some that are non-alcoholic. Control the amount of alcoholic beverages served--no open bars. Ask alcohol-impaired guests to stay overnight or call a cab to assure them a safe ride home.

Together, we can reach our goal of decreasing DWI-related fatalities and injuries. These are tragedies that don't need to happen. Do your part to take a stand against impaired driving this holiday season and throughout the year.

Sincerely,
Lynn Shiltman
Alcohol and Drug Prevention Coordinator

Food For Thought

Grapefruit goes way beyond breakfast when neat segments are spread with sugar and honey and then broiled briefly.

Try these easy, no-cook pear wraps: two ripe pears, halved and cored, each cut lengthwise into eight wedges (rub with lemon to avoid darkening), press a little bleu cheese into each cavity, wrap with a strip of honey-baked ham, and spear with a pick.

Low-fat dessert tips they'll never notice include butterless frosting made of 10X sugar and orange juice or coffee, raspberry jam as filling between layers of chocolate cake, and doily-stenciled designs of 10X sugar instead of icing on the cake.

Oops! Does the stuffing seem a little bland? Reseason, even after baking is done, with marjoram, thyme, ginger, salt and pepper. Crumbled bacon can add interest, too.

Tea tastes terrific when you've added some orange peel to the teapot a few minutes before serving.

Best wishes for a terrific holiday season from your friends at

THANK YOU

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association would like to thank the following individuals and businesses. Through donations of various forms our players, cheerleaders and band traveled to College Park on December 2, 1995, to represent all of Garrett County. Without these kind donations many of our programs participants would not have been able to attend the championship game. We apologize if any contributors have been overlooked. We have done our best to list every person who participated in the fundraiser.

sumption is increased. Alcohol is the most abused drug in Garrett County. On the increase, however, are other illegal drugs.

Quoting an article in a local newspaper, "State police estimate almost a third of the drivers pulled over for drunken driving are actually high on illegal drugs, allowing their breathalyzer tests to come up negative." Officers can be trained to do blood tests on suspected "drugged drivers."

At present there are 63 trained officers, all in the metropolitan areas of Maryland, who can administer blood tests for suspected drugged drivers. With the increased usage of marijuana and other drugs in Garrett County, we would like to see at least one State Police officer in Garrett County trained in this procedure. The tests can only be used after an initial evaluation, which involves coordination tests and takes about 30 minutes. A law allowing this testing was enacted by the General Assembly in 1991. State law says if the driver reluses the blood test, the state can suspend his license for 120 days for the first offense and a year for the second.

The Council on Alcohol & Drug Abuse encourages Garrett County citizens to: choose a designated driver before anyone has a drink; assume responsibility for your guests; don't let friends drive when alcohol or drug impaired; cut off drinks at least one hour before the party ends; serve non-alcoholic drinks after dining, don't make drinking the main locus of your event; provide nutritious and appealing food to slow down the effects of alcohol; and know the law, you can be charged for serving alcohol to underaged youth.

The council encourages moderation in alcohol consumption. We wish all Garrett Countians an accident free and a safe, joyous holiday season.

Anna M. Bishop, President
Garrett County Council on Alcohol & Drug Abuse

To the Editor:

Modell's betrayal of Cleveland in selling the Browns to Baltimore made Glendening an accessory to his deeds. Glendening also betrayed Maryland's citizens by using hundreds of millions of its taxes for entertainment while cutting or abolishing vital services. It is questionable whether lottery money that was instituted for other uses in order to obtain a lottery can be legally used.

It has been said that politicians are like baby diapers. They both need changed often, and both for the same reason. Glendening's removal would improve the smell.

To the Editor:

The administration of the office of the County Commissioners is a disgrace to the citizens of Garrett County.

As described in Mr. Watson's letter to the editor (The Republican, 12-7-95), the commissioners' handling of the 1.5 million dollar purchase of roads equipment has been a thoroughly sordid affair. This debacle has cost the county hard earned tax dollars that could well be used for important community needs. Moreover, the matter has been crafted so as to continue to draw resources from the county until at least the next election in 1998.

The disappointing thing is that the voters attempted to change the mentality of the commissioners' office in 1994 to gain a more forthright, business approach to the conduct of local government. While we recognized that Mr. Braskey had prior term fiscal and administrative responsibilities for the purchase of the roads equipment, I think few realized the apparent depth to which he must have been involved.

As for Mr. Wilt, we simply believed him when during the campaign he promised, "I...feel I can lead the county in a direction that is beneficial to its citizens and taxpayers" and "...I will give my undivided attention to the problems...and...work diligently...(to) resolve the problems that face our county." After more than a year, we are still waiting.

However, we did succeed in one case and Commissioner Glotfelty will need our continuing support until we are able to set things right in 1998. Similar comments were expressed in the same issue by Messrs Insley, Railey, and Newhall on both this matter and the general choice of county expenditures - a further indication of the people. But where are our state, local and community leaders, including (and especially) The Republican? Who really looks out for the citizens of Garrett County when we get into a mess like this and what options do we have?

Let's hear it from Oakland, Grantsville, and the other townships! We're all in this together, so speak up and let's strive for better government starting right here at home. Let Messrs Braskey and Wilt know we're not going to tolerate their continued abuse of county tax dollars and the further high-handed misuse of the office we entrusted to them.

Enough is enough - we can't afford to let it go on.

Sincerely,
Howard Baillie
Deer Park

To the Editor:

I have been and am more so everyday appalled as the many details of the county commissioners "deal" with Fousek is revealed. I thought with his (Fousek's) retirement we would be rid of him and he would take care of his private business, I understand he has been engaged in for several years elsewhere. But no, we as taxpayers still have the burden of him around our neck, thanks to two commissioners and Fousek himself.

"Gravy Train" will you never be derailed?

What has happened to the leadership in Garrett County? Responsible leadership? It has been, I think, close to 20 years since the public outcry against the county commissioners spending excesses led to the march on the county commissioners office which brought about change. Most of these people are too old to be actively involved anymore, but where are the younger people? Has morals ethics, loyalty, concern, and awareness so deteriorated in our society that we can't rise to the occasion to see real caring exhibited in our daily pursuit of business?

Does the personal pursuit of monetary gain and keeping up with the Jones or let someone else do the "disagreeable" or it will affect my pleasant position or status, prevail here?

Several people have spoken out and written letters and I applaud them! This whole mess is incomprehensible to me also! But many things in Garrett County have been incomprehensible to me for a long time.

In this "Fousek mess" so many questions have been asked and they remain unanswered. They need to be answered. A public forum was requested. It should be held.

The Republican editor in an editorial Aug. 31, 1995, asked several questions which to my knowledge have not been answered or I have not seen them published. Many people have raised many questions that have not been answered. I applaud Watson, Railey, and all those who have raised questions and or expressed their opinion and Mr. John E. Hinebaugh deserves a star in his crown for what he has endured in this mess.

Mr. Braskey, the last time I was in your official presence you said the three commissioners make the decisions. My question to you is, then why did you state, "we couldn't have had a settlement without Fousek's agreeing to it," your quote Sept. 1, 1995, Garrett County Weekender and The Republican Aug. 31, 1995. Explain that please.

Questions have been asked about the plans for the Glendale Bridge replacement. They have never been answered. Since we, the taxpayers, pay for all of this, why are there no public forum meetings held, commissioners?

We desperately need a real public citizens' group formed in Garrett county. We elderly people cannot be the forefront of such things! We did all this in our 30s and 40s, but we cannot do it now. We can help, however! Can some care enough to begin to get Garrett County on the proper road again? Think please.

This is my opinion.

Thanking you,
Louise V. Harvey

HELP! A few Friday mornings back when I was at the countar of St. Matthew's Nearly New Shop in Oakland, a lady took a bundle of knitting needles wrapped in a wool cover from a box in front of the counter and I sold them to her. I was mistaken, the sale was an error. That particular box contained items that were not intended for sale including the knitting needles.
The needles represent two generations, my wife and her mother. Information leading to their return would greatly improve my life at home. I offer a suitable reward.

Local Businesses Help AmeriCorps With Projects

Three local businesses combined efforts with Garrett County AmeriCorps members which are located at Garrett County Social Services, Garrett County Community Action Inc., and Garrett County Health Department to present a float in the Autumn Glory parade.

Through the efforts of 84 Lumber, Green Acres, Rigidply Rafters Inc., and the AmeriCorps members, last year's AmeriCorps playground project was reconstructed into the form of a float which was in the Autumn Glory parade on October 14.

These three local businesses lent the AmeriCorps members supplies to reconstruct the playground project. 84 Lumber lent the AmeriCorps members a playground set similar to the one that AmeriCorps members constructed at Potomac Garrett State Park last spring and also helped with construction of the float. The float was also decorated with fall mums which were lent to the AmeriCorps members by Green Acres of Oakland. The playground was secured to the float by steel bands which were lent to the AmeriCorps members by Rigidply Rafters Inc.

Jeannie Frazee, one of AmeriCorps members with Community and Emergency Services, said, "Without the help of these local businesses the AmeriCorps float wouldn't have been such a success. We appreciate the local business's help and the support they gave the AmeriCorps members and their efforts to serve the community."

The playground that was reconstructed on the float is located at Potomac Garrett State Forest. The playground was constructed by AmeriCorps members from Garrett County, Allegheny County, and volunteers who came together with the AmeriCorps members to volunteer their time and expertise.

"We wanted to create something special for the children of the existing areas," said Tina Sumpter, one of AmeriCorps members with Community and Emergency Services.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED - The National Guard Armory gymnasium in Oakland was a flurry of activity just moments before this photo was taken on Saturday, as the room was packed with 40,000 pounds of food and hundreds of Christmas gifts, all awaiting delivery to some 400 Garrett County families in need. The only sound remaining when Pat White snapped this shot was that made by Oakland Rotary Club member Craig Wengerd, pictured at right, as he flipped through the delivery tickets and "checked his list twice" to make sure that all of the families were served. The annual project is spearheaded by the Rotary Club, but depends heavily on volunteer assistance from many different organizations, as well local businesses for donations. See more photos of the effort in this section.

THE "OUTSTANDING CLUB WOMAN FOR 1995" of the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland was named during a recent meeting of that organization. Agnes Dzendzel, this year's outstanding club woman, was selected by a committee comprised of former recipients of the award for "giving untiringly of her time and energies throughout the year." Mrs. Dzendzel was recognized for her work with the food concession that is held in conjunction with the antique show during the Autumn Glory Festival. An original poem, written especially for Mrs. Dzendzel by Bobby Andersen, was read during the awards ceremony. A plaque and flower were presented to Mrs. Dzendzel by Faye Denison, a former recipient. Pictured above, from left to right, are Martha Jachowski and Helen Wagner, also former outstanding club woman recipients, Mrs. Dzendzel, Mrs. Andersen, and Mrs. Denison.

MLP To Get State Aid For Sewer Project

Governor Parris N. Glendening has announced Board of Public Works approval of a $65,000 state supplemental assistance grant to the town of Mtn. Lake Park to upgrade the existing sewage collection system. The improvements will replace existing sewer lines and replace or install manholes to correct a sewer overloading problem.

Chaired by the governor, the Board of Public works is also comprised of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is empowered by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions, and other procurement actions.

"This project willl eliminate raw sewage overflows and sewage backup in residents' basements," said Glendening. "These supplemental funds also will ensure that the project remains affordable to

Blaze Damages One-Story House Near Deep Creek

A new, one-story house near Deep Creek Lake sustained major damage by fire last evening after the owner of the wood-frame structure returned to the house from a neighbor's residence and found flames in the kitchen.

Volunteer fire fighters from Deep Creek, Oakland, and Deer Park fire departments were summoned to the residence of Joseph and Karen Friend at 7:45 p.m. Mr. Friend, 48, was later transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for smoke inhalation and released.

The house was located at 121 Water Wheel Road, just off U.S. Rt. 219 about one mile south of the lake. The Office of the State Fire Marshal has determined that the fire, which originated in the kitchen, was accidental in nature and involved a woodburning stove.

Fire fighters had to also battle blowing snow, subfreezing temperatures, and winds of 15-20 mph, but managed to bring the fire under control within about 45 minutes, although some Deep Creek units remained on the scene for several hours. Some 30 volunteers responded.

Also responding to the scene was the Southern Rescue Squad, which transported Friend to the hospital.

Fire investigators estimate approximately $80,000 in loss and damages to the house. A family spokesman said that the Friends had just built the house and had not yet moved in.

Icy Conditions Blamed For Several Automobile Mishaps

Several accidents were reported to the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police during the past week, including one late Monday evening that sent three people to Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

According to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, Barrack W, Ronald A. Rhodes, 21, Baltimore, and his two passengers, 17-year-old Emily B. Friend, Mtn. Lake Park, and 23-year-old Anthony D. Dokes, Martinsburg, W.Va., were all injured when the 1990 Chevrolet Beretta, operated by Rhodes, slid on the icy roadway along Rt. 495, just north of the Brenneman Road, and ran off the road, where it struck a C&P cable box and pole.

Rhodes and Friend were treated and released at the Cumberland facility, but Dokes was admitted for his injuries. He currently listed in "stable" condition, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Volunteers from Northern Garrett Rescue Squad also responded to the 11:20 p.m. accident.

Icy roads also contributed to another single-vehicle accident that occurred on the Sand Flat Road, at approximately the same time as the first mishap.

Tfc. G.S. Becker responded to the scene after 18-year-old Carolyn M. Alvarez, Morgantown, W.Va., lost control of her vehicle on the icy roadway, just north of the Paradise Point Road. Her car skidded off the road, struck a ditch and overturned, according to the report.

Alvarez was reportedly uninjured in the 11:20 p.m. mishap.

An early Monday morning mishap, involving a 1984 International trash truck, sent its driver, Jerry Sweitzer, Oakland, to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The truck reportedly slid off the icy roadway and struck several large boulders.

Sweitzer was taken to the hospital where he was reportedly treated and released, following the 7:40 a.m. accident. A passenger in the truck, James Patton, Mtn. Lake Park, was appar-

Suspects Arrested Following Alleged Drive-By Shooting

An 18-year-old Swanton man and a 15-year-old Oakland-area juvenile were arrested following an incident that the Garrett County Sheriff's Office is describing as a drive-by shooting.

Jason C. Pressley, Swanton, was arrested on Dec. 18 and charged with discharging a weapon within the city limits of Mtn. Lake Park, transporting a handgun in a vehicle, and malicious destruction of proper-

Bruno Named B&L Plant Manager

Bedford N. "Buff" Bruno has been appointed plant manager for Bausch & Lomb's Oakland facility, a position last held by Harry "Butch" Sumpter.

Following Sumpter's promotion to vice-president of global manufacturing operations at Bausch & Lomb's corporate offices in Rochester, N.Y., the local B&L facility functioned as a "staff team" for 18 months with Allen Barr serving as team coordmator and acting plant manager.

"Buff comes to Bausch & Lomb with many years of manufacturing experience," a company spokesperson stated.

Before moving to the local area, Bruno was employed with Fiberweb Notch America/James River Corporation in Simpsonville, S.C., where he held the position of director of manufacturing for that company's hygiene strategic business unit. Prior to working at Fiberweb, he served in a variety of management and engineering capacities with Frito-Lay and Crown Zellerbach Corporation. He also served in the U.S. Army, where he achieved the rank of major.

Bruno graduated from Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., with a degree in mechanical engineering, and completed an M.B.A. at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton Business School, Philadelphia. He completed his Ph.D. in human and or-

Del. Edwards, Sen. Hafer Comment On Deep Creek Lake Purchase Plan

Meeting Today Draws Large Crowd

Because of time constraints and public concerns, a draft piece of legislation, intended to permit the purchase of the land surrounding and under Deep Creek Lake by area property owners, will most likely not be submitted to the Maryland General Assembly in the near future.

"The bill they have as printed probably has no chance of being [submitted] based on the comments I've heard here today," remarked District 1A Delegate George Edwards to a standing-room-only crowd in the meeting room of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners this morning.

Del. Edwards went on to state that before he would submit such a bill to the General Assembly, public hearings would be held to determine local citizens' opinions on the issue.

This morning's special public meeting was convened by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners to discuss the proposed purchase of the Deep Creek Lake bed and buffer strip by Tax District 18 property owners.

During the meeting, Mike Belmonte, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association, and the POA's attorney, Devin Doolan, presented a summary of their plan to approximately 50 interested persons, including District 1 State Senator John Hafer, county government officials, representatives of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and lake property owners.

Belmonte stated that he requested the meeting to keep the commissioners informed of his group's progress in their plan to buy the lake bed and buffer.

Belmonte also commented that he and some of his associates had a meeting with representatives of the Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec), the corporation which currently owns the lake bed and buffer, in early November.

"I thought the meeting [with Penelec] went well," Belmonte told the commissioners this morning, adding that his group's goal is long term access to the lake at a reasonable price.

However, the company has not yet agreed to sell the lake, he said.

GCC To Note 25th Year With Two-Day Event

A celebration to commemorate Garrett Community College's 25th Anniversary is being planned for September 6-7, 1996. The two-day event will begin with a dinner and dance Friday evening at the McHenry House and will continue on Saturday with a family picnic, alumni-varsity basketball and volleyball games, other outdoor activities, historical exhibits, and an evening performance on the campus.

Included in the program will be an exhibit depicting the 25 years of GCC's history and the burial of a time capsule to be opened in another 25 years. According to GCC president Dr. Steve Herman, announcements of the celebration will be mailed early next year and it is hoped that many GCC alumni and former students will come back to the campus that weekend.

THE BEAUTY OF THE SEASON is undeniable, despite the fact that the ice and snow received the past few days causes a variety of hazards and problems. One can nearly feel the coldness while gazing upon this shot captured by Craig Phillips. The sleet and snow received Tuesday and Wednesday made travel difficult, caused several power outages in the county, and caused school delays Monday and Wednesday and cancellations Tuesday and again today, however, the real brunt of the storms - one from the west and one from the south - for once missed Garrett County and hit areas east of here considerably harder. Those on the Mountaintop dreaming of a white Christmas will most certainly get their wish, as sub-freezing temperatures and light snow are predicted to continue through the holiday.

800 BOXES OF FOOD and several hundred bags of gifts packed the gymnasium at the National Guard Armory in Oakland Friday night and early Saturday before it was all delivered to families in need all over Garrett County. The project is spearheaded annually by the Oakland Rotary Club, with Dr. Dave Bollinger as the chairman. Numerous other volunteer organizations, including Lions club members and fellow Rotarians in the northern areas of the county, assist with the effort each year. Much of the food and many of the gifts are donated or provided at cost by local merchants.

Arrests, Thefts Logged By GCSO

In recent days the Garrett County Sheriff's Office (GCSO) has arrested several persons and investigated multiple local thefts.

Gary B. Pennington Jr., Bayard, W.Va., age 27, was arrested on Dec. 17 for driving while intoxicated (DWI) after a sheriff's deputy reportedly witnessed him travel through the intersection of Rts. 219 and 50 at approximately 3 a.m. without illuminated headlights.

Pennington was also charged with driving on a revoked out-of-state license, reckless driving, failure to stop at a stop sign, and failure to drive right of center. He was released on $500 bond.

GCSO personnel arrested Kathy Lucas, age 27, Grantsville, on Dec. 15 for trespassing and assault. She was released on her own recognizance.

Deputies arrested Maryland resident James R. Lauck, age 32, on the strength of a warrant for alleged battery and fourth degree burglary. Lauk turned himself in to police on Dec. 14. He was later released on his own recognizance.

In an unrelated incident, George Titchinel reported to the sheriff's office that an unknown person had broken into his mobile home in the White Oak Trailer Park, Swanton. The investigating officer found that the suspect or suspects apparently entered the trailer by prying open the living room window. GCSO records indicate that the suspects ransacked the entire trailer and stole approximately $150 worth of items, including a folding buck knife, a video tape, a socket set, and assorted food items.

Baltimore resident James R. Duckworth reported that an uninhabited house which he owns on Mt. Zion Crosscut Road was entered sometime during the second half of November and a $1,300 oil furnace was stolen.

Mtn. Lake Park resident Clayton R. Arnold reported that during the night of Dec. 14, four hubcaps from his 1988 ford truck were stolen and the emblem on the tailgate of the vehicle was damaged. Total loss in estimated at $600.

Holiday Schedule Noted For Local Waste Facilities

The holiday operating schedule for the garrett county landfill and refuse collection sites was issued this week by the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling.

The landfill, located on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, and satellite refuse collection sites will be closed Monday, Dec. 25, in observance of Christmas day, and Monday, Jan. 1, 1996, in observance of New Year's Day. The refuse collection sites will also be closed Christmas Eve - Sunday, Dec. 24.

The solid waste office is also reminding Garrett County residents and property owners that the blue 1995 resident refuse stickers will expire at the end of this month, and after that point may no longer be used to gain entry to the collection sites.

"As of Jan. 2, 1996, only the red 1996 refuse site sticker, when permanently attached to a vehicle windshield, will allow admittance to the sites for disposal of general refuse," an office spokesperson stated.

Applications for refuse stickers may be picked up at any refuse site or at the main office at the landfill, and completed applications may be mailed or hand-delivered to the main office. For more information, persons may call the office at 387-0322.

OPD Investigates Hit & Run Report

The report of a hit and run was reported recently to the Oakland City Police by Milford E. Beckman, Oakland.

According to a report filed by Chief John Sines, Beckman parked his 1989 Cadillac at a parking meter on Second Street, near the intersection with Alder Street at approximately 8 a.m. on Dec. 14. When he returned at noon, he noticed damage to the front bumper area of the vehicle.

Sines noted that an unknown vehicle apparently backed into Beckman's vehicle and failed to notify the owner. The car sustained approximately $800 in damage.

MSP Investigate Reported Thefts During Past Week

Several thefts were reported to the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, during the past week, including numerous complaints from several visitors to the Wisp Resort, who had ski equipment stolen.

One incident was reported Sunday when thieves cut a lock to enter a locker and remove two pairs of skis valued at approximately $1,080.

According to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, Rick E. Frey Jr., and Dean A. Della Noce, both guests at the Wisp Hotel, said unknown persons broke into their locker and removed one pair of turquoise and orange K-2 FX Extreme snow skis with attached purple bindings, and one pair of black Rossignol snow skis with red and white Solomon bindings.

An investigation is continuing into the incident.

Kevin R. Romine, Dayton, Ohio, also reported the theft of a pair of skis from the Wisp Resort this week.

In his report, Tfc. W.E. Dixon noted that Romine's equipment, a set of black and red K-2 Eclipse skis with black and gray Tyrolia bindings, and a pair of ski poles were taken shortly after 2:30 p.m. on Monday.

Delos M. Carpenter, McHenry, told state police this week that someone stole four hubcaps, valued at $200, from his Ford F-250 pickup truck, sometime between 2 a.m. on Dec. 13 and 8:55 a.m. on Dec. 16. The hubcaps fit 16-inch wheels.

Tfc. Dixon is the investigating officer.

MSP Investigate MDOP, Assault, Battery Reports

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, investigated several reported assault, battery, and malicious destruction of property (MDOP) reports during the past week.

Tfc. Lemay responded to a residence on the Gravely Run Road, McHenry, last Friday evening, when Larry William Wakefield Jr., 21, reported he had been assaulted by Jason Martin, 22, and Michael Freyman, 23.

An investigation into the matter revealed that Jedadiah Serth, 21, was also reportedly assaulted by Martin and Freyman.

Lemay noted that when he contacted the two suspects about the matter, they told him that they were assaulted by Wakefield and Serth.

During the altercation between the four men, a Ford Escort, owned by Michele Ranee McCarty, was damaged, the officer reported.

Martin, Freyman, Wakefield, and Serth were all subsequently charged with assault, battery, and malicious destruction of property following the 11:30 p.m. incident.

CHARGED WITH BATTERY

An Oakland man was arrested on the strength of a warrant served by the state police last Thursday.

According to a report filed by Tfc. S.H. Anderson, David A. Mountain, 43, was charged with one count of battery after an apparent altercation with William Forest Lee III, also of Oakland, that occurred at Battery Warehouse.

Mountain reportedly grabbed Lee by the jacket and pushed him, causing him to nearly fall.

A warrant was subsequently issued for Mountain's arrest, following the 4 p.m. altercation, and was reportedly served without incident. He was later released on his own recognizance.

ASSAULT/MDOP

A reported assault and malicious destruction of property incident, involving a tractor-trailer owned by Wagner Trucking, was investigated last Thursday morning on Rt. 219, three-tenths of a mile from the Glendale Road.

Robert P. Michaels, 26, Aurora, W.Va., told police that an unknown subject, operating a blue or black '90s model Toyota pickup truck with North Carolina registration plates, jumped out of his truck and onto the 1995 Kenworth road tractor Michaels was operating, threatened him with his fist, and then broke the driver's side window with a club.

The attacker then reportedly fled the scene before he could be apprehended. The total damage done to the rig was approximately $250, according to the police report.

ROTARIANS AND LIONS from other areas of the county assisted the Oakland Rotary Club once again in making deliveries of food and gifts brighten the holidays for hundreds of local families in need. Tractor trailer loads of the items were hauled from the National Guard Armory in Oakland to both Friendsville and Grantsville where other volunteers were waiting to make the final deliveries. Above, Friendsville Rotarians Mike Fratz (left), Carol Calhoun, and Don Fratz load a vehicle, as do Rotary Club President Mary Walcek and town Councilman Jim Spears below.

State Offers Update On Smoking Regs

John P. O'Connor, Maryland commissioner of labor and industry, has issued a reminder that employers need to ensure that they are in compliance with the Workplace Smoking Regulation and Law.

"We are pleased with the level of compliance that we are seeing in many sectors," said O'Connor "However, we are concerned that in some instances employers have not acted to ensure that the smoking prohibition has been implemented in their workplace."

Last week, the first citations for non-compliance were issued to seven Maryland employers. Fines ranged from $225 to $1,350.

The purpose of the prohibition is to protect employees from the effects of second-hand tobacco smoke, or ETS. There is now abundant scientific evidence that breathing someone else's tobacco smoke causes nonsmokers to contract the very illnesses most closely associated with direct smoking -- lung cancer, which is almost always fatal, and heart disease. Estimates are that 3,000 nonsmokers die annually of ETS-related lung cancer and another 35,000 to 40,000 people die annually of ETS-related heart disease. The workplace is the primary source of exposure to ETS.

Maryland's regulation requires an employer to prohibit smoking in an indoor workplace or to restrict it to a specially ventilated room, and to post a sign stating that smoking is not permitted. It applies to all indoor places of employment with some exceptions. The regulation does not apply to places of employment where there are no employees such as a sole proprietorship or a strictly volunteer operation.

The regulation also permits exemptions for tobacconist establishments, a vehicle occupied by only one employee, and for smoking that is necessary to the performance of scientific research in a laboratory setting on the health effects of smoking.

The regulation which has been in effect since March 27, 1995, is already protecting many Maryland workers from the hazardous effects of secondhand smoke, O'Connor said. During the first six months, the Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation's Division of Labor and Industry focused attention on providing information and education to employers. Full enforcement of the regulation began on September 27, 1995, with the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health (MOSH) Program enforcing this regulation as it enforces all occupational safety and health standards.

MOSH continues to provide information to employers and employer groups to answer the most frequently asked questions and provide guidance in complying. For additional information on the Workplace Smoking Regulation and Law, persons may contact (410) 333-4184.

residents of Mtn. Lake Park."

This project involves replacing approximately 17,000 linear feet of existing terra cotta line with new PVC line and installing or replacing 39 manholes which contribute significantly to the sewer overloading problem. These lines are scattered throughout the corporate limits. Construction is due to begin in Dec. 1995 and is expected to be completed by Aug. 1996.

"As anyone who has experienced a sewage backup in their home can attest, this project will improve the quality of life for residents of our town," said David M. Turney, mayor of Mtn. Lake Park. "We are very appreciative of the additional financial support being provided by the state."

Setting a Bad Example...

As Congress and the administration continue to bicker over the federal budget and it remains to be seen which side will "win," there is no doubt that the end result is going to be federal downsizing, meaning less federal money for programs, services, and the states.

Today's issue of this newspaper carries a story about the Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates reducing its estimate of state revenue for the current fiscal year by about $92 million, partially because of the federal downsizing.

This in and of itself would not necessarily be bad news if our federal and state governments would make up the deficit by eliminating the various forms of waste and unnecessary spending that we all know exists. Yet our own Governor Glendening, who has certainly seen the report from the Board of Revenue Estimates, is not setting a very good example.

It seems the Governor and his wife decided that the governor's mansion and his two offices, one at the State House and the other in Baltimore, needed some new furnishings and refurbishment. So he spent $72,000 on the governor's mansion, $52,800 on the State House office, and $101,260 on the Baltimore office.

This, of course, comes on the heels of his multi-million-dollar pledge of our tax money to bring the Cleveland Browns to Baltimore, for which we criticized him a few weeks ago.

Surely the mansion and these offices were not in need of such major expenditures, for we know that the previous governor, Wm. Donald Schaefer, did not use apple crates and folding chairs. We can think of about a zillion better ways that this quarter of a million dollars could have been spent; ways that would have benefitted far more people than one governor and his staff.

Unless our governor soon changes his thinking and his actions, he's going to get to use this new furniture for only about 35 more months anyway.

Sorry to be such a Scrooge in this, our 1995 Christmas edition; so, here's wishing all of our readers a safe, happy, and joyous holiday season!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Please explain why The Republican did not report (1) the accidental spill of sludge into Laurel Run and the North Potomac River in early September and (2) the tremendous effort and expense that Mettiki made in their attempt to clean up that spill? Why must the residents of Garrett County rely on a state governmental agency to make a public notice before we learn of a major event that effects not only our county, but our state, our neighbors in W.Va.? Why did I have to learn about the public hearing that occurred last week about this situation after the fact? As a resident of Wilson Road whose property ends at the North Branch of the Potomac, I would have liked to have had the opportunity to attend that meeting had I been informed of it in a timely fashion!

Could it be that you think we would rather read about our neighbors who are constantly humiliated when their names appear in your columns reporting the latest DUI arrests/convictions?

Wake up and start reporting on subjects that concern the environment of our entire region and stop humiliating people who are suffering enough from an illness called addiction!

With utmost respect for the residents of Garrett County,

Susan E. Rittenhouse

Dear Ms. Rittenhouse,

In answer to your questions: 1. While it may surprise you, we do not have a crystal ball here in our office. We had absolutely no knowledge of this spill when it occurred. 2. We did, in fact, write and publish a lengthy article in our Dec. 14 issue about Mettiki's efforts to clean up the spill. We also had an article in our Nov. 30 issue, which is when we first learned of the spill.

Also, we published an article about the meeting just as soon as we were informed of it; unfortunately, the meeting was set for that very Thursday evening (Dec. 7).

As to our coverage of DWI arrests and convictions, if there is even one person who does not drink and drive simply because he or she fears the consequences of having his/her name published in this newspaper, then it is all worth it.

Yes, addiction is an illness, but even an alcohol addict does not have to drink and then drive an automibile, which is a crime and not an illness. (See ad on page C-11, and then contact that little girl's family and find out what they think of your opinion on drunk drivers.)

To the Editor:

Since I have been living here in Garrett County (for three years), I have struggled, but always seemed to pull through.

I was born and reared in Miami, Fla., so as you can imagine, adjusting to 10-degree weather and snow to my knees is something to really adjust to.

I have been fortunate to have picked up many different jobs here in Garrett County, but working as a member of AmeriCorps really has shown the light as to my different abilities.

I really tried to be with my family in Florida this Christmas, but it just isn't possible. Luckily, I have many dear friends here in Garrett County, but I still became very depressed and began having the Christmas blues.

I was asked several weeks ago if I would like to help out with the Oakland Rotary Christmas Project. Of course, I said "yes." We began making phone calls to tell the recipients that we would be delivering the food and gifts on Saturday, Dec. 16.

Saturday morning came and I woke up to about four inches of snow -- and still falling! I got in my car (mind you I'd rather have all my teeth pulled than drive in the snow), and there I was going down Mayhew Inn Road (not yet plowed), and going to pack my car to deliver food and gifts to people who really needed them.

Basically, what I would like to say is "thank you, people of Garrett County," not only tho those who had smiles on their faces when they received their gifts, but also to those who were right there beside me carrying heavy boxes and loading their vehicles to go and do the same thing.

This is what Christmas is all about. I hope everyone has a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely,
In the Christmas spirit
Kerrie Kinnard

To the Editor:

I'll have to admit that I am more fond of letters to the Editor that celebrate the many commendable and charitable acts of the fine people in our community than those that tend to be caustic or confrontational in nature. However, it is considered healthy to vent on occasion, so I'd like to comment on what I feel is the most irritating liberal scrouge of this decade - "Political Correctness." The very words grate on my sensibilities like steel wool on a nerve ending. If ever a good idea was pushed out of control! We're all too aware of the new age terminology cultivated and lovingly embraced by the "encroaching hordes of yuppydom." It's "Snow White and the Seven Vertically Challenged Individuals." It's not a sex change operation, it's a gender confirmation procedure. Our own Commander in Chief has almost made it through the "Festive Season" without committing the ultimate faux pas of uttering the word Christmas. Should he happen to slip, I'm certain the left wing of every dove will fall off.

So hold your breath and have a Merry _____, Happy _____ or whatever.

By the way, if you see me and happen to notice that I've put on a few pounds over the "festive season," don't inform me that you noticed the additional subcutaneous tissue, just say, "That tube will come in handy at the beach this summer!" I respect people who call 'em like they see 'em.

To the Editor:

December 20, 1944, the 1st Battalion of the 504, 82nd Airborne Division engaged a battalion of the 1st Panzer Grenadier Regiment of the 1st SS Division at Cheneaux, Belgium. This was the same one that had been responsible for the infamous massacre of American prisoners at Malmedy.

They were greeted with interest by the 504. Only 31 were taken prisoner, half of them wounded, and the SS Division annihilated.

The attack of Cheneaux by the 504 was over open fields with laced barbed wire at 15-yard intervals. It has been stated the ground was taken in inches. Knocked out by the 504 were 14 flak wagons, six half-tracks, four trucks, four 105 mm artillery pieces, and one Mark VI tank by men of the 504.

The battle lasted until the mid-morning of Dec. 21, with the 22nd through 24th being spent in mop-up of small resistance. Christmas day was quiet with a meal of frozen turkey.

At Cheneaux, the 504 Airborne, already a combat-experienced unit of Sicily, Italy, and Holland, met the Germans' best and gave them their first defeat in the Battle of the Bulge. With the knowledge of the Malmedy massacre fresh in mind, the 504 could not be denied victory and gave their utmost.

From here on enemy resistance was generally light due to the quality of enemy soldiers encountered at this time was far inferior to those met at Cheneaux.

In memory of friends lost,

William L. Reed
M/Sgt. U.S.A. Ret.
Bloomington

P.S. I would like to see our politicians and President be isolated from their families at Christmas and fed frozen turkey.

To the Editor:

Over the years, most of us volunteer some service to organizations providing for the community welfare. The services are provided without expectation of profit or special privilege.

There is a man living in our community, however, who expects special privileges for volunteering. He drives over our lane (16 feet wide an unpaved) at outrageous speeds because he is a member of the local fire department. He insists that he must drive in this manner to answer emergency calls. During a neighborhood meeting he was confronted with the danger of his actions. His reply was, "Huh, if you think I drive fast, you should see the 'ol lady put 'er over the road." Then, he was reminded that children play on or near the lane and that pets cross it regularly. To this he replied, "People will just have to keep their kids and dogs away from the lane, besides, most of my calls are in the evening and at night."

The right-of -way lane is a private entrance to the homes of eight families, therefore, the State Police and the Sheriff's Department can not enforce safety regulations. What does a taxpayer do to protect his family and property?

By the way, the young man with the anti-safety attitude drives a truck for the Garrett County Roads Department.

Sincerely yours,
Matthew B. Stieringer Sr.

To the Editor:

I read your newspaper every week! I am impressed with the good news, community news, and your Bible section. I am used to one-sided bad-news papers who are against Christians and your basic Golden Rule, Like the Sun and the Washington Post. I love The Republican's approach to every-day life.

I'd love to be a part of Oakland, but I am in security and my wife is a pharmacist tech, and there doesn't seem to be any work as such in your area. But I can still dream.

I liked the nativity scenes in your paper and all the fresh articles. Thanks for being a good-news paper and for not being politically correct.

Merry Christmas and God bless you.

I realize that this is a busy time of year so the gift of your time and blood is even more precious in the giving. Thanks for keeping all of those who need these blood donations in mind during this holiday season. May all of you have a wonderful Christmas!

To the Editor:

On November 22, 1995, I submitted a Freedom of Information Request to the Garrett County Commissioners. Partly, I was trying to find out whether a retirement is being paid to Mr. Fousek, and if so, how much is being paid to him.

On December 11, 1995, I received a letter from Gorman E. Getty, who is the lawyer for the commissioners. It looks like Mr. Getty has denied my request and says that I cannot have the documents. I have not even been given the amount of the county's share. I have also not be given information concerning any other renumeration given to Mr. Fousek.

I was referred to the State Retirement Board. I have written a letter to the State Retirement Board and asked them the same questions. I believe it is public information if a position is reclassified for an earlier retirement. I also think that where a man may be receiving a retirement from the county and at the same time working in the same office, the amount of his pension ought to be public information, and if the law says differently, I disagree with it.

Anyway, I am going to continue to pursue this.

Sincerely,
Charles H. Tressler
Mayor of Loch Lynn

To the Editor:

It remains not unlawful to burn the American Flag when it is done in instances of peaceful political expression. That was the 1989 ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court which set aside flag desecration laws in 48 states and a federal statute, holding that such laws were a violation of free speech guaranteed by the First Amendment to our Constitution.

Despite a major lobbying effort by the American Legion's umbrella organization, The Citizens Flag Alliance (see: Letter, The Republican, 08-31-95), the U.S. Senate, on December 12, 1995, voted 63 to 36, just 3 votes shy of the necessary two-thirds, to reject a constitutional amendment to the Bill Of Rights which declared: "The Congress shall have the power to prohibit the physical desecration of the flag of the United States." 49 Republicans and 14 Democrats voted for the amendment, 32 Democrats--including Maryland Senators Mikulski and Sarbanes--and four Republicans voted against it. The House of Representatives had easily approved a broader version of the flag amendment giving both Congress and the states the power to outlaw desecration of the flag, by a vote of 312 to 120 last June. Even if the Senate had approved, the amendment would have to be sent to the states for the approval of at least 38 state legislatures.

Of some 10,000 constitutional amendments introduced in Congress since 1789, only 27 have been ratified. The Bill of Rights, the first 10 amendments, has never been amended. Senator Bob Kerry (D-NE), who won the Medal of Honor in Vietnam, argued that flag burning "is not, in my judgment, a great threat to this country." Others maintained that flag burning was neither so widespread nor so dangerous that it justified tampering with the First Amendment. Proponents argue that the flag was a unique national symbol that demanded special protection.

Supporters of the amendment have gained ground in the Senate: it won 51 votes in 1989 and 58 votes in 1990. Dan Wheeler, chairman of the Alliance said, after the vote, "We'd be back. We'll see you in November."

View From My Window

by Jeffrey Wilson

Dickens' A Christmas Carol

It was December of 1843 that Ebenezer Scrooge made his first appearance in the world. "Bah! Humbug!" has become a fixture in the English language. Tens of millions of people who have never read A Christmas Carol and who, perhaps, do not know it is a book written by Charles Dickens, do know the story of Scrooge, the ghosts of Christmas, and Tiny Tim. The visual media have made and remade this tale.

I re-read this great work as a means of preparing my spirit for Christmas. I am amazed to discover how much a book -- now 152 years old -- sounds like many politicians (and their supporters) of today. Scrooge's answer to poverty is that we should build more prisons, and poor people should have fewer babies. He pays his taxes, so why should he contribute otherwise to the support of those who won't help themselves?

Scrooge, a champion of private enterprise, believes economic growth and low wages are compatible. After all, he pays as little as he can to others, and he gets richer, doesn't he?

Dickens had a mind to write something to change the human heart. Anyone who reads A Christmas Carol will realize that he succeeded. It is, at very least, a parable about those who have the gift of rejoicing though they are poor and those who have the curse of grumbling though they are rich.

I can't tell whether the grumbling has gotten worse lately or if I am only noticing it more, but wherever I go, people seem to be deep into grumbling. Often the more they have, the deeper their grumbles. The poor can grumble too, but at least they have an excuse. Scrooge demanded of his nephew, "What right have you to be merry? You're poor enough." To which his nephew rejoined, "What right have you to be dismal? You're rich enough."

It is also a book about loving the unlovable. Some of us are more unlovable than others. At close quarters, however, most of us have warts enough to make us unattractive. I'm sure even saintly Bob Cratchit could work on one's nerves after a time. It is Bob and Scrooge's nephew Fred who, in my view, are the heroes of the story because they love Scrooge when no one else does. Fred is, I think, more the hero because he has to work harder at loving his uncle. Dear old Bob loves Scrooge and everybody else because his creator endows him with so much interior grace. Fred, on the other hand, sees Scrooge as all the world sees him, and determines to love his uncle all the more. "He may rail at Christmas 'til he dies, but he can't help thinking better of it -- I defy him -- if he finds me going there, in good temper, year after year, and saying, Uncle Scrooge, how are you?"

The genius of the work is that the reader is carried with Scrooge by the three ghosts to behold not only Scrooge's life, but one's own. Reading it again makes me grateful for those who love me in all my unlovability. It makes me appreciate that, whatever my problems, I have the world by the tail, and that I have not only reason but obligation to be merry. It makes me realize that my intellectual compassion does not get worked out often enough in practical ways. Like most people, I have a good pair of blinders to the world's social needs.

Along with the baking, shopping, decorating, feasting, and partying, we need to prepare for Christmas in our hearts. We need to cultivate a spirit commensurate with the day. Charles Dickens gives a method of altering our selves in his first Christmas book. Reading it is like having someone knock the grouchies out of us.

With that commendation I can think of only one thing more to say: Merry Christmas! And "as Tiny Tim observed, God bless Us, Everyone!"

BUSY AS BEES Friday evening at the National Guard Armory in Oakland were scores of volunteers who were boxing some 20 tons of food and bagging hundreds of gifts in order to have them ready for delivery to some 400 local families in need on Saturday. The Oakland Rotary Club Christmas Project boxes would have been a few tons heavier had they each included a frozen turkey, as in years past, but that weight was lessened when the turkeys were replaced with turkey gift certificates. Coordinating the packing effort was Oakland Rotarian Jack Fridinger, pictured below directing operations.

meeting was Gary Alexander, special attorney for Penelec, and Paul Durham, DNR lake manager for Deep Creek Lake.

"I certainly don't have any commitment one way or another," stated Sen. Hafer. ". . . I am not about to do anything the citizens to Garrett County do not want."

This is the second time the commissioners, Hafer, and Edwards have met with Belmonte to discuss the lake buy-out proposal.

At press time, the meeting had not yet concluded. However, because of the large turn out, the commissioners agreed to hold another meeting in the future to discuss the issue. No date for this meeting has been set.

A more extensive article on today's meeting will be printed in next week's issue of The Republican.

Oakland Visit Of Bloodmobile Deemed Success

The visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Oakland on Friday resulted in the collection of 154 productive units of blood, exceeding the goal of 150 units, according to Elizabeth Huxford, Garrett County Blood Services co-chairman.

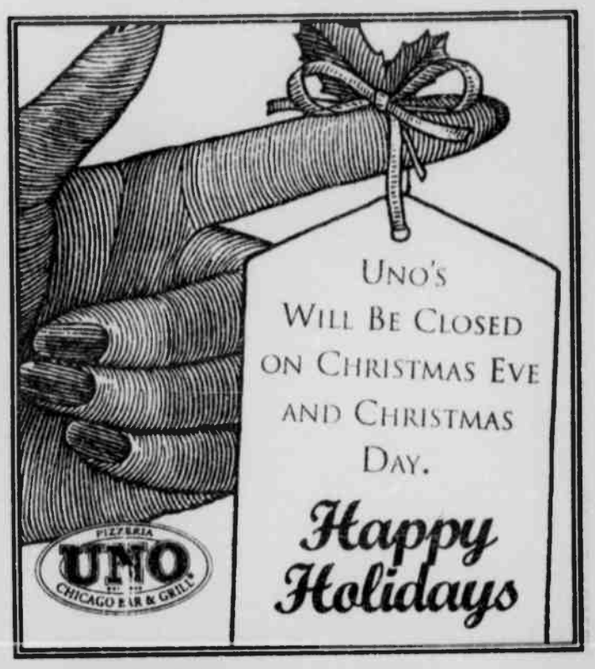
There were 178 persons who responded to the visit, with 24 of them deferred for various reasons. Among them were nine first-time donors, including: Andrea DeBerry, Yari Roach, and Kelly Fitzwater, of Oakland; Ron Mould, Marlene Mould, and Sean Sell, McHenry; Rebecca Burns and Lori Gregory, Mtn. Lake Park; and Rachel Schwartz, Swanton.

Tim Taylor, Oakland, Roger Uber, Mtn. Lake Park, and Fred Gero, Swanton, donated for the eighth time to become one-gallon donors. Reaching the two-gallon milestone were Richard Buchert and Barb Sweitzer, both of Oakland. Becoming four-gallon donors were Dan Yoder Sr., Accident, and James Leo McBee and Anne Grant, both of Oakland, while Patricia Powels, Mtn. Lake Park, reached the five-gallon level.

David Higdon, Friendsville, became a six-gallon donor, Dessie Bowman, Oakland, reached seven gallons, and Roy O. Hinkle Jr. and Cheston Miller, both of Oakland, each gave their 64th unit to reach eight gallons.

The canteen for the visit was sponsored by the Gortner Union Church Ladies Aide Society and the Oakland Church of Christ.

"We really appreciate several businesses for their support of the bloodmobile," Ms. Huxford said, naming Dollar General, Coca-Cola, Food Lion, and Johnson & Johnson.



"We also thank Oakland American Legion Post 71 members for their time and the use of their building," she added.

Local volunteers assisting with the visit were: Rosalie Baker, Beverly Beard, Ethel Cosner, Carol Dearden, Shonna DeWitt, Artie Dixon, Pat Fernandez, Mary Friend, Lori Gregory, Lara Harvey, Jean McConnel, Patricia Morfoot, Patricia Powels, Joyce Ridder, Mary Rodeheaver, Helen Schrayer, Barb Sweitzer, Jonathan Wildesen, and Ms. Huxford.

The next scheduled visit of the bloodmobile to Garrett County will be January 19 at the Grantsville fire hall.

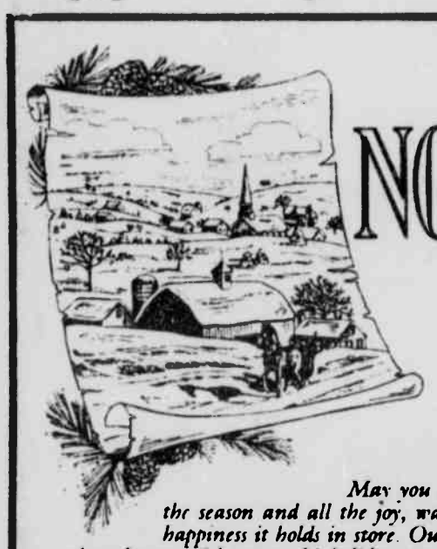
BIG TRUCKS, including tractor trailers from Larry Wagner Trucking and the ladder truck from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, were lent to the Oakland Rotary Club on Saturday to help deliver tons of food and gifts to some 400 local families. Volunteers from many organizations, such as the Oakland VFD, were on hand to load the vehicles and carry out the deliveries, which went to all parts of the county.



Goldstein Eliminates 1.7 Million Forms Previously Filed By Taxpayers

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein gave the state's individual and business taxpayers a unique holiday gift, saying he is reducing the taxpayer burden by eliminating 1.7 million previously required forms. The comptroller said he is also taking steps to remove an additional 1.9 million forms from his office's processing workload.

"Laid end to end, these 3.6 million forms would stretch from Baltimore to Chicago," Goldstein said. "But the important thing is that businesses and individual taxpayers will have fewer forms to file with our office, and we should be able to provide necessary service in spite of budget cuts that limit the number of temporary employees we're able to hire to help with tax return processing."

The 1.7 million form that will no longer be required from taxpayers include more than one million federal Schedule A an child care expense form that individual taxpayers have previously sent in with Maryland income tax forms. 235,000 business tax report that can be filed by telephone beginning in Januar

NUTRITION AND THE HOLIDAYS

With the holidays upon us, we look forward to the candy, cookies, and sweets associated with this time of the year. How can we be sure our children are getting enough of the proper foods to stay healthy? With all the preparation and hustling and bustling, we sometimes forget or don't take the time to eat right. Many meals end up being the fat-ridden, high cholesterol, calorie loaded, no-vegetable-or-fruit convenience food, or a fast food restaurant.

Unfortunately, it is also cold and flu season and getting tired and having not taken the time to eat right, we become more susceptible to illnesses such as colds or viruses. Take the time and plan to have at least one good meal per day. Remember that children don't eat large portions and may feel hungry between meals. It is important to give them a snack, but not so much that will deter their appetite for the next meal. Offer some more nutritional choices at snack time and leave the sweets for dessert.

Some ideas for snack time include: fresh fruit; fresh vegetables (with or without dip); bowl of fresh or canned fruit (mix a small amount of ice cream or yogurt for variety); pudding with fresh or canned fruit; ants on a log (celery or carrots with peanut butter or cream cheese topped with raisins or nuts); trail mix; dried fruits - raisins, prunes, apples, bananas, or apricots; cereal mixture - nuts and bolts, Chex or Crispix mixture, etc.; nuts; pumpkin seeds; sunflower seeds; pumpkin; squash; apple or banana bread; bagel with peanut butter or cream cheese spread, sandwich with a face; or cereal with a face.

These choices can add variety and children won't have to know they are eating healthy. (They are not so bad for parents, either).

For more information, contact the Garrett County Extension Office at (301) 334-1990 or visit our office at 202 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

ty. The Oakland juvenile was arrested on the same charges.

According to sheriff's office documents, three bullets were shot from a moving vehicle into the unoccupied home of Ruth Mitchum, Mtn. Lake Park, on Nov. 28. No injuries were reported, but one of the shots apparently struck a mirror in the home's living room.

Additional arrests are pending in the investigation of this incident.

Also on Dec. 28, Pressley was served with an arrest warrant for first degree burglary and theft. According to GCSO documents, Pressley and a 15-year-old juvenile allegedly entered the Mtn. Lake Park residence of Ruth Mitchum on Nov. 26 and stole an RCA radio valued at $200.

Pressley was released from jail on a $500 unsecured bond.

THIS SCENE MAY NOT SEEM TOO UNUSUAL to the casual passerby, but the above pickup truck, owned by James Wagner, Accident, had all four of its wheels and tires removed by thieves, who then left the vehicle up on blocks. Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, are currently investigating the theft which occurred sometime between 9:15 p.m. on Dec. 18, and 7:54 a.m. on Dec. 19. The 1994 Chevrolet truck was parked in a private driveway between Hershberger Insurance Agency and the C&P Telephone utility building in Grantsville. The investigating officer, Tfc. Mark Rodeheaver, said the culprits stole four LT 245/125x16 Michelin tires with raised white letters, 24 lug nuts, and four aluminum Chevrolet wheels. The total value of the stolen items is approximately $2,005. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered by Garrett County Crime Solvers for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for this theft. Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Solvers at 334-1975, or the Maryland State Police at 387-1101. Photo by C. Speicher.

Somerset Rural Electric Funds Are Distributed

Somerset Rural Electric Cooperative members will share in a capital credit refund which totaled $1,358,012 in 1995.

Checks for $702,747 will arrive just in time for Christmas for 8,012 members or former members who received electric service in 1978. In May checks totaling $655,265 were mailed to those who were members in 1974, 1975, 1976, and 1977.

Cooperative General Manager Harold E. Nicholson said, "This is one of the basic cooperative principles in action, the return of patronage capital."

Capital credits or patronage capital are margins, money that is left after the bills have been paid, that are credited to members of a cooperative based on their purchases from the cooperative. They are used as working capital for a period of time, than paid back to the membership.

In addition to general retirements, the Cooperative also returns capital credits to the estates of deceased members. For 1995, these refunds totaled $37,174.

This refund marks the 17th consecutive year the Cooperative has authorized general retirement of capital credits. Cooperative records indicate that retirements made to members since 1960 totaled $4,470,934.

"We're also eliminating 1.9 million additional forms from our workflow by taking greater advantage of lockbox processing for employer withholding tax, individual estimated income tax and motor carrier tax payments. Having these reports processed by private organizations will eliminate paper from our workflow and actually earn additional interest for the state,' Goldstein said. "In addition we've established a forms-by-fax service, expanded the opportunities for electronic filing and electronic funds transfers; and set up an online tax clearance process, all of which eliminate paper processing."

Goldstein also said taxpayers who have their income tax refunds adjusted will now receive their refund check and the revised computation notice as one document, eliminating 150,000 mailings each year and reducing taxpayer confusion.

Goldstein noted that the innovations largely result from an ongoing self-assessment of the Comptroller's Office. "We've looked for ways to ease the taxpayer's burden and eliminate as much paper processing as possible, partly because budget cuts are severely limiting the number of temporary employees we're able to hire during the income tax filing season," he said.

Among the technologies being adopted:

Individual and business taxpayers can call 410-974-FAXX (974-3299) from the handset of a fax machine and immediately have forms or publications faxed back to them, reducing the need for forms order processors.

Electronic filing of income tax returns is being expanded with a joint federal/state program and Maryland's ability to accept electronic returns from individuals who owe additional tax. This eliminates paper processing.

Like large businesses, smaller businesses can now make a free electronic funds transfer to file and pay their employer withholding or sales and use tax. Persons may call 410-974-2601 for a registration form.

Businesses which must file employer withholding or sales and use tax reports but don't have any tax due can file by telephone beginning in January 1996, by calling 410-974-FILE (974-3453).

Individual income taxpayers who need extensions of time to file their returns may make the extension request by calling 410-974-5TAX (974-5829), beginning in January 1996.

SPEAKS TO LIONESSES - Lisa Thayer Welch, assistant state's attorney for Garrett County, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club. She gave the club an overview of her duties and spoke about a number of county services that are available to local residents. She is pictured above, center, with club member Goldie Shugars, left, and Bea Crosco, club program chairperson.

Lakers Succumb To Late Rally, Lose To Montgomery

A 9-0 run in the final moments of the game led to a 95-86 defeat of the Garrett Community College Lakers by Montgomery-Rockville Saturday evening at McHenry.

The Lakers, who dropped to 7-5 overall and 1-2 in JUCO Conference play, were ahead 43-35 at halftime and enjoyed a 51-40 advantage early in the second half before Montgomery began to close the gap. There were seven ties and five lead changes in the contest, with the Lakers holding its last lead at 82-81 with 3:14 remaining. It was tied at 84-84 and 86-86 before the visitors went on their 9-0 run to secure the win.

Karl Rene and Ron McDonald, Montgomery's guards, led the rally, with Rene scoring four points in the final minute and a half. Rene finished with a team-high 31 points, plus four rebounds, four assists, and four steals, while McDonald scored 19 points and grabbed four rebounds. Also reaching double figures was Tom Johnson with 10 points.

Scoring honors went to GCC's Antoine Stokes, who finished with 32 points and also dished out six assists. Gunnell Hickman added 19 points, Chad Reese scored 12, and VaShawne Gross recorded 11 points and three steals. Kanda Gray had a game-high 10 rebounds to go with his eight points.

"We just didn't play well defensively," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson, "especially against their two guards."

The game was the last of 1995 for the Lakers, who will be on Christmas break for the next few weeks. They will play again January 6 at Takoma Park.

Rickman Leads Ram Grapplers In Tournament

Nathan Rickman led the Southern High School wrestling team in last weekend's Berkeley Springs Holiday Invitational Tournament by capturing first place in the 145-pound division.

Rickman, who is undefeated so far this season and ranked sixth in the state of Maryland in his weight class, decisioned Andy Martin of Williamsport, 6-2, topped the tournament's top seed, Paul Norris of Cameron, 9-0, and then defeated Blair Miller of Berkeley Springs in the title bout, 3-0.

The tourney featured a number of reigning West Virginia state champions, three of whom are from Independence High School. The host team, Berkeley Springs, is also the defending A/AA state title holder in West Virginia. Thirteen high schools were represented in the event.

Finishing with a runner-up trophy for the Rams was Eric Bendler, who placed second in the 171-pound division, while Tommy Sweitzer took a third place in the 140-pound class.

Howard Crosco finished fourth in the 152-pound division, Eric Rexrode and Jay Kight placed fifth in the 119- and 215-pound divisions, respectively, and Jack Kight was sixth in the 189-pound class.

The Rams, coached by Kurt Lear, are on a rather brief holiday break and will return to action next Wednesday at Northern in the WMII. Tournament.

Rams Defeat Indians For First Victory

After dropping the first two games of the season, the Southern High School varsity boys' basketball team stopped that brief skid Friday night by topping visiting Mount Savage in a defensive battle, 46-40. It was the first-ever Western Maryland Interscholastic League game for the Rams.

Andy Brehm of Mt. Savage scored well over half of his team's points with a total of 25, but none of his teammates managed to score any more than five points.

The Rams' offensive results were somewhat more balanced, as Jim Pamepinto led with 11 points and Matt Ruff finished with 10.

The Rams held leads of 11-7, 24-21, and 40-30 at the quarters, and kept the Indians at arm's length down the stretch.

Despite his 25-point effort, Southern Coach Tom Bosley was pleased with Ruff's defensive effort against him. "Brehm is an excellent player, and even though he finished with 25 points, Matt made it tough for him," he said.

The loss dropped Mt. Savage to 2-1 on the season and 1-1 in WMIL play.

The Southern junior varsity had a much easier time earning a victory in the preliminary game, as the Rams embarrassed the Mt. Savage jayvees, 56-17. Mike Bittinger led Southern's attack with 20 points, while Matt Brehm led the Indians with six points.

The Rams were slated to play at Westmar Tuesday night, but that contest had to be postponed because of severe winter weather conditions that cancelled school in Garrett County. They will make up that game this evening, will entertain Beall this Friday, and then host their annual Snowball Classic next Wednesday and Thursday.

Husky Freshmen Fall To Beall

The boys' freshman basketball team of Northern High School dropped a 51-41 decision to host Beall in their season opener on Monday.

Matt Settle led the Huskies in scoring with 11 points, while Craig Kamp paced the Mountaineer freshmen with 15 points and six rebounds.

The Huskies are slated to play again next Tuesday at home against Allegany.

Northern Girls Edged 54-51 By Alco Campers

After holding the lead throughout the second half, the Northern High School girls' varsity allowed the Campers of Allegany to rally in the second half and go on to record a 54-51 win last Thursday night in Cumberland.

It was the second loss in three starts for the Huskies and their second WMI League defeat, while the Campers broke a three-game losing skid with the win.

Coach Harv Speicher's team won the first half, with an 8-7 lead at the end of the first period and a 23-18 advantage at halftime. But the Campers knotted the score at 33-33 by the end of the third period and then out-scored the Huskies down the stretch by a 21-18 margin. The lead changed hands numerous times throughout the second half.

Leslie Stubbs, only a freshman on Coach Jay Walters' squad, ripped the nets for a game-high 25 points and also recorded nine steals to lead the Campers. Fifteen of her points were scored in the second half.

Christina Pihos recorded eight points and 10 rebounds, while Candy Grubb finished with five points and 10 boards.

Pacing the Huskies in scoring were Danelle Fike with 18 points and Mindy McCarty with 13.

The Northern junior varsity won the first game, 35-23.

The Huskies were to have played again Tuesday evening at Westmar, but that contest had to be postponed because of inclement weather that cancelled school.

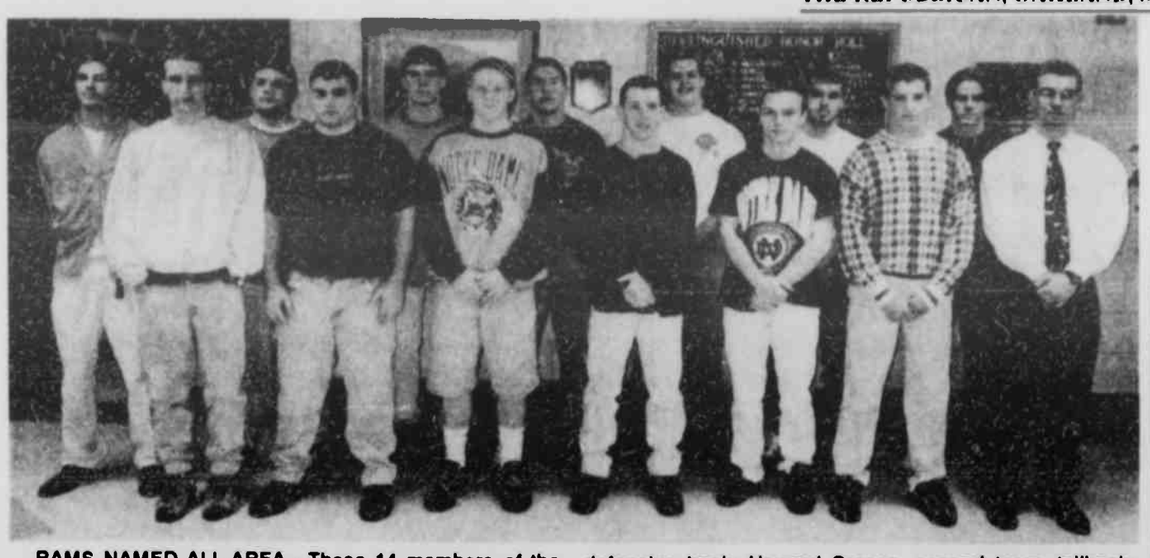
Huskies Still Winless After Loss To Alco

The winless streak of the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team reached five Friday evening when the Huskies were hammered by visiting Allegany, 85-47.

Michael Fields, who starred on the football field for the Campers, led his team to its third win in as many starts with a 20-point performance.

The Huskies' best quarter was the first when they trailed by just seven points, 22-15, at the end of that period. Allegany then outscored them in the second stanza, 22-12, to take a 44-27 lead by halftime. Northern trailed 64-39 going into the final quarter.



Also reaching double figures for Alco was Colby Ellsworth with 12 points. Every member of the Allegany team played and scored in the game.

Andy Brenneman paced the Huskies' offensive output with 18 points, while Nick Mitchell finished with eight.

The Huskies were slated to play again at home on Monday, but the contest with Salisbury had to be postponed because of weather conditions.

Southern Girls Rip Beall For Fourth Victory

A balanced offensive effort by the Southern High school girls' varsity, ranked number one in the state among 1A schools, led the Rams to an easy win last night over visiting Beall, 54-28. The victory upped the Rams' season mark to 4-0 and their WMI League record to 3-0.

Sylvia Paesani paced the Southern offense with 11 points, Angela Shafer netted 10, and Miranda Marple and Kerri Cannon each recorded eight.

The Rams were never threatened in the contest, as they jumped out to a 15-2 lead by the end of the first quarter, led 32-8 at halftime, and were up 42-19 after three periods.

Amy Patterson led the Mountaineers' scoring effort with 11 points, while Minya Siefarth finished with eight. It was the third loss in four games for Beall.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious in the first game, 36-25, behind a 15-point scoring effort by Elizabeth Paesani. Skidmore scored six to lead Beall.

The Rams will play in the Annapolis Capital Classic next week, Dec. 27-29. They will open against Glen Burnie on Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

THE SHAFFER STORE was among the businesses that were operated in Gormania, W.Va., in the early 1900s. This photo of the members of the Shaffer family was most likely taken on or about July 4, judging from the display of flags. Note the board sidewalk and unpaved street in front of the store. Trust Seeking Applications For Project Funding

The Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), is now accepting applications for Lighthouse Project grants. Non-profit organizations, local jurisdictions, business entities, and individuals may apply for these grants to fund capital projects including the acquisition, rehabilitation, or restoration of historic lighthouses in Maryland. Non-capital projects that include survey, education, planning, or promotion of Maryland lighthouses can also be funded through this program.

This year's priorities for receiving DHCD funds include projects that incorporate or promote growth management strategies, neighborhood revitalization, economic development, heritage tourism, and education.

The application deadline is March 18, 1996. The project selection process will begin March 19, 1996, and grant awards will be announced by April 30, 1996. The maximum grant award is $40,000.

A 50/50 match is required of most applicants for Capital projects and of local jurisdictions for Non-Capital projects. Non-profit organizations are not required to have a match; however, those that do include a match will be more competitive in the grant selection process.

The Maryland Historical Trust uses its Open Project Selection Criteria to evaluate and rank each application. Criteria include, but are not limited to urgency of project, compatibility with Maryland's Comprehensive Historic Preservation Plan, support for the project, and educational value.

Successful applicants for grants assisting the preservation of historic real property must convey a perpetu-

REWARDED FOR COST-SAVING IDEA -- Pharmacy technician Rusty Butler was the most recent recipient of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Wipe Out Waste Award. Butler's cost-saving idea to reduce a four-part physician order form -- used for ordering patient medications -- to just one page, will save the hospital over $2,400 per year. Butler's resourceful thinking will also help to save time, as the one-page form will be able to be faxed directly to the pharmacy at the beginning of the new year. "Rusty approaches his work with a positive attitude and an open mind, allowing him to make constructive suggestions for improving his job," said Heidi Lueking, R.Ph., director of pharmacy services at Garrett Memorial. "Garrett Memorial is continuously exploring ways to reduce costs in order to operate more efficiently without sacrificing the quality of patient care. Our employees are one of our best resources in accomplishing this, and I commend Rusty for his efforts," added Donald Battista, acting president at Garrett Memorial. In recognition of Butler's contribution to the hospital, he was awarded a check for 10% of the amount of the overall savings that will occur annually as a result of his suggestion. Butler is pictured center with Ms. Lueking and Battista.

Nitroglycerin Skin Patch for Angina

For many years nitroglycerin has been the primary treatment for the chest pain of angina pectoris, pain resulting from a shortage of oxygen in the heart muscle. Nitroglycerin helps decrease the blood volume handled by the heart. Reduction in work by the heart results in less need for oxygen, and the chest pain is relieved.

Pain that comes and goes is best treated with the sublingual tablets. One drawback to sublinguai nitroglycerin is that the beneficial effects do not last very long.

Longer-acting dosage forms of nitroglycerin include the oral tablets and skin patches. Some physicians have been concerned that patients may develop tolerance to these longer acting forms and become ineffective. However, a recent report in Circulation concludes that nitroglycerin skin patches are effective in persons with stable angina. No tolerance developed in a study of 291 persons evaluated over a 30-day period, and there were no rebound effects observed during drug-free intervals.

When I Think of Christmas

When I think of Christmas,
my heart begins to swell,
For the very God of heaven gives us a story that no other one could ever tell.

He looked down upon me,
and saw my every need,
And sent His blessed Son, Jesus who on the cross of Calvary for me would bleed.

When I think of Christmas,
my eyes are full of tears,.
To think of all that He has done for me,
even through all my wasted years.

God sent His Son into the world, which was so heavy laden with sin,
And no matter how great it was,
He was willing for me by faith, heaven to enter in.

When I think of Christmas and how small and frail my love,
I am thrilled to know that through the Christmas Gift I now have eternal life from above.

So, dear Lord, when I realize that
Thou are so very, very dear,
I know in my heart that at Christmas,
You brought Your Son so very, very near.

Current members of council whose seats will be available for re-election are: Carroll Forsyth, Herschel Allen, and Harry H. Griffith, as well as Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle. Holdover council members are Jessie McCullough, Jim Spear, and Wayne Friend.

The Town clerk will be available on Monday, Jan. 1, 1996 from 10 a.m. to noon at the town hall, to accept petitions for offices. None will be accepted after that time.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The annual senior citizens' dinner, scheduled for Dec. 9, was canceled because of the inclement weather. It will be rescheduled at a later date.

The regular meeting of the Friendsville Lions Club was held at the Sand Spring Church of God in the fellowship hall on Dec. 14. Twelve guests and 23 members were present. President Homer Rodeheaver presided over the meeting reception. Those recognized for service and support to the club were Charles Thomas, George Thomas, Deloris Thomas, Bernice Rodeheaver, Mary Friend, Mary Frantz, Debra and Barry Frazee, Ray Jones, Debra Fichus, Danelle Fike, and John Tressler. These are all people who helped the club with monetary contributions, or helped with various functions during the year. Past President Marlin Lawson received an outstanding performance award for handling the affairs of the club at the community park and the Pepper property.

Members and volunteers met at the Sand Spring Church on Dec. 18 to prepare, distribute, and deliver food baskets. There were 104 food baskets given to the needy in the Friendsville area. More baskets were given this year than last year, and more donations were made to the club this year.

W.O.W. DINNER

The Christmas dinner for W.O.W. Lodge 45 was served Saturday evening at the fellowship hall, by the ladies group of the Sand Spring Church of God. Twenty-six attended. There was a $5 gift exchange. Christmas stories were read by Julia Sines, Dot Lowdermilk, Mary Frantz, and Betty Frantz. Several door prizes were awarded. The next meeting will be Thursday, Jan. 18, 1996, at Twila's Restaurant.

Jim Spears had the honor of driving Santa's sleigh, while a unit of the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department brought up the rear. See story in this section.

THE "PARENTS AS PARTNERS" activities offered at Friendsville Elementary School have been very successful, according to a school spokesperson, with the meetings averaging 13 parents and 26 students in attendance. A Christmas party and caroling is planned in the near future, and it is hoped to include a field trip in the spring. Above, Connie Higgins, a pre-kindergarten instructor at Friendsville Elementary, leads a story time for some of the parents and their children.

Lake Investment Club Boasts Of Top State Rank

The Deep Creek Lake Investment Club (DCLIC) has announced that it was recently ranked first out of 13 Maryland investment clubs submitting their records and stock selections for evaluation by the National Association of Investors Corporation (NAIC).

Of 567 investment clubs evaluated by the NAIC, the local club ranked in the top five percent nationally, a DCLIC press release indicated.

"We are excited about our growth and proud of our record," commented John Ambrose, presiding partner and treasurer of the local club. "When the club was formed in September of 1992, its purpose was to invest the assets of the partnership solely in stocks, bonds, and securities for the education and benefit of the partners.

"Our objective is to double our assets in five years, and in the three years the club has existed, we have [experienced] an annual growth rate of 25.3867 percent per year. That's 3.4 times the Standard & Poor's growth rate of 7.524 percent per year, and 3.2 times the NAIC suggested goal of eight percent per year," Ambrose added.

The by-laws of the local club limit membership to 15 persons. The club currently includes six members. For more information on the club, persons may call Ambrose at 387-6369.

On this day, December 21, 10 years ago, our beloved Donald Eugene Rodeheaver Sr. was taken from us at the young age of 47.

Oh why did you leave us
At this young age of yours?
Everyone misses you and
Will hear your voice no more.

God sent the angels from heaven
To make you rise to Him that day.
Young grandchildren didn't know you
And now they never will.

The years have passed quickly,
But we all still think of you.
We are all still grieving and
We miss you more than you know.

On the 24th of December
When we put you down to rest.
We all stood there thinking
'God has put our love to the test.'

We light an angel candle on Christmas eve and morning for you,
So that we still have part of you
Shining with us at that time.

Children, parents, grandchildren and brothers
Will never forget the love you gave.
You filled our hearts with joy and love
And that's something you can never take away.

Friendsville Residents Ready For Christmas

Members of the Friendsville Town Council, Rotary and Lions clubs, Volunteer Fire Department, Woodmen of the World lodge, and businesses in the community recently sponsored two successful events in an effort to prepare the town for Christmas.

Friendsville residents gathered on Saturday, Dec. 9, at the town's fire hall and produced 330 holiday decorations using pine boughs and red bows. These were then hung throughout the town. Also during the fire hall event, 40 Friendsville children and adults created Christmas cards for residents of senior citizens' homes and hospitals.

To accent the town's existing Christmas lights, 40 new Christmas flags were purchased and hung on flagpoles.

The Friendsville Elementary School class of Judy Livengood made decorations for the town Christmas tree. Each ornament is unique and signed by the student.

Friendsville Rotarians, helped by Lions Club members, volunteers from the fire department, and members of the town council, distributed food packages and presents to local families in need on Dec. 16. Rotarian Don Fratz's delivery team distributed items to 28 families in the Accident/Friendsville area. This was part of the annual Rotary Christmas Fund effort.

That evening, Santa Claus came to town bearing treats for the children. He arrived in a horse-drawn wagon accompanied by a fire truck.

The winners of the "Best Dressed Business and Home" contest were announced at this event, and Double AA Pizza won the $100 prize for "Best Dressed Business." The homes of Twila and Melvin Fike, Walt and Dot Coddington, Randy Robinson, the DeWitt family, and Tammy and Dave Sines finished in a five-way tie for the title of "Best Dressed Home." Tammy and Dave Sines were randomly chosen to receive the $100 first prize.

Other prizes were donated by The Windrush Gallery, Marlin Lawson, Jessie McCullough, and Antiques and Such. Herschel Allen secured additional prizes from Deep Creek Lake's Subway restaurant and Pizzeria Unos.

The evening's festivities continued with Christmas caroling on a hay wagon and concluded with hot chocolate and cookies at the fire hall. Food for these events was donated by the S & S Market, Deep Creek Lake Subway, and Twila's Old Mill Restaurant.

Events were planned by the Friendsville Christmas Committee, which included town council members Jessie McCullough and Herschel Allen, Lions Marlin Lawson and Rit Thomas, Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department members Terry Spear and Walt Fearer, Woodmen of the World representative Helen Holiday, Friendsville Elementary School teacher Judy Livengood, and Rotarians Paige Dopson and Carol Calhoun.

Tfc. Randy Tarburton was the investigating officer.

Another Monday morning mishap, this one on Rt. 135, near the Kitzmiller Road, occurred when a 1979 Ford Bronco, operated by Joseph B. Embleton Jr., 49, Swanton, slid on the ice-covered roadway, traveled across the opposite lane, struck an embankment, and overturned.

Embleton and his passenger, Christopher Simmons, also of Swanton, were transported to Garrett Memorial by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad where they were reportedly treated and released.

CAR OVERTURNS

Two young Oakland women were injured early Sunday morning when their car slid on the icy roadway and overturned.

State police said Matia Egan, 28, and Denise Ferguson, 24, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the 2:18 a.m. accident that occurred on the Jasper Riley Road. Both women were reportedly treated and released.

According to the police report, Egan was operating a 1991 Eagle Talon east on Jasper Riley Road, just east of Rt. 219, when she lost control of the vehicle on a patch of ice. The car traveled off the road and into an embankment, where it overturned.

Also responding to the scene were volunteers from Southern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Home Tips

RECEIPTS — I keep a bowl (although any container will do) in an accessible place in my house in which I put all store receipts, even grocery receipts, in case I need to return an item.

If I end up needing to return merchandise, I can easily find the right receipt — they're all in one place! This sure has saved me time and aggravation. Jill D., Mineral Wells, Texas WARDROBE TRICK — Go to your local fabric store and buy new buttons for that suit, blazer or blouse. Spice up that wardrobe! I've even matched some with earrings.

Don't throw it away; be creative.

GIFT TAGS — During my husband's recent long illness, he received scores of beautiful cards. They were much too pretty to throw away, so I cut the fronts off and plan to use them for gift tags and postal notes.

SALT SHAKER — If you have a salt or pepper shaker that has lost its plug, simply cut a piece of duct tape to size, fill the shaker and cover the hole.

To refill, pull the tape off, fill and replace with another piece.

Antiques

Since the television shopping networks sold new Kewpie dolls and figurines, more collectors are searching for the original old examples.

Kewpies are elfinlike dolls with small blue wings. They were created in 1909 by Rose O'Neill for an article in the Woman's Home Companion. They became so popular that O'Neill wrote books, short stories, poems and comics about her Kewpies.

The Kewpie figurines and dolls were first sold in 1912, by George Borgfeldt & Co. of New York City. The dolls were made in Germany until World War I, when production was moved to the United States.

Rose O'Neill died in 1944 but her Kewpies have remained popular with collectors.

There are quite a few variations. One series of figurines showed the Kewpies with insects or animals. One seated Kewpie had a fly on his toe, another a butterfly on his hand. Those 4-inch-high figurines are worth from $200 to $400.

Q. I have a Blue Coal glow-in-the-dark plastic ring that was my father's. Why blue coal?

A. The radio announcer for a series of mystery story broadcasts in 1930 was called the Shadow. He was so popular that by 1934, he was featured in various roles on the program, which was renamed "The Shadow."

The Shadow Club offered listeners premiums. Blue Coal was the show's sponsor. Glow-in-the-dark plastic rings featuring a chunk of blue coal were offered in 1941. In mint condition, the rings are valued at $500.

Q. My parents gave me a flat piece of wood shaped like a sock. It has holes in it. They said it was an old household item, but did not know the use.

A. You have a stocking board. It holds the shape of a wool or cotton sock while the sock is drying. The holes allow air to flow through, speeding up drying time.

Some stocking boards are found without the holes.

More modern versions are made of metal frames that can be adjusted to size.

People are collecting them and hanging them on their walls.

Q. The back of my desk is signed with what looks like "Charles Stickley." Is that possible? Is he a relative of Gustav Stickley?

A. Yes, Charles Stickley is a relative, one of Gustav Stickley's five furniture-making brothers.

Gustav, the originator of mission furniture, began working in Eastwood, N.Y., in 1889. His brothers, George and Albert, made furniture at a firm in Grand Rapids, Mich., called Stickley Bros. Two more brothers, Leopold and George, opened a furniture factory in Fayetteville, N.Y., called the L. and J.G. Stickley Co.

Charles formed the Stickley-Brandt Furniture Co. in Binghamton, N.Y., in 1884. The firm went bankrupt in 1919.

Dollars & Sense
by Bryon Elson

How could my best friend's concert grand piano have been given to her daughter after her death, when she promised it to me? When Dad died, why were over 55 percent of his assets paid to the government instead of going to his heirs? Are we sure that Mom wants to be on life support equipment now that she is likely not to regain consciousness?

Tragically, pitfalls like these occur all too frequently, even though they can be easily avoided by preparing a will, estate planning and executing a health care advance directive, actions taken by few Americans, generally because of confusion and misconception.

The new "American Bar Association Guide to Wills and Estates" (Random House/Times Books) offers practical tips, an estate-planning checklist, and a sample health care advance directive to help people understand how to assure asset distribution at death according to their preference, reduce estate taxes, and carry out their instructions about medical treatment and other matters should they become incapacitated.

The book addresses topics such as making a will; trusts; common estate-planning situations; changing, adding to or revoking your will or trust; living wills, powers of attorney, and other disability issues.

Sprinkled throughout with quick explanations, anecdotes and easy-to-follow text, the book also covers:

What a living trust won't do, the advantages of giving it away while you're still alive, responsibilities of the executor, the pros and cons of family members as trustees, tax-saving living trusts, the probate process, joint ownership and other ways to transfer property without a will, guardianships and civil commitment, organ donation, AIDS information, Medicaid planning, and a special note for elderly Americans and their children.

In addition, the book includes a section on where to get more information. Not a substitute for a lawyer, the ABA "Guide to Wills and Estates" encourages planning early to make things easier — and less expensive — for families later, and paves the way for doing it.

The book costs $12, and is available in bookstores or from the publisher at 1-800-726-0600 (ISBN #0-8129-2536-X), or from the ABA at 1-312-988-5522; or by fax, 1-312-983-5568 (product code #235-0029).

Senior Service Line
by Matilda Charles

DRIVING MS. DAISY these days, is probably Ms. Daisy herself. Older folks continue to make up much of the traffic flow that runs through the nation and, surprise, surprise, most of them have better driving records than their younger counterparts.

Unfortunately, there is a perception out in the land that older drivers cause much of the highway mayhem that gets reported on the 11:00 p.m. news. But when the facts are precipitated out of all the hyperbole, it seems only a handful of seniors are involved in the sort of accidents that roving television reporters love because it guarantees them airtime.

As a result of this overblown publicity, many states are now requiring age-related driver's license testing which means that even if you have a clean safety record, your age may make license renewal contingent on passing a new eye, hearing, and reaction time exam.

Does that make me mad? Not at all. If I could, I would see to it that every driver is subject to such examinations on a periodic basis. The frequency would depend on several factors, including the driver's record over the years. Since we all age, whether it's from 60 to 70, or 20 to 30, physical changes are inevitable. Therefore, all drivers should have examinations to assess these changes; fewer in the younger years and more frequently past, say, age 50.

Currently, it's mostly seniors who may be adversely affected if they can't meet the vision, hearing, or reaction time standards. For some people, being without their cars means becoming virtual recluses. Unless there's an adequate public transportation system, car-less people can't get around even to do their shopping.

The American Association of Retired Persons goes further to suggest that instituting specialized transportation for older people would be helpful in providing transportation for those who should no longer drive, as well as for those who would like to stop driving, but not at the expense of losing their independence.

One more thing: Have a very Merry Christmas.

YES, IT'S PICTURESQUE, but the freezing rain received this past week has also been hard on the trees and is ultimately to blame for downed power lines that caused several areas of Garrett and Preston counties to be without electricity at various times. The weather also forced cancellation of school in Garrett County on Tuesday and again today, which uses up all five snow days that were built into the 1995-96 school calendar; and winter does not even officially begin until tomorrow. Preston County schools were closed all week, with the exception of half a day on Monday; however, missed days of school in West Virginia do not have to be made up as they do by law in Maryland.

COVER STORY

Special Storytime airs Christmas Day

BY SUZANNE GILL

Kino

"Put a group of children in a room together who all speak different languages," says actor Ruben Blades, and "they will find ways of communicating. Language differences are not a barrier for children."

Both a Grammy winner and Emmy nominee, Blades (Crazy From the Heart, The Milagro Beanfield War) proves his point in an appearance on PBS' Storytime that airs Christmas Day, Monday, Dec. 25 (check local listings).

The holiday episode, "Para Ti (For You)," features stories in both Spanish and English. As always, this edition of Storytime features children and adults snuggled up on a couch under the spell of a story book. Welcoming Blades are host Mara (Marabina Jaimes) and 7-year-old Kino, the puppet character (performed by Mark Ritts), also a series regular.

Two of the selections for "Para Ti" are read in Spanish; a third, called Too Many Tamales, weaves a humorous story around the Hispanic Christmas tradition of making tamales.

Mara and Kino open the program in front of a mission-style church, where they stop to read Too Many Tamales. A Spanish-speaking girl joins them just as they get started, and Mara encourages Kino, who nervously admits he knows practically no Spanish, to try to talk with her. Just as Blades' remarks suggest, they are soon on friendly terms.

Back on the Storytime set, Blades reads La Gallinita Roja (The Little Red Hen) and ¿Donde Esta Mi Osito? (Where Is My Teddy Bear?). The first story is a familiar one, with colorful pictures to help the words along. Blades introduces the second story with a little summary of the action. The illustrations carry English-speaking viewers the rest of the way, while Spanish-speaking children have the pleasure of hearing the stories just as a father or grandfather might read them.

"I loved being read to as a child, although it was basically the women in my family who did it," Blades says.

"The fact that I read two stories in Spanish on the show will not confuse children who do not speak the language. Children are more open to new languages and new things in general than adults. They learn languages faster than adults, who ... are self-conscious about making unfamiliar sounds.

" 'Para Ti' acknowledges that a large segment of the population in the U.S. does speak another language."

A native of Panama, Blades is a singer and songwriter as well as an actor. In a word, he is a storyteller. He views his reading on Storytime as a kind of performance.

"Because I am animated in reading these stories, I liken myself to a mime," he says. "Children who do not speak Spanish will look at me reading these stories and will follow what I'm saying."

As the lights dim, though, Blades hopes his young audience will take pleasure in books.

"Reading affords children – all of us – a fantasy fulfillment," the actor states. "In order to sustain our society, we must not lose our capacity to dream."

TV-PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: This is for Sue Smith of Flint, Mich., who wanted to know where she had seen Paige Turco of American Gothic. Maybe I can help. Turco played Dina Marler, daughter of Ross and Vanessa, on Guiding Light for several years. She later appeared as Dixie and Will's sister Melanie on All My Children. Hope this helps. –Beverly J. Davis, Montrose, Colo.

A. First, Beverly, thanks for filling in the soaps Turco "forgot" to mention in her credits. Odd how pervasive this form of amnesia is with many actors.

Melissa, I share your concern. Gothic started the season well, actually building on the numbers from its lead-in, Picket Fences. Its ratings took a hit when Homicide: Life on the Street started its new season on NBC. As of this writing, Gothic is tied (with Maybe This Time and Sisters) for 75th place in the season-to-date Nielsens.

American Gothic returns from hiatus on Wednesday, Jan. 3. Frankly, I am skeptical that any network as troubled as CBS can find a safe berth for a series as unconventional as this one. If Gothic can't succeed on Fridays with a natural crossover audience from Fox's The X-Files, I doubt it will do better on Wednesdays opposite Law & Order.

The show's future obviously depends on how much ratings slack the network will cut it.

Q: What is Polly Holliday (Flo on Alice) doing these days? –Helen Johnston, Anderson, Ind.

Paige Turco

A. She's playing JoBeth Williams' mother on the CBS series The Client.

Q: Please tell J.J. of Villa Grove, Ill., that he or she can order Fritz the Cat from Home Film Festival, P.O. Box 2032, Scranton, Pa. 18501-2032. –Lynn Manner, Gambier, Ohio.

A. You just did. Thanks.

Q: Please settle an argument. I maintain Woody Allen uses his real name. My sis says no. –No name or address.

A. Allen was born Allen Stewart Konigsberg.

Q: I see Into the Woods has been released on video. Any truth to the report that they are making a film of the Broadway hit Les Miserables? –Heather L. Wedo, Phillipsburg, N.J.

A. The Les Miz movie seems to be in limbo right now. Its fate may hinge in part on the reception to the upcoming movie adaptation of another rock opera, Evita.

Stars share memories of Christmases past

BY SUZANNE GILL

No matter how big the star, the holidays still mean family time and special memories. Here is a sampling:

Anne Murray and her husband, Bill Langstroth, are the parents of two children who couldn't wait one Christmas.

"Bill and I woke up, and every present under the tree was opened. I had no idea that (the children) were up. We didn't know what was from whom. That was the year we sent thank you notes to everybody saying, 'Well, whatever you gave me, thanks a lot.'"

Gordon Clapp of NYPD Blue tells this story to his son:

"They used to have an event in the town I grew up called the Silver Tea and Bazaar. It was always held about two Saturdays before Christmas. One year I was sick, and I couldn't go. So I asked my mother to tell Santa Claus what I wanted and to see if he would send me a little something back. And I stayed home.

"At about 5 o'clock I heard my mother come in. I called to her and said, 'Did Santa send me anything?' She opened the door, and there was Santa Claus. He came into my room and sat down with me and listened to everything I wanted and gave me a little present."

Brooke Shields recalls a Christmas like no other:

"I went with Bob Hope to visit the troops in Beirut. We flew onto an aircraft carrier. There weren't many people around.

"We were standing on an elevator platform. It was lowered, and we saw thousands of servicemen welcoming us. They went through a little medley of Christmas songs. It was such a breathtaking sight to be away from home and feel that they were so happy you were there."

Gordon Clapp (Detective Greg Medavoy in ABC's NYPD Blue), reminisces about a special Christmas experience he had as a child.

SOAP TALK

Soap stars taking time for other projects

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Jeff Trachta

Viewers may not see as much of their favorite characters in the next few months, but there is no need to worry.

Several stars will be taking time off from their respective soaps to work on other projects. Some are heading to the Great White Way, others are working on movies and one will head home for some family time.

Jeff Trachta (Thorne, The Bold and the Beautiful) is taking over the role of Danny Zuko from Jon Secada in the Broadway musical Grease. Trachta says says he is grateful to the soap's executives for letting him take three months off from Bold.

Trachta is the second soap star to play Danny. Ricky Paull Goldin, who played Dean on Another World, opened the musical several years ago.

Eva LaRue (Maria) is taking some time away from All My Children to film the television movie Remembrance, based on the book by Danielle Steel.

Sharon Farrell (Flo) from The Young and the Restless is shooting a feature film, White Cargo, with David Bradley. The movie is a murder mystery.

Another Y&R favorite will be taking maternity leave. Victoria Rowell (Drucilla) is scheduled to be out most of January and February to spend time with her newborn.

Brenda Dourmani (Ashley) and Michael Tylo (Blade/Rick) are leaving Y&R for good. Dourmani wants to spend more time with her family and needs time to work on other projects.

Tylo was a casualty of Dourmani's decision to leave. His characters were paired with her, so the writers will send both characters off the show. Tylo isn't too upset about the parting and may show up on another soap soon.

Fans of Jessica Tuck (ex-Megan, One Life to Live) will be happy to know Tuck has the lead role in the upcoming Fox show Last Frontier. Her new workplace is a bit cool, as the show is taped in Alaska.

John Reilly (ex-Sean, General Hospital) has landed a recurring role on Beverly Hills, 90210. Reilly will portray the father of Kelly (Jennie Garth).

Also on the GH set, Genie Francis (Laura) is taking three months away to work on other projects and spend time with her family. The time off was written into her new contract.

Graham Earns Insurance Award

Spencer William Graham II, grandson of the late Senator and Mrs. Spencer W. Graham, has been selected to receive the Robert L. Rose Award of the National Association of Life Underwriters (NALU) for 1995.

This award was established by the NALU to recognize life insurance professionals who provide outstanding service in the field of continuing education.

Graham was born in Oakland and graduated from West Virginia University in 1981 with a B.S. degree in business administration. After working in the banking field for four years, Graham accepted a position as a field associate with Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society in 1982. He was appointed area manager in 1987, a position in which he still serves.

West Virginia Insurance Commissioner Hanley C. Clark selected Graham in 1990 to serve on the legislative review and test development committees for all insurance licensing in West Virginia.

"Graham has been actively involved in organized life underwriting, participating in many ways through committees and special programs, as well as through the various offices of local and national societies," a W.O.W. spokesperson stated.

Graham is past president of the West Virginia Fraternal Congress and the West Virginia Chapter of the National Association of Fraternal Insurance Counselors. In 1993, the National Fraternal Congress of America designated him state marshall of West Virginia.

Graham currently resides in Morgantown, W.Va., with his wife and daughter and serves as vice president of the West Virginia Association of Life Underwriters. He is a past chairman of that group's continuing education committee.

Video Conference On Sexual Abuse Slated By AHEC

The Family Crisis Resource Center, Frostburg State University, and the Psychology and Social Work Caucuses of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center are hosting a National Children's Advocacy Center satellite video conference series. The series will be offered January 12, 19, and 26 on the campus of Frostburg State University from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Leading experts will offer up-to-date information on several child sexual abuse topics, answer questions and provide related bibliographies and handouts. Local experts will be on hand to guide participants in activities designed to reinforce learning and stimulate discussion.

The series is designed for mental health professionals: therapists, counselors, psychologists, psychiatrists, and social workers who provide treatment for children or adolescents who have been sexually abused. Participants will have an opportunity to network with other professionals in the community.

Sessions include "Assessment and Treatment of Sexually Reactive Children" presented by Eliana Gil, January 12; "Effective Treatment for Adolescent Sexual Offenders" presented by Rob Freeman-Longo, January 19; and "Working Constructively with Non-Offending Parents of Child Sexual Abuse Victims" presented by John Alderson, January 26. Comptroller's Office Features Forms By Fax

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says new technology allows the Comptroller's Office to better serve taxpayers and tax practitioners with individual and business tax forms and publications by fax.

"Marylanders can call 410-974-F-A-X-X (974-3299), follow the instructions, and receive up to five different tax forms or publications per call," Goldstein said. "If you call from a handset of your fax machine, your order will be faxed to you immediately. If you call from a touch tone phone, your document will be faxed within 24 hours. The service is available 24-hours per day, seven days per week."

All individual tax forms are available for both tax years 1994 and 1995. Business tax information, such as the Combined Registration Application, sales and use tax rate charts, and corporate tax returns are also available by fax.

"Individuals opening new businesses can now call and receive the Combined Registration Application, complete it and return it by fax or mail," Goldstein said. "This new fax system supplements the Comptroller's Office presence on Sailor, the online information service of libraries throughout Maryland, which also uses technology to provide information to business and individual taxpayers."

In total, more than 80 tax forms, publications, and other information are available on the Maryland State Comptroller's forms-by-fax system.

"Service is our business," Goldstein said. "We want individual and business taxpayers and tax practitioners alike to have quick and easy access to the information they need."

Workshop On Substance Abuse Slated By AHEC

The Center for Substance Abuse Prevention, in cooperation with the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC), is offering a one-day, interactive workshop titled "Invest in Prevention: Prevention Works! in Health Care Delivery Systems." The workshop will be on Thursday, January 11, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Western Maryland AHEC in Cumberland.

The Health Care Delivery Systems Project workshop is designed to introduce participants to the prevention of alcohol, tobacco, and other drug problems using a systems perspective. Individuals with management and/or clinical responsibilities in hospitals, health maintenance organizations, community mental health centers, public health departments, and other settings will benefit from this course.

Participants will review prevention guidelines and gain the necessary problem solving skills to promote prevention within their health care delivery systems. "Through lecture and directed group exercises, participants will obtain valuable organizational approaches to champion prevention strategies within their systems," stated an AHEC spokesman.

The workshop is free of charge. Certificates of attendance will be provided to all participants verifying 6.5 hours of continuing education. It meets the criteria of the Maryland Board of Social Work Examiners as a Category I continuing education activity.

For more information about registration and the course content, persons may call Health Care Delivery Systems at 301-961-8885. For logistics information, they may call the Western Maryland AHEC at 301-777-9150, ext. 110.

American Trust Bank Offers KeyCheck

American Trust Bank and area merchants are pleased to offer a variety of money saving coupons to our KeyCheck Card customers. Customers simply clip the coupon and present it to the merchant, along with their KeyCheck Card as the method of payment. It's that simple! American Trust Bank introduced the KeyCheck Card -- a VISA check card program -- in response to consumers' growing demands. The KeyCheck Card product is being offered to qualified American Trust Bank checking account customers, adding to the 15.1 million VISA check cardholders currently in the U.S.

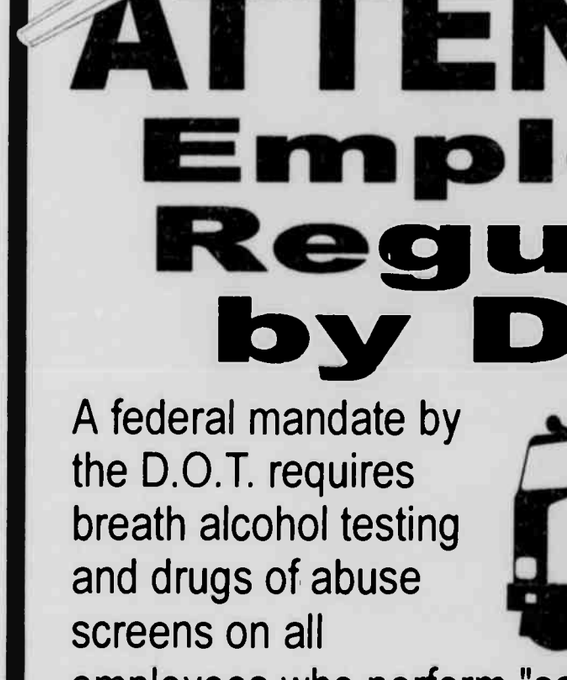
Check cards, also known as debit cards, are enhanced banking automatic teller machine (ATM) cards which can be used at the point of sale (POS) to purchase goods and services.

A convenient replacement to the hassles associated with cash and checks, KeyCheck can be used to purchase goods and services at locations by providing cardholders with electronic access to their checking accounts. The card works particularly well for everyday purchases that cardholders would traditionally pay for with checks or cash -- groceries and gas, for example -- or for everyday purchases such as restaurant meals, drug store items, dry cleaning, shoe repairs and haircuts.

American Trust Bank has placed the VISA logo on its proprietary KeyCheck Card, adding value to the card and convenience for the consumer by expanding its usage to any of the 11 million locations where VISA cards are accepted.

Added convenience is an important goal for many people today. Check cards, like American Trust Bank's KeyCheck, provide consumers the opportunity of convenience and safety.

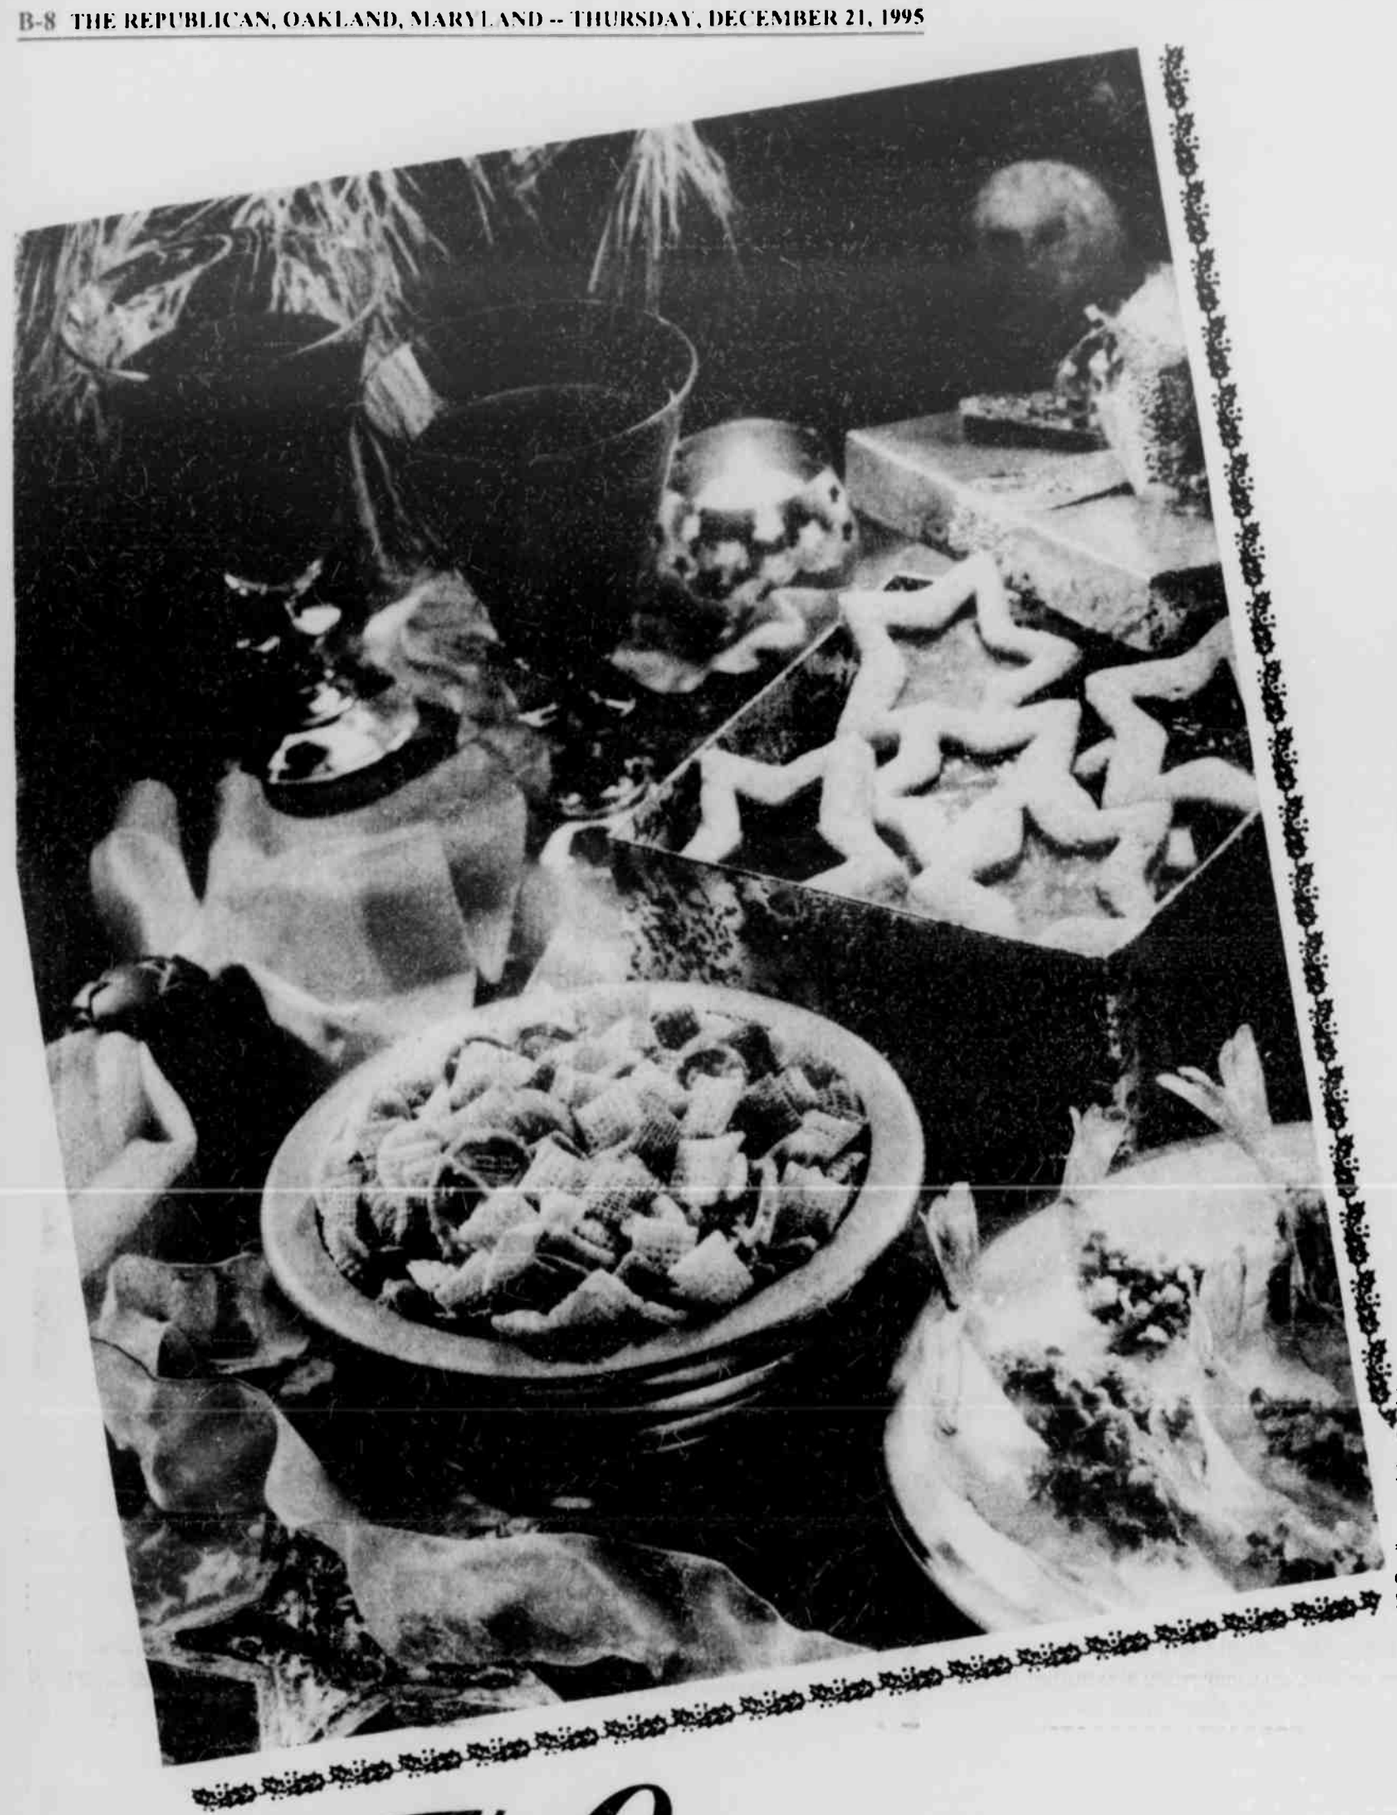
KeyCheck eliminates the need to fill out a check and present identification in checkout lines. It also gives consumers a replacement for checks and eliminates the need of using all available cash in their wallets.



Check cards also offer a great safety advantage. Most importantly, they relieve the need to carry a great deal of cash. And since KeyCheck transactions are posted directly to the cardholder's checking account, consumers don't need to reveal any of the personal information that appears on checks.

With more than one-half of all U.S. households using their ATM cards at financial institution machines at least once a month, check cards expand usage further by serving as a payment method at all merchant locations. KeyCheck is accepted at all 11 million locations that accept VISA worldwide.

With KeyCheck, the cardholder presents the check card at the point of sale and signs the sales draft in the same way as other VISA cards or enters a personal identification number (PIN) and receives a receipt. On average, this process takes 20 seconds. The amount is deducted electronically from the cardholder's checking account, and the transaction is reported on the cardholder's monthly checking account statement.



"We live in an age of convenience. A product such as KeyCheck removes the need to always carry checkbooks and eliminates the time and hassle of writing a check and waiting for approval. KeyCheck also is safer than carrying cash -- obviously something tailor-made for the modern lifestyle," said Robert R. Wozniewicz, president and CEO, American Trust Bank.

American Trust Bank and American Trust Bank of West Virginia are Keystone Financial affiliates with 17 offices serving Allegany, Garrett and Mineral counties.

Unemployed Workers Will Receive 1099-G

Individuals who received Unemployment Insurance benefits during calendar year 1995 should expect the 1099-G (statement for recipients of Certain Government Payments) from the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation, (DLLR) Office of Unemployment Insurance. This information is required on both Federal and State income tax returns as "taxable income."

The forms will be mailed on or before January 31, 1996. The 1099-G does not need to be attached to the income tax forms when they are mailed to the IRS -- the IRS already has this information. Amounts of income on the 1099-G will be the total amount of unemployment insurance benefits received during calendar year 1995. This total can be calculated on an individual basis by adding the total of all unemployment insurance checks dated in 1995.

Unemployment insurance recipients who have moved during 1995 and not updated their address with the Unemployment Insurance Office within the past 3 months, must visit the local office in person to complete an address change or send your address change request by mail before December 20, 1995. Persons should send name, social security number, old address, new address, and telephone number to 1099 Tax Information, P.O. Box 1531, Baltimore, MD 21203.

Board Reduces Estimate Of State Revenue

The Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates, consisting of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein (chairman), State Treasurer Lucille Maurer, and State Budget Secretary Marita B. Brown, informed Governor Parris N. Glendening that it is reducing its previous estimate of state General Fund revenue by $91.7 million for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1996.

"There are bright spots in the Maryland economy, such as non-residential construction, information technology, warehousmg, and distribution, and transportation. However, the federal government plays a significant role in our state's economy - one that is likely to shrink considerably," said Comptroller Goldstein.

The Board cited the weaker economy, stemming from federal downsizing, as the reason it lowered its projection of income and sales tax revenues. In particular, weak consumer confidence caused by the political wrangling and threats of federal furloughs has caused consumers to rein in spending.

In total, the Board reduced its previous estimate of fiscal year 1996 General Fund revenue by $91.7 million, to $7.24 billion, a growth of 2.1% over fiscal year 1995. Previously, General Fund revenue had been expected to grow by 3.8%.

"We believe these to be realistic estimates on which Governor Glendening can base his budget," Goldstein said.

Looking ahead to fiscal year 1997, which begins July 1, 1996, the Board said it expects General Fund revenue to total $7.44 billion, an increase of 2.7%. The Board makes its projections to assist the governor in preparing the fiscal year 1997 state budget.

Individual Income Tax

The individual income tax is Maryland's largest source of General Fund revenue. The Board is revising the estimate of fiscal year 1996 revenue down by $66 million.

Significant cutbacks in federal employment and spending will hold down the growth in overall employment. At the same time, low inflation translates into lower nominal wage gains. The Board expects General Fund individual income tax revenue to total $3.53 billion, and fiscal year 1997 revenue to total $3.69 billion.

Sales and Use Tax

"Maryland's second largest source of General Fund revenue, the sales and use tax, reflects the sagging consumer confidence spawned by uncertainty in federal tax and budget decisions," Goldstein said. "Also pent-up demand for durable goods is largely satisfied and higher consumer debt burdens have limited consumers' willingness and ability to spend."

Tax breaks enacted during the 1994 and 1995 sessions of the General Assembly will reduce sales tax revenue by $10 million annually, beginning in fiscal year 1996.

The Board of Revenue Estimates reduced its earlier projection of sales and use tax revenue by $40.3 million, to $1.99 billion for fiscal year 1996, and expects it to total $2.08 billion for fiscal year 1997.

State Lottery

The Board increased its earlier estimate of General Fund Lottery revenue for fiscal year 1996 by $10.1 million, to $370.9 million. Popular instant games and expansion of the Keno game are the primary factors.

Other Revenues

The Board reduced its earlier projection of business franchise taxes by $8.7 million for fiscal year 1996, citing lower prices for long-distance telephone service, a tax break for purchasing Maryland-mined coal and weaker profits for financial institutions.

The Board also reduced its estimates of General Fund revenue from interest earnings by $5 million, to reflect the current interest rate picture. It projects interest earnings to total $43 million in both fiscal year 1996 and fiscal year 1997.

The changes made to all other revenue sources are minor and reflect current collection tends and new economic assumptions. Overall, the estimate for business franchise taxes and fees was increased by $4.5 million.

Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area Soliciting Photos

The Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, a unit of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources State Forest and Park Service, is currently soliciting photos of the Youghiogheny Wild River and Deep Creek Lake areas. The photos will be used in various exhibits that will be established upon completion of the new nature center located at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Of particular need are old photos depicting the way of life along the Youghiogheny River. These include old homesteads, logging, railroads, and other land-use activities that may have occurred in the 19th or 20th century. Also, current colored photos depicting both the lake and river areas are wanted, especially nature photos.

When and if the photos are used, the owner's name will be included in the display. All desired photos will be copied and the originals returned to the owner. Those who are willing and able to assist with this project are asked to contact Ranger Karl Christensen (301) 387-4111.

Homeowners Should Be Wary Of Solicitations

Homeowners should be cautious of recorded telephone solicitations from home improvement contractors. To help the public avoid attempts from home improvement companies to illegally acquire business, the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation's (DLLR) Home improvement Commission (MHIC) is warning homeowners to be wary of these telephone messages.

Recent reports to MHIC include instances of illegal solicitations from unnamed home improvement companies. These electronic telephone calls promote home improvements and ask individuals to leave names and telephone numbers on the electronic message in order that someone may return the call. Such messages are in violation of the Home Improvement Law, which requires that companies soliciting or advertising home improvements provide their business name and home improvement license number.

"Consumers should be wary of these phone calls and are advised to not respond. If you have the name of a contractor, always check with the MHIC at (410) 333-6309 to confirm that they are licensed and if there are complaints filed against them. Only use licensed contractors. It is illegal for any contractor to offer or to perform home improvements without a license," a Commission spokesman said.

For information about the MHIC and the home improvement industry in Maryland, persons may contact the MHIC at (410) 333-6309.

Hosp. Foundation, Auxiliary Fund New Equipment

Services offered through the Cardio Pulmonary Department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital have been enhanced by the hospital's Foundation's purchase of a new Holter cardiac transmission system and a new treadmill system.

The Holter cardiac transmission system is a data recording system which allows the patient to carry on routine daily functions while EKG information is being recorded for review by the physician at a later date. Funding for this system was provided through community support of the various fundraising projects sponsored by the Foundation.

According to a hospital spokesman, the treadmill system is an exercise tolerance system which monitors EKG information while the patient walks on a treadmill. It displays and charts all EKG activities during the exercise. Funding for the treadmill system was provided by the hospital's Loar Auxiliary which manages and operates the hospital gift shop.

"Although our current machines have served us well over the years, we are pleased and excited to be able to replace these very important pieces of equipment," stated Dr. Thomas Johnson, chief of staff at the hospital. "The new equipment will bring us up to state of the art and offer new diagnostic features to the cardio-pulmonary department."

Services provided through the cardio-pulmonary department include respiratory therapy, pulmonary functions, electrocardiology, electroencephalography, and non-invasive flow studies.

Christmas Tree Recycling Set For January 6

The Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, in cooperation with Timberjax Tree Service, will once again provide Christmas tree recycling services for local residents.

Christmas trees will be recycled on Saturday, Jan. 6, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Grantsville municipal parking lot next to the town park, and from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Southern High School athletic field parking lot next to Dennett Road School.

There will be no charge for this service, but individuals are asked to remove all decorations, including tinsel (icicles), before bringing trees to be recycled.

Volunteers from the Northern and Southern high school chapters of Future Farmers of America will be available at the recycling events to assist persons in parking and unloading their Christmas trees.

The used trees will be put through a chipper and reduced to mulch. Persons wishing to use this mulch in compost heaps or shrubbery beds should bring a container suitable for carrying the material home. Any unclaimed mulch will be hauled to the county landfill where it will be composted with other yard waste and leaves.

According to Rodney Glotfelty, director of the county office of solid waste, this tree recycling service is provided through the donation of labor and equipment by the Timberjax company, headquartered in Mtn. Lake Park.

For more information, persons may call the solid waste office at 387-0322.

In Loving Memory of Our Mother, Grandmother and Friend, Mabel Greaser,
at Christmas

We're thinking of you today, but then that's nothing new. We thought of you yesterday and the day before that too. We shall think of you tomorrow and each day that comes and goes. Even though you are not here with us today, I know we're together in our own special way.

The day you passed away part of our hearts went with you. When God called you home, many lives were forever changed. You left us so quickly, you did not say goodbye. I don't understand why things happen the way they do. We never got to tell you goodbye, or show you how much we cared.

We never knew what pain was until God called you home that day. It's a pain that hurts and will never go away. We're having a hard time letting you go. What it meant to loose you, no one will ever know. Our heart will always flutter every time we speak your name. We can still see your smile and we think of you each day.

It's so hard for us to understand why you went away. This world had someone special when it had you. But Heaven needed someone special even more, so God choose you. Our loss upon this earth was surely Heaven's gain. God broke our hearts to prove he only takes the best.

Although you were taken ahead of us, one day we'll reunite in eternity, as we reach out our hand and your face we'll touch. We'll tell you we love you so very much. Together again our battle won. Only happiness, life on earth done, no more tears, no more sorrow. Only God's promise of a "Great Tomorrow."

Dearly loved and sadly missed,
Milly & Kaye Lucas and Family

Sentence Passed On Deer Park Man For Uttering, Petty Theft

A Deer Park man, found guilty in September of one count each of uttering false documents and misdemeanor theft, was sentenced in Garrett County District Court last week by Judge Ralph M. Burnett.

Edward D. Suttleworth, 31, was sentenced to a total of four years, six months in jail for the combined offenses, but all of that sentence was suspended except for one year. He was also placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration, was fined $350, and ordered to make $259.95 restitution to Arrowhead Market by Jan. 15, 1996. He was also ordered to attend NA/AA. Home confinement was recommended.

According to district court records, Shuttleworth was charged with the offenses after he altered the face value of a checkfrom $159.95 to $259.95, and then cashed it at Arrowhead for the altered amount. The check was later returned to the establishment because of the altered amount.

In other district court news, a Mountain Lake Park man was handed a 90-day suspended sentence for his conviction of two counts of fourth degree sexual offense without consent.

David A. Friend, 24, was found guilty of the offense in August by visiting Judge Timothy A. Finan, who ordered a pre-sentence investigation at that time. Friend was also fined $500 (suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. He was also ordered to have no contact with his two juvenile victims.

Steve Wilhelm, 34, and Joey Wilhelm, 38, both of Lonaconing, were not prosecuted on one count each of battery, at the request of the complainant, Harry E. Garlitz, also of Lonaconing. The charges stemmed from an Aug. 28 altercation.

Tammy J. Tinsley, 38, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count each of battery and assault because the complainant, Gary L. Tinsley, also of Oakland, asserted his spousal privilege and chose not to testify. The charge stemmed from a Sept. 24 domestic dispute investigated by officers from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

In a related case, Gary Tinsley, 45, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count of malicious destruction of property, stemming from the same incident.

During a sentence revision hearing for James F. Summers Jr., 52, Keyser, W.Va., who was found guilty in August of two counts of forging private documents, the judge modified the original sentence to read "time served." Conditions of the judge's decision state that Summers must pay restitution to the WEPCO Federal Credit Union.

According to district court records, Summers stole blank checks from GBI, a water bottling plant in Keyser, and cashed the checks at WEPCO. Following an investigation by the state police, a warrant, issued for his arrest, was served in March. The incident reportedly occurred in 1994.

Sondra Miller, 29, Lonaconing, was handed a 30-day suspended sentence after she was found guilty of one count of telephone abuse. She was also placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to have no contact with the complainant, Marsha S. Garlitz, Frostburg. Five additional counts of telephone abuse were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. The charging statement indicated Miller made repeated annoying calls to Garlitz during a two-day period in September.

During a sentence modification hearing for John J. Miller, 18, Oakland, Judge Burnett revised the defendant's original sentence to read "time served." Conditions of his probation state he must continue to attend addictions counseling, and obtain his General Education Development (GED) certificate before Feb. 1, 1996.

Miller was found guilty in May of one count of theft, stemming from an Oct. 24, 1994, theft of a microwave oven and video cassette recorder that belonged to Betty DeWitt; and one count of malicious burning, stemming from a Nov. 7, 1994 incident when he burned, with intent to defraud, a trailer belonging to Leonard Paugh, Kitzmiller.

Regina M. Buckalew, 43, Frostburg, was granted probation before judgment after she pleaded guilty to one count of obstructing and hindering a police officer. She received a $500 suspended fine for the offense, and was placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Additional charges filed against Buckalew, including assault, battery, resisting arrest, giving a false statement to an officer, and harboring a fugitive with the intent to prevent an arrest, were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney's office.

According to the charging statement, the defendant was arrested on March 12 by Maryland State Police, after an officer on patrol noticed an unfamiliar car in her yard. The officer reportedly had responded to her home earlier after she was involved in a domestic dispute with David A. Grant. At that time, Grant had destroyed nearly all of her belongings, and assaulted her, the officer reported. A warrant for Grant's arrest had been issued at that time, and since it had not yet been served, he was considered a fugitive from justice.

The officer learned that the unfamiliar car belonged to Grant, and noted he was concerned for Buckalew's safety, so he approached the house to check on her well-being. He reported that he saw Grant in the window of the house, but when Buckalew finally came to the door, she became angry and said Grant was not there. She also became combative, and verbally abusive, at one point demanding to see the warrant (which she had applied for). The officer reported that Buckalew continued to yell, scream, and struggle, but was finally arrested on the above charges.

Nellie A. McManus, 19, Oakland, was granted probation before judgment on a guilty verdict for littering. A sheriff's office investigation revealed she had placed three bags of garbage outside the King's Run Recycling Center on July 30, while the facility was closed.

Alan W. Risinger, 21, Hedgesville, W.Va., pleaded guilty to one count of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence for the offense, fined $300 (suspended), and placed on six months of probation. Conditions of his probation state he must complete 30 hours of community service. Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia and exceeding the speed limit were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

The charges against Risinger stemmed from his July 11 arrest by a sheriff's deputy who had been working with radar along Interstate 68, and stopped the defendant for traveling 74 miles per hour in a 65 mph zone. The charging statement indicated that while Risinger was retrieving his JOINING FORCES to help make the holiday season brighter for local children were members of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, comprised of realtors from numerous local agencies. The realtors assumed responsibility for many of the gift cards on a tree at Will O'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, a tree that was placed there by the Oakland Rotary Club. They gathered there last week to place their gifts under that tree, which were then collected and distributed Saturday to local families by the Rotary Club members and scores of other volunteers. Pictured center is Dave Moe, Rotary Club president, and he is flanked by Garrett Board of Realtors Community Services Committee members Dottie Pritts, left, and Ann Smith. Participating realty agencies were A&A Realty, Bernard Realty, Century 21 Realty, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and Railey Realty.

Farming In Maryland.....

Consumers Say Farmers Most Credible Food Information Source

Farmers are considered by consumers to be the most credible source of reliable information about the foods Americans eat, while food labels are the second most credible source, according to results of the second annual American Food Consumer Survey recently conducted by Purina Mills, Inc. In addition, a significant majority of those surveyed said that more education about how American foods are produced is needed in the nation's public school curriculum, and that this education should begin at the grade school level.

The food information sources considered as 'most credible' by the survey's respondents included farmers (26%), food labels (19%), family and friends (14%), food industry (10%), educators (9%), government agencies (9%), grocers supermarkets (6%), news media (4%) and advertising (3%).

Consumers in the survey indicated by an overwhelming 92 percent that more education about how foods are produced should be incorporated into the nation's public school classrooms, while 81 percent of these said such instruction should begin in grade school. The food industry was considered the most reliable source for instructional materials and information by 38 percent of respondents, vs. 31 percent for educators and 25 percent for scientists. The second annual American Food Consumer Survey asked more than 3,500 consumers from across the country about their attitudes, practices and sources of knowledge concerning their food supply. One of the largest annual surveys in the food industry, it was conducted during August - September, 1995 by the nation's top 4-H and FFA youth leaders who comprise the American Agribusiness Ambassadors. Purina Mills, Inc. funded the survey.

The survey found consumers predicting that more detailed information about the foods they eat will become available to them in the future. More than half of the respondents said they expect more consumer food educational programs to emerge in the future, and that farmers and the food industry are the most responsible sources of information for educating consumers about how their foods are produced.

"This survey shows that consumers want increasing amounts of information about the foods they eat and how they are produced, and that farmers and the food production industry are America's most trusted sources of that information," said Max Fisher, director of public relations for Purina Mills. "A large number of respondents feel that the available information guiding their food consumption is reliable. Yet, we all see that a great deal of this same information -- from government agencies, special interest groups, educators and the news media -- is often conflicting. We believe it is now important for farmers and the agribusiness industry to speak out with one voice and assure the public about the integrity of our food supply."

The survey also found that:

* 74 percent believe farmers should use high yield farming technology to feed our growing population;

* 63 percent feel that the food they consume is safe;

The greatest concerns among respondents about our food supply are in the areas of water contamination, bacterial contamination and pesticide use.

The second annual American Food Consumer Survey was conducted as a visitor intercept questionnaire at state fairs and major festivals in twenty states across the country. The American Agribusiness Ambassadors conducted the survey as a nationwide research project.

Headquartered in St. Louis, Purina Mills is the largest producer and distributor of animal nutrition products in the United States. The national FFA and 4-H organizations provide education and leadership opportunities to millions of young Americans. Both organizations are headquartered in Washington, D.C.

Dairy Refund Payment Program Deadline 3/15

Dairymen who marketed less milk in 1995 than in 1994 may be eligible for the Dairy Refund Payment Program. They are asked to bring their 1994 and 1995 statements or the annual summary provided by their milk handler to the Farm Service Agency Office to apply for a refund of 1995 CCC assessments.

If a dairyman markets milk through more than one dairy unit, he must submit statements for all units. He must also submit statements for all related persons with whom he has any dairy interests. Related persons include a spouse, minor children, or guardian; or any corporation, partnership, joint venture, joint operation, estate, trust or other enterprise in which he may have an ownership or financial interest.

Dairymen are asked to check their statements carefully or ask the milk handler to prepare a 1994-1995 monthly summary statement showing their pounds and assessment per month.

Anyone who quit milking in 1995 should call the FSA Office to see if they are eligible. The deadline to apply is March 15, 1996.

Farm Bureau Supports Committee Position On Budget, Farm Bill

While expressing concerns about reduced farm program spending levels, the American Farm Bureau Federation has thrown its support behind the framework of the congressional farm program compromise. That support is contingent on the farm program being part of the conference committee's overall reconciliation package that brings tax relief and a balanced budget.

The congressional budget reconciliation package includes a number of items that drew strong support from AFBF's Board of Directors. The measure was vetoed by President Clinton, but items such as tax reform and plans to balance the federal budget in seven years must be included in any compromise, according to AFBF President Dean Kleckner. The AFBF Board called on President Clinton and members of Congress to work together to reach agreement on these budget goals prior to January 1.

"It's vitally important to farmers to bring U.S. fiscal policy into balance through spending restraint," Kleckner said. "For the sake of America's future, we need a balanced budget. Farmers see tax reform as an essential part of this overall budget reconciliation package."

The budget reconciliation bill includes a number of tax reform issues that farmers have long sought, according to Kleckner. This includes: reform of capital gains tax rates; an increase in the exemption level for estate taxes; a provision that increases first-year expensing of capital outlays; and increased deductibility of health insurance premiums for the self-employed.

This package represents a set of common-sense tax reform measures that America's farmers and ranchers have lived without for far too long," Kleckner said. "Coupled with tax reform and a plan to balance the budget in seven years, farm policy provisions in the package are workable if they are accompanied by a dependable funding baseline into the next century."

According to Kleckner, action on farm policy could not come soon enough. Many wheat producers already have planted their 1996 crop without knowledge of the new farm program. In several weeks, the same will be true of southern feed grain producers.

"It's difficult for farmers to make vital planting decisions or even plan their future without having certainty in farm policy or other economic policy areas," said Kleckner. "Farmers are deciding now what they will harvest next year, yet they have no way of knowing how farm policy will play into their decisions President Clinton and Congress must carry out their public policy responsibilities immediately."

According to Kleckner, AFBF remains concerned about the reduced level of farm program spending proposed in the conference committee report for agriculture. He also made it clear that Farm Bureau's support for the congressional farm proposal is tied to its strong support for Congress' overall budget reconciliation package.

"It is important that agriculture secure a workable funding baseline," Kleckner said. "It's time for Congress and the president to move forward for the sake of American farm families. Overall, the framework of the budget reconciliation package outlines a positive outcome for our nation's economy and U.S. agriculture."

AFBF Urges Action To Stop Flood Of Mexican Produce

The American Farm Bureau Federation is urging prompt use of NAFTA trade provisions to stem a surge of vegetable imports from Mexico that has sent produce prices plummeting and threatens to devastate Florida vegetable farmers.

In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman, the AFBF requested that snapback provisions dealing with the level of imports be implemented properly and quickly. Those provisions, part of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), are designed to slow imports and protect domestic producers from dumping of foreign produce on U.S. markets.

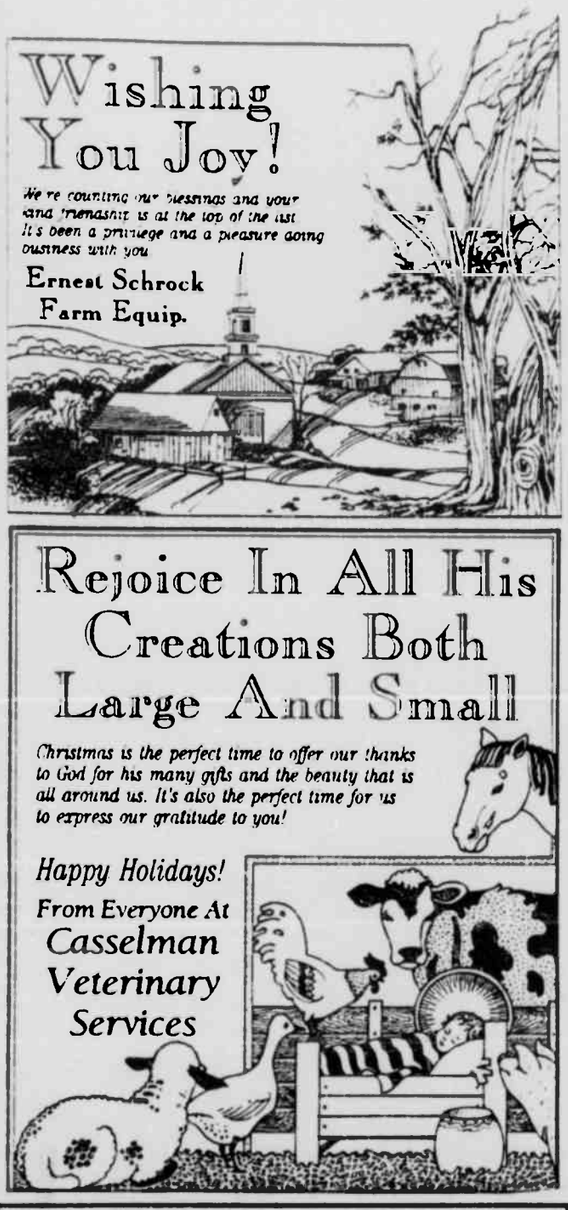
"We urge you to take immediate action to utilize all import surge mechanisms allowed by NAFTA and to begin a review of the value and volume of Mexican produce imports on Florida producers," wrote AFBF President Dean Kleckner in his letter to Glickman.

"Dramatic changes are taking place in the volume of Mexican produce being shipped to the U.S. during recent weeks," Kleckner added. "Prices for many winter crops in Florida have been driven well below the cost of production, as Mexican produce crosses the U.S. border at rates 30 percent above last year. Florida producers have legitimate concerns about Mexican imports and the performance of NAFTA safeguards designed to deal with such a situation."

"The current threat to Florida agriculture from surges in Mexican imports needs to be dealt with in a serious and straight-forward manner," Kleckner added. He urged Glickman to respond to the import surges with timely application of NAFTA provisions, to develop improved reporting on the price and volume of Mexican imports, and to consider emergency purchases of commodities such as squash, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers and eggplants by the USDA to help shore up prices.

Carl B. Loop Jr., AFBF vice president and president of the Florida Farm Bureau, has also been urging the government to act to protect Florida farmers from the influx of Mexican fruits and vegetables. He contacted state and federal officials requesting intervention on behalf of Florida vegetable producers to stop the dumping of Mexican produce.

"We're talking about tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, squash, sweet corn, things like that," Loop said. "Looking at what's coming in, we're seeing two, three, four even as high as a 600 percent increase over what was imported last year, which is a real surge. "Mickey Kantor of the U.S. Trade Representatives office assured us that there were safeguards in NAFTA that would take care of import surges. We also have a letter from Bill Clinton stating the same thing," Loop said.



Florida farmers recently dumped truckloads of eggplants, squash and other vegetables on the ground to protest dumping of Mexican produce on U.S. markets. Farmers also met with Glickman and U.S. Sen. Bob Graham in Orlando to discuss ways of fighting the import surges that have hurt Florida's $1 billion fresh-vegetable industry.

To date, Florida's winter growing season has not been considered a separate industry and has been precluded from obtaining relief under trade laws designed to assist domestic industries harmed by freer trade. Graham introduced legislation requiring the U.S. International Trade Commission to use seasonality as a factor in determining when an industry needs trade relief.

TWO SPECIAL WORKSHOPS FOR BEEF HERD PRODUCERS

"Management of the Beef Herd Around Calving" will be the program emphasis in a two-session program scheduled for the Mondays of January 8 and 22, 1996 at Frostburg State University from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The topics are:

1) Pre-calving Period: We will discuss nutritional programs, body scores during the last third of gestation, calculate costs of maintaining proper body condition vs. having to add body condition. Various topics will be covered in preparation for the calving season including preventive health and animal husbandry issues such as vaccinations for preventing late-term abortions and calfhood diseases in newborns, parasite control, management of pre-calving groups and environmental considerations in choosing a calving area.

2) Calving Period: The program will include techniques for handling dystocia and when to call your veterinarian. This part of the program will feature pre-calving health practices at birth such as colostrum management, dip navel and indications for using various animal health products. We will be discussing the advantages and disadvantages for calving at certain times of the year.

3) Post-calving Period: In this session we will be covering nutritional management of the cow post-calving to get her ready for the next breeding season. Also, we will be addressing the nutritional management of the cow and calf following calving to attain maximum profit from nursing calves. Also, we will be touching base on the control, prevention and treatment of common calfhood diseases such as scours, pneumonia, white muscle disease and coccidiosis.

4) BMP Concerns and SFA Measures. This will be the last topic addressed on the program. We will be teaching management techniques for setting realistic production goals for calving percentage, calf death loss, calving distribution, weaning percentage, pounds weaned per exposed female and approaches for trouble-shooting problems if production goals are not met.

Registration is important. The workshops will be held in the interactive video lab at Frostburg State University with a capacity of 35 people. There is a fee of $20 per farm (more than one person from a farm may attend) which will cover the costs of printed materials that each farm will be given. Reservations can be made by calling my office at (301) 334-1940 and I will send you directions to the lab. In case of inclement weather, monies will be refunded if you can't attend at an alternative time.

Voice Of Agriculture Puts Farm Bureau On Internet

The American Farm Bureau Federation has staked claim to its own home on the Internet with its new "Voice of Agriculture" World Wide Web site.

The web site, designed to be an information resource for farmers, ranchers and the general public, can be found at "http://www.fb.com". It offers the latest news and commentary from the American Farm Bureau Federation, links to state and county Farm Bureau educational materials on agriculture and connections to a wide variety of ag-related resources on the Internet. It will be a premier source for ag news.

"This web site will serve as an electronic forum to tell the Farm Bureau story," said Randy Plattsmier, vice president of Communications Systems for American Farm Bureau. "Farm Bureau members and the public can connect to Voice of Agriculture to learn more about agriculture and the active role Farm Bureau is taking in local, state and national issues."

Voice of Agriculture is one part of a broad effort to improve communications between AFBF and the state Farm Bureaus as well as with Farm Bureau members at the county level. Improved electronic mail, an internal bulletin board and Internet services, including Voice of Agriculture, will combine to bring better communications to rural America.

Content development will be coordinated by Rick Bush, who was recently promoted to Editor, Online Services in AFBF's Information and Public Relations Division. Bush joined AFBF in 1988 as assistant director, News Services. Bush, who has 10 years of Farm Bureau experience, will also coordinate Farm Bureau's internal bulletin board - Farm Bureau Online.

Local Resident Is Graduate Of Auction College

Earning the honorary title of "Colonel," E. Brent Fratz, Accident, was graduated recently from the World Wide College of Auctioneering, Mason City, Iowa.

Fratz successfully completed 96 hours of instruction and training covering all phases of auctioneering taught by 20 professional instructors at the college. Courses included conducting auctions ranging from automobiles and livestock to real estate, antiques, and general consignments. Other subjects included business management, marketing, and the development of an auction chant and bid calling.

During the training program, Fratz also received the experience of calling a public auction sale.

Established in 1933, World Wide College of Auctioneering has trained more than 25,000 auctioneers throughout the United States and Canada. The college, which has graduated more world champion auctioneers than any other school, specializes in the development of voice control, auction chant, and bid calling. The college also is the only school in the auction industry to demonstrate the full utilization of computers in the auction business.

Allegany Rehab, Sister Company Take New Name

Allegany Rehabilitation Associates and its sister company, Allegany Hearing and Speech of Cumberland, have taken a new name. Now known as RehabSolutions, the company was formed in 1983, and serves hospitals, nursing homes, and out-patient clinics throughout the tri-state region.

According to a spokesperson for the company, RehabSolutions has continued to refine its professional services that include occupational, physical, and speech therapy, as well as audiology.

Presently, RehabSolutions operates offices in Oakland, Cumberland, Frederick, and Hancock, as well as Somerset, Pa., and Keyser, W.Va., and its projected growth in 1996 will service the area from Pittsburgh to Frederick. "We felt that the names Allegany Rehabilitation Associates and Allegany Hearing and Speech Associates, limited our ability to grow beyond the tri-state region," indicated CEO/Partner Bill Freas.

"With the dramatic changes occurring in the health care industry, we felt that we needed to be more appropriately positioned to address the needs of our growing patient base," Freas added.

RehabSolutions will continue to operate with Cumberland as its base, according to CFO/Managing Partner Carol Clulee.

In 1995, RehabSolutions added 40 new positions in the company ranging from professional to administrative services. Four new vice presidents and two new department directors were recently appointed to complete the newly-formed management team under Clulee and Freas, founding owners and partners.

registration card from the glove compartment, the officer noticed a film canister that was later discovered to contain marijuana residue. A subsequent search of the vehicle also revealed drug paraphernalia, a small quantity of marijuana, and two marijuana cigarette butts, according to the report.

Lyle E. Mulkins, 36, Kent, Wash., pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of one count of carrying a concealed weapon. He received a 30-day suspended sentence for the offense, was fined $350, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Court records state that Mulkins was arrested on Sept. 7, after officers at the Finzel Scale House retrieved several weapons from his vehicle. The officer on duty reportedly saw what he believed to be a radar detector in Mulkins' rig, and as he was investigating that matter, he noticed a holster on the seat. A search of the vehicle revealed several knives, a stun gun, and an ASP baton. The officer reported that he also noticed a knife, concealed in a sheath, hooked to Mulkins' pants, and hidden near the small of his back. All of the weapons in the vehicle, the report read, were in the driver's reach.

Tracy A. Harding, 33, Friendsville, was found not guilty of one count each of CDS possession, and possession of CDS paraphernalia. The charges against the defendant stemmed from a Nov. 3, 1993 incident at the Harding family's home, when officers from the MSP and Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant and re-covered 27 dried marijuana stalks from the attic, 135 grams of marijuana from inside a machine building, and three packs of cigarette rolling papers. The charging statement indicated Harding was in charge of the building, and would lock up when the officers left. It was later learned that only Larry Harding and Kenneth Harding Sr. had keys to the building.

Roger S. Riddle, 20, Nitro, W.Va., pleaded guilty to one count of CDS possession. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), fined $150, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service in compliance with his probation. Additional charges of possession of CDS paraphernalia, DWI (driving while intoxicated), not wearing a seatbelt, and exceeding the speed limit were not prosecuted because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

The charges against Riddle stemmed from his Sept. 29 arrest by Maryland State Police, after he was initially stopped on I-68 for speeding. The arresting officer noticed an odor of marijuana coming from inside Riddle's vehicle, and spotted a smoking device on the seat. He reportedly also noticed the odor of alcohol on the defendant's breath, and saw a partially spilled can of beer on the floor, as well as several cold, unopened cans, all of which resulted in his arrest.

William C. Roseblock, 18, Kimberly, W.Va., was not prosecuted on one count each of possession of CDS and its related paraphernalia, because of a plea of guilt from a co-defendant. Roseblock was reportedly a passenger in a vehicle stopped by sheriff's deputies on Sept. 24, that had come into the county from West Virginia, and was known to be carrying a quantity of marijuana.

A Baltimore couple was cleared of drug charges in last week's district court proceedings. Karen E. Chaney, 27, and George M. Albright III, 35, each pleaded not guilty to one count each of possession of CDS and drug paraphernalia. They had been charged with the offenses on May 27, during a drug check point at Swallow Falls State Park, after a search of their vehicle revealed a small quantity of marijuana and a smoking device.

Jessica D. Yost, 21, Accident, was not prosecuted on one count of CDS possession because of insufficient evidence. The charge against her, filed by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy, after a search of the apartment where she resided revealed signs of marijuana use.

Ernest Shugars, 32, Grantsville, was found not guilty of one count each of fourth degree burglary and battery. However, he was found guilty of one count of trespassing, for which he received a 30-day suspended sentence, and one year of supervised probation.

The charges against Shugars, filed on Sept. 17, by Charles Shugars, stemmed from an altercation between the two over $30 that the defendant said the complainant owed him.

In a related case, Shugars was found not guilty of one count of battery, filed against him by Tonya Shugars, following the same incident.

DWI CASES

Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and or drugs) cases were heard recently in district court proceedings.

Marie Angela Bosley, 30, Oakland, pleaded guilty to one count of DUI. She was fined $150 for the offense. Her arrest by Maryland State Police (MSP) was on May 29, following a four-wheeler accident along Rt. 50, near the Table Rock Road.

Leonard Eugene Goodson, 48, W.Va., failed to appear for his DWI hearing. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest, and a new $500 cash bond dispensed. His arrest for the offense was on June 24, by state police.

A charge of DWI, issued for James Dale Purbaugh Jr., 28, Md., was placed on the stet docket, on the condition he complete 40 hours of community service. His MSP arrest was on June 25.

Robert David Berg, 20, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI. He was fined $150, sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of his probation state he must complete 30 hours of community service, attend an eight-week alcohol treatment program with the local health department, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on his driver's license.

Kenneth Dale Landis Jr., 19, Md., was not prosecuted on a DWI charge, because of insufficient evidence. He was arrested by state police on May 7.

Thomas Richard Miller, 25, W.Va., pleaded guilty to one count of DWI. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $150, and placed on one year of supervised probation. He was arrested by state police on July 9.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Gary Allen Ferguson, 37, Md., who failed to appear for his DWI hearing. A new $1,000 cash bond was issued. Ferguson was arrested for the offense by sheriff's deputies on Sept. 22.

During a sentencing hearing for Christopher Alan Ford, 29, Md., who was found guilty of DWI, the judge ordered him to serve 48 hours of a 30-day sentence, fined him $150, and placed him on 12 months of supervised probation. Ford must also complete 40 hours of community service, attend a 26-week alcohol treatment program with the local health department, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on his driver's license. He was arrested by sheriff's deputies on July 16.

Randolph Lee Harvey, 37, Md., was convicted on a charge of DUI. He was fined $150, sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. He was also ordered to complete 20 hours of community service for the offense. Harvey's arrest by sheriff's deputies occurred on May 28.

Chester Sidney Lauck, 30, Md., failed to appear for his DWI hearing. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest, and the judge set a new cash bond at $250. Sheriff's deputies arrested Lauck for DWI on July 22.

Beverly Jean Snyder, 27, Swanton, pleaded guilty to one count of DUI. She was fined $150, sentenced to a 30-day suspended jail term, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Conditions of her probation state she must complete 20 hours of community service, attend an eight-week alcohol treatment program, and a one-year alcohol restriction was placed on her driver's license.

Miss Hileman, Mr. Reckart Wed In May Double-Ring Ceremony

Tina Lynn Hileman, daughter of Donald Hileman, Reedsville, W.Va., and Patricia Pressley, Johnson City, Tenn., and Brian Reed Reckart, son of Pennsylvania resident Douglas Reed Reckart and Janet Alexander, Oakland, were married on May 20 in a double-ring ceremony at Crellin Assembly of God.

Rev. David Snodgrass officiated.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The bride wore a traditional white satin gown and carried a bouquet of peach roses, lilacs, and baby's breath. The bride's bouquet and the bridesmaids' arrangements were made by Joni Blum, Oakland.

Irene White, Oakland, served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Leslie Rice, Terra Alta, W.Va.; Kristy Moon, Oakland; and Regan Hershman, Oakland. All wore peach satin tea length dresses with fitted bodices and full skirts. Mikella Hershman served as flower girl.

Before the wedding, the bridesmaids hosted a shower for the bride at the home of the groom's father.

EGLON 4-H NEWS

Brian Corbin, a National Report winner, gave some details at the Dec. 11 meeting of the Eglon 4-H Club from his November 23-29 attendance at Regional 4-H Congress in Memphis, Tenn. Thirty-eight states were represented there, with members housed in the Peabody Hotel. Sarah Snyder was named first place winner in the Jr. Division on the West Virginia Make It Yourself With Wool competition and will be entering national competition in Albuquerque, N.M., in January.

UNION AMBULANCE SERVICE, Aurora, recently received a donation to be used toward the purchase of a pair of Medical Anti-Shock Trousers (MAST) from Coastal Lumber Company's Horse Shoe Run mill. Above, Larry Roth, mill manager at the Horse Shoe Run mill, is shown presenting a check for $700 to Ellen Harah, president of Union Ambulance, center, and Diana Bachtel, treasurer of the organization. The local mill, which employs 20 people, uses locally-purchased logs, and sells its lumber east of the Mississippi River.

The meeting was held in the Eglon Memorial Building. Devotions were presented by the Recreation Committee, Shawn and Craig Rembold, and used Christmas as their theme.

It was also reported that all of the officers had attended the Officers' Training and Achievement Day held Dec. 3 in Kingwood.

Shawn Rembold gave a talk, The Accessories for a Muzzleloader, and a demonstration, How to Load a Muzzleloader. Tracy Teets talked about by-products of a pig; and Sarah Snyder's demonstration was titled How to Use a Camera. Melinda Teets explained Respiratory Rates in Animals.

The club spent the remainder of the evening making tray favors for Cortland Acres' patients. They will visit there Dec. 27. On that date, first-year members are asked to meet for a workshop at the Eglon Memorial Building at 12:15. Those who would like ideas and information on making posters for county competition will also have a workshop at that time. The club will leave for Cortland Acres at 1:15 p.m. from the Memorial Building.

Tom Teets distributed patient name changes. The foods projects members, under the supervision of Linda Snyder, prepared and served refreshments. Food assignments for the Cortland Acres party were made also. The next regular meeting will be January 9 with the Music Committee to prepare devotions.

Our Dearest Theresa.

It has only been four months that you have been gone, but it feels like an eternity. We miss you so much!

Christmas at Gram and Granddad's just won't be the same without you. You will be in our hearts as always, but the pitter-patter of your little feet will be missed. We'll miss seeing your eyes light up to all the lights and decorations that Gram and Granddad display wondering which will catch your attention the most. We remember last year when you arrived in your red Christmas dress and tights with your new little sister. She was only two weeks old. Both of you were adorable. Your "Sissy" misses you too!

Please help us be strong. Our faith has gotten us to this day but Christmas Day will be so difficult without you. We know Jesus is the Reason for the Season, but children make the holiday extra special! The family will be together as each year in the past, with only one exception, our little angel "Reesa." We love you!

Love,
Uncle Mile and Aunt Jean

Garrett County
GA95S005/01 - Class III-P Waters - Adventuresports Institute, Garrett Community College, Mosser Road, McHenry, Maryland 21541, has applied to appropriate and use an annual average of 974,000 gallons of surface water per day (gpd) and a maximum daily withdrawal of 118,500,000 gallons. The water is to be released from the Savage River Dam to provide sufficient flows for the Whitewater Open Canoe National Championships. Water released from the reservoir will be allowed to flow down the Savage River, where the event will take place. Releases ars expected to be made from June 14 through 16, 1996, during the races. The course is to be located directly downstream of the Savage River Dam, located along Savage River Road, in Garrett County, Maryland. Approximately 1091 acre-feet of water will be needed over the three-day period spanning the event. During 24 hours of racing, a flow of 500 cubic feet of water per second (cfs) will be needed. An additional 36 acre-feet will be used each day to slowly increase and decrease the flow rate in order to minimize impacts on aquatic resources and for public safety. The 1091 ac-ft needed for the event represents about 5% of the storage capacity of the reservoir. The water level in the reservoir will be lowered by about 3 feet. It is expected that enough water will remain in the reservoir to meet the needs of other existing users and to allow a minimum release of between 50 and 65 cfs from the dam into October.

HELP! A few Friday mornings back when I was at the counter of St. Matthew's Nearly New Shop in Oakland, a lady took a bundle of knitting needles wrapped in a wool cover from a box in front of the counter and I sold them to her. I was mistaken, the sale was an error. That particular box contained items that were not intended for sale including the knitting needles.
The needles represent two generations, my wife and her mother. Information leading to their return would greatly improve my life at home. I offer a suitable reward.

NO. 44

DESPITE THE NEGATIVES of wintery weather, no one can deny the beauty that is created by the blanket of snow that currently covers the Mountaintop. Throw in a local historical structure such as the Casselman Bridge, and one has a photo fit for framing. The bridge, located along U.S. Rt. 40 at Grantsville and built in 1813, was the largest single-span stone arch bridge in the United States at the time of its construction. Snow has fallen every day in Garrett County for the past 10 days or so, however because it has arrived only in small doses, state, county, and municipal road crews have had little trouble keeping the roadways clear and generally safe for travel. Sub-freezing temperatures are predicted to remain for the next several days, although some moderation is anticipated for the weekend. Photo by Craig Phillips.

Ice, Snow Again Blamed For Area Auto Accidents

Ice- and snow-covered roads were again reportedly responsible for several automobile accidents during the past week, according to reports filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

A Ridgeley, W.Va., woman was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland following a single-vehicle accident Tuesday morning on the New Germany Road, near Big Run Road.

According to a report filed by Tfc. G.A. Seaman, Debbie L. Frankenberry, 28, was injured when she lost control of her Geo Tracker on the icy roadway, causing the vehicle to skid off the roadway and up an embankment, where it rolled onto its top.

Frankenberry was transported to the hospital by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, where she was reportedly treated and released following the 9 a.m. accident.

PEDESTRIAN INJURED

A Kensington woman was injured Sunday morning as she stood by a disabled vehicle on U.S. 219, near the Sand Flat Road.

According to a report filed by Tfc. A.S. MacLane, Amnersi Isabel Moscote was struck by a vehicle operated by Jeremie A. Reagan, 19, Greensburg, Pa., after he reportedly lost control of his car on the snow-covered road, causing it to travel sideways on Rt. 219, where it struck Moscote, and then the vehicle she was standing behind. Moscote was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, by Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where she was treated and released.

Moscote was apparently a passenger in a 1994 Toyota Corolla operated by Natasha I. Moscote, 26, Alexandria, Va., that had slid off the roadway and become stuck in a snowbank. The driver and another passenger, Vanessa M. Moscote, 24, also of Alexandria, were reportedly uninjured.

Reagan and his passengers, Adam S. Reagan, 11,

IRS Crackdown Affects Local American Legion

In an apparent attempt to seek out more avenues for revenue, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has investigated area veterans' organizations, including the Oakland American Legion, and has levied possible fines against the non-profit groups for alleged tax infractions. The federal service is also questioning the Legion's association with its auxiliary group as well as the Sons of the American Legion.

Robert Merkle, the Oakland American Legion's finance officer, commented on the issue, stating that he is not overly worried. He explained that the organization was recently audited by the IRS, and that the results were "actually pretty good." He also explained that an audit with some fines is not unusual. He noted that the local organization has nothing to hide.

"Our books are public record. Anyone who wants to look at them may certainly do so," Merkle said. Persons who wish to see the records may make an appointment with either Merkle or Commander Moses Miller. The officer stated that the organization did commit a minor infraction in the past by not providing hired bands with "1099" tax forms.

"We just figured the bands would pay their own taxes, but that was not the

Penelec Voices Opposition To Lake Legislation

After reviewing a proposed piece of legislation drafted to enable property owners of Tax District 18 to purchase Deep Creek Lake, the Pennsylvania Electric Company (Penelec), current owner of the lake bed and buffer strip, has announced that it opposes a legislative solution to the issue.

In a brief comment during a public meeting on the lake buy-out proposal convened last week by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, Penelec attorney Gary Alexander stated that the company is "interested in continuing dialogue" on the issue. However, he added that "we do oppose a legislative solution."

Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association (POA) President Mike Belmonte first publicized the plan to buy the lake bed and buffer strip this fall when he commented on a 16-page draft piece of legislation which would empower the property owners of Garrett County Tax District 18 to elect a board of governors, float bonds, and buy the lake bed and buffer strip, through condemnation proceedings if necessary. The bonds would be retired with revenue from dock fees and an ad valorem tax on property owners in the district.

Belmonte, who has become the spokesperson for the group of POA members and other landowners behind the lake purchase plan, has stressed that the group's goals are to stabilize dock fees, which were recently increased, and to guarantee future access to the lake. He has also made assurances that if the lake is bought, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources will continue to manage lake recreation and the state of Maryland will continue to own the water in the lake.

Following Alexander's comments at last week's meeting, POA attorney Devin Doolan stated that Penelec had not informed him of its opposition to the proposed legislation.

"Gary Alexander . . . for the first time is responsibly telling us . . . that Penelec does not favor a legislative solution. That is the very first time I've heard that," Doolan stated. "And what does that mean? That means they don't favor a solution that ultimately results in local control of the lake. So we may have a communications problem here, and we may have a

Deer Harvest Up 20 Percent Over Last Year

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced that the unofficial two-week firearms deer season harvest totaled 37,899, a 20 percent (6,314) increase over last year.

"Maryland's deer herd is in excellent condition, and hunting provides the necessary controls to the population while providing millions of hours of quality recreation and excellent table fare," Griffin said. "Deer hunting also is a significant economic benefit, generating more than $200 million annually for Maryland's economy."

Weather conditions remained favorable during the entire two weeks which helped contribute to the unofficial firearms harvest increase.

There are about 97,000 licensed firearm deer hunt-

ELCA Bishop George Anderson Pays Visit To Garrett County

Rev. H. George Anderson, recently installed bishop of the 5.5-million member Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, paid a visit to Garrett County two weeks ago as a guest of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod. He attended a one-day conference Dec. 14 at the Will O'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, at which over 60 clergy were present.

Out of the 64 synods nationwide, this was only the second one visited by Bishop Anderson, who plans to visit all 64 "in order to facilitate communication between the bishop's office and local clergy."

The local event was organized by Rev. Alexander Black, bishop of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod. Local clergy in attendance included Pastor Randy Nairn, of the Accident Lutheran Parish; Pastor Fred Simmel, of the Aurora-Red House Parish; Pastor Louise Knotts, of the Bittinger Parish; and Pastor Mike Robinson, of St. Mark's in Oakland, as well as Pastor Richard Seaks, former pastor of St. Mark's and now serving a parish in Waynesboro, Pa. Local Episcopalian pastors in attendance included Father John Grant and Father William "Chip" Lee of St. Matthew's, Oakland, and St. John's, Deer Park.

The theme of Bishop Anderson's address was "Lutheran Identity in an Age of Transition." He related that one of the major challenges facing the Evangelical Lutheran Church is retaining its roots in the gospel as opposed to being rooted in other dynamics, such as language, ethnic heritage, socio-economic groups, lifestyle, etc.

16th Rabies Case Logged In Garrett

A raccoon killed recently in McHenry has become the 16th animal confirmed positive for rabies in Garrett County this year.

A resident of Bumble Bee Road shot and killed the raccoon after it had apparently fought with his dog.

The dog, whose rabies vaccination had expired, was examined by a veterinarian and re-vaccinated for rabies. The dog owner, given the option of either having the pet euthanized or quarantined, opted to quarantine the animal, under a strict double cage procedure, for six months. As a precaution, the owner will receive post-exposure rabies treatment.

"This case reinforces the need to check your pets' vaccination records to make sure they are kept up to date," remarked Resident Sanitarian Walter Haydel of the environmental health section of the Garrett County Health Department. "Cats and dogs need to be re-vaccinated every three years if they have received a rabies shot previously. Vigilance over your pets' vaccination dates will prevent having to sacrifice your pet or subjecting it to a lengthy quarantine in the event of a wild animal rabies exposure.

"The public is also reminded of the importance of not handling their pets for at least two hours after contact with a wild animal," Haydel added. "The rabies virus is transmitted through the saliva of the infected animal and can survive on the fur coat of your pet for up to two hours after a confrontation. Wear protective gloves if you must handle your pet within the first two hours."

Kitzmiller Men Arrested By MSP On Battery Charges

Two Kitzmiller men were lodged in the Garrett County Jail Friday evening after they were arrested on battery charges, according to a report filed with the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

According to a report filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, who responded to the scene of a domestic altercation between Kenneth A. Dawson, 46, and Timothy M. Tichinel, 26, the two were arrested after a fight they were involved in resulted in an attack on Gerald and Louise Dalton, also of Kitzmiller.

Kenneth Dawson was charged with two counts of battery, and Tichinel was charged with one count of battery following the incident. Both men were released from incarceration

Sunday Sales Ban Lifted For New Year's Eve

Despite Garrett County's long-standing law prohibiting the sale of alcohol on Sunday, patrons of local bars and restaurants will be able to ring in 1996 with a Champagne toast on New Year's Eve, Sunday, Dec. 31.

Gary Mullich, director of general services for the county, commented in interview that state law authorizes the Garrett County Liquor Control Board (LCB) to permit local restaurants and bars to serve alcohol on Sunday New Year's Eves. However, package sales of alcohol will remain forbidden.

Bar and tavern patrons will be permitted to buy drinks from 4 p.m. on Dec. 31 to 4 a.m. on Jan. 1, 1996. Restaurants will be free to serve alcohol from 2 p.m. on Dec. 31 to 4 a.m. on New Year's Day.

The three-member Garrett County LCB moved in June to partially waive the Sunday sales restriction for this New Year's Eve. The decision was reaffirmed by the board in November.

Local LCB member Bea Crosco commented this week that past boards have also voted to permit local restaurants and bars to serve alcohol during Sunday New Year's Eves.

New Year's Eve falls on Sunday every seven years.

William Slagle Honored By National Arbor Day Foundation

After planting over one million trees on some 100 acres of ground throughout his lifetime, a Friendsville man has been nationally recognized for this accomplishment.

William Slagle has been named a recipient of The National Arbor Day Foundation's Good Steward Award, and will be a guest of honor at the 24th annual National Arbor Day Awards Banquet and Ceremonies, to be held next April in Nebraska City, Neb. Slagle was nominated for the award by Dr. Gene Garrett, professor of forestry at the University of Missouri.

The National Arbor Day Foundation recognizes individuals and organizations who have made important contributions to tree planting, conservation, and stewardship. The nominee must have shown enthusiasm like J. Sterling Morton, who founded the National Arbor Day Society 124 years ago.

The annual awards program is one of the Foundation's many projects designed to focus public attention on creative solutions to the complex problems facing trees and the environment, and to encourage the planting and management of trees.

"The test of true stewardship is concern for generations to come," stated John Rosenow, president of the National Arbor Day Foundation. "The Foundation's Good Steward Award is given annually to those, such as Bill Slagle, whose outlook and accomplishments meet that test."

Besides coordinating the planting of trees both in Garrett County and in Preston County, Slagle has on many occasions provided opportunity for young people to be involved in the process. High school forestry and vocational agriculture students, as well as members of scouting groups, 4-H clubs, and other organizations are among those who have benefitted from Slagle's efforts over the years, as they learn how to plant trees, the proper care and management of trees, and the appropriate use of forest products.

The awards ceremony in April will be held during a three-day weekend at the

ELCA BISHOP VISITS - Bishop H. George Anderson, head of the 5.5-million member Lutheran Church in America, was a recent visitor to Garrett County, where he was hosted by Rev. Firemen Called To Downtown Oakland Sunday

A Sunday morning fire alarm in downtown Oakland caused considerable anxiety for a short time, as Oakland, Deer Park, and Terra Alta fire fighters were summoned to 101 South Second Street for "a possible" structure fire. The location was that of IC Electronics and several apartments on the north end of the same block that was hit by a major fire less than two years ago.

However, upon their arrival at about 7:20 a.m. fire fighters discovered only light smoke in the second-floor apartments and no fire. After evacuating the apartments and while conducting a thorough search throughout the two-story structure, firemen finally found that the smoke was being caused by a malfunctioning furnace in the IC Electronics location on the first floor.

There was virtually no damage to the property, which is owned by Bradley A. Stewart, Oakland.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade unit, presently being housed at Deep Creek VFD, a unit from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Firemen remained on the scene for just over an hour.

It was in February 1994 that a fire on the south end of the same block destroyed two large buildings and several businesses.

Pre-Sentence Investigations Ordered In Dist. Court For Two Oakland Men

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered by visiting Allegany District Court Judge Timothy Finan for two Oakland men found guilty last week in Garrett County District Court of charges stemming from an apparent ongoing dispute.

Benjamin John Shaffer, 21, who pleaded guilty to three counts of battery, and James R. Freeman, who pleaded not guilty to one count of malicious destruction of property, will be sentenced following the completion of the investigation. A not guilty verdict was handed to Freeman for one count of battery, and Shaffer was not prosecuted on additional charges of assault, malicious destruction of property, and trespassing at a public agency after hours, because of plea agreements with the state's attorney.

According to district court records, the charges against Freeman, filed by Shaffer, stemmed from an altercation that took place in the parking lot at the Treasure Island department store on Sept. 27. The charging statement indicated Freeman parked his truck in front of Shaffer's 1989 Ford Fiesta, and when Shaffer walked over to Freeman's vehicle, the defendant struck him with a pool stick. Shaffer said he tried to grab the stick, and Freeman hit him twice on the back of the head. He further stated that as he attempted to get back into his vehicle, Freeman tried to crush him between the vehicles. Shaffer said Freeman then rammed his car and left.

The charges against Shaffer, filed by Freeman, were filed after an Oct. 22 incident that occurred at Freeman Ambulance Service, Inc., Oakland. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the scene where Shaffer and a co-defendant had reportedly forced their way into the building through a door held shut by Margaret Harvey and Melissa Raines. Once inside, the two beat Freeman, according to the charging statement, and then fled. Raines and Harvey were reportedly knocked to the floor during the incident, and flower pots and a copy machine in the building were damaged.

In other district court news, an Oakland man was sentenced to serve a two-month term in the Garrett County Jail after being found guilty of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

James L. Nicholas, 31, who pleaded not guilty to the offense, was initially sentenced to serve six months in jail, but Judge Finan suspended four months of that term. He also fined Nicholas $550 and placed him on three years of supervised probation. Work release was recommended. An additional charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia, which Nicholas also pleaded not guilty to, earned him a second guilty verdict.

District court records indicate that officers from the Oakland/Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, along with Garrett County sheriff's deputies and Maryland State Police, had executed a search and seizure warrant at the defendant's residence on March 13. Once inside, the officers apparently found a small plastic bag containing marijuana residue and a smoking device in Nicholas's clothing. In the living room of the resident, they found scales, additional plastic bags containing marijuana residue, and marijuana seeds, and in the bedroom three more bags with marijuana residue, resulting in his arrest.

Willie F. Friend, 19, McHenry, received a 90-day suspended sentence in Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett's court last week, after pleading guilty to one count of trespassing (amended from a fourth degree burglary charge). He was fined $200, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation for the offense. An additional fourth degree burglary charge was not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office. Conditions of Friend's probation state he must also complete 40 hours of community service.

Friend was charged with burglary after he reportedly entered the Swanton residence of George Williamson without permission. Court records indicate Friend used a house key that was to be used only when cleaning the house. Friend had been authorized to use the key only once, while he was assisting a cleaning service with window cleaning, but used it on at least one other occasion, on July 16, to enter the home, inviting others to also stop by. Court records stated that a neighbor asked Friend why he was in the home, and the defendant then left. After reporting the incident to the police, the neighbor stated that someone had also been in the home a few days earlier while the owner was away.

One count of battery, filed against Lee M. Blank, 29, Grantsville, was placed on the stet docket. The charge stemmed from an Aug. 20 incident also involving the complainant, Tammy Blank.

Herbert Whitacre, 48, Kitzmiller, pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty of animal cruelty. He was placed on three years of unsupervised probation and ordered to pay $50 in court costs for the offense. Court records indicate the charge was filed on Sept. 11, by Bernadine Friend, who told the court she observed 10 dogs on Whitacre's property that were lacking in sufficient food, water, and shelter. Two of the animals were reportedly chained, without collars, to a building, and one dog's chain was so twisted, Friend said, that it could have strangled if left unattended.

Pamela G. Teter, 39, Oakland, was not prosecuted on one count each of possession of CDS with intent to manufacture, distribute, and dispense, possession of CDS paraphernalia, and possession of CDS, because of a co-defendant's plea in circuit court.

The charges against Teter stemmed from an April 18 investigation by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force that resulted in a search and seizure warrant at her home. The officers reportedly found marijuana and drug paraphernalia in a dresser shared by Teter and the co-defendant.

Charges of petty theft, trespassing, and malicious destruction of property, filed against Robert D. Riley, 44, and Karoline Riley, 46, both of Deer Park, were dismissed in Judge Finan's court. The charges, filed on July 27, by Donald Aronhalt, Mtn. Lake Park, stated that the Rileys had removed a steel gate on Aronhalt's property and put it on their property. They also reportedly cut a section of fence, also on Aronhalt's property, and piled the logs on their property.

DNR CASES

Michael W. Dever, 23, Oakland, paid a $120 fine for possessing a loaded weapon in his vehicle. According to a report filed on Nov. 4, by Department of Natural Resources Officer G. Zimmerman, Dever had a Mossberg 20 gauge pump rifle on his vehicle while on the Snaggy Mountain Road.

Sherman H. Shockey Jr., 45, Mtn. Lake Park, also paid a $120 fine for possessing a loaded weapon in his vehicle. The charge, filed on Nov. 25 by Zimmerman, noted Shockey had a Remington 30.06 semi-automatic rifle in his vehicle on the Steyer Mine Road.

DWI CASES

Numerous DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard during the past month in Garrett County District Court.

Gerri Jondina Powell, 38, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DWI. She was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $550 (also suspended), and placed on two years of supervised probation. Conditions of Powell's probation state she must complete 100 hours of community service, continue with her addictions counseling, and not drive any motor vehicle. She was arrested for the offense on Oct. 28, by Maryland State Police (MSP).

Cathy Jane Gray, 36, pleaded guilty to DUI. Sentencing will be at a later date. Her arrest by state police was on May 27.

Samuel Junior Hochard, 30, Pa., was convicted of one count of DUI. He was fined $150, sentenced to 60 days in jail, with all of the sentence suspended except for 30 days, and placed on two years of supervised probation upon his release from incarceration. He was also ordered to complete 30 hours of community service, and attend a six-month alcohol treatment program with the local health department. Hochard was charged with DWI on June 3.

Garrett Transit Van Overturns On I-68; Five Injured

Five Oakland residents were transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va., last Thursday morning following a single vehicle accident in the westbound lane of Interstate 68, near Bruceton Mills, W.Va.

According to a report filed with the Preston County Sheriff's Department in Kingwood, W.Va., a 1991 Garrett Transit Service (GTS) van, operated by Dale H. Davis, 57, slid onto the median and overturned, after he lost control of the vehicle on the icy roadway.

Four passengers in the van, Paul Wilson, 60, Eleanor Wilson, 51, Alice Friend, 55, and Tammy Gato, 27, along with Davis, were all reportedly treated and released from the hospital following the accident.

No charges were filed in the accident, according to the responding officer, Deputy Cindy McCrobie. Volunteers from Bruceton Ambulance Service and Monongalia County (W.Va.) Ambulance Service transported the injured to the hospital.

We Are the Losers...

While the furlough of federal government workers does not seem to be having a serious affect on most of us here in Garrett County, in our minds it epitomizes the inefficiency and dysfunctional nature of our elected governing bodies, namely Congress and the president.

These furloughed workers essentially are receiving a paid vacation, for while they are being shorted financially right at the moment, they will most likely get every dime that is owed them, at least according to congressional leaders. So really, what is the point of it all?

Meanwhile, the day-to-day work of these employees is simply not getting done. We, the taxpayers, are receiving absolutely nothing in the way of services from these furloughed workers while they are sitting at home, and yet we will still have to pay their salaries.

In defense of the furloughed employees, it certainly is not their fault that their jobs have been suspended. While they are essentially receiving what amounts to a rather lengthy paid vacation, for many of them the work is simply piling up and they are going to be swamped when they finally get back to their desks. To their credit, most of them would prefer to be working right now.

So the game playing between our elected officials continues, and we know that every game has a winner and a loser. Unlike most games, however, the loser in this case is not usually one of the participants, but the average citizen, who is not participating in the game and was never even asked if he wanted to play. We can only hope that what appears to be nothing more than another expensive exercise in futility by our "leaders" will ultimately result in an efficient, balanced federal budget.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters (LWV) continues to seize opportunities to increase voter participation with information to the public.

An earlier-than-usual deadline for changing your party affiliation was December 11, 1995. Voter registration deadline for the March 5 Primary Election is February 5, 1996.

It has been brought to my attention that while there is a Governor's Task Force to Review Maryland's Election Laws, SABEL (the State Administrative Board of Election Laws) plans strict enforcement of existing laws for the March 5, 1996, Primary. Among those are: (1) an application for an absentee ballot must be accompanied by a signed statement of why you are unable to go to the polls to vote, and (2) if you have changed your address within your county (or within Baltimore City) prior to four weeks before the election and have failed to notify the Elections Office, you will not be eligible to vote. It is illegal to go back to your old polling place to vote.

Virginia Grove
Local LWV President

To the Editor:

Thank you for responding to my questions in a previous letter.

In response to your response: One would not expect a newspaper to obtain its information via a crystal ball and in fact in this conservative county if you did someone would quickly inform you that only those who are involved in the occult use crystal balls to gain knowledge and I venture to guess sales would drop dramatically!

Whatever happened to the eager reporter who would go to any lengths to obtain the "SCOOP" that would appear in the next edition with banner headlines? May I suggest that a reporter be assigned to call on Mettiki on a weekly basis requesting news of interest for the general public so that readers might be timely informed.

In regard to the families who are suffering from losses that occurred as a direct result of alcohol/drug related actions I send my deepest sympathies. Nothing can replace that life but forgiveness plays a major role in healing the hearts that are grieving and during this holiday season of giving the gift of forgiveness can be the greatest gift one could give to another and to oneself!

I agree that if the threat of humiliation would prevent even just one addict from driving while under the influence then the court reporting may be beneficial. Unfortunately, alcoholics/addicts rarely see the light until disaster strikes and even then the denial system at work leaves many in the dark.

May I suggest that you include a health related article each week which would address different aspects of the disease of addiction and the various avenues of treatment that are available to anyone/everyone who comes to recognize and accept that their drinking/drug use is destroying their lives and very possibly a threat to others.

Like any disease, addiction has several stages. If your articles could help even one individual recognize that they have become a victim of the disease at an early stage, be willing to ask for help, and know where to go for help then perhaps we could celebrate with them as they recover becoming healthy and productive members of our community.

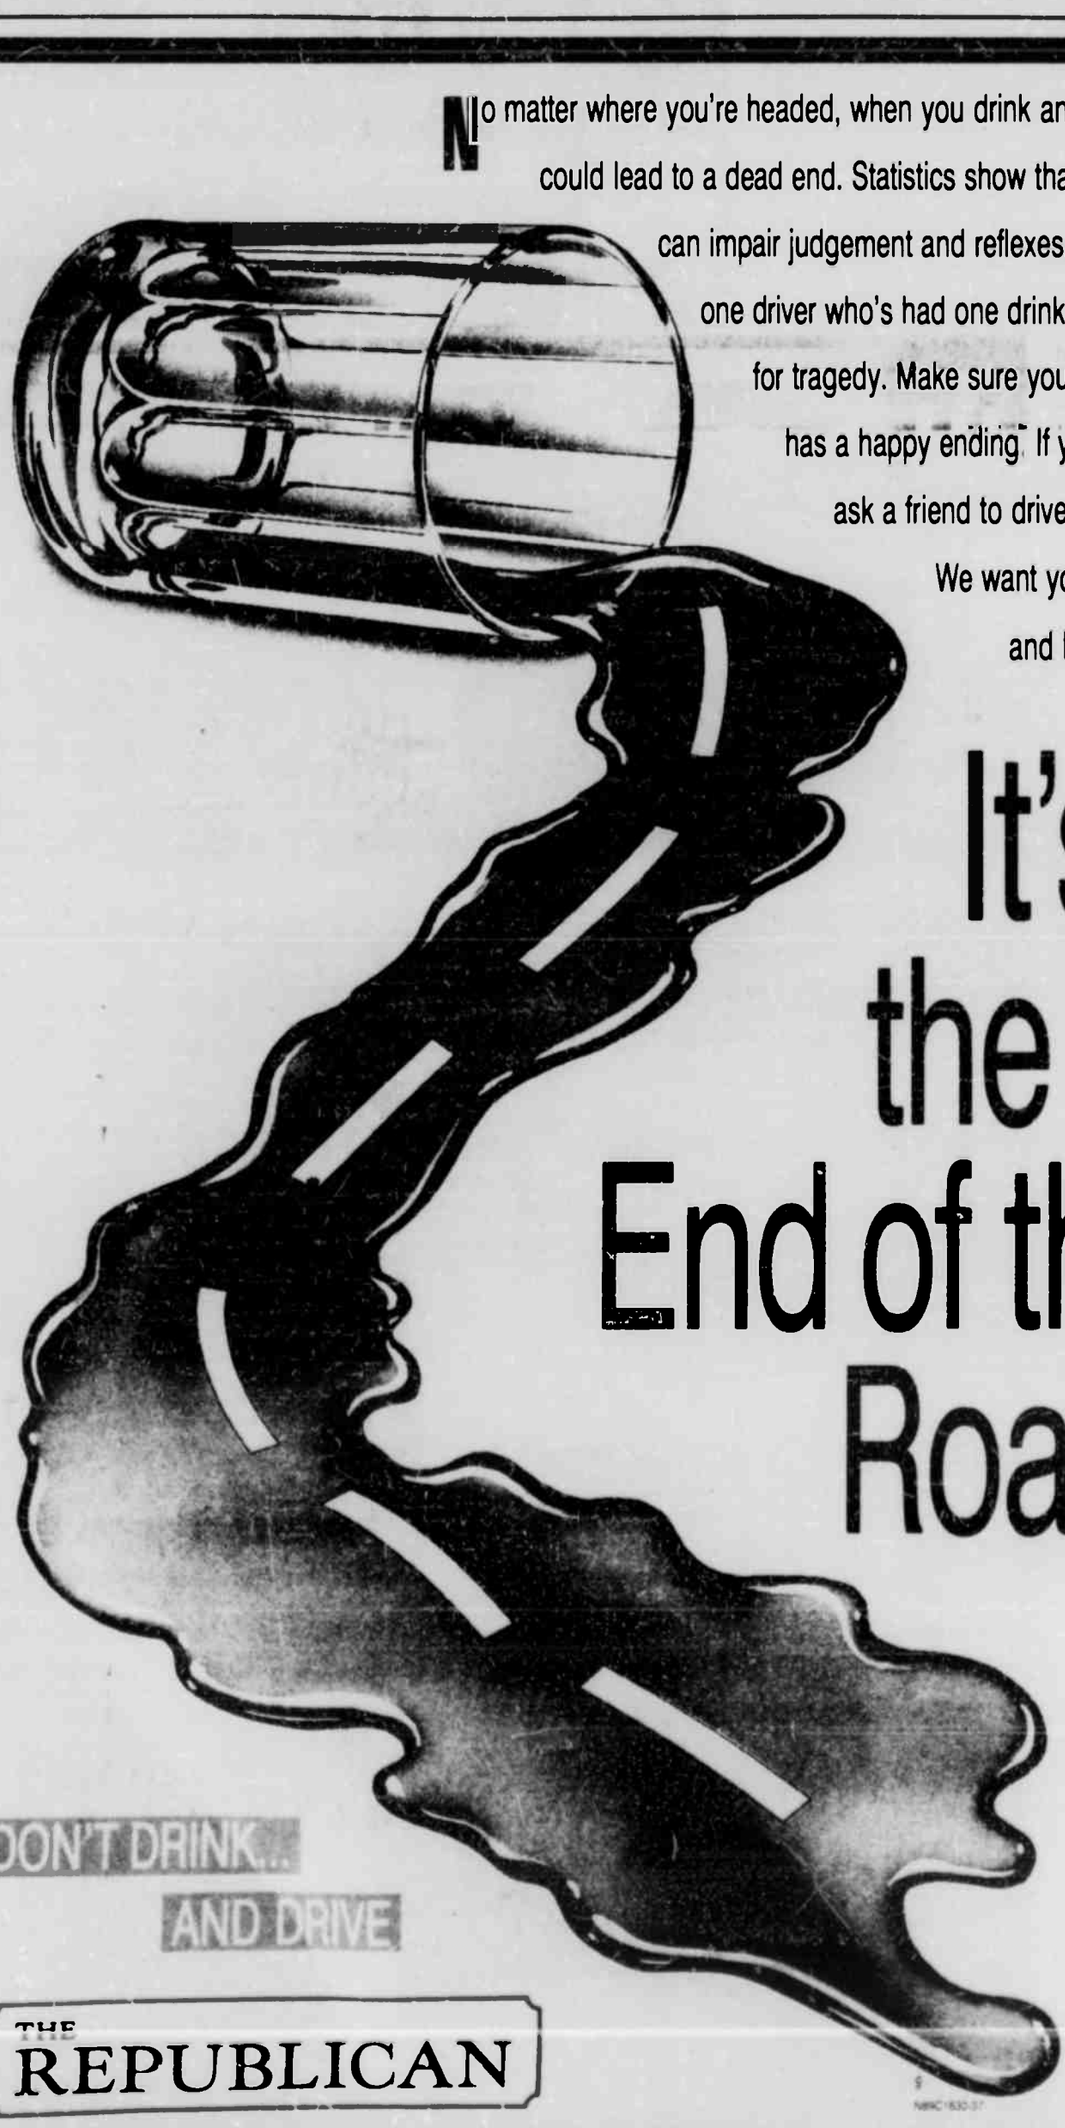
To the Editor:



Jolly old St. Nicholas doesn't fit our mood this year!

We are sobered as we reflect that 2000 years after the birth of the Prince of Peace into an armed camp, the Roman Empire, we have recorded history of the advent of the atomic bomb, and the assassination of the Jewish leader, Yetzied Rabin. As I write, American and other NATO troops are enroute to Bosnia, with orders to enforce a fragile peace agreement between

No matter where you're headed, when you drink and drive any road could lead to a dead end. Statistics show that even one drink can impair judgement and reflexes, so all it takes is one driver who's had one drink to set the scene for tragedy. Make sure your holiday season has a happy ending. If you plan to drink, ask a friend to drive.

We want you to have a safe and happy New Year.

View From My Window

DECEMBER 28 -- THE HOLY INNOCENTS

During my sophomore year in college, I roomed with an elderly and crippled lady, widow of a professor. The deal was that I got a free room and she got a responsible person living in the house.

She did not decorate for Christmas whatsoever, and listened to no music of the season, and turned the channel of her television when any Christmas thing intruded into her home from it. I don't recall whether I asked her about this or if she volunteered the reason for her silence.

The Christmas after her husband died she was in a department store when she had been completely overcome at the jaunty cadences of canned Christmas music. She broke into tears, fled the store, and resolved never to keep Christmas again. The pain of Christmas was just too much for her.

Last week I remembered my landlady of 22 years ago as news of three deaths came to me. Two of them I addressed as a pastor and one as friend of the family. They were in their individual circumstances as different as three deaths could be: in the first flower of youth, in the gentle twilight of life, and in old age. On hearing the news of each death I felt that pain had crept back into Christmas.

I say crept back into Christmas because there was pain in the first Christmas. There was the practical pain of giving birth in a stable which was, in turn, an expression of poverty. There was the cloud of illegitimacy which had hung over Mary and her child. There was the brutal, physical pain of Herod's attempt on the life of Jesus and his consequent slaughter of the Holy Innocents.

We do our best to deny the violence of Herod's incursion into Christmas. The manger scenes in our homes and churches are sanitized. There is no manure in them. Our Christmas pageants are tender and sometimes amusing, but rarely do they give us a sense of the original birth scene.

Only once have I ever been behind the doors at the labor hall. I was aghast at the amount of blood, at the cries of pain. That was in sterile conditions. In my mind I transfer the mother treading the floor, back and forth -- gasping for air -- to a stable where travellers came and went seeing about their animals, where someone was milking sheep, goats, or cattle, where someone else was butchering a creature to be roasted for those fortunate enough to have found a place within the inn. Amongst such circumstances was born the savior of the world.

Whenever we sing "Away in the Manger" at my church, I direct the congregation to omit the stanza which says "But little Lord Jesus, no crying He makes." To understand Christmas you have to know, that baby cried.

The domestic squabble, the children flipping out, the frayed nerves, the sorrowful remembering of a loved one whose place is empty at our Christmas gatherings -- all these things -- belong to Christmas. It is Herod's sword unsheathed again.

I am all for the joy and beauty of Christmas. There has to be a word, however, for those who in the aftermath of festivity are broken-hearted, for whom the proclamation of joy was but a cloak to a sword by which God wounded them. That word says, broken hearts too are part of the story. "In Rama, was there a voice heard, lamentation and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not."

Today, December 28, is set in the calendar of the church to remember those babies whom Herod had killed. It is a day to tell all who sorrow (and who of us does not?) even the violence which the world works upon us has meaning and purpose. Even that is gathered into the birth of Christ.

There was manure in the stable. The baby did cry. Someone tried to kill him. There was pain in Christmas, and there still is.

JUVENILES CHARGED

Two juveniles at the Salem Trust Youth Center, Grantsville, were each charged with two counts of assault after an apparent attack on their house parents on Christmas day.

Tfc. G.S. Becker reportedly responded to the 6:30 p.m. disturbance at the center, and learned Darrell E. and Loretta S. Rankin had been assaulted by the youths.

CHARGED WITH CREDIT CARD THEFT

Three Frostburg State University students were arrested recently and charged with theft, after they reportedly stole credit cards from two Garrett County residents.

The three apparently took the cards from the victims' purses that had been left in vehicles parked at a residence in Grantsville. They then used the stolen cards to purchase more than $800 worth of stereo equipment, posters, and food at establishments in Allegany County.

When apprehended, Vanella was also found to be in possession of suspected marijuana, and was subsequently charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

Pressley is currently being held in the Garrett County jail on $10,000 bond.

Area Businesses Team To Provide Food For Needy

The Oakland Food Lion, along with 12 other area businesses, teamed up recently to help Garrett County Food Resources provide food for needy Garrett County families.

Garrett County Food Resources (GCFR), implemented by Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., Community and Emergency (C&E) Services Department, serves 804 low income families throughout the county through a Self Help Pantry, provides food for two area food pantries, and provides crisis intervention to low income families in immediate need of assistance.

According to a C&E Services staff member, three days in October were set aside by Food Lion as fundraiser days for GCFR in a "Community Way Days" project. During that time, staff members, volunteers, and members of GCFR shopped at Food Lion up to two times each. Food Lion, in return, gave GCFR 5 percent of the total sales of all GCFR shoppers during that time period.

"In order to draw additional attention to the project, we decided to set up the event as a contest," said C&E Services Director Linda Green. "So, we contacted several other area businesses and asked for help with the project. Those businesses gave generous gift donations which we used as prizes."

Other participating businesses included Bausch & Lomb, Goehringer's Restaurant, Little Sandy's Restaurant, McDonald's, Subway, Fox's Pizza Den, High Mountain Sports, Sugar & Spice Bakery, Denny's Restaurant, Big T Burger, and Oak-Mar Restaurant.

Top prize winner in the contest was Elizabeth Hebb, grand prize, who purchased more than $700 in groceries during the three-day event. She won one pair of Ray-Ban sunglasses, dinner for two at Goehringer's Restaurant, dinner for two at Little Sandy's Restaurant, dinner at McDonald's, four six-inch sandwiches from Subway, one large pizza from Fox's Pizza Den, a two-hour bike rental from High Mountain Sports, a six-pack of Pepsi, a gift certificate from Sugar & Spice Bakery, and two bags filled with groceries.

Other top winners were Tammy Secrist, first prize; Roselie Mellott, second prize; and Sandra Crosby, third prize.

"We feel the event went very well," said C&E Services staff member Ethel Cassell. "We were able to raise enough money to purchase more than 983 pounds of food for GCFR during the three days."

"Father Damien" To Speak Jan. 8 At St. Peter's

Five years ago Charles D. Baker "had absolutely no idea" who Father Damien was. Yet since 1988, Baker has performed all over the country the role of the 19th century Belgian missionary to Hawaii who devoted his life to those afflicted with Hansen's Disease, commonly known as leprosy.

Baker will bring his one-man dramatic presentation to St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland on Sunday, January 7, for a 2 p.m. performance, according to Lynn Broderick, director of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry.

Baker was an Episcopalian until his father-in-law convinced him to travel to Medjugorje, site of reported apparitions of the Blessed Mother, in 1988. That trip began his journey into the Catholic faith and into a new career devoted to teaching others about holy men.

He had graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in 1971, but was unsuccessful in breaking into the theater in New York. After his trip to Medjugorje, he began playing the role of Father Damien, born Joseph De Veuster.

Baker, as Father Damien, recalls certain events in his apostolate among the lepers. From his horror at their forced exile by the government, to his shock at the conditions and anarchy in the leper colony, to his distress that they must die without the sacraments because they have no priests, Baker draws the audience into Father Damien's decision to live among the lepers and minister to them.

The actor portrays the priest's daily struggles: adapting to the horrific appearance and putrid smells of the affected bodies; pleading with the board of health to provide needed care and supplies; dealing with gossip impugning his motives; accepting his own physical and spiritual isolation; and finally, coping with leprosy himself, before dying at the age of 49.

Baker also performs I, Paul, on the life of St. Paul, and The Last Canticle of St. Francis (of Assisi). His productions are suitable for persons from fourth grade through adult.

The Ecumenical Youth Ministry is sponsored by St. Peter's Catholic Church, St. Mark's Lutheran Church, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, and St. Matthew's-St. John's Episcopal churches; however, all are invited to the January 7 performance, regardless of church membership.

Wildlife Feeding Tips Offered By Maryland DNR

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) suggests persons "bring their wildest guests home for the holidays" this year by trimming a tree just for them.

"Decorating outdoor trees with bird treats is a holiday activity that's festive fun for the entire family," said Dana Limpert, Habitat Program biologist with the MDNR Wild Acres program. Wild Acres provides information to homeowners on how to create habitat for wildlife right in their own backyards.

"Any tree or shrub will make a fine holiday tree for birds, but evergreen trees and shrubs provide added shelter from winter winds," Limpert said. "You can start by draping tree branches with popcorn and cranberry garlands that you made for your indoor Christmas tree. You can also make other garlands strung with raisins and other chunks of dried fruits and peanuts in-the-shell."

An easy project for children is to make peanut butter and jelly pine cones or orange treat cups, Limpert added. "And for those of you who enjoy baking, you can make special cranberry hasty pudding cakes (recipe to follow)."

Traditional Christmas greens such as holly, cedar, and bayberry produce berries that last into winter are eaten by many birds, including bluebirds. "Plant these trees and shrubs in your yard and the plants will decorate themselves with bird treats," Limpert said.

Persons interested in learning more about feeding wild birds and attracting wildlife to their backyards may call the Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Division at 410-974-3195 and ask for a Wild Acres packet. The packet is full of ideas on how to turn a yard into a haven for wildlife, including how to build nest boxes and what flowers attract butterflies and hummingbirds.

Included with the packet is an application to certify backyards and other open spaces in the program. Wild Acres participants receive a certificate and the quarterly newsletter, Habichat.

Wild Acres is funded by donations to the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Fund.

RECIPES FOR WILD BIRD TREATS

PB&J Pine Cones

Pine cones
String or yarn
Peanut butter
Jelly

Tie string or yarn to tops of pine cones for hanging. Divide the pine cones into two piles. Smear globs of peanut butter on pine cones on one pile, and jelly (apple and grape are best) on the other. Hang on tree.

Orange Treat Cups

Oranges, grapefruit and/or coconuts
Chopped nutmeats (peanuts, black walnuts, pecans, almonds, coconut, etc.)
Fresh fruit, fruit cocktail or dried fruit
Black oil sunflower seeds

Cut oranges, grapefruit or coconuts in half to serve as the treat cup. Scoop out insides and reserve. Poke three holes near the top for the string to serve as a hanger. Fill one cup with nutmeat mixture. Fill a second cup with fruit mixture; Fill a third with sunflower seeds. Repeat as necessary and hang.

Cranberry Hasty Pudding Cakes

2 to 2-1/2 c. chopped or ground fresh suet
1/2 c. sunflower or other salad oil
1 c. white or brown sugar
2 c. yellow corn meal
3 c. water
2 c. cranberries
1 c. peanut hearts or nutmeats
1-1/2 c. crumbled dog biscuits.

In a big pot, combine all ingredients in order listed, except dog biscuits, and mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thick (about 5 minutes). Remove from heat and stir in dog biscuits. Mold into cakes. Chill. Place chilled cakes in onion bags and hang from sturdy branches.

Two Collisions Linked To Icy, Snowy Roadways

Icy road conditions were blamed for two recent automobile collisions on local roads. Injuries were reported in both accidents.

Baltimore resident Farideth Asghari was driving north on Rock Lodge Road in a 1989 Toyota Camry on Saturday afternoon when his vehicle began to skid on the icy roadway, Garrett County Sheriff's Office [GCSO] records indicate.

The Asghari vehicle skidded approximately 150 feet before it struck a 1994 Chevrolet Suburban, owned by Silver Spring resident Mark A. Mazer, which was parked on the north-bound side of the road, the police report said.

Asghari was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad and was treated and released.

In another mishap, Mt. Storm, W.Va., resident Corbert H. Parrish was traveling north on Wilson Corona Road when his 1981 Ford F-150 truck apparently began sliding on the snow covered roadway. Karl A. Hamrick, Mtn. Lake Park, was traveling south on the same road in a 1978 Chevrolet and also reportedly began to slide before his car and the Parrish truck collided.

According to a GCSO report, "The road was icy and snow-covered [at the time of the wreck.]"

Mona E. Parrish, a passenger in the Parrish truck, and Hamrick were both transported to Garrett Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad and were treated and released.

No citations were issued in either incident.

case. It was a mistake on our part," Merkle said. The group has since sent the proper forms to nearly all the bands that have performed at the Legion in the past year, thereby correcting the infraction. Some fines may still be charged to the group for the error, however.

"It used to be that an infraction like that would bring a reprimand or maybe a $50 fine, but now it's much more severe. We will have to be more careful from now on," he said.

The other issue being probed by the IRS is not only affecting the local Legion, but all American Legion groups. The federal agency is contending that the Legion's auxiliary organization, which Merkle said is a separate nationally chartered non-profit group, should not be a part of the Legion's activities. A veterans' group qualifies for tax-exempt status only if 75% of its users are members of the sponsoring organization, and until now, the auxiliary members were included in that number. The IRS is maintaining that the auxiliary group should be completely separate. If this stance wins out, the Legion may lose its tax-exempt non-profit status for lack of member-users. Merkle said the national American Legion may go to court over this issue.

He also explained that the IRS has alleged that the group has not reported the appropriate dollar amount received in tips to hired help. The federal agency wants to take the national average tip amount of 15% and figure that as the tips received by the Legion bartenders, and then tax the group on that amount.

"Our folks don't get tips like that," Merkle said.

The American Legion is only one target of the IRS in past months, as other service organizations have faced similar investigations and charges. Merkle said the group is working to comply with the IRS orders.

Huskies End Losing Skid By Crushing Berlin, 85-45

The Northern High School varsity boys recorded their first win and ended a losing streak at five games Friday evening by crushing Berlin, Pa., 85-45, in their own Christmas Tournament. The win allowed the Huskies to advance to the championship game of the tourney Saturday evening, which they lost to unbeaten Salisbury, 62-55.

Scott Sisler and Mark Hinebaugh paced Northern's balanced scoring effort against Berlin with 16 and 13 points, respectively, while Zach Leverenz, Nathan Long, and Andy Brenneman each finished with 10.

The Huskies took control of the contest early and were never seriously threatened, as they held a 20-6 advantage by the end of the first quarter. Each team doubled its score in the second quarter and the Huskies were up 40-12 at halftime. They went into the final stanza with a 54-29 lead.

Dan Speicher paced Berlin with 12 points.

Recording four steals, seven assists, and six points for the Huskies was Joey Layman.

R.C. Deer of Salisbury, who also excels in soccer, led all scorers Saturday night, as he netted 23 points and paced the Elks to their eighth straight win of the season without a loss. Teammate Jason Benning finished with 17 points and Rob Bates scored 13.

The Huskies trailed most of the second half, but tied the score at 55-55 late in the final period. Then the Elks took advantage of Northern's foul trouble and scored the final seven points of the game to record the win.

The Huskies trailed 14-8 at the end of the first quarter, took a 24-22 lead by the end of the first half, and were down by six, 44-38, after three periods.

The Huskies out-gunned the Elks from the floor by a 24-21 margin, but Salisbury made good on 20 of 35 free throws, while Northern connected on seven of 14.

Leading the Huskies' offensive effort were Leverenz with 12 points and Brenneman with 11. Both ultimately fouled out of the contest.

In the consolation game, Berlin stopped Elk Garden (1-3), 71-61.

Named to the All-Tournament team were Deer, Benning, and Bates of Salisbury, Leverenz and Brenneman of Northern, Zac Ickes and John McQuade of Berlin, and Jason Shillingburg of Elk Garden. Deer led all players in scoring with a two-game total of 42 points.

In a game prior to the consolation contest, the Allegany freshman defeated the Northern freshman team, 56-35. Jeff Kamp scored a game-high 13 points for the Huskies.

The Northern varsity will play again next Tuesday at Flintstone.

Adams Free Throw Propels Rams Past Mountaineers

A free throw by Ryan Adams with 12 seconds left in the game broke a 51-51 tie and led to a 53-51 victory by the Southern High School boys' varsity over visiting Beall. It was the second win in four starts for the Rams and the second win against no losses in Western Maryland Scholastic League competition.

The Rams held the lead throughout most of the game against Beall, but the Mountaineers chipped away at the Southern advantage and finally led by one point late in the game.

It was a foul shot by Beall's Will Aylor that knotted the contest at 51 apiece. After he missed his second shot, the Rams pulled down the rebound, hustled downcourt, and Adams drew a foul on his lay-up attempt. He missed his first attempt, but hit the second one.

A long pass down the floor went over the head of the intended Beall "receiver" and out of bounds, giving possession back to the Rams. Jason Hamrick was immediately fouled and went to the line for two shots with just two seconds left on the clock. Hamrick missed his first throw and, in order to make sure Beall had another opportunity to take the ball out and possibly get a shot away, The Mountaineer coaching staff instructed its players to commit lane violations until Hamrick connected, which he did after just one violation.

A desperation shot by Beall's Chris Young from halfcourt at the buzzer went wide of the hoop.

Bizzy Tasker led the Rams in scoring with a 19 points, while Matt Ruff finished with 15 points and seven rebounds. Hamrick was credited with six assists and was complimented by Coach Tom Bosley for playing "his best floor game of the season."

Ryan Raley led Beall's offense, also finishing with 19 points. Young scored 12 points and Chris Patterson recorded 11 points and six rebounds.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious in the preliminary game, topping the Beall jayvees, 44-25. Josh Helbig and Chris Ewing led Southern (2-2) with 11 and 10 points, respectively, while Todd Merbaugh paced the Mountaineers with nine points.

The Rams resumed competition last night in their own 20th Annual Snowball Classic, which will be concluded this evening. (See separate story for last night's results.)

Rams Earn Spot In Classic Finals By Mashing Waynesburg

The boys' varsity of Southern High School took the first step last night in successfully defending its Brownings Foodland Snowball Classic title by crushing Waynesburg, 79-55, in the second game of the tournament, which is hosted by the Rams.

Coach Tom Bosley's team, which recorded its third straight win after two losses, will meet Preston County this evening in the championship game, which will be preceded by the consolation contest featuring Waynesburg and Beall. Preston edged Beall, 59-54, in last night's other opening round.

Matt Ruff paced a balanced offensive effort by the Rams against Waynesburg, as he recorded 20 points, while Jason Sweitzer netted 15, Jim Pamepinto scored 12, and Scott Shahan finished with 11. Nine of Sweitzer's points were via three-point shots.

Biz Tasker grabbed a game-high nine rebounds for Southern and Sweitzer also had five assists.

The Rams held a 22-12 advantage at the end of the first quarter, were up 38-29 at halftime, and held a commanding 59-34 lead after three periods.

Jeremy Smith paced Waynesburg and all scorers with 22 points and Jason Smith finished with 12.

It was the best offensive effort of the season for the Rams, who recorded 31 field goals.

The consolation game between Beall and Waynesburg will tip off at 6:30 p.m. this evening and the title game will get underway at 8:15.

In Preston's win over Beall, Danny Wiles scored 18 points and Kyle Metheny and Mike Mercure each netted 14 for the Knights (2-0). Chris Young and Ryan Raley paced the Mountaineers with 17 and 10 points, respectively.

After tonight's finale, the Rams will not play again until next Tuesday at home against Keyser.

Bishop Visits

Another challenge facing the ELCA, he said, is the communication of its mission and ministry to congregations at the local level. While he identified a number of other concerns for the future, both for the ELCA and other denominations in America, his outlook for the future is positive.

Anderson, who was installed ELCA bishop in November, is a former professor of church history at Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary in Columbia, S.C., where he was later appointed president. Leaving that institution in 1982, Anderson was appointed president of Luther College in Decora, Iowa. He now resides in Chicago, which is also home to the national headquarters of the ELCA.

STRIKES GUARDRAIL

A Chevy Chase woman was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital Saturday afternoon, following a single vehicle accident on Interstate 68, near the West Virginia state line.

Eleanor D. Monte, 23, was injured after she lost control of her 1991 Chevrolet Lumina on the icy roadway, causing the vehicle to travel off the north shoulder, through the median and guardrail, and came to rest against the center median guardrail.

Volunteers from Northern Garrett Rescue Squad also responded to the 3:45 p.m. accident.

VEHICLE OVERTURNS

An Annapolis man was reportedly injured after his vehicle overturned Monday on I-68.

State police said Jinzhong Go was traveling west on the interstate when he lost control of his 1995 Saturn on the snowy roadway, causing the vehicle to overturn.

Go reportedly refused treatment following the mishap, police said.

DRIVER INJURED

An Oakton, Va., woman was injured in a single-vehicle accident Wednesday afternoon on the Glendale Road.

State police said Patricia Spencer, 49, lost control of her vehicle on the icy roadway, causing the vehicle to run off the road and through a fence, where it struck a tree.

She was treated at Garrett Memorial Hospital following the 4:45 p.m. accident.

Northern Girls Even Record With Win Over No. Hagerstown

The Northern High girls' varsity evened its season mark at 2-2 last night by flattening North Hagerstown, 59-30, in the opening round of the Williamsport Christmas Classic.

The win gave the Huskies a spot in the tournament finals that will be played this evening at 7:30 p.m. North Hagerstown will meet Boonsboro in the consolation game at 6:15.

Mindy McCarty, a 5-9 junior guard for Coach Harv Speicher, led the Huskies in their win over North Hagerstown by scoring 25 points, grabbing a game-high eight rebounds, and recording nine steals. Kristin Heslop also reached double figures with 17 points.

The Huskies were never seriously threatened in the contest, as they built a 14-8 lead by the end of the first quarter, led 34-18 at halftime, and were up 50-26 after three quarters.

North Hagerstown was led in scoring by Jenny Hornbarger and Tia Ferguson, who each netted six points.

Southern Girls Advance In Tournament, Remain Unbeaten

The undefeated and top-ranked Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team upped its record to 6-0 yesterday with a 56-43 win over Glen Burnie in an opening game of the Capital City Classic at Annapolis High School.

The Rams, coached by Don Stemple, will meet the winner of the Joppatowne/-Annapolis contest today at 4 p.m.

Emily Friend and Alisa Rugg scored 14 and 12 points, respectively, for the Rams, who held an 11-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, were up 26-14 at halftime, and led 37-24 after three periods.

Friend also pulled down 10 rebounds, while Rugg grabbed a game-high 13 boards and also had seven steals. Angela Shafer added seven points and five assists.

Leading Glen Burnie in scoring was Valissa Perez, who finished with 11 points and was the only player on that team to reach double figures. Sara Meredith added nine points.

While Coach Stemple was pleased that his team won the game, he was somewhat disappointed in the Rams' shooting. "We simply can't keep missing so many easy shots and expect to keep winning," he said, "especially as the competition gets tougher in the tournament."

TREE PLANTING is something that Bill Slagle of Friendsville not only does very well, but has done a lot of over the past five decades, and for his many years of effort and dedication, he has been named the 1995 winner of the National Arbor Day Foundation's Good Steward Award. Slagle, who is pictured second from left above, will be among the guests of honor at the Foundation's annual awards ceremony in Nebraska next April. Also pictured above are Slagle's son Brian, left, and Preston County residents Hugh and Paige Dopson, who have assisted Slagle in his planting projects. Above right, Brian Slagle and Friendsville Rotary Club president Harry Savage pose in one of the fields that was planted by Slagle. The Rotary Club members have also assisted Slagle for the past several years. Below right, local high school students are taught by Slagle how to prepare raised beds for growing ginseng, another of Slagle's conservation projects. See story.

Slagle Honored

Arbor Day Conference Center in Nebraska City, at which Slagle will participate in a series of special events and programs.

Slagle said that he believed his selection for the honor was not all his doing, and he wants to share the award with numerous others with whom he has worked over the years. These include: Mike Kozier and staff of the USDA Office; Jim Simms, of the local Maryland Soil Conservation office; Ernie Metz, forester, and other Department of Natural Resources staff persons; the Friendsville Rotary Club members; personnel from the West Virginia University Forestry Service; Leon Wilson, consulting forester from Parkersburg, W.Va.; the West Virginia Conservation Service staff; The American Tree Farm Association; the Division of Forestry in Charleston, W.Va.; the White Rock Recreation Corporation, Friendsville; Sisler Lumber Co., Mtn. Lake Park; various newspapers and magazines that have covered his tree-planting projects; and the members of his family, "especially my grandson Russell William Slagle, who has supported and assisted me with the planting and care of the trees."

Slagle, who has also been named the Tree Farmer of the Year for Maryland, plans to continue his tree planting and conservation efforts.

"Besides continuing with my old projects and planting more trees, I started a project this year with black perigord truffles using European filberts inoculated with Tuber-Melanosporum," he said. "This should produce the black truffle in about four years.

"I'm working with the Douglas fir tree and the white Piedmont truffle, plus I plan to continue to manage the forest-use logs for food production," he said.

Slagle said he also plans to work with the Friendsville Rotary Club on some Arbor Day events that will include presentations and tours involving local school students.

"If everyone is aware of the environment and considers it important, our resources can be used and we will continue to survive," Slagle said.

MARYLAND FORESTS

by Patrice Jastrzembski

Many species of wildlife depend on dead trees. Dead trees in a forest are called snags or den trees.

Snags make ideal homes for many species of wildlife. Woodpeckers, chickadees, tufted titmice, and eastern bluebirds are a few types of birds that nest in dead tree cavities. These birds can excavate a hole in a decaying tree with their beaks if they are not lucky enough to find a cavity to move into. Other birds use the branches of a dead tree as perches and to support nests.

Mammals, such as raccoons and grey squirrels also use snags as homes. Bats use areas under loose bark for roosting.

Insects chew through the decaying wood of a snag creating tunnels and chambers. Moths and ladybird beetles, and many species of reptiles and amphibians, hide under the bark of a dead tree.

Fungi, mosses, and lichens commonly grow in the decaying wood of a snag. With so many animals and plants living on and in a dead tree, many other animals frequently come to the tree to feed.

Forest landowners interested in enhancing wildlife habitat should consider retaining snags in their woodlot. Many forest management plans recommend that a woodlot have a certain number of dead trees present for wildlife homes.

Wildlife managers suggest that each acre of forest have 10-20 small snags and two-five large snags. A large snag is a dead tree with a diameter greater than 12 inches. When a woodlot is thinned or harvested, all live trees with cavities and dead trees should be left standing if possible. Trees that are hazards to homes or trails should be cut down.

The types of animals that use a snag are dependent upon the type and age of the forest. For example, a northern flicker will use a snag in a young forest, while a pileated woodpecker needs a mature forest.

The snag itself will be appealing to different life forms at different stages in its decline and eventual decay. Even once a tree is dead, it continues to change. First a dead tree's bark loosens and falls off. Then the trunk begins to break apart. Once the trunk falls to the ground it gradually decomposes. Ultimately, all that remains of a tree is a stump.

Landowners may create snags by girdling trees. Girdling a tree cuts off the flow of nutrients from the roots to the crown and kills the tree. To girdle a tree you must cut a complete ring around the tree through the bark and at least two inches into the sapwood. To kill a tree that is quite large or has deeply furrowed bark may require two cuts, six to eight inches apart. The bark is then stripped off between the cuts. Once girdled, it may take a couple years until a tree is completely dead.

Managing a woodlot for wildlife is compatible with timber harvesting. Forests that have been recently thinned and logged typically support a greater variety of wildlife than those that have not. Retaining snags and girdling trees is a procedure that is easily accomplished when carrying out other forest management procedures. The time it takes to enhance and create valuable wildlife habitat is well worth the effort.

Home Tips

MAGAZINE STORAGE — I like to save my old magazines so I can look at them again. I used to have no place to put them, so I cut old cereal boxes in half diagonally.

This way, my magazines stay organized and I have a place to put them. Tammy H., Fayetteville, N.C.

ON TIME — My best tip for getting out of the house quickly in the morning is to keep my mind strictly on getting ready and never try to work in extra bits of housework. It will always make me late. Sarah J., Monrovia, Md.

SHOWER-CURTAIN RE-USE — Here is a tip for recycling old shower curtains. If you live in an area that gets frost early in the fall but your flowers or gardens are still producing, shower curtains make good covers to keep the frost off you plants.

Also, since they can fold up to be very compact, it is good to keep one in the trunk of your car. If you have a flat tire or car problems, you can spread it on the ground to keep your clothes clean in case you have to kneel on the ground or crawl under your car. Edith F., Rochester, Minn.

POWDER TRICK — If you've purchased face powder that's a bit too dark, mix it with a lighter powder in a translucent shade. I have mixed powder for years, as I can't find one to match. Best of all, this gives you twice as much powder. Betty V., Warren, Ohio

VEGETABLE TRICK — My husband and kids hate broccoli. In order to sneak some into their diet, I peel the big stalks (the tops are hard to disguise) and grate them. I add this to slaw, green salad, soups, stews and even meat loaf.

They eat their broccoli with gusto and never know it!

RELIGHTING THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT: It was once believed that Christmas and New Year's caused so many emotional problems for some people, they were driven to commit suicide. But a recent study by the Mayo Clinic found no such trend exists. The researchers went back over 35 years and found no excess number of suicides before, during, or after Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, or the Fourth of July holidays. Nor were there any higher rates of suicide on, or for three days before and three days after, birthdays. Also, most suicides occur early in the week, rather than on weekends.

WINTER TRAILS: Although most people hike during the warmer seasons, more people are enjoying the peace and beauty that comes with a hike along a trail in winter time. However, unless you know how to deal with the unique challenges that winter brings, you could find yourself in trouble along the way.

I asked Peter Whittaker, co-host of the popular "Trailside: Make Your Own Adventure" series airing on public television, for advice on what a winter hiker should do.

"There are certain things you should carry with you," Whittaker said. "A first aid kit is essential.

"Also, you may have planned to return from your hike the same day, but the weather could suddenly turn, or you may have sprained an ankle, and you might have to spend the night outdoors. It's a good idea to carry a blanket along with extra food and water. Water is very important. It's easy to become dehydrated in cold, dry weather.

"Be sure to carry matches so you can have a fire that will both keep you warm and act as a beacon for those who may be searching for you. It's also a good idea to have a flashlight.

"If you're new to winter hiking, you should never go alone. But whether you go with someone or not, be sure you leave word where you'll be heading and when you expect to return. This will help those who may have to search for you later."

If you have questions about winter hiking, send it to me c/o King Features Weekly Service, 235 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10017, and I'll ask Peter Whittaker to comment.

WHOM CAN YOU TRUST? For years, people who have pushed the advantages of the 401(k) plans for employees looking to invest for their retirement have cited the plans as the possible answer (or even replacement) for Social Security. However, as well-intentioned as they were, the supporters of the 401(k) programs forgot to reckon with greed and outright criminal behavior.

We are now beginning to see what some economists predict is just the tip of the iceberg. Apparently, the over 100 employers currently either under investigation, under indictment, or behind bars for stealing their employees' 401(k) funds may only be a small fraction of what is yet to be uncovered. Unfortunately, unlike savings or certificates of deposit, or in an SEP (self-employed pension) plan in a federally insured bank or thrift, these funds are not protected. The employees who lost their investment money can only hope some restitution will be made by the people who robbed them.

I still support the 401(k) plans. While I don't see them as ever replacing Social Security, I do see them as a valuable supplement for retirement income. To check on the safety of your 401(k) funds, ask to see your statement between the period when it's supposed to be issued. (A sort of surprise inspection.) Also, consider having an accountant who works only for you and your co-workers check out your and their statements periodically.

Warning signs of possible trouble include:

* Consistently late or inaccurate statements.
* Having your funds held over 90 days without investing.
* Seeing a significant drop in your balance which can't be accounted for in the market.
* A statement indicating you hadn't made a contribution.
* Unauthorized investments.
* Former employees having problems collecting benefits.
* Unusual activity showing funds going to corporate officers or plan trustees, as well as frequent changes of plan personnel.

Q. What is the value of my silver souvenir spoons? They were made by William Rogers & Co. Each spoon pictures one of the presidents, Zachary Taylor, Andrew Jackson, James Madison, James Polk, William Harrison and George Washington.

A. William and Simeon Rogers started William Rogers & Co. in 1841. The company underwent several name and ownership changes. It's now part of Oneida Ltd.

Your William Rogers silver-plate souvenir spoons are valued at $10 each.

Q. My white dish has a gold filigree border. It has the logo: "The Paden City Pottery, made in U.S.A."

A. The Paden City Pottery, founded in 1914, was located near Sistersville, W.Va. It made semi-porcelain dinnerware, including some with decals that looked as if they were hand-painted.

Paden City, well-known for its glassware, closed in 1951.

Q. How and why, did people make hair wreaths? I have a large "picture" that is made of flowers of braided hair.

A. Hair does not deteriorate quickly, so people used hair in jewelry and pictures to memorialize the dead.

The idea expanded to included "friendship" designs. Different-colored strands were gathered from friends and family and braided or woven together to create designs that were framed under glass.

Hair work was tedious. To create flower petals, leaves or other designs, the crafter would count the hairs in each strand and the number of strands, and follow exacting instructions printed in books devoted to the hobby.

A large, well-made hair-wreath picture sells for about $400.

TIP: Mirrors made before 1850 had thin glass. To judge the thickness of a mirror, hold a pencil point against the glass. The difference between the point and the reflection is the thickness.

warring Serbs, Moslems, and Croatians, who have fought one another for 200 years.

There was such great optimism as this 20th Century of the Christian era began. It was to be the "Christian Century" and everyone began to feel relieved.

Two terrible world wars deflated such thinking, and what has happened in the world since has made "Peace on Earth" a dream for fulfillment in the distant future.

We can be thankful this year that we can celebrate love and forgiveness, family and community as we gather in our homes and exchange greetings and give and receive gifts. Our Christian joy can be very real.

But should we not also include in our Christmas celebration some thinking and discussion about tough love and simpler ways of living, and give fervent expressions of prayer for guidance in attaining equal opportunity and justice for all people, and especially for those who are poor and downtrodden.

My hope for the immediate future is that, during 1996, all of us and our leaders will be given the courage needed to rise above political partisanship, and to reach a better and more spiritual place.

We have all been blessed. His name shall be called "The Prince of Peace."

The services at St. Paul's United Methodist Church this past Sunday were certainly in tune with the Christmas spirit and beautiful music. The choir is really big-time style. Their church is a beautiful place to put your trust in God and feel the presence of the Holy Spirit.

ers in Maryland, who each spent approximately five days hunting deer. Last year hunters donated a record eight tons of venison to the Hunters Harvestshare Venison for the Hungry Program. This program, which provides meat to needy families across the state, is conducted by the Maryland Deer Hunters Association, Inc., in cooperation with DNR.

Deer hunting is the primary tool used by wildlife biologists to manage deer populations, Griffin said, noting that it reduces the density of deer populations and helps to keep deer herds at levels that are compatible with the habitat.

For additional information concerning deer, deer hunting, or the Hunters Harvestshare Program local persons may contact the local DNR Wildlife Division office at (301) 777-2136.

very substantial, fundamental problem that is going to have to be worked out."

Belmonte requested last week's meeting to update the commissioners on his November meeting with Penelec management. He stated that the meeting "went well," but noted that a price for the lake was not determined.

Penelec representative Dave Klausen stated in an interview this morning that the company will listen to offers, but noted that no commitment has been made to sell the lake bed and buffer.

"We have not put a 'for sale' sign on Deep Creek Lake," he said.

Klausen stated that Penelec is still reviewing the POA's draft legislation, but commented that the company does not want to take the issue to the legislative arena.

At last week's meeting, District 1A Delegat George Edwards indicate that the POA's proposed legislation, as drafted, will most likely not be submitted to the Maryland General Assembly during th upcoming 1996 legislativ session in Annapolis.

HOME ECONOMICS
Guide to Better Living

by Connie Hoalcraft
Faculty Assistant, Home Economics

It's mid-morning. You head to the break room for a cup of coffee and one of those cream-filled doughnuts Marge in accounting brought in this morning. But just as you reach for that little bit of heaven, you notice your gut hanging over your belt just a little lower than usual.

If you're looking for a low fat snack alternative to candy bars and doughnuts, here is a list of some of the more popular low fat snacks to get you started.

*Fresh fruit - Everyone has a favorite fruit, and the good news is that no matter what fruit that may be, it's bound to be filled with all kinds of vitamins and minerals, along with great taste. Fruits also tend to be very juicy, which is why a piece of fruit all by itself usually doesn't leave you thirsty.

*Low-fat granola bars - These snack bars offer the healthful benefits of granola without the extra fat. Check the label to see how low fat the bar is if you're counting your fat grams.

*Bagels with light or fat free cream cheese - A good plain or fruity bagel, covered with cream cheese or not, makes a great snack for health conscious individuals. Although they may look like doughnuts, bagels have minimal fat and even have nutritional value.

*Air-popped popcorn or light microwave popcorn - Air-popped popcorn may be ideal for the truly die-hard health enthusiast, but for many people, it just lacks that real popcorn flavor. Fortunately, light microwave popcorn contains less fat then your normal microwave variety, is easy to prepare and tastes pretty good. Once again, check the package's nutritional information before you indulge if you're counting your fat grams.

*Pretzels - When it comes to munchable, low fat snack items, pretzels are hard to beat. Low fat and nonfat pretzels offer a convenient, tasty snack. Check the sodium level, though, especially if you have heart problems.

Keep Your Bank Accounts Active

Don't forget about savings accounts or checking accounts that are used infrequently. That may sound foolish, but according to the federal government, 10 million accounts worth $5 billion have been sitting dormant in the nation's banks over time.

Maybe your children have small accounts that have been forgotten. You may find an old passbook belonging to a deceased parent - or even to you.

If an account is inactive for a long time - usually, that's one year - it's considered dormant. Many banks and savings and loan associations stop paying interest on such accounts and even charge dormancy fees. Your account may dwindle to nothing. Some states have laws, requiring the bank to turn over dormant accounts to the state after a certain number of years.

If you find an old passbook, don't automatically assume the money is lost. Contact the bank. If it still has the account, ask that all interest be computed and dormancy fees be reversed. If the funds have been turned over to the state treasury, that's where you'll have to go to reclaim your money.

Take time now to make a note of all your accounts so that you don't forget about one or two. Make a point of making at least one transaction on each account every year - a deposit or withdrawal - so the account doesn't become dormant.

Advertising Hall Of Fame Inducts Bell

Howard Bell, a full-time resident of Deep Creek Lake, is one of four persons recently elected to the American Advertising Federation's Advertising Hall of Fame (AHOF).

Bell, president emeritus of the American Advertising Federation (AAF) and president of the American Advertising Foundation, is co-proprietor of the Tips Up ski shop, Mc Henry. The four new AHOF inductees will be honored during a March 26 luncheon at New York City's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Bell served 24 years as president of the AAF. According to a recent AAF press release, he developed and directed many significant projects during his tenure, including the National Advertising Review Board, the Advertising Hall of Fame, and the establishment of the American Advertising Foundation, a non-profit educational affiliate of the AAF.

Bell began his advertising career in 1947 as a sales promotion manager for WMAL AM FM TV in Washington, D.C. After four years, he left WMAL and joined the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB). There he served as assistant to the president, vice president, and executive secretary of the NAB's Association of Professional Education. At the NAB, he helped to draft the Television Code and formulate the blueprint for the Television Bureau of Advertising.

In 1963, Bell was appointed director of the NAB Code Authority and was responsible for interpretation and enforcement of the radio and television codes.

Bell left the NAB in early 1968 to lead the newly formed AAF, an amalgamation of the New York-based Advertising Federation of America and the Advertising Association of the West.

"From those rough-hewn beginnings, Bell built a major national advertising association comprising all key elements of the industry," an AAF spokesperson stated. "AAF corporate, agency, media, ad club, and college student membership more than tripled under Bell's tenure. Today, the organization is 50,000 members strong and recognized as a leader in government relations.

"In 1970, Bell proposed the establishment of an industry wide self-regulation program involving advertising in all media," the spokesperson added. "Bell was one of the first to argue that advertising must demonstrate an ability to police itself - or face government intervention. His proposals led to the creation of the independent National Advertising Review Board (NARB) in 1971. The NARB continues to function as advertising's highest 'court of appeals.'"

Bell's commitment to education was underscored in 1973 when he formed the AAF Academic Division, a unique body which oversees the 200-plus AAF college chapters. That same year, Bell also instituted the National Student Advertising Competition, the largest competition of its kind. The NSAC annually draws over 5,000 college student participants.

Bell brought self-regulation programs to the local level in 1981. Under his direction, the AAF developed the Local Advertising Review Program as a joint project with the Council of Better Business Bureaus. That program continues to remain active, monitoring advertising at the local level in cities nationwide.

Bell has served as a member of the Advertising Council board of directors and executive committee; as vice chairman of the board of directors of the American Society of Association executives; as a director of the National Advertising Review Council and the Advertising Educational Foundation; as a member of the American Advertising Museum advisory board, the Smithsonian Advertising Center, the public relations committee of the Mothers Against Drunk Driving, and the U.S. Information Agency marketing advisory committee.

He holds a B.A. degree in journalism with an emphasis in advertising from the University of Missouri and J.D. degree from the Catholic University Law School.

Also being inducted into the AHOF in March are Edwin Artzt, former chairman and CEO of Procter & Gamble Company; William Backer, former vice-chairman and worldwide executive creative director of Backer Spievogel Bates Worldwide; and Thomas Murphy, chairman and CEO, Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

Flockhart To Run For Board Of Education

Mc Henry resident Sandra Flockhart has announced plans to run for an at-large seat on the Garrett County Board of Education.

Flockhart, current president of the Northern Middle School PTSA, has served two years on the board of the Mtn. Top Soccer Association; is a past Deep Creek Lake chairperson of the Boy Scouts of America, Potomac Council; was a member of the steering committee for the Children's Summit event; and served as a parent representative on the Garrett County Board of Education Health Advisory Committee.

In announcing her candidacy, Flockhart, a former resident of Fairfax, Va., stated that she was a founder of the "New You" program developed for Fairfax County and adopted by many counties throughout the country. She explained that the program pairs troubled young people with mentors who offer encouragement and skills training in an attempt to help the young person continue his or her education and become an important contributor to society.

Flockhart is married and is the mother of the Garrett County public school students. She is proprietor of Flockhart & Company, a firm which provides training in social skills, protocol, communication, and developing positive attitudes.

Garrett County Republicans Go To Convention

The state convention of the Maryland Republican Party was recently held in Columbia, and among those attending were six members of the Garrett County Republican Central Committee, including Chairman John Sines, Wendell Beitzel, Bill Crawford, Ann Groves, Arzella Parsons, and William Skipper.

State Chairman Joyce Lyons Terhes called the official proceedings to order and gave her report. She updated those present on the Republican effort to build the party statewide, including in Democratic strongholds such as the Eastern Shore and Baltimore City. She also reported that the state elections commission's report on alleged election fraud in the 1994 gubernatorial election acknowledged many irregularities across the state, but failed to find evidence of any organized attempt to steal the election.

Also addressing the convention were National Committeemen Richard Taylor and Helen Bentley, U.S. Senator Paul Coverdale (R-GA) speaking on behalf of Republican presidential hopeful and U.S. Senator Phil Gramm, and Adrian Cronauer, speaking on behalf of Republican presidential hopeful and U.S. Senator Bob Dole.

The results of the Republican presidential straw poll were as follows: Phil Gramm (51%), Bob Dole (26%), Lamar Alexander (12%), and the remaining 11% divided among many other candidates.

Among the several resolutions passed by the convention participants, two issues were hotly debated. After much debate, the convention voted overwhelmingly to oppose legalization of casino gambling in Maryland and to oppose any further U.S. military involvement in Bosnia.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Gary A. Baker, son of Steven W. Baker of Terra Alta, W.Va., is currently in the Adriatic Sea serving aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Wasp.

Baker is one of 3,151 sailors and marines aboard the ship supporting the peace implementation operations in the former Yugoslavia. Baker's ship is the lead ship of the three-ship USS Wasp Amphibious Ready Group (ARG) which includes the 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit. Equipped with a Marine landing force, helicopters, Harrier attack jets, high-speed assault hovercraft, armored vehicles and landing craft, the USS Wasp ARG is providing area commanders with a wide range of capabilities.

As the peace implementation forces began to pour in from around the world, Baker's ship was already in the Adriatic Sea supporting the operation. The special operations capable ARG can evacuate civilians, rescue downed pilots, conduct reconnaissance, and serve as an initial landing force, according to a Navy spokesman.

While on deployment, Baker and fellow shipmates have participated in several multinational exercises with forces from Albania and Tunisia. The exercises focused on joint amphibious operations, including landing marines ashore; formation maneuvering; and conducting reconnaissance in preparation for the landings.

Baker's ship operates helicopters and Harrier jets from its flight deck and can deploy marines from its flooded well deck using landing craft, amphibious vehicles and hovercraft. In fact, aircraft from Baker's ship have flown more than 2,100 missions during the deployment.

While spending 75 days at sea, Baker and fellow sailors and marines also have visited Israel and Spain. While in Haifa, Israel, volunteers from the ship helped renovate a local orphanage.

USS Wasp is scheduled to return to the United States in February.

Baker, a 1989 graduate of East Preston Senior High School, Terra Alta, joined the Navy in September 1990.

Task Force Says Maryland Milk Commission A "No-Go"

Bernice Keppla, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

A task force created by the legislature last year to assess the state of the dairy industry in Maryland and develop recommendations to maintain the industry announced last week that there will be no Maryland Milk Commission in the near future.

At a December 12 meeting at the state ag department in Annapolis, Delegate Anita Stup (R-Frederick) told the dairy task force that the milk commission idea "won't fly this year in Annapolis." Stup is on both the task force and the legislative committee which looked at the dairy bill last year. She said her fellow delegates look at the bill as "subsidizing farmers and increasing the price to consumers."

Stup said that delegates voted for the task force, but that doesn't mean they would support a commission. "The chairman said 'No.' The commission is a dead issue." Stup, who supported the milk commission bill, was referring to Delegate Ron Guns (D-Cecil). Guns chairs the environmental matters committee.

Under the proposed commission law, milk distributors in Maryland would have to have been licensed by the commission and the books of those processors would have been open to the commission. Minimum wholesale prices for milk would have been established and minimum prices to be paid dairymen and cooperatives would have been set by the commission. This concept -- similar to structures in Virginia and Pennsylvania -- would, according to its supporters, shore up dairymen income.

Stup suggested that the task force look at other ways of helping the state's dairy farmers. "Other ways" could include such things as marketing, transferable development rights and tax laws.

Boyd Cook, a prime developer of the milk commission concept, pointed out that the environmental matters committee was presented information that indicated the price of milk to consumers would not necessarily increase. Cook, who has retired from Mid-America Dairymen Co-op, showed figures from the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board which indicate Maryland producers were receiving 80 cents less than dairymen in Pennsylvania.

As of last week, the task force -- with representatives of dairy cooperatives, milk processors, legislators and the Maryland Department of Agriculture--has gone about educating itself on the state of the dairy industry in the state.

The legislation creating the task force calls for a report to the governor by January 1. It is expected that deadline will be extended. Those on the task force were not approved by Gov. Parris Glendening's office until late October.

Barry Scher, vice president of Giant Foods, presented the task force with an outline of Wisconsin's Dairy 2020 Initiative.

That program, created in response to Wisconsin's loss of its long-time No. 1 rank among milk producing states to California, is designed to improve the business climate in the state for dairy farmers.

Among the areas Wisconsin has already addressed is the transfer of dairy farms from one generation to the next and increasing the pool os labor for farms. The state also is working on financial management issues and production efficiency with the Cooperative Extension Service.

And in November, Wisconsin set up a state dairy export initiative which will include trade missions to other nations and full-time export marketers at the Wisconsin ag department.

At an earlier meeting of the Maryland dairy task force, University of Maryland professor Dr. Robert Peters presented the results of a 1993 survey of the state's dairymen. That survey showed that 62 percent of Maryland dairy farmers are "very satisfied" with their profession. However, only 24 percent were "very satisfied" with their financial performance. Sixty-seven percent were "satisfied" with their financial performance, though.

Those surveyed, 1,047 dairymen, said having a good place to raise a family was the most important thing to them.

Also very important was having the opportunity to work outdoors (78 percent) and the independence of their work (68 percent). These were all rated higher than the economic rewards of farming (51 percent).

The dairymen surveyed intend to increase their competitiveness in these four ways: 1. Increase the dairy herd; 2. Increase the dairy herd and crop farming; 3. Relocate the dairy operation; and 4. Maintain the present scale of dairy operation and diversify into new commodities.

The dairy task force will meet again on January 8 at the MDA building in Annapolis.

State Ag Land Values Increase

Maryland agricultural land values increased 12 percent from a year earlier. In 1994, the average price of Maryland farm land was $3,310 per acre. This year (1995) the price rose to $3,707 per acre. In recent years the value of farm land increased with the exception of a decline from 1990 to 1991.

The 6.4 percent increase in per-acre value of U.S. farm real estate during 1994 marks the 8th consecutive yearly increase since 1987. The average nominal value of $832 per acre as of January 1, 1995, surpassed the previous record high of $823 for farm real estate set in 1982. However, on a real (or inflation-adjusted) basis, the Jan. 1, 1995, average was still 33 percent below the 1982 peak. The 1993-94 and 1994-95 increases represent the strongest yearly gains, in both nominal and real terms, since the recovery began in 1987.

With the exception of New York and California, where average farm real estate values were essentially unchanged, all states recorded increases over 1994 values. Four states shared honors for the largest increase - 13.0 percent in Alabama, Ohio, Oregon, and Utah. Regionally, the corn belt led the nation with an 8.8-percent increase, moving the 1993 leader, the mountain states, into second place with an 8.5 percent gain.

Rep. Billy Tauzin Receives Golden Plow Award

The American Farm Bureau Federation today awarded Rep. W.J. (Billy) Tauzin (R-La.) its "Golden Plow" award in recognition for his support of Farm Bureau policies and philosophies during the 16 years he has served in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The award was presented to the congressman in a ceremony by AFBF President Dean Kleckner and Louisiana Farm Bureau President Ronnie Anderson. A group of Louisiana Farm Bureau officers and staff also participated in the Capitol Hill ceremony, along with Richard W. Newpher, executive director of AFBF's Washington, D.C. office.

In presenting the award, Kleckner expressed appreciation to Tauzin for being an outspoken and leading advocate for agriculture's position on wetlands reform, private property rights and endangered species legislation.

"Congressman Tauzin has long been recognized as an articulate spokesman for private property rights and effective common sense environmentalism," Kleckner said. "He is known as a fiscal conservative and acknowledged as a national leader in the private property rights movement. He makes his points forcefully and persuasively, always based on substance."

Tauzin won his first race for Congress in a special election held in May 1980 and is now in his eighth full term, representing all or parts of 14 coastal and river parishes. He was recently named deputy majority whip, becoming the only person in the history of the House to serve in the leadership of both parties.

"As a member of the Commerce and the Resources committees, he has always looked out for farmers' interests," Anderson said. "That is extremely important in a state where 58 percent of the land mass can be considered wetlands. And, the Third District which he represents truly provides unique challenges affecting its fishermen, rice producers and other agricultural endeavors.

"Congressman Tauzin has had a strong voting record with Farm Bureau, although his record and his support cannot be summarized by mere numbers. He is truly a friend to farmers and to Farm Bureau."

The Comprehensive Politics in America published by Congressional Quarterly cites Tauzin for having a penchant for Cajun storytelling which masks a shrewd legislative mind. The publication states: "He is a legislative play-maker, building coalitions to win support for his point of view. His involvement is usually a signal that a given proposal must be taken seriously."

Tauzin is the only member of the House to be chosen by the nation's largest general farm organization to receive the award this year.

The Golden Plow award is a congressional award program initiated by the AFBF in 1988 to recognize select members of Congress for their efforts on agriculture-related issues. The award consists of a bronze replica of the original John Deere steel plow mounted on a wood base with a brass plate inscribed with the name of the award, the name of the recipient and the year the award was presented.

Cattle and calves are produced in more states and regions in the country than any other commodity. All 50 states have beef cattle operations.

Farm Bureau Delegates Define Sustainable Ag At Convention

Sustainable agriculture was the topic of discussion by Maryland's largest organization of farmers at their 80th annual convention held early this month in Ocean City. The Maryland Farm Bureau defined sustainable agriculture but did not say sustainable farming is organic farming.

"Any method of agriculture production that maintains the value of farm property at or above any alternate use under free market conditions."

The Farm Bureau delegates passed a resolution supporting the above definition along with five key factors involved in what they defined as sustainable agriculture.

1. It has to be profitable for farmers.
2. It must work to control the soil, water and nutrients.
3. It must provide a good quality of life for farmers and farm workers.
4. It must also provide abundant, wholesome food for all people.
5. It must preserve farmland and the communities that support agriculture.

In his remarks to the delegates, Farm Bureau president C. William Knill said the definition of sustainable agriculture has been a concern for him. "I am not against organic amendments for crop production," said Knill. "Compost and animal manures can and do supply a lot of nutrients for growing crops. . . . We can't let sustainable take on the meaning of organic only."

Donald Hoopes of Harford County said, "I receive a lot of environmental periodicals. They use sustainable agriculture as a buzz word and they're definition is organic."

In addition to sustainable agriculture, the Farm Bureau tackled several other issues.

On endangered species, the delegates voted to support a voluntary conservation habitat reserve program that would provide incentives for landowners to establish and maintain habitat for endangered species.

They also supported the concept of providing compensation for landowners whose use of their land is restricted by the laws protecting endangered species. The delegates want the state to consider any endangered species "taken" as the result of an ag practice as an incidental taking--protecting the farmers from penalty.

The delegates also resolved that Maryland should not go beyond those species protected by federal law.

A bill expected to emerge from the state Department of Natural Resources would protect plants as well as animals (a first for Maryland). Maryland's endangered plants (271) go well beyond the federal endangered species plant list which lists three endangered plants.

Delegates voted to encourage DNR to work towards "resolving the problem with black bear" in Maryland's western counties.

On other issues the delegates voted to:

* Oppose commercial casino gambling in Maryland.

* Call upon local governments to prevent developers from putting wells within 50 feet of farmland.

* Urge Gov. Parris Glendening and the state legislature to provide "adequate ag preservation monies from either general funds or by increasing the ag preservation share of open space funds."

MARYLAND FARM QUEEN -- Lori Evans of Garrett County, 1995 Maryland Farm Queen, attended the 80th annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau in Ocean City December 3 to 6. During the annual meeting, Miss Evans addressed the voting delegates during the business meeting, and introduced the county farm queens during MFB's awards banquet Tuesday evening. Miss Evans, along with the county farm queens from around Maryland, helped conduct the two-day business meeting of MFB delegates. Miss Evans lives on her family's 750-acre cattle and row crop farm near Oakland. Photo by Dave Kelly, Maryland Farm Bureau.

DISCONNECTING TELEMARKETING SCAMS

Telemarketing fraud robs consumers of approximately $40 billion every year. This year, the Federal Trade Commission passed a new regulation aimed at stopping telemarketing scams.

The new regulation:

•Prohibits telemarketers from calling before 8 a.m. or after 9 p.m., and calling consumers who have told that telemarketer they don't want to be called.

•Requires that telemarketers promptly disclose their identity, the purpose of the call, the nature of the goods or services being sold, the odds of winning prizes if any are offered, the fact that no purchase is necessary to participate, and the method by which a consumer can enter without making a purchase.

•Requires that telemarketers disclose refund and cancellation policies and tell consumers if refunds and exchanges are not allowed.

Unless you are totally familiar with the service being sold and you have previously done business with the company, be wary of paying in advance for services you will receive at a later date. The new regulation specifically bars telemarketers who sell credit repair, advance fee loan or recovery services from collecting a fee until seven days after the service has been performed.

Tougher regulations help, but you must continually exercise caution to avoid telemarketing scams. Fraudulent telemarketers pay no attention to laws, and until they are caught by the authorities, they continue to defraud people.

But there are ways you can protect yourself:

•Never give your credit card number over the phone unless you initiated the call.

•Never give your checking account number or any of the other numbers on your checks over the phone.

•Never give a telemarketer personal information about yourself, including medical information or driver's license, social security, or telephone calling card number.

•Never pay for a prize. That includes paying postage, shipping and handling or any costs associated with something a caller says you have "won."

•Never allow a caller to pressure you into acting immediately on any offer. If the telemarketer insists that you act the same day, be suspicious.

•Never agree to any offer until you have seen it in writing. Ask the caller to send you information in the mail. If he will not, be suspicious.

Dishonest telemarketers come up with new ways to woo consumers into giving them money. One relatively new form of fraud is known as "recovery room scams." In these scams, telemarketers call consumers they know have been victims of fraud and offer to help get their money back - for a fee. Here is a recent example:

The Federal Trade Commission recently filed charges against telemarketers

Bartlett Hails Vote Delay For Terrorism Bill

District VI Congressman Roscoe Bartlett stated last week that he was relieved to learn that the House will not vote on H.R. 1710, called "The Comprehensive Antiterrorism Bill," before 1996. Bartlett had initiated a letter signed by 30 fellow Republicans urging a delay in the House vote.

"This week was absolutely the wrong time to vote on this bill while the Congress and the American public are concentrating on the budget," Bartlett stated last week. "I am glad the Congressional leadership agreed to delay consideration until next year.

"This bill would have tremendous ramifications and it is off everybody's radar screen. We should not vote on it until this bill can get the attention and careful consideration it deserves."

In the letter, the members had written, "It has come to our attention that the House of Representatives may vote on H.R 1710 next week . . . we do not believe it is prudent to vote on this bill at this juncture. The tragic bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma occurred just eight short months ago. We should not cloud our judgement and enact knee-jerk legislation that plays on those emotions."

Various Therapies for Chronic Fatigue

After ten years, chronic fatigue syndrome (CFS) is still around and still difficult to diagnose and treat. The medical definition of CFS is complex, with a long list of major and minor diagnostic criteria. Persons with CFS, which was once called "yuppie flu," have flu-like symptoms such as sore throat, tender lymph nodes, multijoint pain without swelling or redness, headaches, and sleep disturbances. Unexplained fatigue must be present for 6 or more consecutive months to fit the latest diagnostic criteria for CFS.

A review of new treatment strategies for CFS are presented in a recent issue of a popular medical journal. Antidepressants: These agents work in many persons whether or not depression is present. Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory agents: Drugs in this category may help relieve pain. "Alternative" medicines: A large number of untested therapies are used by persons with CFS. These include herbs and vitamins. Exercise: A carefully designed program of strengthening exercises may actually improve CFS (stretching, swimming and walking).

Disconnecting

who falsely identified themselves as affiliates of a government consumer protection agency, called elderly people who had been victims of telemarketing scams and offered to help them get their money back. Consumers were told that for 5 or 10 percent of what they lost, the caller would recover their lost money. Consumers paid $200 to $1,000 relying upon the caller's representation that he was affiliated with the government, but they never recovered any money - they only lost more.

Remember, if you get a call from a stranger offering you a terrific deal, don't agree to pay any money until you have had time to check out the caller. You can contact our office for information. If the caller says you must act right away, it is probably a telemarketing scam. People making legitimate offers are always willing to give you time to think and gather information.

PE Sponsoring Community Energy Fund

The Potomac Edison Company, in cooperation with Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., will again help customers in need pay winter energy bills. For the fifth consecutive year, the company will sponsor its Community Energy Fund.

The Community Energy Fund allows for company stockholders to match 50 cents to every dollar contributed to participating agencies, up to program limits, for use in paying household electric bills. Throughout the Potomac Edison service area, nearly $128,000 was credited to 884 customers' electric bills during the 1994-95 winter heating season. Since the program began in 1991, more than $442,000 has been donated by customers and Potomac Edison toward the fund, helping to pay 3,000 energy bills.

According to Potomac Edison's Acting Western Division Manager Donald McGettigan, the fund provides assistance throughout the cold, winter months.

"Potomac Edison recognizes that some of its customers may have trouble paying higher heating bills during the winter months," McGettigan said. "We've instituted the Energy Fund to help any customer who may have a problem for whatever reason. By working with the Community Action Committee, residential customers who need and qualify for help will be identified. Potomac Edison will be able to fulfill a need in our communities at a time when many customers need help the most."

McGettigan notes that mailers included in customers' Potomac Edison bills will help the agency collect additional funds to supplement its ongoing assistance efforts.

"We're proud to help the Community Action Committee help our neighbors in Garrett County," added McGettigan. "Contributions from customers matched with stockholders' money will help many customers through difficult times. This is an opportunity for all of us to join together and assist those with a need."

For more information on the Community Energy Funds, persons may call Potomac Edison toll-free at 1-800-654-3317 or write to Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., 104 East Center St., Oakland

OUR EVERY YEAR
NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

At the first of every new year we always pause to re-evaluate our pharmacy, our professional service, the people who work with us, and ourselves. We feel that we must be certain that our customer friends are getting, all the time, the most reliable service from our pharmacy that is possible.

Once we are satisfied that we are doing the best we can, we resolve to continue this policy during the coming year...It is said that New Year's resolutions are made to be broken. We make only one resolution, but it is made to be kept. We will try our best to please you.

Sun. & Holidays, 6 p.m. - 9 p.m.

Why celebrate the end of one year and the beginning of the next? It seems a strange custom, yet there is a good reason for it.

Few, if any of us, have come even close to perfection in the year just ending. So we look ahead toward 365 brand-new days, blank pages in the next chapter of our lives.

What will we do with them? On the eve of a New Year, most of us certainly have the desire to try harder, to be better people.

But even while we are saying, "Off with the old and on with the new," we are also clinging to the good in the days gone by. As we renew old friendships, we thank God for those friends, for the Faith he has given us, for life itself.

The time God has allotted us on this earth is indeed most precious.

Why not begin the year the best way of all? Attend a Church or Synagogue of your choice.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

RISE AND SHINE!
December 31, 1995

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 60 through 61
Devotional Reading:
Romans 15:15-21

I don't know how it is in your community, but in ours the Christmas lights are out, if not down by December 31. In fact, many of them disappear on the 26th. But, not at our house: we keep them up for the full Twelve Days of Christmas!

Twelfth Night is one of the most significant days in the Christian calendar, Epiphany. Although it is one of America's least known and observed holy days, in some countries Epiphany, January 6, is a legal holiday. Some years ago we observed Epiphany in Austria where it is called Drei Koenige, The "Three Kings," a reference to the wise men who came to Bethlehem to see the newborn "king of the Jews" (Matt. 2:1-15). Children dressed as the three kings went throughout the town, including the hotels, to tell the ancient story and spread the message of Epiphany.

In ancient times the winter solstice (when the days begin to get longer) occurred on January 6. Early Christians celebrated Christ's birth on January 6. But later, when the calendar was adjusted, the winter solstice fell on December 25. (A later adjustment moved winter solstice to December 21-22, where it is today, but Christmas remained on December 25.) Although some eastern orthodox Christians still celebrate Christmas on January 6, for most of the rest of Christendom it is observed as Epiphany, a Greek word meaning "manifestation" or "appearance"—a celebration of the visit of the wise men and Christ's manifestation to the whole world.

YOUR LIGHT HAS COME

A scripture passage often associated with Epiphany is Isaiah 60. Once again, as in Isaiah 9, the prophet uses the symbol of light.

Arise, shine; for your light has come, and the glory of the Lord has risen upon you. For behold, darkness shall cover the earth, and thick darkness the peoples; but the Lord will arise upon you, and his glory will be seen upon you. And nations shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising.

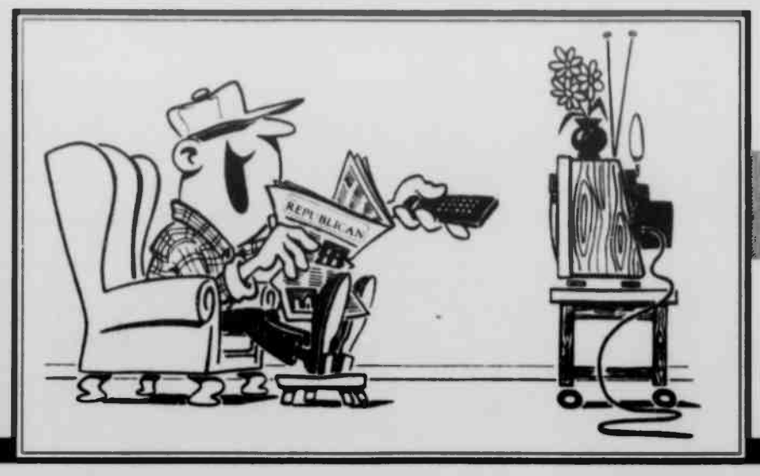
The reference to "kings" in 60:3 and to "gold and frankincense" in 60:6b are sometimes regarded as prophetic predictions of the three wise men and the gifts they brought.

But most of all it is the symbol of light that makes epiphany so significant for the Christian life and mission. At Christmas we are called to see the light of Christ that shines in the darkness. But Epiphany takes that one step further and lays upon us the obligation to be the light for the world around us. Without epiphany the message of Christmas is incomplete. Epiphany challenges us to keep the Light of Christmas lit in the world long after the Christmas lights and decorations have been taken down.

NO DARKNESS



On the New Hebrides island of Nguna there is a little church with a picture of the missionary who founded it. Peter Milne. Under the picture is an inscription: "When he came there was no light. When he died there was no darkness."

Peter Milne's mission is the same one that Christ gives to each of us: to let his light shine through us and overcome the darkness. Henry P. Van Dusen, the late President of Union Theological Seminary in New York, wrote that the Church, "with all its weakness and its pettiness, its failures and its follies and its infidelities, is the bearer of the Light which cannot be overcome because it is lit from the Eternal Light of God himself...That light, no man-made darkness can ever extinguish."

This little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine! What about you?

COVER STORY

Cole returns for devilry in new Gothic time slot

BY JOHN CROOK

Lucas Black

Sheriff Lucas Buck can arrange to get you out of any jam. That's the good news.

The bad news is, he also can arrange the jam.

Lucas, played with relish by actor Gary Cole, returns to wreak havoc on the people of Trinity, S.C., in a new time slot starting Wednesday, Jan. 3. CBS hopes it can pump new life into the critically acclaimed but low-rated drama created by former TV Hardy Boy Shaun Cassidy.

For the uninitiated, Cole's character is the relentlessly charming and utterly ruthless lawman who runs Trinity with an iron fist. Most of the townspeople willingly accept the "benevolent" advice Lucas bestows on anyone who shares his perspective: "Do what I say and life will be beautiful."

At odds with him are the orphaned 12-year-old Caleb Temple (Lucas Black); Caleb's cousin, journalist Gail Emory (Paige Turco); and the town's new physician, Dr. Matt Crower (Jake Weber), who Sheriff Buck knows is a recovering alcoholic even before he hangs up his shingle.

Lucas' revenge on those who cross him is terrifying to contemplate. To date, his methods of dispatch have included tricking a man into shooting his beloved wife and sending a traumatized adolescent to her reward by breaking her neck with his bare hands.

Cole, however, says he lets the special-effects wizards handle the supernatural devilry and plays Lucas for his down-home charm. In the pilot, he whistled the theme song to The Andy Griffith Show while strolling to confront an adversary.

"When someone is perceived as a bad guy – and certainly that is the way some people will perceive this character – you (as an actor) want to be careful," Cole explains. "You don't want to 'play' bad or evil or villainous. You want to make something human of the character.

"Shaun's invention of this guy is that he just perceives things differently. It's explained in the pilot, where Ben (Deputy Ben Healy, played by Nicholas Searcy) says to him, 'You don't have a conscience,' and (Lucas) says, 'Well, conscience is just the fear of getting caught.'

"It's the way he looks at things that makes his slant on everything different (from) everyone else's."

The actor, perhaps best known for his stint as Jack Killian in Midnight Caller, says much of the pleasure in his new CBS gig comes from sharing many scenes with Black, the superb young actor who plays Caleb – who, according to persistent hints in the scripts, is really Lucas' illegitimate son.

"He is a pretty stunning kid in a lot of ways, not just on camera," Cole says warmly of his co-star, whose single credit before this one was a supporting role in The War.

"He's totally 'undamaged' by any kind of acting training, which he has had none of. This is just him behaving in front of the camera. It's amazing.

"You're not waiting for him to do anything. He's just there. I haven't seen that kind of wisdom register on a kid's face in front of a camera before."

TV-PIPELINE

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: My husband and I enjoy Chicago Hope on Mondays. We are shocked that Alan was killed in a November episode. He was fantastic on the show. –J.L., Westville, N.J.

A: Peter MacNicol signed on to play Alan Birch, the hospital's legal counsel, because he was impressed with the stunning scripts Hope creator David E. Kelley had crafted for Picket Fences and L.A. Law. This season Kelley turned his attention to a new series he's creating for Fox, leaving MacNicol concerned that "The Lel" (Alan's nickname) would become a marginal character – so he left. You can catch him in Mel Brooks' Dracula: Dead and Loving It.

Q: While visiting my son in Los Angeles, I heard that my favorite show, Northern Exposure, was canceled due to the furor over the gay wedding. Even coming from the Midwest, I find this hard to believe. –Peggy Hensin-Neff, Salem, Ind.

A: And it isn't true. While Exposure may have ruffled some feathers with those unconventional nuptials, the show ran for another season after that episode aired on May 2, 1994.

Ratings plummeted only after CBS moved it out of its Monday berth in favor of Chicago Hope. That audience fall-off, coupled with star Rob Morrow's decision to quit, was the reason for the show's demise. If you miss it, I invite you to sample the similarly eclectic Due South Fridays on CBS.

Q: What has Alan Autry been doing since In the Heat of the Night was canceled? –Lyle Elwood, Livermore, Calif.

A: Autry is a new regular on ABC's Grace Under Fire.

Peter MacNicol

Q: My brother-in-law thinks Cybill Shepherd played either an Angel or an Angel's sister on Charlie's Angels during the latter years of that show. I disagree. Also, I love Cybill, but is there any chance it might move to another time slot? –Cinda Wiegand, Sarasota, Fla.

A: Shepherd, who was never an Angels cast member, is pulling in decent numbers (ranking 43rd for the season to date) in her Sunday time slot. Shuffling CBS shows these days is like rearranging deck chairs on the Titanic, but anything is possible.

Q: I haven't seen Charlie Grace since before the World Series. Will it be back? –Harold Thomas Freeman, Charlotte, N.C.

Q: What happened to The Monroes? –Mrs. Dorothea Craig, Mansfield, Ohio.

A: These two shows were among the first casualties of the new season because of low ratings.

SOAP TALK

Kristian Alfonso extends Days stay

BY CANDACE HAVENS

For a while it looked as though poor Bo (Peter Reckell) would have no one to love on Days of Our Lives. Billie (Lisa Rinna) left him last summer and it looked as if Kristian Alfonso (Hope) was going to be leaving in the spring.

A very excited Ken Corday, executive producer, says that is not so. "We are thrilled and excited that Kristian has agreed to re-sign for two years when her current contract is completed in April 1996," says Corday. "The character of Hope is one of Days' most loved, and we are happy to be able to continue the tradition of her being part of the fabric of the Horton and Brady families."

Alfonso says Days has been more than generous in letting her work on other projects. She saw no reason why she should not continue her stay.

The story is quite different for Melissa Reeves, who played Jennifer on Days. Fans are still reeling from the sudden departure of the actress. No news yet on exactly why Reeves decided to leave so suddenly. She cites an immediate family crisis as her reason.

Stephanie Cameron has taken over the role of Jennifer.

Fans of Monti Sharp (ex-David, Guiding Light) will find him on The City beginning Jan. 9. Monti will play James, a college student who causes a shake up in the lives of Angie, Frankie and Jacob.

Dear Candace: I watch several soaps. I tape All My Children, One Life to Live and GL every day. On my days off I watch The Young and the Restless, Another World and General Hospital.

The reason for my letter is to applaud all the actors. I realize how hard these people must work every day.

I love the way the characters on GH rallied around Stone (Michael Sutton) and gave him a wonderful Christmas party. Stone's story line was fantastic. It absolutely kept me in tears the whole time. I also hope that Brenda (Vanessa Marcil) is the one who helps Sonny (Maurice Benard) get on with his life. –Rita Mills, Charlotte, N.C.

Dear Reader: If you really want a good cry, read Robin's Diary by Judith Pinsker. The book is a diary of Robin's (Kimberly McCullough) last days with Stone. It is available in bookstores.

Stuff shows one's junk is another's treasure

BY AMY HIBBERT

It is hard to believe what was once just a Jetsons lunch box is now a valuable collectible worth $1,000.

This amazing fact is just one of the many tidbits uncovered in Neat Stuff, a new series from The Learning Channel, premiering Thursday, Jan. 4, and airing Thursdays thereafter.

Jim Leinfelder, who is host for the series, scours the country discovering what unusual items – such as PEZ dispensers and comic books – are being collected and the people who gather them.

The series not only shows viewers what others are collecting, it explores why some of these unusual items from days gone by are becoming so popular and valuable today.

Leinfelder takes field trips to offbeat museums during the show, including a visit to the Barbie Hall of Fame in Palo Alto, Calif.

The show also profiles a wide range of collectors, from one who keeps cereal boxes as a hobby to another who has an outstanding conglomeration of Star Wars memorabilia.

As an added bonus, the show features "Wacky Facts," a segment that reveals such obscure trivia as the origin of nylon stockings or the first supposed UFO sighting.

Leinfelder is joined in a couple of episodes by roving correspondent Susan Olsen (The Brady Bunch). One of their adventures includes a trip to a store full of robots of all different sizes and kinds, from a little wind-up doll to the robot from the TV series Lost in Space.

Because of this show, some viewers may discover there are fortunes lurking in their own basements, attics and garages.

Susan Olsen and host Jim Leinfelder check out the robot from the TV series Lost in Space in Neat Stuff, a new series debuting Thursday on The Learning Channel.

Relaxing Moments at home & away

Relive the bed & breakfast experience at home

For many years, innkeepers have understood the secret pleasure of a cup of tea. While we can't escape to our favorite bed & breakfast or country inn every day, we can recreate the wonderful ambiance of these romantic, relaxing places in our own home.

Every cup of tea can be transformed from a simple drink into a cause for celebration. Invite a few special friends over. Create a simple menu with delicate cookies, scones, muffins, tea sandwiches, all of which can be found at your local supermarket, and these herbal and flavored tea recipes. An arrangement of flowers, a teapot brimming with freshly brewed herbal tea, a table set with your favorite china and soft, classical music in the background will allow you to revisit the nurturing experience of a bed & breakfast inn.

"The best innkeepers are those who receive a lot of joy from spoiling their guests," says Deborah Sakach, President of American Historic Inns, Dana Point, California, and author of more than 20 bed & breakfast and country inn guides. "Recreating the bed & breakfast experience at home is a way of pampering friends, family and even ourselves."

The pampering begins at the civilized hour of 9 a.m. The inviting aroma of orange and spice French toast, freshly baked scones and cinnamon apple herbal tea ushers you into the dining area, which is furnished in turn-of-the-century antiques. Seated at a table with other travelers, the intimate atmosphere inspires pleasant conversation about the day's plans. You consider the alternatives — antique shopping, curling up in a rocking chair with your favorite novel, perusing nearby flower gardens...or simply doing nothing at all, except watch sailboats from the inn's front porch.

For centuries, travelers have found the warm, inviting atmosphere of bed & breakfast and country inns to be a relaxing, restorative experience. Whether a country farmhouse or mountainside inn, each place has its own unique character that reflects the innkeeper's heart and soul.

How to brew the perfect cup of herbal or flavored tea

Use 1 bag per cup. Add boiling water and steep about 3 minutes. If desired, add a touch of honey or sugar to taste.

Cinnamon-Apple Walnut Muffins

- 8 ounces boiling water
- 4 Lipton Soothing Moments Cinnamon Apple Herbal Tea Bags
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter, softened
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup chopped walnuts, toasted

Preheat oven to 375°. Spray muffin pan with nonstick cooking spray or line with cupcake liners; set aside.

In teapot, pour boiling water over cinnamon apple herbal tea bags; cover and steep 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and squeeze; cool.

In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, nutmeg, ginger and salt. With electric mixer, blend in butter until mixture is size of small peas. Make well in center of flour mixture. Add eggs beaten with cool tea and vanilla; with fork or spoon, stir just until flour is moistened. Fold in walnuts. Turn into prepared pan. Bake 18 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. On wire rack, cool 10 minutes; remove from pan and cool completely.

Inn At Playa del Rey

PLAYA DEL REY, CA

One of the best reasons to visit a bed & breakfast inn on the California coast is to experience the uncommon beauty and solitude of its beaches and wildlife. The Inn At Playa del Rey, a charming Cape Cod-style inn, borders the Ballona wetlands, a 350-acre wildlife sanctuary, and the main channel of Marina del Rey. Drawing on his favorite Cape Cod memories, the inn's architect created a human sanctuary, complementing the surrounding serenity. "They're like the beach," comments innkeeper Susan Zolla of the inn's airy rooms decorated in natural tones. They're luxurious, yet you feel like "you can drop a wet towel on the bed," says Zolla.

In the morning, guests awaken to the aroma of a homemade breakfast, perhaps cherry and pecan cake, chili cheese puff with fresh salsa, apple or peach French toast stuffed with cream cheese or artichoke souffle.

This romantic retreat is the perfect antidote for the stresses of daily life. From the inn's many porches and decks, you can watch exotic birds as they hover overhead or the red sails of the boats as they drift into the sunset. Soaking in a bubbling hot tub in the inn's private garden or sipping herbal tea in front of the fireplace, you can feel the tension ebb from your body and replaced by a peaceful calm.

Vermont Marble Inn

FAIR HAVEN, VERMONT

At the Vermont Marble Inn, its trio of innkeepers — Shirley Stem and Bea and Richard Taube — provide a personal, down-home touch that repeatedly lures guests to escape to this 19th-century Victorian mansion. "People come in tired and tense and leave relaxed with smiles on their faces. That's what makes it so beautiful," says Shirley of her innkeeping experience.

Bea is the culinary artist responsible for high tea. Depending on the time of year, she serves hot lemon tea by the fireplace or iced tea or lemonade on the inn's front porch. Guests indulge in an array of confections, such as apple tartlets, datenut cakes, lemon custard shortbread, Russian tea cakes or custard pie covered with fresh berries.

High tea is just one of the many reasons guests come to this inn, which is built entirely of golden marble. The guest rooms — named for famous English authors whose books can be found by each bedside — are decorated with exquisite mahogany furniture, intimate love seats, marble fireplaces and one-of-a-kind quilts. Guests can also delight in five-course breakfasts and gourmet dinners, as well as the serenity and beauty of the Vermont countryside. The Adirondacks and the Green Mountains are an ever present companion for travelers who journey on country roads lined with dairy farms and apple orchards, just outside of town where the inn is located.

In medium bowl, beat eggs with tea. Dip bread slices into tea mixture. In 12-inch skillet or griddle, melt margarine over medium heat and cook several slices of bread, turning once, until golden brown. Repeat with remaining bread using additional margarine as needed. Sprinkle, if desired, with confectioners sugar. Makes about 6 servings.

The Beaufort Inn

BEAUFORT, SOUTH CAROLINA

The Beaufort Inn, nestled in the historic district of Beaufort, South Carolina, is an enchanted hideaway, offering a respite from life's frenetic pace. Owners Rusty and Debbie Fielden extend true Southern hospitality to guests, who can partake in such old-fashioned customs as high tea and rocking-chair porch sitting. Debbie, who was born and raised in Beaufort, enjoys arranging a guest's itinerary. "It takes the stress out of planning a vacation," she says. "Guests only need to show up and enjoy."

The inn is quite roomy with 11 guest rooms and suites, yet the exquisite architectural detail gives it a doll house-like quality that lends charm and intimacy to its interior. A grand mahogany stairway gracefully curls up a fifty-foot atrium leading to rooms and porches on the upper floors. The guest rooms, which are named after Low Country plantations, are framed in beautiful wallcoverings, elaborate wood moldings and golden heart pine floors. Many of these rooms contain marble and slate fireplaces and large sunlit windows that open onto verandas.

Twice a day, gourmet cuisine is served to guests and other visitors in the inn's elegant restaurant. While the inn's chef, Peter Dejong, is originally from Amsterdam, and not the South, he adds a delightful regional accent to his breakfast and dinner menus.

Winter Weather Awareness Day Is January 4

Governor Parris N. Glendening has proclaimed January 4 as "Winter Weather Awareness Day" in Maryland.

The Maryland Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) is working with state departments and agencies as well as federal departments and agencies to include the National Weather Service (NWS) to ensure that Maryland citizens are prepared for the height of the 1996 winter season.

"We've already had several minor snow events, but the worst may be yet to come," said MEMA Director David McMillion. "Maryland traditionally experiences its most severe winter weather from January through March."

As part of the preparations, MEMA will hold its annual Winter Storm Exercise on January 4. State and federal departments and agencies as well as private and volunteer agencies such as the American Red Cross and Bell Atlantic Maryland will participate in this exercise at the State Emergency Operations Center in Pikesville.

"The Blizzard of '93 and the Ice Storms of '94 have reminded us that the entire state is vulnerable," said McMillion. "We must take every step possible to minimize the impact winter weather has on the citizens of our great state."

JWCC DONATES TO HOSPITAL - Garrett County Memorial's pediatric unit has received a donation of Discovery toys from the Garrett County Junior Women's Civic Club. "We appreciate the Junior Women's Civic Club thinking of our hospital and our pediatric patients. These toys will certainly help make a child's visit to the hospital a more fun and enjoyable experience," said Linda Wengerd, RN, third floor nurse manager at Garrett Memorial. Pictures with the toys are Ms. Wengerd, left, and Angie Stevens, a member of the Junior Women's Civic Club who is also employed as an outpatient care nurse at Garrett Memorial.

DNR Secretary Advises Citizens To Plant Trees

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has a suggestion for those thinking about their New Year's resolutions: plant trees in 1996.

"Planting trees is a little thing that we can all do which will benefit the environment and improve the quality of life in our communities," Griffin said. "DNR's Forest Service has a variety of programs to help individuals, communities, and organizations plant trees as an investment in the future."

Seedlings are available from the state nursery in Preston, on the Eastern Shore, and are sold at cost to individual landowners or groups with more than ¼ acre, on a first-come, first-served basis.

Property owners with ¼ acre or more land are encouraged to plant trees as windbreaks, to improve wildlife habitat and control erosion, and to buffer streams to prevent pollution. Neighbors can get together to plant ¼-acre plots along their property lines, and communities are encouraged by Griffin to plant seedlings in median strips, parks, and other common areas.

Seedlings are offered in minimum quantities: 250 conifer seedlings in multiples of 50 and 100 and hardwood seedlings in multiples of 25. To order seedlings from the state nursery, persons may call 1-800-TREESMD (1-800-873-3763).

For those planting just a few trees, the state nursery also offers wildlife packets. These consist of two seedlings each of the following species: white pine, flowering dogwood, bicolor lespedeza, and sawtooth oak. The packets can be purchased for $4 each. Service organizations may purchase a minimum of 50 at a discount for fund raising.

The DNR Forest Service advises people to contact their local forester for additional information and guidance in planning planting because proper site preparation is "extremely important," Griffin said. Persons may call DNR's Forest Service at (410) 974-3776 for the number of the forester in their area.
